

All Types Make up Hoerber's Night Public Speaking Class

Tailors and Bankers Get Instruction in Art Of Debate

Three dentists, a clothes dyer, a tailor, an assistant registrar, an optician, and several physical education workers, teachers, housewives, and business men make up the night class in public speaking which Dr. Ralph C. Hoerber, of the English department of this University, holds on the campus every Monday evening.

Dr. Hoerber's public speaking class, which he has in Portland every Friday night, he declares is made up of just one type of workers—bankers and employes of stock and bond companies.

"The ambitious character of these students," said Dr. Hoerber, "is shown by the fact that, although most of them work all day long, yet they are willing to give up two hours a week to come to this class, to say nothing of the time they spend in preparation for it."

Dr. Hoerber states that irregularity of attendance is rare and that few people, having once enrolled in the class, drop from the course.

His Portland class began with 31 members and now has 25. His Eugene class began with 30 members and now has 24.

On Friday, December 5, the Portland class will have a local speech contest on some phase of "Man and Machine." Each member of the class will talk for five minutes. The six best speakers will be chosen by class vote.

Princeton Library Too Small
The Princeton university library is increasing so rapidly in size, that books are now being stored in the cellar of the building, and in many attics about the campus.

Bachelordon Nearly Whips S.A.E. Squad

Phi Delt Eliminates A.B.C. In First Contest of Play-off Series

Harry Simons Stars With Eleven Points Scored Against S. A. E.

The powerful S. A. E. team received their greatest surprise of the season when a grimly determined Bachelordon quintet dogged their heels until the final minute. With S. A. E. leading, 15-13, Roberts and Boyle caged lay-ins to run their total up to 19.

Two spectacular shots from mid-floor by Simons were Bachelordon's contribution to the scoring in the first half, while S. A. E. sprinted as the period grew short to lead 9-4. Roberts and Bale lodged shots in the net to start the second half, but Bachelordon rallied on baskets by Addison and Simons again to trail by only two points.

A. B. C. played lackadaisical ball compared to their usual standard and fell by the wayside before a vastly improved Phi Delt team, 15-7. Both squads played cautious ball throughout with the Phi Delt checking closely and shooting well, especially in the last half.

The quintets lagged in the first two periods, Phi Delt holding a 4-2 edge at the whistle, but the winners came back on the floor with an avalanche of baskets. Rogers, Barber, and Marrs sailed the ball through the net, leaving A. B. C. hopelessly in the rear.

The lineups: S. A. E. (19) (13) Bachelordon King (1) F. Paxton Bale (6) F. Addison Roberts (4) C. (2) Mikulak Myer G. Yerkovitch Marrs (3) G. David S. Moore S. Olds Whiteside

Referees: Hughes and Chatterton. TWO LOCAL TRIOS IN RADIO DEBUT SUNDAY (Continued from Page One) week, Cal Bryan and Mildred Magee brought talent to the studio which represented various countries of the world. Henry Kaaha, Hawaiian soloist; Michael Hiamovitch, playing "Black Eyes" as a piano selection, and a Filipino string trio constituted the International week program.

Kenny Lord and Wally Telford, the Harmony Twins, held the spotlight for a few minutes on the broadcast with new and old favorites. A newcomer to College Side Inn was Mysterious Mose, who sang "Don't Tell Her What Happened to Me."

The Emerald Entertainers, new staff orchestra, are growing more popular with every broadcast. Their own arrangement of "Rollin' Down the River" was both pleasing and original.

The program was so crowded with talent that Barney and Willie, the parlor propagandists, had only a few moments to do their bit, but they placed much matter for discussion upon the radio wires of the surrounding territory.

This will be the last Emerald KORE hour in "Better Radio Season" until December 4.

Victor P. Morris Will Be Delegate

Professor To Head Round Table Discussion

"Economics of the Orient" will be the subject for a round table discussion to be conducted by Dr. Victor P. Morris, of the economics department, at the meeting of the Institute of International Relations, at Riverside, California.

