Famous Poet's Birthday Will Be Celebrated

Frederic S. Dunn To Give Illustrated Lecture Tonight at Eight

Birth of Christ Preceded By That of Roman Poet Vergil

To celebrate a birthday of 2,000 years ago is a rare occasion indeed, but tonight at 8 o'clock, students, faculty, and townspeople will gather at Villard hall to honor the memory of one whose name remains among those of the great men of all times. It will be the anniversary of the Roman bard Vergil.

Not only the campus but the whole world is this week paying tribute to the famous poet who is credited with having foretold by 70 years the birth of Christ. Celebrations and exercises are being held in universities all over the globe. A collection started in 1895 by Professor Frederic S. Dunn, chairman of the Latin department, of pictures and prints connected with Vergil's Aeneid, will be used in an illustrated lecture tonight by Professor Dunn. This group of illustrations has been added to and supplemented ever since its inception and is now considered an outstanding collection in the country. People who have heard talks made by Professor Dunn this week, have been high in their praise as to the interest and value of the lecture.

"Rare indeed," says Professor Dunn, "is the man whose birthday is counted back through twenty centuries. Our celebration of Vergil even ante-dates our Christian festivities, so naturally the world is ringing eulogies for the great Roman poet."

As president of Phi Beta Kappa here on the campus, James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of literature, science, and the arts, will preside. The program is being sponsored by American Classical league of which Professor Dunn is serving as a member of a committee for the promotion of Vergilian celebrations.

Chest Drive Successful; Campus Division in Lead

At the second meeting of the chairmen of the five divisions of the Community Chest drive, the campus division was allowed to retain the flag they won Monday for the division having pledged the greatest percentage of its quota.

Forty-three per cent of the quota of $4,000 has been pledged to date. This record has been due primarily to the splendid cooperation of the staff, according to R. C. Hall, chairman.

U. of O. Faculty Members To Speak in Grants Pass

Several members of the University of Oregon faculty are scheduled to speak before the Josephine county teachers' institute in Grants Pass this week.

Dr. B. W. DeBusk will address the session on the subject of "Problem Children." "Problems of Administration" will be the topic of Dr. C. L. Huffaker, also of the education department. W. G. Beattie, of the extension division, will speak on "Visual Aids in Teaching."

Rael Finds New Mystery In Research for Folklore

As amazing as some of Ripley's "Believe It or Not's," is the tale told by Juan B. Rael, instructor in the Romance Language department here, of his visit to the northern portion of New Mexico and southern Colorado, where Spaniards live and talk, and have the same customs they did in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in their homeland. Professor Rael spent three months there last summer, touring 8,000 miles by automobile, collecting old folk tales.

Though these Spanish people have been cut off for three or four hundred years from their native

'Wear a Rooter's Lid,' is Rally Cry

A SPECIAL appeal for every Oregon man to wear a rooter's lid at the Washington game in Portland Saturday and at the rallies Friday night and Saturday before the game at the Portland hotel was issued last night by Brian Minnaugh, chairman of the rally committee.

"Rooter's lids make a colorful showing in the stands at a game," Minnaugh said. "There is no reason why every Oregon man should not buy one today and wear it all the time."

The University Co-op and other stores featuring the rooter's lids reported heavy sales of the lemon-yellow and green hats yesterday and were prepared to handle a bigger rush today.

Peppy Webfeet Raise Igloo Roof At Lid Donning

Frosh Show Old Oregon Spirit at Large Assembly

With a display of more pep, punch, and enthusiasm than any assembly at the University during the last four years, 2000 loyal Webfeet yesterday roared applause, rumbled through yells with vim and vigor, clapped loudly and ended by singing the pledge song so lustily that the great Igloo shook, while interspersed at strategic pauses, the University of Oregon's new super band crashed forth the blood-stirring march piece recently created by John Stark Evans, assistant dean of the school of music.

The occasion for such a refreshing display of the old Oregon pep, was the official donning of the green by the class of 1934.

George Cherry, student body president opened the meeting with the statement, "This assembly is not a business meeting." His words seemed to charge the very air entering the lungs of the large crowd of students for from then on the meeting became a pep gathering.

"Everyone feels, and with adequate proof, that the University is entering upon a new era," Cherry continued. "Famous Oregon spirit is the basis of this feeling, but Oregon spirit itself must have a basis." The president then pointed out the many things for which the University of Oregon is renowned throughout the nation. The year book, the school of architecture and allied arts, the medical school, the schools of music and journalism, rank according to Cherry.

