Doc To Put Men Through Workout on Soldiers' Field in Afternoon

New Webfoot Shift and Fast Field May Spell Oregon Victory

The Oregon football team disembarked at Chicago this morning and will gallop through a light workout on Soldiers' Field this afternoon, giving that portion of the midwest its first glimpse of an Oregon team in action.

Twenty-six men were taken to represent the team. They paused for a few hours at Pocatello, Denver, and Omaha for exercise on their four day trip east.

The game with Drake Friday night, the first inter-sectional clash of the year, will be regarded as a means of measuring Oregon strength.

Coach Spears, never garrulous, spoke crisply of his team's condition, which he said was excellent.

"What do we know about Drake?" demanded the Doctor. "They haven't played a game yet — no way of checking up on their power by scouting."

Two Men Hurt

Colonel Bill Hayward, trainer, stated that two men, Ed Moeller, full back, and Jack Rushlow, half back, were nursing small sprains, but that nothing at all serious in so far as physical injuries were concerned would handicap the team.

"Soldiers' Field is fast and if the players can get started with their shift, we will have a chance to win over Drake," Dr. Spears declared before leaving, "but if the easterners are as tough as they usually are, all I'll say is we'll give them a battle, win, lose, or draw."

Al Stoehr, sophomore guard, and Clyde Gilbert, a back field man, were last minute additions to the group selected to make the trip. These two boys are tough, and plenty rough.

The squad lineup includes the following: Backs—Captain Johnny Kitzmiller, Al Browne, Jack Erdley, Sam Rotenberg, John Londahl, George Currie, Don Watts, Ed Moeller, Jack Rushlow, John Donohue, and John Kitzmiller, Halfback and Captain.

Captain John Kitzmiller, the Flying Dutchman, will lead his Oregon Webfoot team against the Drake Bulldogs tomorrow evening in the first night game to be played in Chicago this year. The Oregon captain already leads Pacific coast gridgers in scoring and plans on adding to his total at the expense of the Des Moines team.

Clyde Gilbert

Centers—Eric Forsta, Bill Bowerman, and Bill Anator.

Guards—Jerry Lillie, Bree Cuppoletti, Irvin Schulz, Austin Colbert, and Al Stoehr.

Tackles—George Christensen, Norman Jesse, and Marion Hall.

Ends—Steve Fletcher, Orville Bailey, Milton Thompson, and Laurence Winters.

KORE To Broadcast Drake Game Friday

The Gridgraph, which on many occasions heretofore has been used by the A. S. U. O. has been supplanted this year by radio broadcast over KORE. The following statement has been issued by the A. S. U. O.: "In discontinuing the use of the gridgraph this year we believe we can reach more of the public and also do a service to the city by cooperation with the radio station KORE. The broadcast will begin at 6:15 p. m. on October 3.

Will Victor Norris Is New Math Professor

Will Victor Norris, professor of mathematics and physical science, is a new member of the University faculty this year.

Professor Norris was a student at William Jewell college. He received his B. S. at the Colorado School of Mines, his B. A. at the Texas Christian university, and his D. Sc. as a chemistry major with physics and metallurgy minors.

He was an assistant professor and instructor of chemistry at the Colorado School of Mines for six years and was professor of chemistry and physics at the Montana School of Mines for one year. For several years he was engaged in chemical and mining work for oil companies in Colorado, including the appraisal of properties.

Professor Norris is married but has no children.

Frosh Gridders To Open Season Against Albany

Callison Chooses Tentative Lineup for Saturday Football Tilt

Compulsory Vaccination Slows Work

With more than a week of practice behind them the Oregon freshman football team will make its debut Saturday afternoon on Hayward field against Albany college, at 2:15.

Coach Prink Callison, who last year turned out one of the strongest eleven that has represented the Frosh in Prink Callison many years, has been instilling Doc Spears' system this year and has progressed rapidly with it.

Callison has had a large squad to work with and the men have proved amenable to the system. This, the opening game, should be a real test of the strength of the team as it now stands.

