

Oregon Students Requested by Freck To Invite Mothers To Attend Week-End In Their Honor

Program Now Being Planned Declares Head

Will Be Held Jointly With Junior Week-end Fest May 9 and 10

Speakers To Visit Living Groups Listed

A request that every Oregon student write to his mother at once to invite her to come to Eugene for the Mother's Day week-end planned in connection with Junior Week-end came yesterday from Joe Freck, assistant chairman of the committee in charge of the mothers' program.

According to Freck, a program of activities for the week-end which should prove of interest to all visiting mothers is being worked out under the direction of Kathryn Langenberg, chairman of the committee.

Water Carnival Scheduled

If possible, mothers should try to arrive in Eugene Friday afternoon, May 9, in order to attend the canoe fete that evening. The water carnival is scheduled for Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon a tea will be given for visiting mothers and their sons and daughters at Gerlinger hall. Co-ed medals will present a fashion show.

A special section of balcony seats will be reserved for mothers during the Junior Prom to be held at McArthur court Saturday evening. Mothers' Day church services will be held all over town Sunday morning.

Invitations Issued

The University office has sent out letters of invitation to all organizations of the mothers of Oregon students in the state, and is arranging to have the fraternities and sororities write similar letters to their mothers' clubs.

A corps of speakers will visit living organizations during the dinner hour tonight to discuss plans for the special week-end. Those who will speak are: Clarence Barton, Bill East, Bill Whiteley, Bill Pittman, Tony Peterson, Ken Curry, Vinton Hall, Elmer Pahl, Harold Fraundorf, Wilma Enke, Joe Freck, Alberta Rives, Phyllis van Kimmell, Dorothy Eberhard, Elise Sundbaum, Jane Cullers, Reba Brogdon, Gracia Haggerty.

PLEDGING PROBLEM IS PUZZLE TO MOST CAMPI

(Continued from Page One) ing is deferred until spring term but there is rushing of the freshmen for the entire year. Stanford requires no fixed grade average for the freshmen to reach before they are eligible for rushing, but several of the plans in use require the freshman to obtain a certain grade average before he may even be rushed.

Dartmouth is the principal exponent of pledging deferred until the sophomore year. Sophomores are rushed and pledged in the early fall term. Harvard extends the period still farther and prohibits the pledging of any undergraduate before the Friday following the fourth Monday after the opening of school in his sophomore year. Yale college, a branch of Yale university, does still more by prohibiting pledging until December of the sophomore year.

At the University of Minnesota the third plan of pledging deferred until the second quarter of the freshman year has been in use by the fraternities for the past six years. This year the sororities adopted the plan but added the restriction that all freshmen girls

Interested Orators Asked To Enter Contest

SENIOR students who are interested in competing in the Failing Beekman Oratory contest, should get in touch with the speech division in Friendly hall, according to Walter E. Hempstead Jr., instructor in English.

"It is a very fine contest in itself," said Mr. Hempstead, "and constitutes an important part of commencement week. Prizes for first and second place are $150 and $100. This is the most lucrative oratory contest on the campus and is worth every effort on the part of seniors."

Only seniors are eligible and contestants must file a 1,500-word typewritten copy of their oration before the day of the contest.

have a "C" average before they may be rushed.

In rushing at Minnesota the fraternities are required to fill out blanks giving the names of the freshmen they wish to rush and the dates desired. When the rushing blanks have been filled out, they are given to the office of the dean of student affairs where they are sorted and sent out to the rushes. The rushes indicate the dates they are accepting on acceptance slips, which are given to the dean of student affairs before they can be handed out to the fraternities.

A survey of deferred pledging made by the University last year, in which questionnaires were sent to universities and colleges all over the United States, revealed the multiplicity of plans in use and also brought out several new suggestions for regulation of fraternity pledging. Perhaps the most unusual was the suggestion of the assistant dean of men at the University of Texas. Under his plan no student could be initiated into pledging before eligibility for initiation was established would be a fraternity before he had made the required grades, and any violation of the university regulations by that fraternity.