"When we realize these, and dozens of other facts like them, clear down to the fact that Oregon's handbook of traditions was judged to be the best in the United States, then we know what has been in part the basis for our Oregon spirit," Cherry thundered.

That a new era has dawned for the University of Oregon is evident by many things, according to Cherry. The new constitution, the re-organization of student finances, and the country's best football coach were all cited as examples of the bigger and better times opening up for Oregon.

Oregon traditions were next enumerated by the president for the benefit of the freshmen, and followed by the official crowning

The Boom for The Band Is On

With new uniforms, the largest turnout ever, worlds of praise, and all kinds of enthusiasm, the Oregon band is this year swinging into one of the foremost ranks in the country. With plans for a 30-man drum and bugle corps well advanced, students are looking forward to all kinds of pep, enthusiasm, and music for many events during the year.

Godfrey "Shoots" Reporting Class

IT IS SAID that pictures don't lie, but George Godfrey's camera reporting class knows better.

After arming the students with flashes, motion picture cameras, and camera cases, Tuesday, Godfrey proceeded to "shoot" them. He said that this would be good publicity material as courses in camera reporting are not offered at every university. The only fly in the ointment was that most of the students didn't know a movie camera from a hole in the ground. They had never used such a camera, and what was more, they wouldn't know how to use one (yet). Then, too, it was a little puzzling to understand just how a picture could be taken with a camera case. Maybe he knew. Anyway they "let George do it."

Jensen Appoints Committees for Soph Informal

Committees To Meet at Villard Assembly Hall Tonight at 8

Ted Jensen, general chairman of the Sophomore Informal, yesterday afternoon made appointment of committees to handle the class dance which will be held at McArthur court on November 1. Kenneth McKean will fill the position of business manager, Louise Anselmy will serve as secretary, and Esther Hayden will handle the publicity.

"In selecting committee subordinates," he stated, "I worked in conjunction with the chairmen and Jim Travis, sophomore prexy, picking the helpers from a representative group of sophomores on a basis of merit. We are handicapped by a late start this year, but we have selected the workers of our class and expect them to help make this dance an unrivaled success."

John L. Stark, Portland decorator, has charge of the decorations, which are shaping up into something entirely new and unusual for a campus dance. The music will also be imported from Portland, although the orchestra has not as yet been chosen.

Jensen has called for a meeting of all the committees this evening at 7:15 in 110 Johnson building. As this is the first general consultation, it is highly important that everyone listed on the following committees be in attendance promptly at the appointed time.

Construction committee: chairman, Carson Mathews, Bus Larkin, Wallace Oher, Les Dunlap, Red Roberts, John King, Bob Hall, Freeman Young, Forrest Paxton, Bob Bell, Fred Anderson, and Howard Kemper.

Decorations: chairman, Julia Creech, Helen Cople, Georgia Miller, Frances Drake, Ellen Sersanus, Marjorie Swafford, Elizabeth Gilstrap, Dorothy Hall, Frances

Drum and Bugle Corps To Be Established at University

New Group To Swell the Membership of Band To 100 Members

Plans to swell the size of the University band to more than 100 instruments by the addition of a 30-man drum and bugle corps have been completed, and John Stehn, band conductor, will meet this morning at 11 o'clock in the band room of the R. O. T. C. barracks with any men interested in joining the new organization.

No experience is necessary, according to Stehn, although those who have had drum or bugle experience will be doubly welcome. Band members will not be allowed to join it.

No equipment is necessary, for uniforms, drums and bugles will be provided. Underclass military credit will be given to members of the corps, and they will not be required to attend regular "war" classes.

It is planned to have the corps ready for its first public appearance with the band on Dad's Day, October 25. It will also function at the Homecoming game against U. C. L. A. November 8, and at

Infirmiry Cases Slowly Increase

Colds Outnumber Other Cases at Present

Mid-week finds the infirmiry gradually filling up. The epidemic of colds which has so strongly invaded the campus during the last few weeks is slightly increasing, say infirmiry officials. This is quite evident in the fact that the number of colds far outnumber other cases under the care of the health service at the present time.

There are now 10 students confined to the infirmiry. These students are: Ruth Holt, Paul Beall, Virginia Smart, Russell Tinkham, Fozz, Jack Rushlow, Ted Roadman, and Carl Stutsman.

