

Honoraries Set Initiation For May 23

Chaney To Give Address
At Banquet Which Will Follow Ceremony

Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi
Will Elect

May 23 is the date which has been definitely set for the joint initiation of Phi Beta Kappa, scholarship honorary, and Sigma Xi, science honorary. At this time members of the two fraternities who are yet to be elected will be initiated.

Ralph W. Chaney, who has recently returned from a trip to South America where he was making researches for the Rockefeller Foundation, has been secured to make the principal address at the banquet following the initiation ceremonies. Representatives of the new members of the two organizations will also make speeches in response to toasts.

The registrar's office and the personnel department are now working on figures to determine what seniors are eligible for election to Phi Beta Kappa. This report is due this coming Saturday, and Thursday, May 1, has been tentatively set as the day when the election will take place. The usual number taken at the spring election is about 30, although this varies.

Sigma Xi elections will take place next Tuesday, April 29, at a meeting which is to be held in Dady hall at 7:15. Following the elections the regular meeting will be held, at which time Dr. Ernest Gellhorn, professor of animal biology, will give the address.

Graduate Has Position With Jantzen Company

Gregg Millett, a winter term graduate from the school of business administration, is now employed in the credits and collections department of the Jantzen Knitting mills in Portland. A recent letter to David E. Faville, dean of the business administration school, gives the information that Millett is well satisfied with his position, and in a few weeks will take over the work of handling all foreign orders received at the Portland office.

Start the Leap Week right by taking your boy friend to the Kappa Koffee Thursday afternoon.

Daigh, house mother, Chi Delta sorority will entertain with a formal tea at the chapter house on Wednesday, April 23, from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock. About two hundred invitations have been issued for the affair. Miss Ruth Clark is chairman of arrangements.

Mardell Herman Tells Of Engagement

At an Easter breakfast held at the Phi Mu house, Miss Mardell Herman announced her engagement to Clyde Quam. Miss Herman, who is a sophomore on the campus, is a member of Phi Mu. Mr. Quam is a student at Oregon State college and is affiliated with Beta Kappa. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Lucile Quam, of Portland, was a guest at the breakfast.

Home Science Club Is Entertained

A program composed entirely of Russian music was given for the Home Science club by the members of Phi Beta, national professional music and dramatic honorary, at the home of Mrs. Robert Prescott, Monday afternoon. Mrs. James H. Gilbert and Mrs. Frank Jenkins assisted Mrs. Prescott.

The Russian atmosphere was carried out by the hostesses, who wore costumes of that country. Russian tea and confections were also served.

Taking part in the program were Mrs. C. H. Grant, Cecil Coss, Mable Kullander, Katherine Starr, Estelle Johnson, Theresa Kelly, Irma Logan, Ruth Bryant, and Marguerite Spath.

Graduate Assistant
Teaching In Normal

Edward G. Daniel, graduate student in economics, has been elected for the remainder of the school year to fill a vacancy in the faculty of the Eastern Oregon Normal School at La Grande. He is teaching classes in economics, history, and sociology.

Daniel was assistant to Dr. Victor P. Morris in the economics department during the fall and winter terms. He plans to finish work for his master's degree at the University summer session.

Two Gettysburg college students decorated their rooms with quarantine signs. The authorities objected and placed them under arrest.

Local Girl Wakes Good! Senior Class President Loses Her Way! Clouds Roll Back to Find Her Offered a New Job

Going in the wrong entrance of a Portland store, being mistaken for an employee and given firm instructions to appear for work thereafter in a dark blue or black costume, and eventually emerging from the highways and byways of the employees' department with a standing offer of a position in the store at any time, is the experience of Eleanor Poorman, president of the senior class and a student of interior decoration, who went to Portland Monday.

Miss Poorman, who mistook the employees' entrance for the place she was to join the group of interior decoration students, went into the store and found herself herded with the regular salespeople. Once in, Miss Poorman, feeling like an accident going somewhere to happen, found it was too late to get out. Having a sense of humor, she followed the routine of the store and in the course of events, the commander-in-chief of that section informed her firmly that hereafter she should report in the regulation costume of dark blue or black.

Meanwhile, her purse and hat were confiscated and checked and she was sent about the way all good salespeople should go. She finally found her way out of the maze of the employees' department and found a welcome in the person of the manager of the store, to whom she was known.

Her identity once established, the dignitaries of the bargain basement returned the purse and hat of the store's invited guest. She was congratulated by the store management for the ability she had demonstrated in getting through the difficult place and offered a good position in the store at any time.

Last Vesper Service To Be Given Thursday

The last Y. W. Five o'clock vesper service of the year will be held Thursday in the bungalow, and will be in the form of a formal post-Easter ceremony. A procession will be sung by the vested choir, followed by the invocation, and a violin solo by Peggy Sweeney. Elizabeth Scruggs, freshman in English, will give a dramatization, "The Resurrection," and decorations appropriate to the service will be handled by Jessie Judd.

Student To Be Heard In Recital Thursday

Juanita Oskins, violinist and one of six Juilliard music scholars on the campus this year will be heard in her senior recital at the music auditorium Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Miss Oskins, whose home is in Eugene, is the student of Rex Underwood.

Alice Holmbach, pianist, and student of John Stark Evans, will be her assistant.

Miss Oskins' brilliant work has received a good deal of attention here.

Typography Students Have Work Published

The work of six University of Oregon students in printing was featured in the April issue of The Business Printer, published by the Porte Publishing company of Salt Lake City.

A full page spread was given to reproduce the programs the students designed for the Oregon Press conference held here last February. The six programs were made by the following students: Bob Allen, Elizabeth Salway, Beatrice Bennett, Margaret Underwood, Ruth Newman, and Edward Sullivan.

WHAT "BIRD" MEANS

Write your conception of the word on this coupon and mail or give to Hank de Rat, Oregon Daily Emerald.

My definition of "Bird" is:

fall under the category of "culls." Not signed.

A "cull" is one who takes everything but gives nothing in return. Bill Whitley.

A "cull" is one who gets by on other people's work, one who cheats his way through college. Viola Keyes.

"Culls" are of two kinds. There are those that are thrown out in shoe factories, and there are those that are culled out in interviews. David Olsen.

Students do not read as much of the lighter variety as do the professors, the manager of a book store in an eastern university finds. Student taste seems to run to the modern classics while the professors indulge in the latest "thrillers."

Campus swimmers may soon have a new garb for their splashing. Coach David Armbruster of Iowa has invented a skin tight swimming suit, which Spaulding will soon put on the market.
