

Hello Dad

Greetings, Dads. Glad you're here, hope you like it, and come again next year. This is your day—enjoy yourselves, and remember, you backed us so we're boosting you to the limit.

The Weather

Maximum .....63
Minimum .....46
Precipitation .....23

VOLUME X

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1930

NUMBER 18

DUCKS ALL SET FOR VANDAL HORDE

Campus Activities Today Center Around Visiting Dads

Calland Looks For Big Upset In Today's Tilt

Oregon Is Host To Its Fathers For Week-End

All Is in Readiness for Annual Event, Says Paddock

President Hall Listed as Speaker for Banquet At Igloo Tonight

By THORNTON GALE Today is the fourth annual Oregon Dad's day.

The campus and downtown Eugene assume a gay note, with colorful streamers and decorations in the spirit of the celebration. A festive air has descended upon fraternity and sorority houses, and special features are being planned by almost every organization, in honor of the occasion. From all over the Pacific Northwest Dads are flocking to the University.

"Final arrangements for the entertainment of the Oregon Dads are complete," said Hal Paddock, chairman of Dad's day, last night. "It has been the committee's purpose to make this the greatest Dad's day ever to be held on the Oregon campus. It is my belief that we have accomplished not only our original purpose but a great deal more besides."

Trophy To Be Awarded Registration for purposes of award competition will be completed at 1 o'clock this afternoon and winners of the cup and coffee service will be announced at the banquet tonight. It is expected that more than 700 Dads will register for the celebration. Emergency reservations for the game and banquet may be made up until 12 o'clock today.

While the Dads are registering the Vandal host from out of the wastes of Idaho are sharpening their swords in expectation of a victory this afternoon. The Oregon Ducks, however, are primed for their fifth straight win. The game starts at 2:15.

A total of 430 tickets have already been sold for the banquet tonight, according to an announcement from the dean of men's office. Paul T. Shaw, president of the Oregon Dads, will act as toastmaster. The banquet program follows:

Band, Glee Club To Entertain University band, under the direction of John Stehn; Invocation by Reverend Maxwell Adams; music, University band; music, University Men's Glee Club, John Stark Evans, director; greetings from A. W. Norblad, governor of the state of Oregon; C. L. Starr, president of the state board of

FOURTH ANNUAL DAD'S DAY

Registration desk in lobby of Administration building (Johnson hall)—open all day Saturday.

Dads should register and get their badges at once upon arrival.

Saturday, October 25 8:30 Meeting of executive committee.

10:00 Meeting of general state committee, Guild hall, Administration building.

11:00 Annual business meeting of Oregon Dads, Guild hall, Administration building.

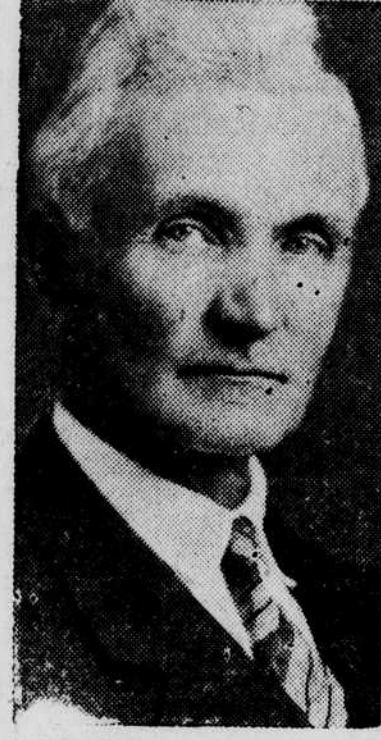

12:00 Luncheon as guests of sons and daughters at their various places of residence.

2:15 Football game—University of Idaho vs. University of Oregon, Hayward field.

6:00 Annual Dad's Day dinner for dads, sons and daughters, at McArthur court.

8:30 Entertainment by University students, McArthur court.

