Fashionables Drawn To "Holiday" for Diversion

The Guild theatre, presenting "Holiday," an all-campus production, will for the first time this year be the center of amusement and draw all of fashion to the footlights.

"Holiday" is the play in which the charming Ann Harding made her outstanding success. Her part will be taken by Nancy Thielsen, who will be remembered as the fascinating Mrs. Cheyney of "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney."

This is the opening of the campus theater season, and while it is not formal, it is gay and the one place of the week where everyone will see everyone else.

Alexander-Lowry Marriage Is Surprise

This week's surprise is the marriage of Miss Rena Alexander to Tyrell Lowry in Portland last Sunday at 1 o'clock at the White Temple.

Mr. Lowry, who is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was in school last spring term, was a two-year letterman in track, and would have been graduated with the class of 1931. His bride, who was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, was graduated in 1929.

Miss Mary Frances Lowry, Chi Omega, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowry will make their home in Portland after a wedding trip spent in California.

Relative Dinners Spring Into Vogue

Relative dinners seem to be coming into style. Three are scheduled for this week. Sigma Nu will honor relatives Wednesday night, Chi Psi and Sigma Chi on Thursday.

Seven exchange dinners are slated for tonight. Alpha Omicron Pi will entertain for Chi Psi, Kappa Sigma for Gamma Phi, Phi Kappa Psi for Kappa Alpha Theta, Chi Omega for Phi Sigma Kappa, Kappa Kappa Gamma for Sigma Chi, Alpha Gamma Delta for Sigma Pi Tau, Theta Chi for Pi Beta Phi.

Sigma Pi Tau and Beta Theta Pi were the only houses which were invited out last night, the former being asked to dinner by Alpha Xi Delta, and the latter by Sigma Kappa.

Tomorrow night invitations have been extended to Delta Zeta by Alpha Beta Chi, to Alpha Tau Omega by Gamma Phi, to Alpha Omicron Pi by Bachelordon, to Delta Tau Delta by Alpha Chi Omega, to Alpha Delta Pi by Phi Delta Theta, to Kappa Kappa Gamma by Sigma Phi Epsilon, to Chi Omega by Sigma Pi Tau.

A dinner-dance was given by Zeta hall last night and another one will be given on Thursday night by Omega hall. At their last dinner-dance Omega hall entertained 30 couples, more than any other organization has so far, and they expect to make their guest list as large Thursday night.

Tonight, to top the preceding list, Phi Gamma Delta will entertain with an upperclass dinner-dance. Bill Crowe, social chairman, is in charge.

Town Girls' Club To Honor Eugene Frosh

The Town Girls' club will entertain at an informal tea from 3 to 5, honoring freshman girls from Eugene. The tea will be held at the Alpha Omicron Pi house this afternoon. Amy Porter, member of Alpha Omicron Pi, will be in charge of arrangements at the house.

Louise Smartt, president of the club, is chairman for the affair.

Miss McCamant Visits in Portland

Miss Fanny McCamant, head resident of Susan Campbell hall, spent the week-end in Portland.

Spann Tells Education Club Of Germany's Higher Schools

"The German Gymnasium as the Outstanding Higher School of Germany" was the topic of a talk given by Dr. Meno Spann, of the German department, as guest speaker last night of the Education club.

According to Dr. Spann, who was educated in German schools and came to America only two years ago, the principal subjects taught in the German gymnasium are German, Latin, Greek and foreign languages. This shows the tendency of the gymnasium to emphasize the cultural aspect of education in preference to the practical.

"When a student has finished nine years in the gymnasium, he should be able to read selections from Homer and Virgil fluently, read and understand Greek, and read Shakespeare or modern newspapers equally well in either French or English," Dr. Spann said in further analysis of the work of the gymnasium.

"Students enter the gymnasium," Dr. Spann said, "at the age of 10, with four years' preparation in the so-called foundation school."

Preceding Dr. Spann's talk was one by Dr. B. W. DeBusk, of the school of education. Dr. DeBusk presented statistics connected with a recent survey made of 1200 Portland school children in the work of the Portland bureau of educational research.

Indications which were brought out by the statistics presented by Dr. DeBusk indicated that the grading systems in the Portland schools were very ineffective. Statistics also indicated that the average boy in the Portland school has to do 15 per cent better work than the average girl to receive the same grades. This was interpreted by the speaker as being due to the lack of proper motivation for the work given the boys.

Houses Inspected By Health Service

To Examine Food Handlers At Dispensary

All houses on the campus are being inspected by the health service in accordance with the new policy requested by the various house managers. The health doctors at work on the examinations are: F. N. Miller, director of the University health service, and Dr. Mildred Mumby and Mark T. Phy, assistant University physicians.

The food handlers are also being examined and each afternoon a few of them report at the dispensary. This process will be continued until a complete check has been made of all food handlers on the campus.

The results of our findings," says Dr. Miller, "are solely for the benefit of the houses concerned, and therefore no report will be given to the public when the examinations are concluded."

