

"Oregon Fight"

The Oregon football team needs the support of every loyal rooter today--be sure to do your share. Work with the team by doing your best in the rooting section.

Oregon Emerald

The Weather

Maximum 47
Minimum 32
Precipitation 07

VOLUME XXXII

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1930

NUMBER 32

WEBFOOTS, BEAVERS TANGLE TODAY

Oregon Knights Withdraw From National Group

Organization Not Living up To Original Purpose, Greve Says

Local Sophomore Service Honorary Suggested By President

The Oregon Knights organization has withdrawn from the National Intercollegiate Knights because they have become bankrupt and are unable to pay their dues in the national, and because the club has not lived up to its original purpose, it was announced last night by Karl Greve, president of Oregon Knights.

"The organization has disbanded and will not officiate on the campus again," said Greve. "It has become more of an honor club than a service organization. An honorary of this type is handicapped by affiliation with a national. I do, however, most heartily recommend the forming of a local sophomore service honorary. It is a distinct need and the local is by far the most successful, or so it has proven throughout the campuses of the country."

The local chapter was invested with the Intercollegiate charter May 2, 1922, and from that time has held an important position on the campus. Some of its official duties were to usher at all athletic contests, to meet visiting teams and make arrangements for them, and to uphold the traditions of the University.

Emerald Ad List Being Distributed

Advertisers Deserve Help, Says Gregg

A list of Emerald advertisers is being compiled and will be sent around to the various house managers the first of next week in order that the houses may consult the advertisers before making any purchases, according to Jack Gregg, advertising manager of the Emerald.

"Inasmuch as the advertisers are assisting in the support of a student-sanctioned activity, I believe it only fair that we give them as much student patronage as is possible," said Gregg. "The Emerald this year is carrying more advertising than it ever has before. This, I believe, is indicative of the increased confidence of the merchants in the Emerald as an advertising medium as well as a desire to keep in touch with the University. I hope that their confidence can be justified and their gestures of friendliness returned."

Intricacies of Finance Are Revealed in Unique Course

Dad's millions are safe! Or other expressions to that effect. Whether dad believes it or not, son will soon be taking Wall street for the long, long count, for he is preparing himself in personal finance in the school of business administration.

Under the tutelage of John M. Rae, a bunch of the boys are whooping their way through huge tomes collected for their especial benefit in the business ad reference room. The ponderous editions of "Poor's," "Moody's Manuals," and the "Standard Statistic Service" are becoming as familiar to them as the works of Robert Service, and the journals of finance and investment are as light reading as Captain Kidd.

Gone are the days of carefree trips to Corvallis via the Southern Pacific in which the personal

Committee Warns Leaders of Rally

FOUR students were yesterday brought up before the student relations committee, as being either directly or indirectly responsible for the inciting of impromptu rallies during the day yesterday.

The students were reminded that through agreement, and as stated in the A. S. U. O. constitution, no rally shall be held during regular school hours, unless sanctioned by a committee composed of both students and faculty. This applies, warned the committee, to any disturbances that might be attempted Monday or this morning.

The students have been granted leave of 11 o'clocks today and are free to schedule any kind of a rally or dance after 4 o'clock, Monday.

Those brought up before the committee were Bob Allen, Brian Minnaugh, Bill Knox, and John Creech.

Varsity Debate Tryouts To Be Held Wednesday

Six-Minute Speeches Will Be Given on Either Side Of Tariff Question

Tryouts for the varsity debate squad will be held Tuesday, Nov. 18, in Villard hall at 4 and 7:30 o'clock. All men except freshmen are entitled to compete. The participants will speak for six minutes on either side of the question, "Resolved that the United States should reduce its tariff gradually downward, so as to adopt a policy of free trade in 20 years."

From 16 to 18 men will be chosen for the varsity squad, and from this group the regular varsity team will be selected sometime during winter term.

Freshman Tryouts Dec. 4. The freshmen, whose tryouts have been postponed until December 4, are cordially invited to attend, as they will speak on the same subject.

There will not be any tryouts for women this year, but any who are interested are asked to come to the public speaking office at Friendly hall and sign up. The judges for the tryouts are Dr. R. C. Hoerber, debate coach and head of the division of speech; W. E. Hempstead Jr., assistant coach and instructor in public speaking, and Eugene Laird, special assistant in the public speaking department.

Parsons Speaks to Workers

Dr. Philip A. Parsons, dean of the school of applied social science, spoke before 46 Red Cross workers who will conduct the annual Red Cross roll call in Eugene at a luncheon yesterday noon at the Osburn hotel.

finance boys once devoted their energies to making whoopee and cow-calls. Today, if you watch closely, you may discern a small and quiet group carefully inspecting the equipment. Don't be alarmed; they are probably only evaluating the rolling stock, despite the fact that their rooms require furnishing.