Coach, 1893

Cal Young, Oregon pioneer, coach of Oregon's first football team, who is bringing most of his original aggregation back for Dad's Day and the Idaho game.

Churches To Hold Special Services In Honor of Dads

Sunday Topics Announced By Leading Eugene Denominations

Special religious services on Sunday in honor of the Oregon Dads who will arrive on the campus today are being arranged by Eugene churches in honor of the occasion. All are scheduled for 11 o'clock.

Rev. Bryant Wilson will speak on "Dad's Day" at the First Baptist church. At the first Christian church, Rev. S. E. Childers will preach on "The World's Master Man."

"What Is Religion?" is the topic chosen by Rev. Clay Palmer, who will deliver a sermon at the First Congregational church. At the St. Mary's Episcopal church, Rev. H. R. White will preach on "The Fifth Commandment—Honor Thy Father."

Rev. Roy L. Smith, of the Methodist Episcopal church, has chosen as his sermon topic, "Bound in the Bundle of Life." Dads attending the services of the Central Presbyterian church will hear Rev. Milton S. Weber talk on "Drawing a Few Checks on Dads."

"His Children Shall Rise Up and Bless Him" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered by Rev. Francis P. Leipzig at the St. Mary's Roman Catholic church.

At the United Lutheran church, Rev. Frank S. Beistel will talk on "The Christian Religion."

Rev. F. S. Beistel Will Speak Sunday

Lutheran Students To Meet With Presbyterians

All Lutheran students and others interested are invited to be guests of the Westminster Forum at the Sunday evening meeting at Westminster house at 7:30 tomorrow. Rev. Frank S. Beistel, pastor of the First Lutheran church, will speak on the origin and characteristics of the Lutheran church, with particular regard to the prospects of a union of all denominations.

The talk is one of a series on church union which will continue throughout the term. A social half hour, with refreshments, will be held at 6 o'clock, with the meeting following.

A discussion on "Mohammedanism. What Is It Worth Today?" will be the feature of the morning meeting at 9:45. Dave Killion, Bob Hardy, and Alice Radetke will lead the discussion.

Dads who desire to attend these meetings or to visit Westminster house at any other time during the week-end are cordially invited to do so.

1893 Webfoots In Eugene For Reunion Today

Three or Four Members Of Old Squad Are Expected Here

Parade on Horses Planned Through Streets Of City

Just 37 years ago, Oregon's first football team was organized and marched to victory over Albany college to the tune of 42-0. Today, what is left of that same team, led by Cal Young, their coach, will leave the Eugene hotel at 1:15 via horseback to parade the downtown streets before attending the game on Hayward field at 2:15.

Oregon's first football team is holding a reunion this week-end in connection with Dad's Day, and is attending the game as a special guest of the associated students of the University.

Hugh Rosson, graduate manager, especially urges that all students give "the boys" a hand as they swing into 13th avenue on their way to the field. It isn't every year, he said, that one is privileged to witness such a reunion.

Cal Young, Oregon's first football coach, in speaking of that team, said, "In 1893 the students of the University wanted a team. I was in business in Eugene at the time and when asked to coach them, I went up and made a winning team. Football was new in the West at that time and there was no team south of Portland until that year. In those days there was no forward passing, in fact it was against the rules to throw the ball. There were some 35 or 40 men out for practice that year

(Continued on Page Four)

Plenty of Food For All Tonight

THERE will be plenty of food for every one at the Dad's Day banquet Saturday evening, promises Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed and Miss Genevieve Jones, director and assistant director of the men's dormitory.

They are having prepared 800 pounds of potatoes, 500 pounds of meat, 20 gallons of peas. To fill out the menu they are serving 2,000 rolls and 167 pumpkin pies.

It looks like a nice meal for the 1,000 Dads and children who are expected. The plans for the Halloween decorations consisting of autumn leaves and pumpkins will be very effective. The tables will be arranged so that all can see the arena and can hear the speeches.

