

Pearpickers To Go To Bat For Home Town Today Against University Yearlings.

Medfordites Will Invade Frosh Field

Share of Southern Oregon Baseball Crop Defeat Eugene High 7-5

Nine Coached by Webfoot Football Star

The black horde from Medford, part of southern Oregon's baseball crop, will battle the frosh this afternoon on the yearling's diamond, starting at 3:30.

The Medfordites, clothed in suits so dark they'd make a lump of coal look pink, and coached by Merrill Hagan, Oregon's football guard of two seasons ago, played Eugene high yesterday and won, 7 to 5.

Pitcher Undecided

Hagan said he would pitch Caldwell or Montgomery in today's contest. Montgomery is his leading hurler and has a reputation for being good. The frosh heavier will be either Cecil Espy or Peter Schmitz. Coach Bill Baker said last night.

The yearlings' lineup in batting order will be:

Medford Plays Eugene

The Medford boys played Eugene on the frosh field yesterday and should be somewhat acquainted with the diamond. This was their first game of the year and today's will be the initial game for the yearlings.

The Pear-pickers played just hard enough to beat the local high school team, saving their best pitchers for the frosh series. In their lineup are: Harrington, catcher; Montgomery or Caldwell, pitchers; Orville Hughes, brother of Bernie, first base; Newland, second base; Lang, shortstop; Grey, third base; Bowman, Clay and Morris, outfielders.

U. of W. in Lead In Rifle Matches

Compiling of Results Show Oregon Fourth

Results of the first stage of the national intercollegiate matches in the 9th corps area have been compiled, and give the University of Washington a lead in this stage of the match, which includes the prone and sitting positions.

Only those teams which rank above sixth place in the preliminary matches are allowed to compete in this contest.

The scores made, that is prone position score plus sitting position score, are as follows: University of Washington, 1942; Oregon State college (first team) 1917; Montana State college, 1891; University of Oregon; 1882; Oregon State college (second team), 1870.

Targets for the second and third stages of the match, fired this week at the R. O. T. C. rifle range, have been sent in to 9th Corps area headquarters in San Francisco. These two stages include the prone and kneeling positions. When the fourth stage is finished, the match will be completed, according to Captain C. H. Bragg, team coach.

Seven events are on the athletic calendar for today and tomorrow and freshman and varsity competition in three major sports is provided for on the list of activities. Baseball and football will again vie for supremacy this afternoon when Oregon meets Columbia on the diamond and Doc Spears' football squad puts on the second of the spring football games. The frosh ball nine will meet Medford high in the third event listed for today.

Both the varsity and freshman baseball teams will meet the same opponents Saturday and Bill Hayward will put his varsity and freshman track squads through time trials in preparation for the annual relays against Oregon State here April 25. Sports fans will have to keep on their toes to get a line on all of the athletic doings of the week-end.

Spears has designated the two football teams as the greens and whites due to the loss of names caused by the changing of captains this week. Last week it was only natural that Coibert's squad should have the name of "pansies" tacked on them and that Christensen's bevy should be called "cream-puffs." We'll admit that the opposing players suggested anything but what their names implied when they got out on the field.

Whatever the names may be a captain's team will start against a squad captained by Woodie Archer, pass catcher supreme, and will be given a three touchdown handicap over the Archerites in today's battle royal. The boys

U. of O. Art Work Attracts Interest At Oakland Show

Attention Won by Stress On Interior Decoration And Architecture

The art exhibit of the school of architecture and applied arts attracted particular attention at the recent convention of the Pacific Arts association at Oakland, California, according to Nowland B. Zane, associate professor of design, who returned this week from Oakland.

The interest was aroused because of the fact that this is the only school that stressed architecture and interior decoration, according to Mr. Zane. The pottery and textiles and other forms of applied design which were included in the exhibit also attracted considerable attention.

Mr. Zane, who represented the school at the convention, took the exhibition of student work with him to Oakland, where it was displayed along with exhibitions of the work of 20 other art schools of the Pacific states which are members of the Pacific Arts association.

The influence of modern art principles and practices on the work that the schools are doing was one of the outstanding features of the convention, said Mr. Zane.

"It was made clear from the exhibitions and the talks that the attention of the leaders in art interests is focused upon the clearer statement of the principles of modern art, and adopting classroom methods that will utilize the principles," he states.

Seven events on athletic program; Browne and Donohue to lead football teams in second battle; Columbia bringing powerful team have a couple more new plays to use this time and both leaders are confident that their side will come out victorious.

The spirit that Doc has instilled in his boys is great to watch in these games. When the opposing line-up against each other all thoughts of friendship cease and the boys play football. Last week's battle resembled a big gang fight for awhile, but the Webfoots soon saw that they couldn't get any place with their individual wrangles and settled down and showed real team work.

This Columbia university nine seems to pack a lot of power—both offensively and defensively—this year. The Irish lost two close games to Oregon State but the Beavers had to work their heads off to come out on the long end of the score. The Orangemen defeated the Portland collegians in two games, 4 to 3, and 2 to 0.

The Irish out-hit the Beavers in the first game, garnering six bingles to Oregon State's three, and the Cliffdwellers got the only extra clouts of the game, a homer and a triple. Erratic fielding cost them the battle as they made five errors in the field. In the second battle both of the Beavers' runs came as results of errors.

