

WHAT SHOW TONIGHT?

Constance Bennett in a scene from "Common Clay."

McDonald — "Common Clay," with Constance Bennett.

Heilig — Amos 'n' Andy in "Check and Doublecheck."

Colonial — John Barrymore in "The Man From Blankley's."

Heilig Has Amos 'n' Andy

"Madame Queen, the 'Fresh Air Taxicab Company,' 'Ruby' 'prop-olition' all these quaint characters and inimitable chatter of those meters of radioland, Amos 'n' Andy, appear at the Heilig today and Thursday.

This film, "Check and Doublecheck" is their first appearance on the screen. The story, prepared as a characteristic setting for their personalities, was written by Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby. In the cast are Sue Carol, Irene Rich, Charles Morton, Raife Haroldie, Rita LaRoy, and Duke Ellington with his band.

Dream of Girl's Past at McDonald

With the talented Constance Bennett in what many acclaim her finest role, "Common Clay," is showing today and Thursday at the McDonald. It is a gripping story of a pleasure-loving girl who makes mistakes and subsequently attempts to redeem herself and brings about some fine bits of poignant drama.

This picture shows a new Bennett, one who is no longer a weak heroine of school girl romances, and it gives her an opportunity for the type of drama in which Eagles and Chattertons excel. Lewis Ayres, well known for his sensitive work in "All Quiet on the Western Front," is her support. Tully Marshall is also in the cast.

Barrymore in Smart Comedy

In one of these smart comedies that enlighten the motion picture horizon, John Barrymore is appearing today and Thursday at the Colonial theatre in "The Man From Blankley's."

The play is not surface fun. Its clever comedy is deeply human, plausible, and unrestrained. It is an entirely new characterization for his screen audience, used to his dramas of the romantic type. The film bids fair to lift Barrymore out of the sentimental "tish" story, and make of him one of the finest actors in high comedy in the profession.

Alutian Islands Great Danger to Passing Vessels

"The Aleutian Islands are a very great danger to vessels, and it is a wonder there aren't more wrecks upon them," said Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of geology, when asked to comment upon the sinking of the Selyo Maru, which became stranded on the Aleutians while going to Japan from Portland.

"Ships usually make the great circle route because it is shorter, but they are apt to run into trouble. The warm Japanese current sweeps up to meet the cold Arctic winds, and the result is a great deal of fog. It is usually so foggy one cannot see the islands from a vessel passing by.

"The islands are formed of volcanic cones. There are no trees or animals except for sea life that happens to come on shore. Thus, it is not only easy for a vessel to be wrecked on the Aleutians, but they are very inhospitable to anyone who is stranded there.

Journalism Jam Is Scheduled for Week-end Event

Big All-Campus Costume Custom To Be Retained This Year

Costumes, dates or no dates as you wish, dancing from 9 to 12 is the order of the Journalism Jamboree, annual brawl sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism honorary for men, and Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism honorary for women, to be held Friday night at the Igloo.

The custom of former years of coming in costume to this dance, the only all-campus costume dance of the year, has been retained, since the night football game which was scheduled for Friday night will take place in the afternoon. This is also the reason for the change of the hours of the dance from 10 to 1 o'clock back to the regular hours for campus dances, 9 to 12 o'clock.

New committee appointments for the dance have been announced by Dorothy Kirk, president of Theta Sigma Phi, who, with Jack Burke and Ralph David, is in charge of the affair. The new appointments are: Mildred Dobbins, masks; Henrietta Steinke and Lois Nelson, concessions; Bob Allen and Beatrice Bennett, programs; Eleanor Jane Ballantyne, check-room; Dorothy Thomas, feature and finance, and Lenore Ely, decorations.