Ted Roadman was brought to the infirmiry on Monday night to be treated for injuries he received in a motorcycle accident at the corner of Fourteenth and Onyx streets. He received a bad gash in the leg, but is reported as recovering rapidly.

Jack Rushlow is also recovering from a leg injury.

Miller Boosts Preparations For Dad's Day

Appointments Are Made; Publicity Campaign Gets Under Way

Goebel and Hunt Named To Head Decoration Committee

Preparations and publicity for Dad's Day received a new impetus last night with the announcement by Bob Miller, chairman of advertising, of the appointment of individuals in every living organization on the campus, who will make a personal check of the number who have written their Dads inviting them down for the event.

Speakers will be sent around again Monday and on the following Thursday with the message, "Invite Your Dad Now." Advance reports indicate that the number of Dads present this year will far exceed that of previous years. The committee, according to Hal Padlock, chairman of Dad's Day, expects over 600 Dads to be here on October 25.

Plans are rapidly being forwarded for window decorations down town. It is hoped that all of the taxicab companies will decorate their automobiles for the occasion. Arrangements are being made to stretch a large banner of welcome across the north end of Willamette street. The committee in charge of decorations under Dick Goebel has other features in mind that are not being announced at the present time. The campus will also have a number of banners and signs of welcome to the Dads. Winton Hunt, in charge of campus decorations, promises that the campus will be completely dressed up for the occasion.

The two prizes offered for the most number of Dads are the huge silver cup standing a foot and a half in height, and the hammered silver coffee set, made up of percolator, cream pitcher, and sugar tray. Both of these prizes are awarded annually to the two organizations having the most Dads down. A house winning either prize three times gets permanent possession of it. Rules for the contest will be announced in tomorrow's Emerald.

Chet Knowlton, of the Dad's Day directorate, has named John Rendland as chairman of the committee in charge of the program following the banquet, and Corwin Calvin as chairman of the checking committee.

Sale of 'Mums' Goes Over Big

Extra Special Flowers Are Due Saturday

Although final figures on the chysanthemum sale being sponsored by the Associated Women Students were not available late Wednesday evening, those in charge of the sale announced that the student response was unusually enthusiastic.

In the meantime plans were being completed for giving out the 'mums at Tommy Luke's at 6th and Alder streets in Portland Saturday morning. A letter from Luke to the committee received Wednesday stated that he was reserving a lot of extra special flowers for the University students.

Students are to bring their order receipts to Tommy Luke's Saturday between 9 a. m. and 1:30 p. m., where University girls will be on duty in a reserved section of Luke's shop to take receipts and give out flowers.

It was learned at the first of the week that it would be impossible to have flowers delivered to Portland addresses, since the cost of delivery would be too high. Girls who will be on duty at Tommy Luke's Saturday include: 9-10:30, Katherine Manerud, Mary Lou Patrick, Jane Menzies, Frances Gilbert; 10:30-12, Mades Drake, Alice Wedemeyer, Kathryn McVeagh, Jean Downing; 12-1:30, Dorothy Clifford, Carolyn Hahn, Ellen Sersanus, Frances Keene.

Studes Get Break From City Council

UNIVERSITY students need no longer worry in fear of being arrested for playing tennis on Sundays at the University courts. Tuesday night the Eugene city council said so in an ordinance exempting tennis courts and golf courses from amusement places prohibited in an old city blue law.

Students have had to worry about the law only a part of time during the afternoons.

Checking Service Is Added Feature On Special Train

Big Crowd Is Expected To Welcome Students On Arrival

Students taking the special student train, which leaves for Portland at 3:30 Friday afternoon, from Villard hall, will enjoy as an added feature a baggage checking service, which will take over all student baggage before the train leaves, and will distribute it at the Portland hotel after the short rally which will start at the Harry Van Dine, who is in charge of the train, announced yesterday.

The checking service will be in the hands of students, and will be offered free, under the supervision of the rally committee.

Good food at low prices will be offered by a lunch service, which will be operated by Jean Eberhart and Cliff Horner.

The train will make no stops en route, and will arrive at the Portland station at 7:30, where the students will be met by the Oregon band, and the ensuing parade will terminate at the Portland hotel. Fifty thousand people, Aaron Frank, honorary chairman of the rally committee, said, will make up the welcoming crowd. Further details are being worked out by Brian Minnaugh, rally committee chairman.

