

Webfeet Have Even Chance To Win Meet

Comparison of Records Shows Hayward Men Rank Well

Lowry Slated To Win Over Huskies

By JACK BURKE

When the Webfoots and the Huskies clash in track on Hayward field Saturday the Oregon runners and field men should have an even chance to win in spite of Bill Hayward's predictions which are not so bright.

Taking each event and using the times and marks made by the Washington men against O. S. C. team and the marks made by the Oregon men against time the same week-end, somewhat of a comparison may be made.

In the 100 there is no basis for comparison as Oregon's best bet in this race, Tyrrell Lowry, did not run. However, Pendleton, the Washington speedster, negotiated the distance in 10 flat, a mark which Lowry should be able to equal.

Husky Sprinters Strong

The same Pendleton made the 220 against the Beavers in 21.6 seconds. This is faster than the time made by Paul Bale, in the Oregon tryouts, but here again Lowry can do better than the balance of the Lemon and Green sprinters.

In the 440-yard run the Husky runner, Hartley, had little trouble in winning in 48.8 seconds. This is exceptionally fast and should be enough to beat out the best of the Oregon men who ran last week-end. It should be remembered, however, that Hartley was beaten by Clair McKennon last year, and the Seattle man will be hard pressed to take the race this year.

In the half-mile, the Oregon man should have little trouble as the best Husky bet took third place in a race run in 1:56.4 against the O. S. C. team while Ralph Hill won the trials in 1:56.8. Tom Moran and Dick Jennings are also probable point winners in this event.

Mile Looms Classic

A great race should develop in the mile between Rufus Kiser, the great Husky four-lap man, and Ralph Hill, Oregon equally great entry. In a comparison based on the times available the Husky star seems to have a slight edge but this does not include the factor of the competition of the race. Kiser ran his race in 4:22.2 at Corvallis while Hill made 4:24 here.

In the two-mile event Washington may have a slight edge as Haynes made the eight laps in 9:46.1 against the Beavers while Clarence Hill was able to only cut his time to 10 flat.

Steve Anderson, the great Husky hurdler, seems to have recovered from his leg injury of early season and he is a safe bet to take both the hurdle races. His times of 15.9 in the highs and 25 flat in the lows looks to be good. Against him will be times of 25.2 seconds made by Ed Sigmund in the low and a time a little more than 16 flat made by Hubert Allen in the high sticks.

The outlook in the field events is even brighter from an Oregon standpoint. In the javelin, Homer Dickson and Coverstone of Oregon, have been making over 180 feet consistently while Ralph Cairney was the sole winner in this event against the Beavers for the Huskies with a throw of but 165 feet 6 inches.

Field Outlook Better

Captain Ed Moeller of the Oregon team, should take the discus. Jessup of Washington took this event against the Aggies with a heave of 150 feet 9 1-2 inches which falls short of Moeller's mark of 152 1-2 feet made in the trials. Hildreth is another Oregon man who can be counted upon for a place.

Jessup's throw of 49 feet 9 1-4 inches against the Corvallis team, however, is better than the mark made by Bun Stadelman, which is 41 feet 8 inches. This is not the best that Bun can do, however, the big Husky should be given the edge.

Oregon High Jumpers Good

Ed Moeller, Gilbert French, and Bob Everts all look to be better than the Husky high jumpers. Everts made 6 feet 1 inch in the trials while Lyon, O. S. C., and Dunn, Washington, tied for first at 5 feet 10 inches.

Broad-jumping honors should go to Hubert Allen of the Oregon team, who, with a jump of 22 feet 1 3-4 inches took this event in last week's trials. Whiting of Washington won this event with a jump of 21 feet 4 1-2 inches at Corvallis. Bill Minsinger and Ed Maginess are also potential Oregon place winners.

Chances Good

Washington's best man in the pole vault tied for third place against the Oregon State team at 11 feet 6 inches while both Don Maltby and Bob Robinson made 12 feet 6 inches in the trials. This should assure the Lemon and Green of two places in this event.

This comparison gives several first places to Washington while Oregon should take a lot of the second and third places which do not show on this form sheet. However, predictions good or bad to the contrary, the meet should be close enough to be interesting.

