

Faculty Appointments and Changes for Year Announced

While few changes have been made in important faculty places for the present school year, there have been several administrative appointments of consequence. These included the promotion of Karl W. Onthank from executive secretary to dean of personnel administration; Earl M. Palett, registrar, to executive secretary and registrar; and Paul W. Ager from assistant comptroller to comptroller.

Other changes named Mrs. Hazel Prutzman Schwering, dean of women; Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, assistant dean of women; Hugh L. Biggs, dean of men; Andrew Comrie, auditor; Mrs. Genevieve Turpinseed, director of dormitories, and Miss Gertrude Stephenson, assistant registrar.

Faculty changes in the school of business administration bring Clausin D. Hadley from the University of California, and H. C. Hawkins from Washington, D. C. Both will hold the rank of assistant professor. Raymond W. Breshers has been promoted from graduate assistant to instructor.

In the school of physical education three important appointments have been made. Paul R. Washke, from the University of Michigan, will be a professor in charge of the men's gymnasium. Russell K. Cutler and Earl E. Boushey, from the University of California at Los Angeles, will be instructors in this school.

Coming from the staff of the Paris Herald, Reginald Coggeshall will replace Dr. Ralph D. Casey, now head of the department of journalism at the University of Minnesota, as professor in journalism. Vernon X. Miller is the new associate professor in the law school.

Dr. Donald M. Erb returns as professor of economics after a year's absence, and Dr. Calvin Crumbaker, from the University of Montana, will be associate professor in the department.

Dr. Samuel J. Jameson, from the University of California at Los Angeles, replaces Dr. James M. Reinhardt as associate professor in the school of sociology. Meno Spann is the new assistant professor in German, A. H. Kung in chemistry, and Dr. John G. Hazan in history. W. V. Norris is assistant professor in physics and mathematics, and Lieut. Everett Prouty

Improvements Made in Women's Gymnasium

The women's gymnasium underwent extensive remodeling during the summer. The wooden dressing rooms of former days have been removed and benches with hanging curtains are substituted. The old lockers have been discarded and a new basket system, employing the use of combination lockers has been installed.

During the gym class the basket and clothing are placed in large lockers and at its termination are replaced in the basket file. This will eliminate overcrowded dressing rooms at rush hours as one partition can be used more than once in one period where formerly the storing of clothing in the dressing room prevented that possibility.

is assistant professor of military science.

In the health department two changes have been made. Dr. Mildred Mumby, Portland, will be assistant University physician and medical consultant to women, and Dr. Mark T. Phy, Hot Lake, will be assistant University physician.

Appointments to instructorships are:

Wendall Van Loan, education; Sven Nilson, philosophy; Christina Crane, romance languages; Helen Crane, romance languages; Alice M. Bahrs, biology; J. Rollo Patterson, biology; Jack La Forge, romance languages; Wallace F. Hayden, architecture; Grace A. S. architecture; Esther Wicks, violin; T. W. Douglas, English; W. D. Wilkinson, geology; Edna Landros, Greek and Latin; Carl Landerholm, history; Elizabeth Starr, household arts; Ferenz Steiner, cello; Mrs. Viola Peterson Ross, librarian and assistant in English and dramatics; Margaret Clarke, English.

All Women May Use Peters Lodge

Monday Marks Opening Of Building

With the completion of the furnishing of Peter's Lodge, Associated Women Students' retreat on the Willamette river near Eugene, that building will be opened for the use of the entire women student body of the campus next Monday.

Any group of women on the campus may use the lodge. A group so desiring should call Carol Werschkul, 2340, giving her the list of women going, and making arrangements for the time. A nominal fee of 10 cents for each woman using the lodge will be charged. The key may be obtained from Miss Werschkul, and must be returned to her within 24 hours after the party returns to Eugene. There will be a $1 fine for those violating this rule.

All women's living organizations which have not yet done so may hold house meetings at the lodge without charge by calling Miss Werschkul and making arrangements with her.

Three double-decker beds have been placed in the sleeping porch, which has been canvased off. Mattresses are also on the beds, but girls desiring to stay over night must bring their own blankets.

A cook stove, dishes and silverware for eight, chairs, a settee, a rug, and lots of other smaller things which will add to the cheeriness and coziness of the lodge have been installed. Mrs. George Jorris of Springfield has given the

Sociology Centralized In Structure on Onyx

A newly painted, fresh-looking dwelling house at 1335 Onyx street marks the new headquarters for the sociology department, the offices of which formerly were scattered from Friendly hall to the administration building.

Professors P. A. Parsons, J. H. Mueller and L. S. Cressman were formerly located in the administration building. A new man in the sociology department, Prof. Sam H. Jameson, who is taking the place of J. M. Reinhardt, also has an office on the first floor.

Prof. J. D. Bryant is also new in the sociology department and is teaching community organization.

Besides private offices for two professors, the building includes a seminar room, a committee room, a private office, and a main office, all of which are on the first floor. The second floor is devoted to the philosophy department.

Slight Increase Shown In Women's P. E. Signup

The department of physical education has examined 526 girls who are entering the University for the first time this fall. This number will be supplemented on Saturday when 10 or 12 more girls will be examined, according to Miss Thompson. Last year 519 girls took the physical examinations, and this year will only show an approximate increase of 15 girls.

Freshman Honorary Chooses New Officers

Officers for Thespians, freshman women's honorary, were elected last evening at the first meeting held by the group this term. Those chosen were: Dorothy Hughes, president; Agnes Marks, vice-president; and Edith Peterson, secretary-treasurer. One freshman woman from each living organization on the campus is a member of the group.
