

Happy Holiday

The height of disappointment is to be strictly held to a diet over Thanksgiving vacation. May the healthy ones be thankful—happy holiday, students.

The Weather

Maximum 45
Minimum 27
No precipitation.

VOLUME XXXII

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1930

NUMBER 39

CREECH, MIMNAUGH, ALLEN DEPOSED

International Week Program Is Completed

Third Annual Observance Of Foreign Affairs To Start Tuesday

Forum Hours, Assembly, Banquet and Pageant Are Scheduled

With some event scheduled for each day in the week beginning next Tuesday, December 2, the directorate of International week late yesterday completed plans for the third annual observance of foreign affairs here on the campus.

International week will begin with a forum hour in each campus living organization from 6:30 to 7:30 Tuesday evening, with faculty members and townspeople as speakers. Wednesday morning Dr. G. B. Noble of Reed college, Portland, will be the featured speaker at a general assembly at McArthur court. Motion pictures of the League of Nations will be shown in the evening at Villard hall.

Round Table To Be Held

Thursday afternoon, Mary Klemm, assistant northwest secretary for the National Council for Prevention of War, will conduct a round table discussion at the Westminister house on international affairs. In the evening International house will hold open house with foreign consuls from Portland as guests.

The banquet on Friday night will have Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University, as toastmaster. Foreign students on the campus will be guests of their friends among the student body. The pageant on Saturday in the Gerlinger building will bring the week's events to a close. Two performances, one in the afternoon and another in the evening will be presented.

Students are asked to sign up with their house representatives for tickets to the banquet, and foreign students will be assigned for each one unless the purchaser has a friend whom he particularly wishes to take, according to Corwin Calavan, in charge of all ticket sales.

On Tuesday evening the groups of independent men and the independent women will have dinner together at the Y. W. C. A. and hold their discussion hour with Dr. J. R. Wetherbee as speaker.

Speakers Chosen

Following is a list of forum-hour speakers for the other campus groups:

Alpha Chi Omega, N. L. Bossing; Alpha Gamma Delta, Mrs. H. Wheeler; Alpha Delta Pi, Mrs. G. E. Warner; Chi Delta, Mrs. H. E. Knott; Alpha Phi, Mrs. Madden; Alpha Omicron Pi, R. C. Clark; Chi Omega, L. O. Wright; Alpha Xi Delta, S. H. Jameson; Delta Gamma, Dr. George Rebec; Tri-

(Continued on Page Three)

Town Girls May Hold Dance Here

WHETHER to give a dance or not during Thanksgiving vacation will be decided at a meeting of the Town Girls' club this afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 110 Johnson.

Last year members of the organization entertained students staying on the campus over the holidays with a dance at the Craftsman's club. A similar one will be held this year, if the members vote in favor of a dance.

All town women are requested to be present by the president, Louise Smartt, since this is the first business meeting of the term.

Men Sent Most Warnings From Too Low Grades

295 Males Receive Slips As Compared With 93 Women

Three times as many men as women were sent grade warnings at mid-term, a report released from the personnel office shows.

A total of 295 men received requests to interview their advisers concerning their work, while only 93 women had grades low enough to necessitate an interview.

Grade reports with interview blanks, according to University regulations, are sent to those students who are on scholastic probation and have one V or one F, and to those not on scholastic probation who have received two or more grades of V or F, or both together.

When informed of their grade standing, students are supposed to answer the questions in writing asked on the interview form, designed to aid their advisers in analyzing their difficulties, and then to seek the advisers' help.

After the conference the interview blanks are returned to the office of the dean of men by men students and to the dean of women by the women. If the blanks are not sent back within a week, the dean of men or women calls in the students and explains to them the importance of consulting their advisers.

List of Advertisers Sent To All House Managers

The list of Emerald advertisers, designed to increase response to advertising in the student publication, will be sent out to all houses on the campus next Monday, Jack Gregg, advertising manager, announced last night.

"It is hoped that house managers will consult this list when making purchases, inasmuch as the Emerald is a publication of the Associated Students and its advertisers should be patronized by them," Gregg said.

Promotion of Good Will Their Duty for Week

There are six busy days ahead directly after Thanksgiving for this directorate when the third annual International week is scheduled, December 1 to 7. A forum hour in each house, a banquet honoring foreign students, a pageant on Saturday, and a student assembly with Dr. G. B. Noble, of Reed college, as principal speaker, are highlights of the week. The members responsible for the program and plans are, left to right: Charles Gillespie, forum hour; Minnie Helzer, German club; Cal Bryan, general chairman; Michael Halmovitch, International club; Merlin Blais, treasurer; Elizabeth Scroggs, secretary; Kenneth Fitzgerald, publicity assistant; Louise Webber, banquet assistant; James Landye, banquet chairman; Alexis Lyle, A. W. S.; Edna Spenser, Cosmopolitan club; Lavinia Hicks, forum hour assistant; Alice Redetzke, Westminister Guild; Isabelle Crowell, tickets; George Root, publicity chairman; Joan Cox, publicity assistant, and Walter Meyers, adviser. Mildred McGee (not in the picture) is program chairman and has made all arrangements for speakers during the week.