A tentative lineup for Saturday's game has already been selected by the coach which on paper and from previous experience seems strong. Practice has been somewhat hampered of late, however, due to the fact that the freshmen were vaccinated this year as a part of their physical examinations and it has taken some time to work the resulting soreness out of the arms of the candidates.

The team as it now stands on paper is as follows:

Center, Edgar McClellan, Burlingame, California; guards, Jack Meier, Portland, and Ray Morgan, Louisiana; tackles, Con Fury, Sand Point, Idaho, and Trent Meredith, Sacramento, California; ends, Alton Hackanson, Sand Point, Idaho, and Mike Mikulak, Minnesota; backfield men include, quarterback, Howard Bobbit, Commerce High of Portland; halfbacks, Romey DePittard, McMinnville, and Dick Stone, Madison, Wisconsin; and fullback, Fred Kennedy, Sand Point, Idaho.

From a survey of the above list it will be seen that if the aggregation as it now stands lacks everything in the way of football ability they at least are still the most variegated lot, geographically speaking, that has ever represented Oregon.

Oregon Graduate Now On Architecture Staff

Wallace Hayden, graduate of two years ago from the Oregon school of architecture, is now taking the place of Alwin Egg, who will continue his studies in architecture in Europe. Hayden graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Architecture, and worked one year in Seattle for an architecture firm and the other year in Portland. He is now assistant professor of architectural design.

"I like pink and violet, for my favorite colors, and I do not like snails and butterhorns," he said when approached for an interview.

THIS IS SUPPOSED TO BE A SPORTS COLUMN—

First of all it is a sports column to be conducted throughout the year. We hope you read it and to that end we shall make it as attractive as possible in content. However, if you pass it by we shan't be daunted but shall continue anyway.

For many purposes the likeness of the conductor of this strip is appended today. For one reason we haven't gotten down to real honest work as yet and it fills the space admirably. Also, if there is ever anything in the column which offends your nature, aesthetic or otherwise, you will be able to recognize the perpetrator on the street and retaliate.

YOU'RE THE DOCTOR, KEEP US IN GOOD HEALTH—

But more than that you will notice the individual shown is fairly healthy. If after some weeks you see us looking wan and peaked you will know that we are running out of ideas and have to stay up most of the night trying to fill the space which we have more or less bargained to fill. That is when you can do a service for mankind and step up and offer your own ideas on the conduction of a sports column. No reasonable request for space will be refused. That is more than promise. Enough for the picture, however.

THE SCOREBOARD TELLS SPORTS STANDINGS—

The name scoreboard means everything and nothing. It signifies that the column will endeavor to portray the status of various questions which may arise to trouble the minds of the campus. If there is anything in the way of a sports problem which may bother you, let us know about it and we will try to find the answer for you. As to policy. Don't expect to find complete stories about Saturday's games in Tuesday's paper. We intend giving the reader the benefit of the doubt and expect that if he or she is interested enough in sports to read the sports page he or she will have the "hardly waits" before the Emerald came out and will know all about it already. We will in our Tuesday edition presume a knowledge of what happened since our last edition and will endeavor to supplement rather than repeat what the Portland and Eugene papers have offered.

NEWS AS WELL AS COMMENT WILL BE OUR AIM

The Scoreboard will also try to keep the campus informed of items of athletic interest which have happened on other camps. In fact we have even gone so far as to enter into a pact with a friend on the University of California paper, whereby he will write our column if we will write his. So you see the aim of the whole idea is to give you a variety in a pleasing form. If we get dry and stereotyped let us know and we will give you a change.

All in all we think we have gotten ourselves into a tight spot. There is no concealment about the conductor, we have offered to let someone else write the column and we await suggestions.

Check. The next move is yours.

R. O. T. C. Receive New Colorful Uniforms

The new R. O. T. C. uniforms, with their blue lapels and overseas caps, are here and being worn, while the old ones are being shipped away. The bayonets have already been sent away.

These uniforms are proving very popular with the students, according to Major F. A. Barker, head of the military department. The department hopes to be able to supply the student cadets with leather garrison belts.

These same uniforms will be used by the R. O. T. C. band, although it is planned that some insignia or decoration will be used to distinguish the Oregon bandmen from others wearing the military uniforms, Major Barker said.