The round trip fare, $2.75, is the lowest ever offered between Eugene and Portland, and students may return on any train up to 10:30 Sunday night, when the last train leaves, although the regular return train will leave Portland at 6:05 p. m.

Tickets will go on sale this morning at a booth set up between the Oregon and Commerce buildings.

Newman Chosen Congress Head

Public Speaking Group Elects Officers

Ethan Newman, sophomore, was elected president of the Congress club, campus public speaking group, at a meeting held last night. John King, sophomore, was elected to fill the position of vice-president; Robert O'Leary, junior, secretary; Roy Goff, sophomore, treasurer; Don Saunders, sophomore, sergeant-at-arms; Merlin Blais, former president, will act as club parliamentary.

"Should Oregon take over and operate its own water resources?" was the question discussed by the group. John King opened the discussion by stating briefly the cases for private ownership and municipal ownership.

A program committee was appointed to be comprised of John King, chairman; Jack Bellinger and Kenneth Campbell, sophomores.

Oregon International House Gets Big Return on Its Money

That the University of Oregon International house is obtaining greater results per dollar spent than the International house on the Columbia university campus in New York was revealed by Harold S. Tuttle, professor in education, who stayed with the group while engaged in summer session work there last summer.

"The large sum invested in the house impressed me especially," Professor Tuttle said. "Their endowment totals $2,000,000, and 500 students of 17 different nationalities are living together. A better understanding among the many races, which is the aim

Air Program Will Feature Idea of Rally

Campus 'Chatter' Omitted From Third Broadcast Of Emerald Series

Talk on Washington Game Planned for Tonight's Radio Hour

A program absolutely free from "petty personalities, slanderous gossip, and swinish snufflings" is promised for tonight's third "Oregon Daily Emerald of the Air" broadcast over station KORE by Manager Art Potwin and his assistant, Chet Knowlton.

The entire program will be in the nature of a rally get-together in preparation for the Oregon-Washington game in Portland next Saturday. Harry Van Dine, assistant chairman of the rally committee, will speak briefly concerning the gridiron meet in the Oregon metropolis. Johnny Creech, varsity yell king, will also be before the microphone with a few words in regard to the rooting section of the game.

Other pep talks will be given by campus officials. Jim Gilbaugh will offer a comedy sketch dealing with the Webfoot-Huskies tilt.

Two Trios Billed
"Sing" Harper, Billy Shell, and "Slug" Palmer will be featured in a trio number. The girls' trio, presented on the opening program last Thursday night, will make a return engagement to the studio to do more vocalizing with Maxine Glover, Sally Holloway, and Marvin Jane Hawkins harmonizing effectively. Miss Glover will offer several blues numbers.

A seven-piece band, composed of Eldon Woodin, "Sing" Harper, Wally Palmer, Bud Nicklaus, John Pennington, Sherwood Burr, and Jess Bradley, will present some novel arrangements during the broadcast. A trumpet solo by Wally Palmer is also slated for the evening's entertainment.

"Parlor Dirt" To Continue
Considerable discussion has resulted from the initial "Parlor Propagandists" program of last Sunday night. Rumors that future "dirt-slitting" skits might be abandoned or somewhat censored were denied by Manager Potwin Wednesday night. Said Potwin:

"The Sunday evening parlor propaganda seems to draw a good deal of comment on the campus. It is hoped that this will tempt the students to tune in on tea hour programs. If any feelings were hurt last Sunday, we are very sorry and in the future will use only those characters in our propaganda who can appreciate this "all-in-fun" radio dialogue. Parlor propaganda is certainly going to continue and we shall try to include everybody within its scope."

These Emerald - KORE radio hours are being presented on Thursday nights from 8:15 to 9 o'clock and on Sundays from 6 to 7 o'clock.

Girls Going to Portland Must Obtain Permission

Permission to attend the Oregon-Washington game in Portland this week-end must be obtained by all girls who do not live in that city, according to Hazel Prutsman Schwing, dean of women. Women students must also be accompanied by approved chaperones, if they plan to stay in hotels.

of such an organization, is obtained by mingling of the various nationals at the discussion groups, Sunday suppers, cafeteria afternoon teas, and the cafeteria. Most of the contacts are temporary, on account of the large number of students, in contrast to the personal friendships developed on this campus, Professor Tuttle explained.

Even outside of the house he noticed that racial prejudice was not strong, due in part to the fact that New York itself is cosmopolitan and shows very little prejudice. Many ideas obtained from the (Continued on Page Four)
