

Bearcat Nine Wants Blood In Tilt Today

MacDonald Takes Hurler's Box To Keep Visitors From Victory

THREE GAMES SLATED Line-up Announced Except Outfield; Five Want Garden Posts

By PHIL COGSWELL

After being nosed out of two games by Oregon State within the last week, once by a 5-to-3 count and again 8 to 7, the Willamette Bearcat baseball team may be in a bearish and antagonistic humor when it opens a three-game series with the Webfoots at 3:30 this afternoon on Reinhart field.

Reynold "Big R. MacDonald Train" MacDonald is slated to keep the Bearcats from getting vicious in today's game. In his first start of the season MacDonald received credit for 13 strikeouts and allowed only two hits. That was against Pacific. Willamette, however, socked the ball plenty hard at O. S. C., and the veteran Webfoot hurler may need all his speed to keep the bases unburdened.

The Oregon line-up will be about the same as opened the Pacific series, Coach O'Donnell announced last night. Gabriel will catch, Olinger will be on first, Londahl at second, Stevens at short, and Rabbit Robie on third.

Five Outfielders in Line Carl Nelson may possibly take Olinger's post at the initial sack or he may be used in the field. The choice of outfielders has not been made yet. Counting Nelson, there are five who have a chance of starting. The others are: Kramer Barnes, Brian Minnaugh, Franny Andrews, and Lawrence Jackson.

There will be a double-header between the Webfoots and Bearcats tomorrow. The first game will start at 1:30 and the second will be limited to seven innings. It is likely that Curley Fuller will get one of the pitching assignments tomorrow, for he is in very good condition. The other heavies on tap are Ken Scales, Dave Bloom, Hal Waffle, and Ed Charles.

Benefiel Is 'Hale and Hearty,' Reports Show

Jack Benefiel, graduate manager of the University, who recently went to California for his health is "looking well and feeling fine," according to Dr. Delbert C. Starnard, alumni member of the executive council, who recently returned from Pasadena. Benefiel is "beginning to feel like his old self," and expects to be back at the University performing his former duties in about ten days.

Only Two More Days! Send In Golf Entry Blanks Now!

Although a number of entries have already been turned in to Manager Faulkner Short for the Emerald spring handicap golf tournament, the list is still too small to satisfy the gentleman. "We need a lot more—especially women. You'd think the women of Oregon didn't play golf at all the way the entries are coming in."

Saturday has been set as the closing date for entry blanks to be sent in to the Emerald office. Qualifying play will start Monday and run through next week. The 16 lowest medal scores will form the championship flight and the rest of the entrants will be placed in a first and possibly a second flight.

The women's tournament will be run off in the same manner and handicaps established. The winner of the men's first flight will be awarded an eight-

Plan Made for No Appeal From Council Decision

Moving Finger Judiciary May Not Hear Any Individual Petition

By Oliver Politicus

Back to the old status of no individual appeal to the proposed judiciary may go the plans for the new constitution. A University official has suggested that there be no appeal from the decision of the executive council. The council may ask the judiciary for confirmation of its views, but no individual will be given the right to appeal.

No matter the source of suggestion, there still remain the suggestion itself to be considered. Two arguments for its return may be offered. One is that the judiciary would be overworked; the other that the dignity of the executive council would be shattered.

If the judiciary is given the right, and it surely would be, to decide whether appeals would be considered, then the judiciary (Continued on Page Two)

University Glee Will Give Easter Vespers Sunday

Sara Addleman, Don Eva, Ralph Coie To Sing Leading Parts

'Seven Last Words' Mass Has Dramatic Power

Some of the richest of all sacred music will be heard on the campus Sunday when, following an Easteride custom here, the University glee club, directed by John Stark Evans, will sing "The Seven Last Words of Christ" at 4 o'clock vespers at the music auditorium.

Sara Addleman, soprano, Don Eva, tenor, and Ralph Coie, baritone, will sing the leading parts. More appealing in its dramatic power than the St. Cecilia Mass, the "Seven Last Words" has been generally loved by students in the six previous presentations, according to Mr. Evans.

"It is a tremendous thing," he said yesterday. "Some of its passages are among the finest in the literature of sacred music." He cited the mob scene at the cross as it is portrayed in the Dubois cantata as one of the most impressive parts.

Doris Helen Patterson, harpist, will play obligato parts for the music. Mr. Evans, who is associate dean of the school of music, will again appear in the dual role of organist accompanist and director.

Last year the choir did not sing the famous Good Friday music because of a conflict with spring vacation dates but it has in recent years drawn record crowds to afternoon vespers. Those attending are urged to go before 4 o'clock in order to be satisfactorily seated. The choir will be vested.

Delegates May Go To Athletic Confab

Funds for Sending Women To Ann Arbor Sought

Methods to raise the wherewithal to send two delegates to the athletic conference of college women, better known as the A. C. A. C. W., were discussed at the W. A. A. mass meeting yesterday. The conference is of national scope, held once every three years, and will be held this year at Ann Arbor, Michigan, April 24 to 26.

