Alpha Kappa Psi Pledges Fifteen

Commerce Group Selects New Members

Fifteen men were formally pledged to Alpha Kappa Psi, men's national professional commerce honorary yesterday noon at the Anchorage.

The following men were chosen because of their interest in commerce, their high scholastic standing, personality, and leadership. These men are: Tom Stoddard, Paul Hunt, Harold Kelley, Keith Hall, Cliff Beckett, Ira Brown, Paul Lafferty, John Marrs, Edward Siegmund, Hal Paddock, Dick Keasey, John King, Horace Allen, Kenneth Potts, and Karl F. Thunemann, the advertising manager of McMorran and Washburne's.

Yell Writers Lax In Entering Work

Box at Co-op Has Room For Contributions

Come one, come all for the time to turn in yells in the yell contest now going on is getting short. The box which has been placed in the Co-op for the reception of the brain children of the campus yell writers is not by any means full as yet, and the passes to the McDonald are still good. In other words anybody who can or thinks he can write a yell which would be usable by the Oregon students at football games, rallies, or elsewhere, can compete in this contest for which three passes to the McDonald have been given. First prize is a one-month pass good for two persons, second one-month pass good for one person, third prize is a three-week pass good for one person. Get on the boat all you movie goers, now is a chance to get in a lot of free dating.

Stoddard Makes Farewell Speech At Inauguration

Service Tokens Awarded Outgoing Student Officers

New Officials Assume Their Duties

Tom Stoddard, outgoing president of the student body, in his farewell speech before the students Thursday morning, welcomed the new administration and congratulated the association in its choice of new officers.

"To me, the supreme pleasure and honor of the whole thing is in being reasonably sure that I am turning the administration over to a group which will carry it through in a logical way," he said. Stoddard, in outlining the activities of the recent administration, emphasized the manner in which the student body debt, contracted as a result of the building program inaugurated with the commencement of McArthur court, and which was a heavy burden on past administrations, was removed this year by the floating of bonds, provided for in the constitution, whose revival was one of the achievements of the administration.

Other activities include the advancement of the athletic program, including the new coaching staff and illustrated by the athletic achievements of the past year. Following the installation, George Cherry, new student body president, presented Stoddard with a watch charm in the form of a gavel as a token of the respect and esteem of the association and its new officers. "I feel utterly incompetent to state what we owe to Tom Stoddard, and our appreciation of the work which he has done this year," Cherry said.

Frosh Picnic Slated Today; Lasts 7 Hours

Buses Will Leave Campus At Four Sharp for Picnic Suite

PRIZES ARE OFFERED

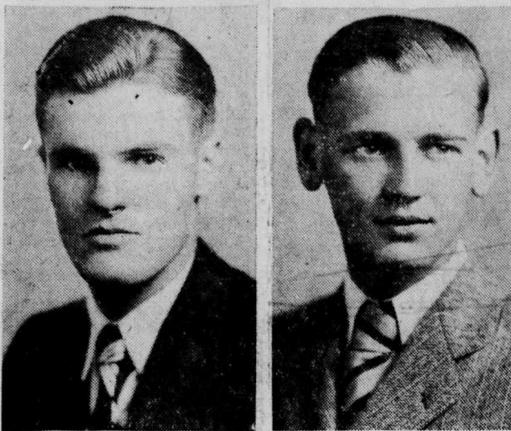

Rat-Racing and Waltzing Will Be Features of Entertainment

At 4 o'clock today a fleet of busses will leave the administration building bearing freshman students to the annual class picnic at the Delight, where swimming, dancing, baseball, rat-racing and picnic supper are the order of the day. Ken Oehlen is general chairman of the event. "Rat-racing" contest and a waltzing contest will be held at the Delight, where merchants will be in the order of the entertainment, it was announced yesterday by Mary Stoddard and Philip Bell, entertainment chairman for the affair. A woman's sweater donated by McMorran and Washburne and a necktie offered by Paul T. Green will be the prizes for the couple winning the "rat-race." A pair of silk stockings given by the Golden Rule store will be awarded the winners of the prize waltz. Several other contests and games have been planned for the afternoon, with prizes donated by Fulop's clothing store and Gilmore's women's wear shop. "Busses will leave promptly at 4 p. m.," Ken Lawson, transportation chairman, announced yesterday. "Let me urge every one to be on time, in order to get in on all the events of the afternoon. The return trip will start at 11 sharp." A committee of girls appointed by Vince Miesen, chairman of refreshments, will start serving the picnic dinner at 5:30. "Sandwiches, salad, coffee, punch, ice cream, and cake will be served," Miesen reported. "There will be plenty of everything for everybody. If anyone goes hungry, it won't be my fault."

Music From Class From 4 o'clock until 6, dance music will be furnished by musicians recruited from the class. From 7:30 to 11, a first-class dance band, Ray Sharp and his Four Flats, will play, it was announced by Andy Brown, dance chairman. Pianists who will perform during the afternoon are Bud Nicklaus, Harvey Welch, and Claude Gottschell.

