Better Oregon Discovered By Annual Meet

Functions Prepare Youth For Better Citizenship, Says Dad Leader

Eight Hundred Eighty-eight Attend Festivities

Eighty hundred and eighty-eight Oregon mothers, sons, and daughters were present at the second Mother's Day banquet which was held in Gerlinger hall Saturday night as part of the Mother's Day festivities of the campus.

The banquet program included welcoming addresses from Governor A. W. Norblad, Paul T. Shaw, president of Oregon Dads; and N. Thomas Stoddard, president of the associated students, followed by a talk by Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University. Mrs. Walter M. Cook, president of Oregon Mothers, presided.

"The celebration of Dad's and Mother's days on the Oregon campus, together with the late organization of the state board of higher education, marks the beginning of a new era in higher education in the state of Oregon," Governor Norblad said in his welcoming address.

Governor Norblad stressed the fact that such functions were serving as means of developing a better Oregon.

Extending greetings and congratulations to the mothers from the parallel Dad's organization, Paul T. Shaw stated that these parent organizations were assisting the University in preparing the younger generation for better citizenship, and helping them to develop better characters, attributes to be placed above the developing of splendid campuses with magnificent buildings.

"Why send your children to the university?" Dr. Hall asked in his address, "if you want them to think as you do. Rather leave them at home, and their thinking will then be unimpaired by any contact with scientific thought and research."

University Has Three Functions Dr. Hall stressed the fact that one of the main objects of a university education is that the student learn to think for himself clearly and effectively, and with a strong spirit for research and a seeking after the truths of life.

The three-fold functions of the university, Dr. Hall said, are training of the sons and daughters, the carrying on of a program of research, and the conducting of a program of adult education.

Of the first named function, he pointed out, that first, the intellectual; and second, the emotional and spiritual development of the students were necessary.

Under the intellectual training, come primarily the lessons of clear thinking, loving the truth, developing of intellectual integrity, cultivating a judgment widely exercised, and obtaining a profound insight.

Emotions Must Be Directed "Young peoples' emotional outlet must be directed to the aesthetic, the noble, and the sublime," Dr. Hall said in discussing the emotional and spiritual training of young people of today.

Life is an unceasing struggle between a better and a poorer nature, he explained, and it is through the development of appreciation of the beauty in art, drama, and literature that young people can find means of overcoming this problem.

Following Dr. Hall's speech, officers for the coming year were introduced as follows: Mrs. Walter E. Cook, Portland, president; Mrs. W. F. Bond, Pendleton, vice-president; and Mrs. Wilson F. Jewett, Eugene, treasurer.

Six new members were elected to the general state committee. They are: Mrs. E. E. Gore, Medford; Mrs. John Travis, Portland; Mrs. Herbert Templeton, Portland; Mrs. O. F. Stafford, Eugene; Mrs. Sol Baum, Portland; and Mrs. John Runyan, Roseburg.

Band Plays The University band, conducted by John J. Stehn, played selections during the evening.

The complete program was as follows: Pledge song—Evans; mass singing (directed by John Stark Evans).

Visiting Mothers Hear Norblad, Shaw, Stoddard and Hall Speak at Large Banquet

Guests of the University of Oregon on Annual Mother's Day

Of the 482 Mothers officially registered, less than half that number submitted to being photographed. The Oregon Dads displayed far more willingness to have their pictures taken last fall and some say that it indicates vanity to a greater degree in the male. Anyway, this is about the best-looking bunch of Mothers we've seen.

Oregon Mothers Elect Mrs. Cook For Presidency

Members Hear Resume of Past Year's Work at Annual Meeting

Practically 300 Oregon Mothers who packed Guild hall Saturday afternoon for the second annual meeting of the organization re-elected Mrs. Walter M. Cook, as president of the organization. Mrs. Cook has been active in raising funds for the new infirmary. Mrs. W. F. Bond of Pendleton was elected vice-president to succeed Mrs. John Runyan of Roseburg.

It was decided to make the position of secretary an appointive office, to be named by the president from the mothers in her home town. Mrs. Cook will make this appointment soon. Mrs. W. F. Jewett of Eugene, who served last year as secretary of the organization, was elected treasurer, a new office created at the meeting.