Stunts Planned Following Dad's Banquet Tonight

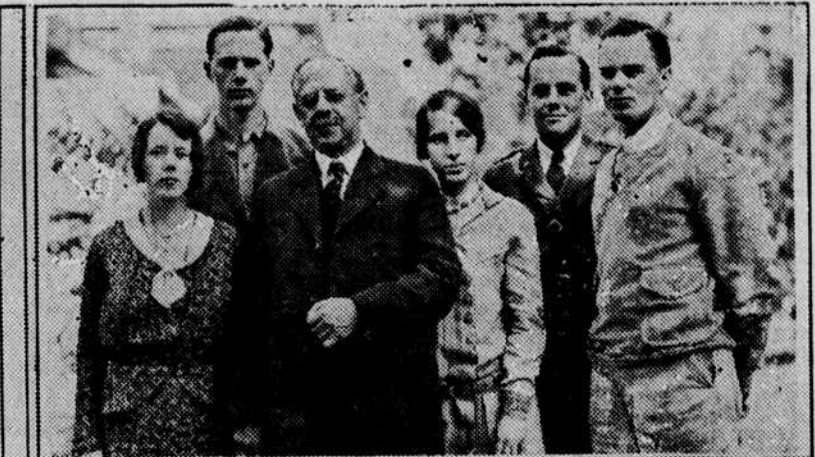

Tumbling, Wrestling and Boxing Are on Bill of Entertainment

Immediately after the Dad's Day banquet a program of tumbling, boxing, wrestling and demonstrations on the parallel bars has been arranged to take place in McArthur court. The new ring has just been installed and will be christened at this time.

Three Oregon students, Frank Smith, Maurice Pease, and Al Schneider, will perform on the bars and, according to word received from the school of physical education, they know their stuff.

Maurice Pease will again be on the floor for the tumbling act. He will work with Jean Eberhart and Mickey Vail.

Today It's 'Dad' On the Campus

Dad's Day, annual event on the campus, means something to the people pictured above. The photos show some dads and their children at the gathering today. At the upper left you see Wilson Jewett, Sr., and his son Wilson Jewett, Jr., of Eugene. Upper right: Rev. F. S. Beistel, pastor of the United Lutheran church, with his five children attending the University. They are, left to right, Grace, Arthur, Rev. Mr. Beistel, Margaret, Henry and Dean. At the lower left you see J. Patterson and his children, Kenneth, Martha and Doris Helen, well-known harpist. At the lower right is Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of liberal arts, and his daughter Madeline.

Hall, Cherry Extend Welcome To Visiting Dads of Oregon

University President Calls Event One of Finest Campus Traditions

October 25, 1930. Welcome to the Oregon Dads: On behalf of the University of Oregon I take great pleasure in welcoming the Oregon Dads to their fourth annual meeting. This occasion has become one of the finest traditions of the University. It, together with its companion organization, the Oregon Mothers, completes that triune partnership between parents, students, and University, dedicated to the enrichment of the student life upon

(Continued on Page Three)

Dad's Day Service Is Scheduled for 4 P. M. Tomorrow

Program To Be Presented For Visiting Parents At Music Hall

The complete program for the Dad's Day vesper service to be held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the school of music auditorium was released yesterday from the office of Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women.

John Stark Evans, organist, will play two pieces, one of which will be a request number, Liszt's "Liebestraum." Howard Halbert, violinist, will also play two selections. Dean James H. Gilbert will give a reading and the prayer.

The services will start promptly at 4. Anyone arriving after they have begun will not be seated. Members of Kwama will act as ushers.

The order of the program follows: Organ: Piece Heroique ..... Cesar Franck Reading. Violin: Caprice Viennois.....Kreisler Valtz ..... Brahms Prayer. Organ: Liebestraum .....Liszt Benediction.