Frosh Nine Plays Rooks in Opener On Reinhart Field

'Boys Are in Good Shape For Win,' States Bill Baker

Yearlings To Meet Rivals Next at Corvallis

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon on Reinhart field the frosh nine will meet the O. S. C. Rooks for the first time this year. "The boys are in good shape and are looking forward to a win," said Bill Baker, coach, in speaking of the game.

In Jack Hughes and Roy Shaneman, he said, the frosh have a strong battery and the rest of the boys are there when it comes to support.

The Rooks have a strong team, as was shown in their win over Eugene high last week, and the frosh are more than anxious to take them in.

On Saturday, at 10 a. m., the frosh will play their second game with the Rooks at Corvallis. About 15 men leave McArthur court at 7:30 a. m. for the game.

Yearling lineup for today's game:

- Leonard Rands—Left field.
- Chet Anderson—Short.
- Leland Chester—Third.
- LeRoy Shaneman—Catcher.
- Ted Jensen—Center.
- Hugh Chapman—Second.
- Courtney Wheat—First.
- Paul Hunt—Right field.
- Jack Hughes—Pitcher.

Webfoot-Idaho Clash Is Today on Vandals' Diamond

Oregon Nine Is in First Place; Huskies Are Class Second

Coach Bill Reinhart and his travelling Webfoot baseball team are due to arrive in Moscow this morning to meet the University of Idaho nine today. The game will be the first on the schedule for the road trip which calls for seven games to be played in nine days. The team will play a two-game series against the Vandals and then will hop over to Pullman to meet the Washington State tossers early next week.

The Oregon squad, 14 strong, left Eugene Thursday afternoon, and it was accompanied by Coach Reinhart and Fletcher Udall, student manager. Five pitchers, two catchers, four infielders, and three outfielders were included in the party.

Reynold MacDonald, speed ball artist, will probably be on the mound against the Vandals. He recently set the Moscow team down here in a ten-inning battle. Cecil Gabriel will do the receiving.

The Webfoots are now perched in first place in the conference standings and are only a half game ahead of the Washington Huskies. Washington is breezing along at a fine clip and the Webfoots will almost have to win all of the games on the trip to keep their lead.

Albany College Head Is Visitor on Campus

Thomas W. Bibb, president of Albany college, was a visitor Wednesday at the school of education, where he conferred with Miss Ida Pope, secretary of the appointments bureau.

Other men who have been on the campus this week, considering candidates for teaching positions, are L. W. Turnbull, superintendent of schools in North Bend, and Paul T. Jackson, principal of Klamath Falls high school. Mr. Jackson, who arrived on the campus today, will also attend the state debate contest between Medford and McLoughlin union high schools.

Side Lines

By Harry Van Dine

Oregon pitchers have real job on annual road trip; Crissman looks like real find on freshman track team.

Fourteen Webfoot baseball players, accompanied by Coach Bill Reinhart and Fletcher Udall, student manager, left yesterday afternoon on the annual road trip. The games played on the journey should go a long way toward deciding just how strong a claim the Oregon nine will have in the race for conference honors as the boys will be playing ball almost every day.

Whether or not the Webfoots will still be in first place when they get back to Eugene will depend a lot on the showing of the Oregon pitchers on the trip. Reinhart will take five floggers along on the trip in an effort to keep his staff in the best possible shape.

Naturally, the real hurrying burden will fall on Reynold MacDonald's shoulders but if he should falter there will be four others to take up the work. Ken Seales, who has won his last two starts, will probably serve as first assistant to MacDonald. Dave Bloom, Curly Fuller, and Hal Waffle, will complete the staff.

Reinhart has only one south-paw tosser this year, Curly Fuller, and the Webfoot mentor is hoping for some real warm weather on the trip. Fuller has to have hot sunshine to loosen up his arm and then he is a hard man to beat. Bloom has worked in practice games this season and is a steady right-hander, while Waffle graduated from last year's freshman team. He is a good hitter and played in the outfield for the yearlings when he was not in the box.

Coach Bill Hayward's freshman track team got under way with a victory over the Eugene high runner Wednesday and are in fine shape to meet the University of Washington Babes here Saturday. This fellow Frank Crissman looks like a great runner and, although he is topping the hurdles in fine shape at present, Hayward has a secret ambition to make him over into a quarter-miler.