New Executives Named New members of the executive committee who succeeded five retiring members as stated in the constitution and one other member to take the place of a member who becomes ineligible through the graduation of her daughter from the University is as follows: Mrs. E. E. Gore, Medford; Mrs. John L. Travis, Portland; Mrs. Herbert Templeton, Portland; Mrs. O. F. Stafford, Eugene; Mrs. Sol Baum, Portland; and Mrs. John Runyan, Roseburg.

The constitution was further changed so that instead of only three members on the nominating committee, there are to be five. Miss Marion Fy was re-elected executive secretary.

President Hall Speaks At the meeting President Hall gave a short address, and Mrs. Cook gave a resume of the work that has been carried on by the mothers' organization. In this talk she stated that there was in the treasury $9,000 towards the new infirmary, and that the remainder of the fund would be raised by the University administration. She also outlined the plan for studying "A Course for Oregon Mothers" during the coming year.

Greetings from the State of Oregon—Governor A. W. Norblad. Greetings from the Oregon Dads to the Oregon Mothers—Paul T. Shaw, president of Oregon Dads. Greetings from the Associated Students to the Oregon Mothers—N. Thomas Stoddard, president of Associated Students. Oregon Mothers and the University—Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University. C. and Dick Waggoner, but as Waggoner defeated Hughes and has eliminated the various members of the O. S. C. squad in his two engagements with them, the championship now rests on the shoulders of the blond Oregon flash, Lee Winatrou of Oregon and Sam Houghton of O. S. C. tied for second place in matches won and lost.

President of Mothers Avers 'Tis Thrill To Be Renominated

A charming mother with sparkling eyes was "thrilled" when the nominations for new officers were read at the Saturday mass meeting of Oregon mothers, for she was renominated as its president. Her nomination, along with the others, was accepted unanimously.

A dozen mothers, and President Hall were all trying to talk to her after the meeting, cameramen shouting for pictures, and a reporter was trying to interview her, when it was then 5:15, and she had to dress for the banquet scheduled for 5:30. Through all she was the same charming mother of Betty Cook, Mrs. Walter M. Cook, of Portland.

"I love it," was her expression of the Oregon campus, "and I love my work with the mothers. I was sorry to miss the water carnival this morning, but we had an executive meeting, and a luncheon at Dr. Hall's that were fine. We are just a new organization, but we have accomplished something already." (This might be sustained by the amount of money the mothers raised in a rather short time for the new infirmary. It amounts to something over $9,000.) "Early this morning we had breakfast at Peters' Lodge, and enjoyed it immensely."

"Well, I must be going now. Use all the nice adjectives you can think of describing how I like the Oregon campus." "No, save some for me," said Mrs. Willard Bond, of Pendleton, the newly elected vice-president of the mothers' organization, as both got into cars, hurrying down town to the hotel to dress for the banquet. Mrs. Cook left immediately after the banquet for Portland, as her mother was gravely ill.

Beta, Tri Delt Win Attendance Cups Awards Given for Houses Having Most Mothers

Beta Theta Pi and Delta Delta Delta won the cups donated by Mrs. Charles Hall and Mrs. F. A. Heitkemper for the highest percentages of Mothers present for the annual celebration. The winners had attendances of 47 1-5 per cent and 59 2-5 per cent respectively. Sigma Phi Epsilon placed second for men's houses with 35 7-10 per cent and Alpha Chi Omega for women's houses with a percentage of 57 1-10.

EMERALD OF THE AIR

By THORNTON GALE "Congress Club" will be featured tonight over KORE by "Emerald of the Air," in line with series of broadcasts presenting honorary clubs and fraternities of the campus, announced Art Potwin, director of the broadcasts last night. Their program will consist of musical numbers and a dialogue satire of Congress, which will occupy ten minutes of the usual KORE hour.

A trio composed of Bob Goodrich, Kelley Slocum, and Slug Palmer, will sing a variety of vocal numbers. The boys have all appeared before the microphone before, but this will be their first appearance as a trio. Bob Goodrich will also be featured in some solo work. Goodrich has done a lot of singing with KORE and the station has received a lot of requests for his re-engagement.

John Finley, accordionist, will play several numbers on his instrument. This will be Finley's second appearance at KORE, and judging from his last program, he will be plenty good.

Hal Hatton, popular campus tap dancer, will do two tap dances for the radio audience, via the microphone.