Peterson, Hall To Go to Press Meet

Editor of OSC Paper Will Fly to Conference

A wire was received last night by Vinton Hall, editor of the Emerald, from Larry Warren, editor of the Oregon State Barometer, that Warren will leave Tuesday in a West Coast aeroplane for San Francisco to attend the Pacific Inter-Collegiate Press conference to be held at Los Angeles. The trip is being furnished free through the courtesy of the West Coast Air Transport company.

Hall and Tony Peterson, business manager of the Emerald, are leaving Sunday night for the convention by train, and expect to return early in the following week.

Last year Art Schoeni and Bill Hammond, editor and business manager of the Emerald respectively, attended the conference in San Francisco. The Pacific Inter-Collegiate Press is an organization formed for the exchange of college news, and consists of 12 members.

'Flying Dutchman' and 'Galloping Swede'

John Kitzmiller, Oregon Quarterback

Waldemar Pedersen, Idaho Halfback

George Wilson Will Bear Brunt of Idaho Attack

Shifts Made in Webfoot Lineup; Kitzmiller To Start

With the Webfoots seeking to preserve their as yet clean slate and the Vandals determined to upset the Oregon apple cart, Leo Calland and Doc Spears will turn their men loose this afternoon on Hayward field in Eugene's first conference game of the 1930 season.

Calland arrived yesterday afternoon and after he and his men spent the early afternoon watching a high school game, put his squad of 26 men through their paces on the sawdust at Hayward field. The smiling Idaho mentor was confident that his team was capable of producing the upset.

Recalling his defeat to Oregon last year in Portland, Calland declared that the Webfoots will not have such easy sailing today. Despite the fact that Oregon won 34 to 7, Idaho completely outclassed it in scrimmage. All Oregon scores were made from long rushes, forward passes or picked-up fumbles. The Vandals' touchdown was the only one scored through scrimmage.

The Vandals will not be as heavy this year, and their backfield will not carry such driving power. Although it will lack poundage, Calland said that this disadvantage was more than offset by speed and versatility. The Idaho coach will look to his 150-pound sophomore quarterback, George Wilson, to lead the attack against the Webfoots.

Passing Attack Looms Although Idaho has come to Eugene with the reputation of a passing team, Calland expected to gain most of his yardage through scrimmage. The Vandal backs have punched the line this year more consistently than the Webfoots, and against Washington scored nine first downs against 13 despite their 27-to-0 loss. Since the Washington game Idaho has come to the front magnificently, winning from Whitman by a lopsided score last Saturday.

The Oregon coach announced one change in his starting forward wall, and has substituted Bill Morgan, sophomore tackle, for Marion Hall. With the exception of Johnny Kitzmiller, leading Pacific Coast scorer, an entirely new backfield combination will start against Idaho. Jack Erdley will replace Al Browne at quarter, Sam Rontberg at right half for John Londahl, and John Donohue for Ed Moeller at fullback.

OREGON DADS Officers

President, Paul T. Shaw, Portland; vice-president, J. R. Raley, Pendleton; secretary, W. H. Jewett, Eugene; executive secretary, Karl W. Onthank, Eugene.

Executive Committee Frank Andrews, Portland; Milton Markewitz, Portland; J. C. Stevens, Portland; O. Laurgard, Portland; A. E. Adelsperger, Marshfield; A. W. Norblad, Salem; R. E. Hammond, Medford; Carl Haberlach, Tillamook; P. J. Stadelman, The Dalles; C. H. Brockhagen, Portland.

Dad's Day Committee General chairman, Earl M. Pallett, registrar and executive secretary.

Faculty Committee Virgil D. Earl, Hugh L. Biggs, George H. Godfrey, Max Adams, Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, John F. Bovard, Leonard W. Hagstrom.

Student Committee Hal Paddock, Wilma Enke, Bob Miller, Hal Johnson, Jack Stipe, Chet Knowlton, Marguerite Tarbell, Thornton Gale, Gladys Clausen.