McDonald To Show Films Of Oregon-O.S.C. Game

Films showing much of the fast action on the field at Corvallis during the Oregon-O. S. C. game last Saturday will be held over at the Fox-McDonald theatre here for Wednesday and Thursday, it is announced by Russell Brown, manager. Not only do the films show a lot of the plays, but a number of interesting scenes, including close-ups of the coaches, the two bands, are also shown.

In spite of the fact that the films were taken during a driving rain all of the action is clear and distinct. Ultra-modern equipment on the two cameras used for the work made this possible, where ordinary cameras had difficulty in getting any kind of pictures, it is stated.

The newsreel will show with the current feature, "Those Three French Girls."

English Department Has Many Old Timers on Staff

To Prof. H. C. Howe, instructor in the English department of this University, belongs the distinction of having been a faculty member here longer than anyone else in that department. Professor Howe, whose alma mater is Cornell, has been at the University of Oregon since 1901.

Prof. Julia Burgess, graduate of Wellesley and Radcliffe, has been on the faculty here almost as long as Professor Howe, having come to this campus in 1907.

Mary Hollowell Perkins, also professor of English, is the third member of the English department whose long service here deserves some comment. Miss Perkins, who is a graduate of Bates, Radcliffe, Columbia, and the University of London, has taught in this University since 1908.

Other members of the English department who have been on the campus for a number of years are: W. F. G. Thacher, who has been here since 1914; Rudolf H. Ernst, who came here in 1923; Alice Henson Ernst, who came here in 1924; S. Stephenson Smith, who has been here since 1925, and Pat O. Morrisette, here since 1926. C. V. Boyer, head of the English department, also has been at this University since 1926.

Among those whose arrival on this campus has been comparatively recent are: Mrs. Clara Milner Smertenko, who came here in 1927; E. C. A. Lesch, L. L. Lewis, E. G. Moll, George Williamson, and Dorothy Delzell, all of whom first taught here in 1928. Ralph C. Hoerber has been on this campus only since 1929.

Newsreel Shows First Alaska Summer School

Glimpses of Alaska, and the adventures of the first University of Oregon summer school to this famed area can be seen at the Colonial theatre Wednesday and Thursday, it is announced by W. B. McDonald, manager. A complete reel, taken on one of the summer session cruises, is being shown.

In addition to the scenic spots filmed, the reel also contains a comedy made on the vessel during the trip. Although made on only a few feet of film, a complete story is told, and the production is declared to be one of the most amusing of this type ever to be presented.

After a reign of thirty years at the College of Liberal Arts of Boston, the traditional freshman hazing has been abolished this fall, to be known only as history in the future. A. & M. Wants Church

Pennsylvania, Princeton and the University of California at Los Angeles have made experiments with student churches. And lately, students of Oklahoma A. & M. have made persistent efforts to establish a student church. The proposed A. & M. church would be devoid of dogma or creed and would provide a channel through which the student could express his views. The fact that the project is meeting with bitter verbal attributes from the local ministerial alliance seems to be spurring on the leaders.

New Course at U. S. C.

WHAT SHOW TONIGHT?

Guild Hall — "Holiday," with Nancy Thielsen and all-student cast.

Hellig — "The Way of All Men," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Drama.

McDonald — "Those Three French Girls," with Reginald Denny and Fifi Dorsay. Comedy.

Colonial — "Let's Go Native," with Jack Oakie. Farce.

Guild Season Opens Tonight

Guild hall opens its season of legitimate plays tonight when the curtain rises on "Holiday," a comedy by Philip Barry. Nancy Thielsen, and Helen Mielke have the leading roles.

"Holiday" was the hit of Broadway, and made a tremendous success as a talking picture. Ann Harding took the latter role. Philip Barry, one of the best known of modern playwrights, wrote "You and I," played here not long ago by the Moroni Olsen company, and a number of other successes. Seats may be reserved and can be held by calling 3300 and asking for Guild theatre. The admission price is 50 cents.

McDonald Show Is Hit

Fifi Dorsay in a silk nightgown would be drawing card enough were it not for the fact that "Those Three French Girls," which opened yesterday at the McDonald, abounds in so much hilarity and speed drollery that no better excuse is wanted for seeing this farcical hit. P. G. Wodehouse wrote the story, and Reginald Denny is even smoother than usual in his part as the susceptible young hero. The other two French girls are Yola D'avril and Sandra Ravel. Cliff Edwards almost steals the show with his clucks and banjo.

Hellig Has Tense Drama

Men, greedy and relentless, beggars and financiers or society leaders or scum of the world—they all join in a common unity in "The Way of All Men," opening today at the Hellig. It is a tense drama of sex problems, and the film gives Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., the best chance for characterization he has had in his talkie career. Noah Beery and Dorothy Revier are in the supporting cast.

Beautiful Jeannette McDonald provides the feminine element and a fine singing voice to Jack Oakie's latest talkie, "Let's Go Native," now playing at the Colonial theatre.

The picture is a hilarious farce all about yachts, the rough seas, "lotsa" women, and Jack Oakie mixing among all of it.