The meet, which is scheduled for December 7-12, is sponsored by the University of Southern California, with subvention under the Carnegie Endowment. Delegates represent most of the Pacific coast universities and colleges.

Mr. Devaputra, a native of India, who received his master's degree from the University of Oregon two years ago is now studying at the University of Washington for his doctor's degree in chemistry.

Mr. Devaputra will go to Friday Harbor, a biological station on Puget Sound, this summer to work on his thesis which is the "Radio-activity of Sea Water."

After receiving his degree, Mr. Devaputra will go to India where he expects to teach.

The Emerald SCORE BOARD By Jack Burke

WEBFOOTS TREK SOUTH AGAIN TODAY

Today marks the start of the second invasion of California by the Webfoots with a defeat of the Gaels as the prize this year as last.

Oregon didn't do so well last year being under a handicap due to an upset in the coaching staff, Cap McEwan having tendered his resignation just before the start of the trip and he being the only coach of the entire staff who was to make the trip.

Although this year the squad has been in a more or less continual state of depletion due to one thing or another, a larger number of men will make the trek. Thirty-one were taken to San Francisco last year and 35 will go this, one coach, McEwan handled the reins in 1929 where Spears will have the assistance of Jack O'Brien and Bill Reinhart.

So it can be seen that in numbers at least the Lemon and Green has more to offer this year. What those numbers signify, however, is another matter.

Although the Galloping Gaels are conceded to be more powerful this year than last it would seem from comparison that the Webfoots were in the same situation.

When the team left last year it left without the services of Colbert, Stadelman and Kitzmiller and Eric Forsta who had been used in place of Stadelman at center was about due for another attack of appendicitis.

All this is changed this year and the team will be as strong for St. Mary's as it has been all season. Kitzmiller is in good shape and although Colbert may not play the entire game he will be in condition to start.

HE WAS ACE HIGH NOT LONG AGO

It seems to be about all over as far as Nibs Price is concerned and perhaps one of the greatest sessions of "wolf-howling" should be about through.

It is funny the way things go in the life of a football coach. One day they are ace high and then they have the poor fortune to lose a game.

It wasn't so long ago that Andy Smith was at the helm in Berkeley and when he died the students and alumni had no other person in mind as his successor than the same man they are all crying about now.

Those students who desired to retain Nibs those few years ago must be alumni now and they seem to have forgotten what they did and said.

Nibs Price never played American football and has never claimed to be one of the old masters of the game. His forte is basketball and there are few hoop coaches in the country any better than he at this sport.

Nibs with the exception of this season had a record of some 26 games won over a period with six losses during the same time. That isn't a bad performance and unless the Californians who supported him in the past want to indicate to the world at large that they didn't know what they were doing and let their emotions run away with them at the time of Andy Smith's death, they ought to pipe down and use some deep thinking on the problem that confronts them rather than making such a fuss.

Staff Prize Winners
Merlin Blais, junior in journalism, and George Root, freshman, were winners of the Emerald staff contest for the best story and the most stories of the week. They will be guests of the Colonial theatre, who offered the award, at the showing of Everett Edward Horton in "The Aviator."

Urban To Speak On Campus Soon

Dartmouth Professor Will Talk on Philosophy

Dr. Wilbur M. Urban, professor of philosophy at Dartmouth college, will speak on the campus on the subject, "Tradition and Modernism in Philosophy," on the evening of December 8, Dr. H. G. Townsend, chairman of the committee on free intellectual activities, which arranged for the lecture, announced yesterday.

Dr. Urban's lecture will be the first of a series of addresses to be given on the campus under the auspices of the committee on free intellectual activities.

Due to the geographical isolation of the University from other centers of learning, there is a disadvantage in securing prominent men from other schools to speak before the students, as contrasted to eastern schools where eminent men are passing through and stopping over to address student assemblies very frequently, according to Dr. Townsend. To counteract this, the committee of which he is chairman is endeavoring to bring to the campus noted men in both the fields of science and the arts.