Sigma Delta Chi Pledges To Edit Emerald April 24

Top Hats and Full Dress To Be Garb During Nominating Day

Orations Will Be Given From Libe Steps

The eight men recently pledged to Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity, will be given an opportunity to prove themselves worthy of the honor as a new feature of their initiation this year, it was announced yesterday by Wilfred Brown, president of the organization. The pledges will edit the Emerald which appears on April 24, the day of their public initiation.

The plan to be followed is similar to that at the University of Washington. Arthur Schoeni and the rest of the Emerald editorial force will quit work for the day and let the men hold full sway at the copy desk. They will select some nationally known newspaper as a model and follow it as closely as possible in make-up and style. As the Sigma Delta Chi Emerald will appear on the day of the nominating assembly, there should be plenty of opportunity for typographical expression.

On the day of the nominations the pledges will follow the ancient custom of the fraternity by appearing on the campus attired in full dress suits and top hats, and will each speak from the library steps just before assembly time.

Only qualifying round play will take place this week. Next week will see the start of flight play, Manager Short announces.

Males Given Warning

April Frolic Banned

Any member of the male sex who attempts to invade the precincts of the Gerlinger building next Saturday night will meet with decided disfavor and not a little force. This includes all college men, University professors, and C. P.'s (campus prowlers).

Eleven senior women have been appointed to guard the main entrances of the Women's building on the night of April Frolic. Some of them are gym majors—so beware!

Those women appointed as senior cops are: Mally Kurtz, Helen Peters, Eldress Judd, Betty Summers, Naomi Moshberger, Pauline Kidwell, Marjorie Kelly, Leone Swengel, Marjorie Goff, Dorothy Dundore, Ruth Dundore.

Jacqueline Pringle and John Rae Engaged

Tiny corsages of wild orchids bearing the names of Miss Jacqueline Pringle, of Portland, and Mr. John Rae, of Eugene, told the news of their engagement at a dinner held Saturday night at the Alpha Delta Pi house. A centerpiece of tulips decorated the table. Miss Kay Miller sang 'At Dawning.'

Miss Pringle was a member of the class of 1931 at the University. Mr. Rae, who is an associate professor of business administration at the University, is a graduate of the University of Washington. He is affiliated with Pi Kappa Alpha. The date for the wedding has not been set.

Once upon a time Shakespeare made a remark about infinite variety. This is a good term. Although Shakespeare was talking about woman he could have easily said the same thing about Eugene theatre attractions this week had he, of course, been in a position to do so. For we have with us this week a musical comedy of unusual lavishness in "Happy Days," a racy show called "The Hottentot," a mystery, dire and sinister, a domestic struggle about a second wife, several good westerns and a night club presentation, sizzling with song hits, sung by the last of the "RED HOT" mamas.

Congress Club Plans Contest

The Congress club, which is sponsoring the Vice-president public speaking contest, will meet but once more before the date of the contest, according to Merlin Blais, club president. The contest is to be held Wednesday evening, April 23, and the final club meeting before that time will be tomorrow evening, at 7:30 at the College Side.

The Vice-president meet will be an extempore contest open to freshman only, with the subjects to be drawn two or three hours before the speakers begin, from the list of topics discussed this year at the club's weekly sessions.

The only requirement asked of contenders is attendance at one of the club's meetings, and since this week's meeting is the last before the contest, those wishing to enter must attend this meeting.

The awards will consist of nine prizes totaling $25, which was donated by Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University.

Pipes save no midnight oil

IF PIPES made the man, anybody at all could rise in the world just by smoking a few pounds of Edgeworth. But pipes do not make the man.

Men make the pipe—most men do. Somewhat depends on the individual, more on the pipe, and the tobacco is most important of all. Things must be congenial.

Edgeworth is a congenial tobacco, cool, slow-burning, fully flavored. Edgeworth has poise, kindly good nature, real tobacco personality—Edgeworth welcomes new friends. Many a good man has been pledged to pipes by Edgeworth alone.

Like to meet Edgeworth? Just ask with the coupon—and the postman will bring your first few pipefuls of the genuine, three years seasoned if it's a day. Our treat, if you please.

Others have found Edgeworth and quit their discontent. So may it be with you!

EDGEWORTH

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy it anywhere— "Ready Rubbed" or "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to pound humididor tin.
