

Greater Oregon Committee Head Tells Of Summer Trip

Three Students Make Tour In Interests of University

"We were particularly impressed by the high degree of enthusiasm and courtesy displayed by students and faculty alike in the schools we visited," said Joe Freck, chairman of the Greater Oregon committee, on returning to Eugene from an 18-day tour of the state with George Cherry, president of the Associated Students, and Robert T. Miller, assistant general chairman.

"The high schools at which we spoke were North Bend, Coquille, Medford, Redmond, Bend, Ontario, Enterprise, Wallowa, La Grande, Pendleton, Hood River, Rainier, Seaside, Tillamook, Newberg, and Lincoln High school in Portland.

"Banquets were held in Roseburg, Klamath Falls, Burns, and Seaside. At these banquets we met new students, old students, mothers, dads, and alumni. The two luncheons were attended by the representatives of the same groups and were held at Bend and at Baker.

At Medford a meeting with about 25 prospective students was held at the home of Dorothy Eads, Greater Oregon chairman for that city, and at Pendleton, a meeting of mothers, dads, and alumni was held at the public library.

"The trip itself was a trying one," Freck remarked, "and our speedometer registered exactly 2,499 miles at the front door of the Administration building on the 18th, and our daily average was about 140 miles. During one period of 36 hours we drove 475 miles and gave six talks en route, so the average drive of 140 miles per day is hardly indicative of the true ardors of the trip.

"We followed about two weeks in the wake of Doc Spears and Tom Stoddard, and we found a fine spirit of enthusiasm for Oregon football games and heard many comments on the genial Doc, who seems to have won over the people of Oregon as his ardent supporters.

"Alumni and mothers and dads showed great interest in the progress of the University during the past year, and the only depressing thing we found was that many of our old students are unable to return to school this fall.

"The content of our talks was entirely serious in nature, and we found that most of the high school principals welcomed our ideas open-mindedly," Freck continued.

"My talk was on higher education in general and I presented what I believe to be the student viewpoint on that subject; Cherry spoke on the departments and schools at Oregon, on the distinction attained by our professional school, and on the value of a liberal arts education; Miller spoke on the application and value of extra-curricular work as an adjunct to the classroom work.

In closing the interview, Freck complimented the activities of some of his subordinates. "The work of Miller," he remarked, "in directing the Eastern Oregon section, was productive and effective.

"The athletics division, under Robert E. Miller, was an experiment this year, but it proved that it has merit, and with some changes that can be effected next year it will develop into a valuable part of the Greater Oregon committee.

"And I must say that all of us were highly gratified to return to Oregon and find that the entering freshman class is one of the largest ever to enroll here."

Freck named over his province chairmen who had done exceptional work, as follows: John Long, Roseburg; Vinton Hunt, Woodburn; John King, Milton-Freewater; Maryellyn Bradford, Klamath Falls; Kelsey Slocum, Hood River; and Dorothy Eads, Medford.

At present there are two men out for the golf title, six competing for the "harnyard golf" championship and nine are waiting for the starting signal in the handball tourney.

WHAT SHOW TONIGHT?

The Fox McDonald theatre is having as its guests Wednesday evening "Doc" Spears and the victorious Oregon varsity squad in honor of their victory over Drake.

One of the highlights of the occasion will be the showing of the first of a series of football pictures of Knute Rockne's team and the famous plays of many other important coaches. This reel shows in particular Rockne's "hidden ball" trick that has fooled many teams. The important plays are done with slow motion, which enables one to see exactly how they are executed, and to understand them fully. The climax comes with a thrilling run of fifty yards by Chris Cagle of the Army, and a touchdown in the Yale Bowl.

Scenes of superior photographic quality are to be viewed in Norma Shearer's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "Their Own Desire," which is playing at the State theatre Wednesday.

One of the unusual photographic effects is the big lakeside dancing scene in which the entire action on the ballroom floor is mirrored in the water. Another spectacular camera picture is the night fireworks celebration in which a gigantic pyrotechnical display is featured.

Robert Montgomery plays the leading masculine role in the new Shearer film with the supporting cast including Lewis Stone, Belle Bennett, Helene Millard, Cecile Cunningham and Mary Moran.

Jack Oakie stars in the "Social Lion," a hysterical comedy playing at the Colonial theatre. Oakie takes the part of the poor son of a garage mechanic with social ambitions.

"Monte Carlo," the new Paramount film of gaiety and romance which opens at the Fox McDonald Tuesday, starring Jeannette McDonald and Jack Buchanan, is a veritable tourist's trip to the famous gambling resort in Monaco—aside from its worth as a very refreshing presentation of amusement.

Alpha Phi's Find Radio Set Gone

Receiver Disappears From Yard; Girls Puzzled

Gone—One Majestic radio from the Alpha Phi sorority house.

On the evening of September 18, 1930, after the usual fall house-cleaning had taken place, the Alpha Phi's Majestic radio was found to be lost, strayed or stolen.

The furniture was moved into the yard at 8:30 in the evening to accommodate the floor-waxers and at 9:00 was moved back. The next day the radio was discovered missing.

No clues have been developed to show where or how the radio disappeared in that half-hour.

Since the radio was a gift from a mother of one of the members, it was most highly prized and the loss is greatly felt by the girls.

Several Towns Want New Extension Classes

A great demand for extension division classes in Baker and La Grande is reported by W. G. Baettie, assistant director of the extension division, who returned recently from a speaking trip in eastern Oregon. The desire for extension evening classes in various towns seems contagious, such classes having already been organized in Bend and Marshfield.

Taking Electrical Convenience From Ol' Man River

THE total capacity of waterwheel generators built by General Electric in the last ten years is more than enough to supply light and power for twenty cities of one million population.

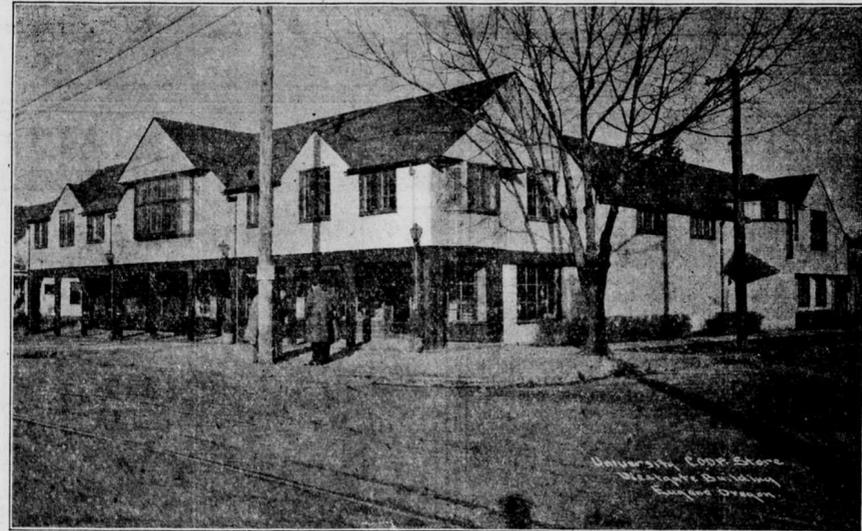

Installed in power houses along the waterways, these machines transform the strength of mighty rivers into useful electric energy for homes, for industry, and for transportation.

The vision and skill of college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in its service of furnishing machines and devices that provide the swift, sure convenience and the economy of electricity—on land and sea and in the air.