Drawings for the Pacific Coast tennis championships to be played here Friday and Saturday will be made today and it is expected that eight of the ten conference schools will enter teams. There should be some great matches played on the local courts during the tourney as all of the leading intercollegiate players of the coast will be on hand.

Sigma Nus Lose To Psi Kappas in Surprising Upset

A.T.O. Bows Before A.B.C. Phi Delt and S.A.E. Score Victories

Two league leaders suffered decisive setbacks from supposedly cellar performers yesterday when A. B. C. toppled A. T. O., 6 to 1, from a three-way tie in League C, and Psi Kappa knocked an over-confident Sigma Nu nine from their undisputed possession of first place in League D by a 3-to-1 score. Theta Chi won the cellar championship of League D by losing to the Phi Delt, 4 to 0, while S. A. E. rambled through Bachelordon for a 16-to-1 victory.

Anticipating an easy win, the Sigma Nus started Bauman on the mound and leaped into an early lead on hits by Stocum and McLaren. The Psi Kappas filled the sacks in the third but tallied only once when McLaren dropped John-son's pop fly. McLaren replaced

Deferred Pledging Is Necessary In Some Cases, Declares Dr. Brown

Chi Phi Chaplain Believes Freshman Pledging Is All Right Ordinarily

Editor's Note: This is the sixth of a series of interviews on deferred pledging run in connection with the Emerald pledging poll.

By RALPH DAVID

If there are enrolled in an institution a number of men who come to school just to join a fraternity and later drop out to pose as college men, then deferred pledging is the system to adopt," said Dr. Milton W. Brown, grand chaplain of Chi Psi fraternity, in an interview yesterday.

Dr. Brown, who was a visitor at the Bachelordon fraternity, said that deferred pledging was adopted at the University of Texas on his advice because a great number of men enrolled there each year for no other reason than to make a fraternity.

To get rid of this class of men pledging was deferred for one semester with the ruling that no one might be rushed who had not made a grade average as high as the average of all the men in the institution.

But aside from this reason pledging should not be deferred, in the opinion of Dr. Brown. "If the fraternity is the right kind, a man should be free to join as soon as possible. If the fraternity is not of the right kind, then it should be abolished," he said.

"The fraternity is a unique educational instrument—much like the home—with contacts that are long and enduring. The four-year fraternity is the best thing for training of men that there has ever been. Anything, therefore, that changes this and tends to cut down the years a man may spend in a group, serves to change the fraternity into a club.

Results in Emerald deferred pledging poll:

	For	Against
Greek	45	269
Independent	90	29
Total	135	298
Vote by classes:
Frosh	37	71
Soph	46	86
Junior	32	79
Senior	20	62

"There are many clubs, but the college fraternity is practically the only brotherhood on earth. Already the junior colleges are cutting off the first years that men may spend in fraternities. And medical schools are cutting off the last years. Deferred pledging would only serve in most cases to hasten the changing of the fraternity into a club."

It is better for the freshman if he is rushed right away, thinks Dr. Brown. But the fraternity gains by having pledging deferred for a short time because of the opportunity to know men better.

'CREATION' IS BILLED FOR THIS EVENING

Tickets in Demand

Student body cards will not allow admission to McArthur court for the oratorio, according to Ronald Robnett, manager, for the concert is not an A. S. U. O. production, and the Eugene Oratorio society has rented the court for the concert. Reserved seats were much in demand yesterday at the Co-op and at McMoran and Washburne's, with indications of an early sell-out. General admission tickets may be obtained this morning at either of the stores.

Talk on Pioneer Papers Is Given

George Turnbull Analyzes Oregon Spectator

"Pioneer Newspapers of Oregon," was the title of a paper read by George S. Turnbull, professor of journalism, at a meeting of the Round Table at the Osburn hotel last night. The Round Table is an organization made up of Eugene business men and University faculty.

The paper was an intensive analysis of news content of the Oregon Spectator, the first newspaper published on the Pacific coast, the Oregon Statesman, and contemporaries of these. Professor Turnbull compared their reporting and newswriting technique in such departments as crime, society, drama, and sports with modern papers.

Caswell Made Head Of Synod Committee

Dr. A. E. Caswell of the physics department has just received word that he has been appointed chairman of a committee on program and field activities of the Presbyterian Synod of Oregon. This committee is supposed to be one of the most powerful in the synod.