The proprietors are having the floor prepared especially for the dance, and Brown reports that it will be waxed before the dance contests in the evening. Swimmers' Delight may be reached by following the Pacific highway south to Goshen and then turning left for two miles, until the resort comes into view on the right-hand side of the road.

Their Dads Seek Nomination

Today the state goes to the polls to nominate a governor. Above we have Keith Hall, son of Senator Charles Hall, who seeks nomination in the Republican ranks, and Walt Norblad, son of Governor Norblad, who seeks the same honor. Politics has, in a small way, taken a grip on the campus with the struggle resting between these two men and John Nelson, who is supporting Harry L. Corbett, and backers of Senator George W. Joseph.

Creech Is Named New Rally Chief And Yell Leader

Appointee Has Had Two Years Experience In Rooting

Rooters' Training School To Be Continued

CREECH IS ...-5 ... Yelling at games and student rallies to blow off steam will be under the leadership of John Creech for the year of 1930-31. Creech was appointed Wednesday as yell-king for the coming year upon recommendation of Harold Kelley, leader of the yell school and present king, which recommendation was sanctioned by the executive council. Creech is a junior in English and has had experience on the yell staff the past two years. Yell School To Continue Under the resolution made by the student affairs committee and passed by the executive council, provision was made for the continuance of the yell school put in operation this year, and also for the method of selecting the yell-king for the coming year. Aspirants for yell-leading jobs will try out at the opening of fall term with weekly meetings with the yell-king for practices. The king will call on various aspirants to help him at games. Each year the succeeding king will be appointed between the time of student body elections and installation.

Resolutions Adopted

The executive council also adopted resolutions which were in use in the old constitution which dealt with the selling of merchandise and papers or magazines on the campus, selling a student body ticket to faculty or university administration members, regulating rallies, inviting the Emerald editor (Continued on Page Three)

Hotel Plans Made By Students To Be Sent To New York

Plans drawn up by five architecture students for a hotel to be erected on the summit of Sugar Loaf Mountain, Maryland, are now nearing completion. The plans will be submitted to Gordon Strong, of New York, a well-known engineer and friend of Arnold Bennett Hall, at whose request the plans are being drawn. Strong owns extensive tracts of land in Maryland, including Sugar Loaf mountain. He plans the construction of a huge hotel on the summit of the mountain, to be used for tourists, as an observation point, since it will survey the surrounding country for about 30 miles, and for large conventions, particularly governmental. The whole mountain will probably be converted into a park. Prize Money Sent Prize money amounting to $250 was sent here by Strong, to be used in a competition in which all the architecture students were to enter. However, the school of architecture did not hold a competition, and the students voted to turn the money into the school with the stipulation that the students decide what shall be done with it. Although the contest planned by strong did not materialize, five of the students have drawn up tentative plans for the Sugar Mountain hotel which they will submit to him within a few days. 'Creation' to Be Presented This Evening

Famous Haydn Oratorio Will Be Sung by Local Society

STUDENTS HAVE PARTS

Tickets for Presentation At McArthur Court in Much Demand

With the arrival in Eugene yesterday of Miss Ruth Somerindyke, soprano, and Lester Spring, basso, guest soloists with the Eugene Oratorio society in their presentation tonight at McArthur court of Haydn's "The Creation," everything is in readiness for the closing event of the city's musical season. Final dress rehearsal for the oratorio was held last night. According to John Stark Evans, director, the rehearsal proved further the acoustical betterment of McArthur court resulting from the installation of a huge sound shell over the stage at the south end of the building. Students in Chorus Over 200 University students will take part tonight in the presentation of the famous Austrian composer's work. In the chorus will be 152 University men and women and the orchestra will be composed of more than 50 students. "The Creation," for 130 years one of the most popular of oratorios, was composed in 1799 by Joseph Haydn. It depicts the story of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden in masterful melody. Upper News Staff Named by Editors Of Frosh Paper

Carol Werschkul Gets Job Of Day Editor; Edition To Appear May 23

An upper news staff of six freshman journalists, selected last night by Sterling "Emerald" Green, editor, and Rufus Kimball, managing editor, will head the personnel of the annual frosh edition of the Emerald, which is to appear on bright green paper, a week from today. Betty Ann Macduff, assistant managing editor, was chosen earlier in the week. Other appointees are Carol Werschkul, day editor; Edgar Goodnough, sports editor; Esther Hayden, society editor; Janet Fitch, features editor; Phyllis Calderwood, theatre editor; and Warner Guiss, night editor. Clifford Gregor, Elinor Henry, and Nan Ruonala will serve as assistant night editors. Other positions on the staff are still open, and freshmen desiring reportorial jobs are urged by the editors to get in touch with them as soon as possible.

Withdrawal Seems To Be All That's Left

Now that all elections, mid-terms, and what have you are over, students will have time to decide whether they will withdraw honorably from the University or flunk out as usual. Today is the last day to withdraw without petitioning, also the last day to turn in withdrawal cards.