The Irish nine boasts of a clever hitter in Costello, second sacker, and a trio of first class pitchers in Orem, Herman, and Smith. Milan is a first baseman who covers plenty of territory and hits in the pinches. It should prove to be an interesting series when the Irish cross bats with the Webfoots.

Second Practice Football Game Scheduled Today

Two Elevens Clash Today At 3:30; Archer To Captain One Team

Today is "bloody Friday" as it is the day of the football game which is, by all indications, to become a regular weekly feature of the sports program offered for the benefit of the campus. The tilt starts at 3:30.

Last week's game was a thriller from every angle and today's fracas looks to be even more gruesome. Picture if you can the mental attitude of 11 men laboring under the handicap of three touchdowns, and try and form some conception of the antics they will go through in trying to overcome that lead.

Archer to Be Captain

Woodie Archer, who won the game for George Christensen's "Cream-puffs" last week, is going to captain the team that starts three touchdowns behind and when called last night said he had no pre-game statement to make. He intimated, however, that the game will be as gory and interesting as last week's tussle was, and promises an afternoon of entertainment.

For some unknown reason the lineup of the "opposition"—we have to call them that, their name and personnel is such a mystery—is a deep dark secret. Just who is going to play against Archer and his cohorts can be fairly well predicted by using the simple method of eliminating those who are playing for him.

Bowerman at Center

At center will be Bill Bowerman, who held down this job for the Cream-puffs last week. On either side of him will be Jerry Lillie and Irv Schulz. The latter was a "Pansy" tackle last week and has since been moved over to guard. At tackles will be Joe Jansa and George Christensen. They are the regular tackles for the winners of the last battle.

At end will be the redoubtable captain of the team, Woodie Archer, and Orville Bailey. Bailey was not a participant in the last set-to these young gentlemen had, so he has yet to be initiated. He will, however, make a strong teammate for Archer.

In the backfield will be Johnny Donahue at quarterback, Jack Rushlow at fullback, with Cliff Garnett and Wally Lawrence at half. A great deal will depend on the performance of these four in determining whether or not their team can overcome the handicap they start with. All four men survived "bloody Friday" last week, so should be in form today.

Forty-eight players have been turning out more or less regularly, with the line being the more regular in their working out. Many of the eligible backfield men are participating in other athletic sports and because of this fact the coaching staff is having somewhat of a hard time in building a strong group of ball carriers.

Eleven from 48 leaves a comfortable margin and the "opposition" should be strong in numbers if not in power and ability. There are many well-known names missing from the above lineup and it is easy to see that a battle is impending.

Student in Chemistry Will Attend Columbia

Richard R. Roehm, graduate student in chemistry, is leaving early this summer to attend Columbia university to work with Dr. H. C. Sherman, a leading authority on vitamins. The problem under investigation will have to do with Vitamin B complex, for what was originally thought to be Vitamin B has proved to be at least three factors and possibly more.

The research will probably deal with isolation and attempted synthesis of one or more other compounds. Work with Dr. Sherman will be a partial fulfillment of the requirement for a doctor of philosophy degree. For the past two years Mr. Roehm has held the Fleischmann Yeast research fellowship at Oregon.

Three Thursday Baseball Games Prove One-sided

A.T.O., Sigma Nu, and Phi Sigma Kappa Win by Wide Margins

Three one-sided exhibitions of baseball marked the second round of intramural play yesterday afternoon. A. T. O. blanked Bachelordon 10 to 0, Sigma Nu scored a 6 to 2 triumph over Theta Chi, and Phi Sig capped the day with a 15 to 0 rout of Psi Kappa's warriors.

A.T.O.'s Good in Second
Harvey Benson yielded only one solid blow while his mates were collecting eight clouts and as many walks off the combined deliveries of Schuholm and Palmer. The A. T. O. nine did most of their heavy sticking in the second inning when three walks and two errors coupled with a pair of doubles off the bats of Gilbaugh and Stevenson chased six counters across the plate. Anater, who played an excellent game at first, added to this total in the fifth with a long triple that cleared the embankment and scored two runners. Bachelordon had an opportune chance to score in their half of the same inning, advancing players to second and third, but Benson bore down and fanned three in a row to end the game.

Ken Proctor Pitches

Sigma Nu got off to a flying start against Ken Proctor, Theta Chi hurler, smacking out four hits in the initial frame for a like number of tallies. Proctor and his successor, Gile, held the Sigma Nus in check after this rally, but Theta Chi failed to take advantage of the opposing hurler's wild heaving and consequently came out on the short end of the score. Thompson and McLaren handed out nine free passes and were fortunate to escape forcing more than two runs in.

The Phi Sig-Psi Kappa tilt was a complete rout. Dick Schroeder pitched a sparkling one-hit game for Phi Sig, allowing only one Psi Kappa, Lindeman, to reach second base. The Phi Sigs pounded Johnson from the box and continued the assault against Titus.

Will Second Man Among Varsity Mashie Welders

Varsity Captain Wins Fight With Bill Palmberg; Frosh Compete

Captain George Will won the decision over Bill Palmberg to place himself as second man among the mashie welders, in a hotly contested battle yesterday. The round included many thrills as both men were making old man par look easy.

Captain Will is now in a position to challenge Vinc Dolp, the trick shot artist who is at present holding down the number one position. This match will be a battle of artists as both men are hitting the pellet far, straight, and handsome.

Spec Stevenson and Rudy Bain will decide the first place on the frosh team next Saturday. Bain has issued an invitation to all spectators with no gallery fee, to witness the battle.
