Meeting of executive council of Associated Women Students today at 7:30 in the women's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

Heads of men's living organizations will meet at 5 p. m. Thursday, October 16, in room 110, Johnson hall.

Rehearsal of Holiday will be held this evening in Guild theatre. Act I at 7:15, and Act II at 8:30.

Phi Beta meeting at Alpha Gamma Delta house at 4 o'clock today.

Christian Science Organization meets tonight in the Y. W. C. A. bungalow at 7:30.

Kwama meeting today at 7:45 p. m. in north end of Alumni hall in Gerlinger hall.

Students are doing more serious reading this year is the belief of Mrs. Mabel E. McClain, librarian.

Another reason for decrease of popularity of the rent shelves is that no notable fiction has been produced in comparison with last year, in the opinion of Mrs. McClain.

This addition brings the total number of Who's Who representatives to 19. The others are Arnold Bennett Hall, Eric W. Allen, James Barnett, C. V. Boyer, W. P. Boynton, Timothy Cloran, B. W. DeBusk, E. E. DeCou, J. H. Gilbert, E. L. Packard, P. A. Parsons, George Rebec, F. G. G. Schmidt, Clara M. Smertenko, Warren D. Smith, Orin F. Stafford, Harold S. Tuttle, and Gertrude E. Warner.

They get lots of publicity out of their smoking curb, where they come out and give the rest of the campus a break by allowing them to look at them. (This is between naps, we suppose.)

Altogether, though, they are a help in a way. If it were not for them, where would we get all our latest gossip, jokes, and politicians?

To sum up in the words of a famous poet: "They are more to be pitied than censured, And more to be loved than despised."