Moe and Partner Defeat Opponents In Cup Matches

Moe Playing Great Golf; Driving Carries Distance

Will Compete in Single Matches Today

Don Moe, University of Oregon member of the United States Walker cup team, with his partner, Roland Mackenzie of Wilmington, Delaware, defeated Sir Ernest Holderness and J. A. Stout, two up one to play, in Walker cup matches yesterday. Moe started the morning round unsteadily but settled down in the afternoon and played wonderful golf. His driving was good and carried plenty of distance. Time after time Moe registered phenomenal shots with his putter. He holed a three-yard putt on the fourth and hit the cup edge with a ten-yard putt in the sixth. He placed a 25-yard approach shot within two yards of the hole on the eighth and then sank a 13-yard putt on the 13th. Moe went into the bunker on the 16th but recovered with a shot that lay within two yards of the pin. He laid another putt dead on the 17th. He holed out to win the 18th. Moe's driving was very good and the gallery applauded him enthusiastically. Today Moe is paired with J. A. Short in the singles matches of the Walker cup golf competition.

Strawberry Festival To Be Next Thursday

The annual strawberry festival sponsored by the W. A. A. will be held the evening of Thursday, May 22, according to Fannie Vick Pierce, who is in charge of the event. George Weber's orchestra will play. This festival is in the nature of a tennis court dance, a no-date affair for everyone, the refreshments being strawberry sundaes, paid for there. No desert is served at any of the houses that evening. Committees in charge of the festival are: Fannie Vick Pierce, chairman; Lucille Hill, advertising; Virginia Grone, property; Lucille Murphy, food; Vivian Coss, nickel collecting; and Avis Selnes, servers.

Pacific Coast Conference Championships Begin At 9 o'Clock

GOSS WILL BE REFEREE

Every Oregon Man Slated To Play in First Round Singles

By HARRY VAN DINE

Play in the Pacific Coast conference tennis championships will begin on the University courts at 9 o'clock this morning with matches scheduled to be played during the day in both singles and doubles events. Eight conference schools have entered teams in the tourney, only California and Idaho failing to enter. Walter Goss, veteran Portland tennis official, will serve as referee in the meet. Every member of the Oregon four man team is scheduled to play in the first round singles matches as a result of the drawings held last night at the Osburn hotel. Don Ragen will meet Broom of W. S. C.; Almqvist will meet Scholtz of U. C. L. A.; Kallisky will meet Hall of Stanford; and Lockwood will meet John Lewis of Montana. Doubles Teams Play The Webfoots have entered two doubles teams in the play for conference honors and one of them will play in the first round. Almqvist and Lockwood drew a bye while Ragen and Kallisky will meet DeLara and Gates of Southern California. Play up to the quarter final in the singles and semi-final round of the doubles will be completed today. In case of inclement weather it is planned to play as many matches as possible on the indoor courts at McArthur court. The seeded players in the singles include De Lara, U. S. C.; Easton, Stanford; Almqvist and Lockwood, Oregon; Robbins, U. C. L. A.; Nordstrom, U. of W.; Plymire, Stanford; and Elbert Lewis, U. C. L. A. Seeded Doubles Listed Seeded doubles teams include: Lockwood and Almqvist, Oregon; DeLara and Gates, U. S. C.; Easton and Hall, Stanford; and Nordstrom and Newkirk, U. of W. First round singles play will begin at 9 a. m.; second round singles at 10 a. m.; first round doubles at 12 noon; third round singles at 3 p. m.; and second round doubles at 4:30 p. m. Don Wheat, tennis manager, is in charge of the tournament. Singles—DeLara, U. S. C., bye, vs. O. S. C. No. 3, bye; Robbins, U. C. L. A., vs. Chum, W. S. C.; Ragan, U. of O., vs. Broom, W. S. C.; Almqvist, U. of O., vs. Scholtz, U. C. L. A.; Kilroy, Montana, vs. Weesner, Stanford; Plymire, Stanford, vs. Astrum, W. S. Haydn's "The Creation," To Be Presented at McArthur Court This Evening, Will Bring City's Music Season To Brilliant Close

Over one-third of the members of the chorus of the Eugene Oratorio society, which will sing Haydn's "The Creation" at McArthur court tonight, are students in the University of Oregon. Of the 152 students in the chorus, 109 are women and 43 are men. In addition to this group of students, over fifty will play in the University orchestra which will furnish the musical accompaniment for the singers. Two guest artists, Miss Ruth Somerindyke, of Los Angeles, and Lester Spring, of Chicago, arrived in Eugene yesterday and will sing leading parts in the production tonight. Mr. Spring comes direct from Birmingham, Alabama, where he sang the same role in "The Creation" at a recent music festival. Arthur Boardman, of the school of music faculty, will have the tenor solo part. John Stark Evans, associate dean of the music school, will direct the oratorio. Lovers of good music need no longer fear the echoes that used to prevail at concerts in McArthur court, for the stage has been built at the south end of the court for this concert and a huge sound shell constructed to carry all tones clearly to every part of the auditorium. A false ceiling will keep the sound waves from re-echoing in the high rafters of the court. Acoustical tests Monday and Wednesday nights, and the final dress rehearsal last night, proved the value of the new stage and sound shell. Students may obtain popular-priced tickets for the oratorio at the Co-op or at McMorran and Washburne's. General admission tickets for balcony seats will be put on sale at both stores this morning.