"The personal finance course was created as a result of a popular demand for a course of this character because of the suddenly increased public interest in investments during the last decade," said Professor Rae. Prior to that time, he said, the average investor knew only of notes secured by mortgages and trust deeds, but since the public has learned that it is able to share in the industrial profits and has demanded the in-

(Continued on Page Four)

Oregon Frosh Take Tilt From Rooks, 13 to 0

Staters Make Desperate Attempt To Score, But Oregon Holds

Morgan Taken To Hospital With Concussion Of Brain

After pushing over a touchdown in the first period, the Oregon Frosh let the Oregon State Rooks sweep them off their feet in the next two cantos without a score, only to come back strong in the last quarter to score again, giving them a 13 to 0 win over the Orange and Black yearlings last night on Hayward field.

Using a powerful line attack the Frosh rushed the ball into the Staters' territory at the start of the game. An intercepted pass momentarily halted the Frosh offense but they were not to be denied and after short line plunges Lillard, Temple and Kennedy had placed the ball on the 6-yard line, Temple threw a pass to Lillard on the sidelines for a touchdown. Lillard's try for the extra point failed.

Staters Come Back. The Staters came back strong in the second quarter and with Biancone and Joslin carrying the ball pushed the Frosh backs deep into their own territory. Four times they placed the ball within the Frosh 10-yard line only to lose the ball on downs. Once they had the ball on the 6-yard marker with four tries for a score. The Oregon line braced, however, and threw the Rooks back to take the ball on downs. The Rooks made more than 150 yards from scrimmage in the second and third for the Frosh's 26.

DePittard's Pass Scores. In the fourth quarter the Frosh snapped out of their lethargy and after a 25-yard end run by Lillard which placed the ball on the Rooks' 36, DePittard threw a long pass to Lillard on the goal line. This time Lillard's goal-kick was successful, making the score 13 to 0. The Rooks made a desperate at-

(Continued on Page Two)

Doc Spears, Oregon's genial football coach, who today faces his toughest game so far this season--the annual "civil war" tilt with O. S. C.

Hallin Sets Date For YWCA Dinner

Girls Interested Are Asked To Attend November 19

A dinner for cabinet members, committees, and any girl interested in the work of the Y. W. C. A. will be given at the Y. W. bungalow on the evening of Wednesday, November 19, under the chairmanship of Dorothy Hallin. Tickets will be on sale at all living organizations until Tuesday noon.

Barbara Tucker, in charge of the ticket sale, has named the following representatives at each house: Alpha Chi Omega, Aimee Sten; Alpha Beta Pi, Erma Duvall; Alpha Gamma Delta, Marian Jones; Alpha Omicron Pi, Dorothy Morgan; Alpha Phi, Elizabeth Bond; Alpha Xi Delta, Ruth Dur-

(Continued on Page Three)

Will His Smile Last?

Drama Director On Club Program

Mrs. Seybolt To Entertain Wesley Group Sunday

Mrs. Ottilie T. Seybolt, director of the drama department, will read "Green Pastures," Pulitzer prize play dealing with the negro conception of God, at the fireside hour of the Wesley club Sunday at 8:30 at the Methodist church.

The Wesley group will be guests of the Westminster club at 6 o'clock. Dr. Roy Leslie Smith, pastor of the Methodist church, will speak to the two organizations on "Contributions of the Methodists to Christianity." The service there will conclude in time for the students to go to the Methodist church to hear a concert of sacred music, under the direction of John Stark Evans.

Loving Cup Will Be Awarded For Winning Menu

Plans Finished for Health Week, Scheduled To Start Monday

Faculty Members Comment On Newest Addition to Oregon Traditions

A silver loving cup, donated by Miss Florence Alden, director of physical education for women, will be presented to the women's organization submitting the best menu for Health Week, November 17-21, Ethel Mason, chairman, announced yesterday.

Since Health Week is expected to become an annual campus event, it was thought fitting to have an award that could be presented each year. The cup will be engraved with the name of the winning house and will be the possession of that house until next year, when it may be won again or passed on to the new winners.

House managers are to submit their menus to Mary Agnes Hunt, not later than 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The judges of the menus are yet to be chosen.

Presentation Friday. Presentation of the cup and other awards for Health Week will be made at a social afternoon next Friday from 4 to 5:30 o'clock in Gerlinger hall.

A display of proper shoes, through the courtesy of several shoe stores, will be in a window of the Co-op next week. Elizabeth Jones is in charge.