The student body contributed barely enough to pay the expenses of one of the delegates, and the W. A. A. has to raise the rest from dues and a special tax of 25c per member, which was voted yesterday.

Between the three years of the national convention, sectional conventions are held all over the country. Last year the western section met at Seattle.

Other dates for W. A. A. events for the term were given out yesterday by Mally Kurtz, president. The state colleges of Oregon will meet at play day here, May 17. The annual strawberry festival will be May 21.

Gerlinger Hall Scene of Annual Presentation; Public Invited

Including such effective and intensely modern numbers as the primitive "Congo," barbaric "Fire Ritual," and futuristic "Dance Moderne," the annual spring dance recital, which will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Gerlinger hall, is one of the outstanding cultural and artistic contributions of the year.

It is produced by the Master dance group and the department dancing, under the direction of rjorie B. Forcherm, instructor of physical education. The dancing is based on an interpretation of rhythm, and will be given against a background of long-hanging, blue cyclorama curtains.

Public Invited After the recital an informal reception and tea will be held to which all members of the department, their parents and friends are invited.

There is no admission price. The public is invited, and it is Miss Forcherm's plan that the recital shall be more of a social function than a mere exhibition. The program is as follows:

Thacher Recital Enjoyed

Music Instructor Holds Audience With Piano

By LOIS NELSON Further tribute to the gifted Jane Thacher was paid by a large Eugene audience last night when she gave a program of romantic and modern music in her concert at the University of Oregon school of music auditorium.

When members of an audience gasp at the work of a performer, it is likely to be due to great brilliancy in technical accomplishment. But when they sigh it is testimony to true artistry. And there were more than a few sighs heard Thursday evening as last notes of her numbers faded.

Technical mastery that represents years of intensive study livens into art at the hands of Mrs. Thacher, because she understands the emotional spirit of her music and empowers the imagination to convey it to her audience. All consciousness of her remarkable technical equipment is somehow lost in her "finished product."

One would think that Mrs. Thacher's tones reach deeper into the piano, to judge from the richness and eloquence of the melody in her Chopin numbers and the two Scriabine selections.

Though the clearness, delicacy, polish and facility with which Mrs. Thacher plays has been sung often before, it demands commendation once again. The lightness and brilliancy with which she played the Hummel rondo as her opening number was keenly satisfying.

The Chopin fantasia evoked deepest enjoyment, displaying the Eugene pianist's extraordinary power and her sympathy toward chords.

One was decidedly conscious of the more impressionistic quality (Continued on Page Two)

Education Fans To Get Together At Gerlinger Hall

Informal Meeting Slated For Wednesday, April 16 at 8 p. m.

Honoraries To Be Hosts To Interested Ones

An informal get-acquainted meeting for all students registered or interested in education will take place Wednesday evening, April 16, in alumni hall of Gerlinger building at 8 o'clock.

This affair, sponsored jointly by Pi Lambda Theta, national women's educational honorary, and Phi Delta Kappa, men's educational honorary, is the first of a series of similar events that will be held during spring term.

The main feature of the evening will be a talk by C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction, who will offer his view on "The Opportunities and Obligations of the Teaching Profession." Mr. Howard is a former University of Oregon man.

Music Slated In addition to this speech a program of musical numbers is being planned. Mary Galey, sophomore in sociology, will play several piano numbers, and harp selections by Doris Helen Patterson, junior in music, will be given. Martha Patterson, freshman music major, will play the violin. Ernest McKinney, singer, is to appear also.

Committees Chosen Committees in charge of arrangements consist of members from both organizations. Mary Cameron is chairman of the Pi Lambda Theta committee. Other members are Barbara Hedges, Goida Wickham, and Naomi Hohmann, president.

The men's honorary has Henry Magnuson at the head of arrangements with Irving Mather, Glenn Kimberling, and Charles Easton Rothwell assisting.

Ralph W. Leighton, vice-president of Phi Delta Kappa, is to have charge of the program on Wednesday evening.

"This meeting, which will be informal, is given primarily to assist students of education to become better acquainted and to promote professional interest," Mr. Rothwell, president of the men's group, stated.

Junior Vodvil Fate Muddled Word Delayed

Affairs Committee Meet Postponed to 4 This Afternoon

Hall Offers Revised Plan For Rehearsals

The fate of the 1930 Junior Vodvil was left undecided for another day when the student affairs committee postponed the meeting called yesterday to decide on the issue until this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A complete report of the situation was turned in to Tom Stoddard, president of the Associated Students, yesterday by Vinton Hall, director of the vodvil. In his report, Hall outlined the concessions possible for the vodvil officials to make and still put on the big junior show this year.

Change Is Impossible It is impossible, Hall stated, to change the major portion of the show at this late date, and the only hope for the presentation of the show is that the committee will accept the concessions made by the directorate.

New Plan Up Under the revised plan a member of the faculty would be present at every performance and rehearsals would be cut down to the minimum. All rehearsals would be held in the afternoon, with one at the Heilig theater in the morning instead of at night, Hall declared, and the show would be kept at a high level.