Although it has not been definitely settled as yet, tentative arrangements have been made for

Oregon Mothers Promise $9,000 Infirmary Fund

President Hall Is Given Vote of Appreciation For Work

More than $9,000 for a new infirmary at the University has been raised by the association of Oregon Mothers since October 1, announced Mrs. W. N. Jones of Portland, before a meeting of the state committee of Oregon Mothers, held in Guild hall Saturday morning at 10:30. Portland led the list of cities, subscribing more than $4,000 to the sum. Eugene was second with $1,400 to their credit.

Resolution Introduced A resolution introduced by Mrs. Charles Hall of Marshfield, "that the association go on record as expressing a vote of appreciation to Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University, for his work in organization of Oregon Mothers," was passed by the association.

Twenty-five of the state committee, representative of 14 local mother groups, attended the meeting. Mrs. Walter M. Cook of Portland, president of the Oregon Mothers, asked for reports by various local groups about the work that was being carried on by them in their home towns.

Syllabus of Oregon Life Part of the work in connection with the clubs is a study course put out by the University, entitled, "An outline of Study for Oregon Mothers." This syllabus tells of life at Oregon, its needs, purposes, and administration. It is being used in connection with the study clubs for mothers who do not know much about the University as they would like to know.

Scientific Club To Show Movies Tonight A motion picture film dealing with the preparation and use of vaccines and anti-toxins, will be shown tonight at 7:30 in Villard assembly. Hal A. Webster, Oregon professional service representative of the Squibbs Mfg. Co., will be present at the screening of the scientific film and will answer questions concerning biologicals.

Oregon Mothers Attend Tea Sans Bashful Sons

Cecile Espey, James Lyons Are Known Members Of Fearless Sextet

Musical Program and Tea Feature Afternoon's Fest

Men were a rare sight at the annual tea given for Oregon Mothers and their sons and daughters, Saturday afternoon, at Hendricks hall.

By 3 o'clock, when the tea was only half over, it was counted that six bold sons had accompanied their mothers to the tea. Cecile Espey and James Lyons were two of the courageous sextette. As a rule, the campus man either gave his mother into the care of the girl friend or else bashfully accompanied her to the door of Hendricks hall, and there leaving her.

Mrs. Stoddard Present Among some of the most prominent mothers seen at the tea were Mrs. Ethel Q. Hughes, of Roseburg, mother of Daphne Hughes, very proud of her daughter's new honor of Mortar Board membership; Mrs. Jessie Stoddard, of Modoc Point, mother of the ex-student body president, Tom Stoddard; and Mrs. John Straub, who, although not an actual Oregon mother, is considered as such, and is known for her cheerfulness and sweetness.

Included in the receiving line were: Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall, Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Mrs. John Straub, Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Mrs. Walter Cook, Miss Helen Peters, and Miss Margaret Cummings.

Those who poured were: Mrs. Campbell Church, Mrs. John Rogers, and Mrs. Will Jewett.

Kwama Members Usher Dorothy Eberhard was in charge of the tea and was assisted by Helen Carlson, Bass Templeton, Elizabeth Strain, and Elizabeth Plummer.

Active members of Kwama and pledges of that organization served and ushered at the tea, which was served in an unusual way on small tables about the rooms.

A musical program arranged for the afternoon by Elizabeth Strain consisted of several vocal numbers by Cecil Coss, a piano solo by Theresa Kelly, and several numbers by the Alpha Tau Omega trio, composed of Ermin Harper, Haclan Stevenson, and Thorsten Shell.

Junior Prom Is Climax Of Week-end

Events of Junior Week-end came to a fitting close Saturday evening at the Junior Prom, last formal campus dance of the year, which was held at McArthur Court. The pirate motif was elaborately carried out through wall decorations depicting ships and treasure chests.

The crowning of Miss Dorothy Teepe as Prom Queen was a feature of the evening. Her attendants were: Miss Janice Strickland, Miss Margherita Hay, Miss Lorena Wilson, and Miss Orpha Ager.

Mothers Entertained At Banquet The annual banquet in honor of visiting mothers was held Saturday evening at Gerlinger hall. Mrs. Walter Cook, president of the Mother's association, presided.

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall was the principal speaker for the occasion. Short talks were given by Governor A. W. Norblad, Paul T. Shaw, president of the Oregon Dads, and Tom Stoddard, president of the associated students.

Miss Reba Brogdon had charge of the affair.