As Health Week is a new week on the Oregon campus, several interviews with prominent campus folk regarding their opinions brought forth the following comment:

Dean of Women's Statement. "Every week should be a health week," Mrs. Hazel Prutsman Schwering, dean of women, remarked yesterday. "Calling attention to good health rules is an excellent idea; I am certainly in favor of anything that would emphasize good health, because it is so important to a college man or woman," she concluded.

"I am glad the girls are interested in Health Week," Mrs. Ottilie T. Seybolt, of the drama department, said last evening. "Fitness of their bodies has a great deal to do with the fitness of their powers to express themselves," she continued. "Even in everyday life good health affects the quality of the voice," and in conclusion, "I am interested in anything that stimulates an interest in keeping fit, because human powers to accomplish things are so much better under these circumstances."

Allen To Attend Meet Of Editorial Association

Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, and Arne G. Rae, field manager of the Oregon State Editorial association, will journey to Eugene today to attend a meeting of the executive council of the editorial association. Allen is chairman of the committee.

Alton F. Baker, editor and publisher of the Eugene Guard and Frank Jenkins, editor of the Eugene Register, other members of the council, will with them, as well as Miss Dorothy Kirk, senior in journalism, who will act as secretary.

Villard Janitor Victim Of Oregon Studes' Rally

The janitor at Villard was much amused by the rallyers when they entered that building and paraded through four times yesterday morning. It was a good joke until he looked into Villard assembly and saw the ruins. He spent the next hour rearranging the chairs according to their numbers.

Bell Field, Corvallis To Be Scene of Annual 'Civil War' Grid Classic

Staters After First Conference Victory; Oregon Will Make Hard Fight To Retain Perfect Record

By JACKSON BURKE

Armistice day has come and gone and hostilities will be resumed today when the University of Oregon Webfoots meet the Oregon State Beavers on Bell field in Corvallis.

It has been a hectic week of "bear" stories, rumors, denials and all the rest of the pre-game festivities, and today will see the settlement of all the differences that have been talked of since last year's classic, which Oregon won, 16 to 0.

Coach Clarence W. (Doc) Spears has spent the past week remodeling the Oregon team, endeavoring to fill the gap left when Captain John Kitzmiller of the Ucla Bruins last Saturday. What he has accomplished remains to be seen in the manner in which the Webfoots conduct themselves this afternoon.

It is true that the Lemon and Green stock dropped a few points when it became assured that the "flying Dutchman" would not be the mainstay of the Oregon team in this game, but with the passing of the past week the strength of the Webfoot line has again made itself apparent and the stock has risen again.

Beavers Want Win. Oregon State will be fighting for a conference victory, which is something they haven't had as yet this year. They have come close, very close, a number of times this season, but as yet have not tasted victory over a member of the Pacific Coast conference.

Oregon, on the other hand, will be fighting to maintain a record which has as yet been equaled by only a handful of teams in the country--that of being undefeated this year.

Which of these facts will produce the better mental attitude also remains to be seen.

Schissler Quiet. Paul Schissler, Oregon State coach, as not announced his campaign or plan of action for today's game, but with the efforts of the Oregon State college to secure the services of the redoubtable Joe Bedcovres Jr., it is assured that a passing attack will be attempted except in the event that the game is played in a rain. Joe will keep the center portion of the field free of mud and unless the ball gets wet, a passing game may be successful.

Ralph Buerke, who has been a sensational passer this season, is in shape for today's conflict and if he is in form an interesting long-range passing attack may be expected.

Doc Spears is equally reticent about the Webfoot plans. This, however, is as it should be. The strength of the new backfield combination is unknown at the moment and it is hard to say what it can accomplish.

Oregon's chances are based on (Continued on Page Four)

Flashlight Could Burn Years On Light Used For Night Game

By JAMES BROOKE

If one would start an ordinary flashlight burning at 12 o'clock sharp this noon, the current consumed by the lights at one night football game on Hayward field would keep it burning continuously until 3 minutes and 50.4 seconds after 10 p. m. on the day of September 22, 6189 A. D., or in other words, if flashlights had been invented by the cave men and some cave youth had left his on after the midnight revels of 2328 B. C., it would have shed light down through the dark ages through the Light of Asia, to August 14, 1930, A. D., at 3 minutes past 8 a. m., it was revealed last night after much laborious computation.

Likewise, the same amount of current would run an average radio 8 hours a day for 1 year, 16 hours, 57 minutes, and 11 seconds. During this time, it is estimated by reliable authorities, the Parlor Propagandists could be heard so many times that they would become distinctly a nuisance and undoubtedly would be run out of town.

Figuring at the rate of three a minute (this is Utopian service) one could make 1,018,363.6 raspberry malts in the 50,918.18 hours that the current would run a shaker.

(Continued on Page Four)