"We wish to put on the highest type of show possible that will meet with faculty approval and still satisfy the students who are accustomed to attending high class junior shows," Hall declared last night. "Rather than attempt to completely change the vodvil at this late date and present an inferior show, the directorate has deemed it advisable to abandon the project."

Operetta Will Be Offered Tonight

University High Glee Club To Appear at Auditorium

Much interest has been shown in campus music circles this week in the presentation of Anne Landsbury Beck's operetta, "King of the Castles," to be given tonight at 8 o'clock at the music auditorium by the University high school glee club. Eugene Love will be assistant director and college music students will furnish orchestral accompaniment. The operetta was heard for the first time in Eugene in 1922 and has since been played successfully by high schools throughout the United States.

It is said to be a charming story with delightful choruses and jolly comedy. The operetta is interesting artistically because it presents the story from the eyes of a child instead of an adult. Forty-one high school students are in the choruses, dancing and speaking parts.

Tickets are now on reserve at the music auditorium.

Barn Dance Tickets Still Available Today

For those unfortunate who are unable to secure one of the limited supply of tickets to the Order of the O barn dance either from the Co-op or representatives in the men's living organizations, there is still a chance to attend the function, according to Brad Harrison, president of the Order.

Tickets may be secured as late as Saturday evening at the box-office in the Igloo.

When the winners of the annual Hilton contest were announced last night, judges named Roy Herndon the best speaker. His prize was $50, given by Frank H. Hilton of Portland.

Hilton Contest Is Won by Herndon; Durgan Is Second

John Galey Captures Place Number Three; Prizes Are $50, $25, $15

Deadly Force in Defense Was Subject Used

Roy Herndon, first year law student, won first place in the annual Hilton contest held last night in Gerlinger hall before a small crowd of students and townspeople. Walter Durgan, second-year law, took second place, and John Galey, junior in law, took third place.

The three prizes awarded were $50, given by Frank H. Hilton of Portland; $25 and $15 given by the University law school. The contest is open only to law majors, and consists of oral presentation of some legal subject.

The subject used last night was: "Resolved, that one threatened with a deadly attack should be privileged to defend himself, by deadly force, though he might be able, with obvious safety to himself, to avoid the necessity of so doing by retreat."

Other entries in the contest were: McKee Reiter, first-year law; Joe McKeown, law; Howard Green, senior in law; Roland Davis, third-year law. Dean Charles E. Carpenter, of the law school, presided as chairman. The judges were: Judge Lawrence T. Harris, David B. Evans, and Leon L. Ray.

Due to the illness of Fletcher Udall, publisher of "Coldex" index advertiser, the material will not be released until Monday. Udall has been confined to the infirmary during the past week.

Rival Behemoths Grooming Battlers for Grid Squabble

By JACK BURKE "The game was played on Sunday, down in St. Peter's yard."

The quotation above, selected after a great deal of research and study, does not fit the case at hand, but it's as close as there is, so it will have to suffice.

It doesn't fit because the game is going to be played today "Doc" Spears at 4:30 and it is going to be played on the field west of Hayward field and played not by saints by any stretch of the imagination. And, oh, yes, Colbert is going to play guard and Donahue halfback.

The whole thing is this. "Chris" Christensen and "Coly" Colbert

Five Others Gain Posts in Day's Voting

Haggerty, Baum, Chaney Whitney, Macduff Emerge Victors

Officers Will Be Installed Here May 1

In a closely contested race, Margaret Cummings of Klamath Falls became the 1930-31 president of Associated Women Students yesterday, winning from Bess Templeton of Portland.

The new president will leave Monday for Laramie, Wyoming, to represent the University of Oregon in a district convention of associated women student officers.

Gracia Haggerty of Union was chosen vice-president. Her candidacy was not contested.

Baum, Chaney Win Ann Baum of Portland was elected secretary, winning from Lucile Catlin of Kelo.

The new A. W. S. treasurer will be Helen Chaney, who defeated Juanita Kilborn to win the office. Both are of Eugene.

Emerging from a quartet of contestants, Jean Whitney was elected sergeant-at-arms. She is from Roseburg. Other candidates for the office were Margaret Luce, Marshfield; Eileen McIntyre, Portland, and Virginia Patterson, Klamath Agency.

Betty Ann Macduff, Eugene, will hold the office of reporter, winning from Louise Smith. Heavy Ballot Cast Voting took place throughout the day in front of the old library. A heavy ballot was cast.

Installation has been set for May 1 when Bishop Walter Taylor Sumner, head of the Episcopal church in Oregon, will speak. Miss Cummings will go to Laramie with Mrs. Hazel Prutsman Schwering, assistant dean of women, who will represent Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, dean. The new president will have a paper on "The Problem of the Town Girl." The convention opens April 16, and lasts three days.

Prof. Thomas H. Gentle, of the school of education, who has been seriously ill in St. Vincent's hospital in Portland for several weeks, is now recovering rapidly at his home in Monmouth.