$1500 Fellowship Offered to Those Studying German

Students To Sail To Europe August 1 To Pursue Work in Field

A fellowship of $1,500, open to both men and women is offered by the directors of the Germanistic Society of America, for an American Student who contemplates studying some phase of German civilization at a German university, according to material received from the Institute of International Education.

In order to be eligible for this fellowship the candidate must be a citizen of the United States, a graduate of a college of recognized standing, he must have pursued advanced studies in one or more of the following aspects of German civilization: German architecture, art, history and government, literature and language or German philosophy.

The award will be made about March 1 and an applicant who accepts the award of the fellowship will be expected to sail for Europe on or about August 1. Payments of the fellowship will be made in three installments.

A fellow, unless already so proficient in the language as to be exempted from the requirement by the secretary, will be required to devote the first summer to the study and practice of oral German, and shall give the secretary a certificate of proficiency.

He will be required to pursue work in the field of study designated on his award, but will not be held responsible to the directors for taking any specific courses or achieving any specific results.

The secretary of the Germanistic Society is Frederick W. J. Heuser at Columbia university, New York City, N. Y.

Dr. Caswell Has Doubts if 'Last Laugh' Will Stay Up

"I have my very serious doubts whether the 'Last Laugh' will ever fly," said Dr. A. E. Caswell, professor of physics, when asked for his opinion of the air worthiness of the strange craft being tried out at the local airport.

"If the inventor had really carried out an entirely new idea, as did Count Zeppelin when he designed dirigibles, or as the Spanish inventor of the autogiro did, instead of merely remodeling an airplane body which has been constantly perfected by corps of men who have spent their lives in the study of aeronautics, there would be more chance of his success.

"The inventor has, obviously, comparatively little knowledge of aeronautics, and his creation violates several laws of flight. Then the very name of the thing sounds dubious—'Last Laugh.'"

Business Brisker, Boys Buy Black Sooty-Shaded Shirts

Some ten years ago a broad-shouldered, heavy-chested gentleman, clad somewhat ostentatiously in a black shirt marched down from the hills (or was it up from the plains?) into Rome. This gentleman, a blacksmith of some repute in his home town, carried as a weapon, a club, as a badge, the black shirt; and when Rome awoke next morning the papers were carrying headlines something like this, "Local Boy Makes Good in Rome."

But all of this is beside the point. What we are getting at is this. After ten years of comparative peace and quiet, here some 15,000 miles to the westward the black shirt has again made its appearance. First, it was noticed on the back of a rather insignificant-looking sophomore and not more than nominal comment was excited. But

Faculty Members Attend Institute

Seventeen Counties Visited By Institute Participants

Oregon faculty members participated in County Teachers' Institute meetings in 17 counties of the state during the months of September, October, and November.

The counties visited were: Baker, Clackamas, Curry, Douglas, Grant, Harney, Jackson, Jefferson, Josephine, Klamath, Lane, Lincoln, Marion, Polk, Union, Washington, and Yamhill.

Professor W. G. Beattie, assistant director of the extension division appeared on the program in eight different counties. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education addresses institutes in Lane, Lincoln, Marion, and Washington counties. F. L. Stetson, professor of education, Harold L. Tuttle, associate professor of education, Nowland B. Zane, associate professor of design, and B. W. DeBusk, professor of education, were other institute speakers.

Sweetser Will Give Talk Before Audubon Society

"What's in a name and how do you get it?" is the subject upon which Dr. A. R. Sweetser, head of the department of plant biology, will lecture before the Audubon society in Portland Friday evening.

Dr. Sweetser will discuss the work of naturalists in the Pacific Northwest and something of the work that these men have accomplished in the scientific field.

Library Open

The law library will be open during Thanksgiving vacation as usual, except Thursday, November 27, when it will be open from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. only.

Debaters Chosen In Annual Tryouts For Varsity Team

Eighteen Men Selected by Competitive Exam For Squad

Eighteen men, the majority of whom are sophomores, were chosen last night to make up the varsity debate squad, as a result of the tryouts held in Villard hall. Newcomers to the squad are Neil Sheeley, Charles Jones, Hobart Wilson, Charles Yoshii, Charles Dolloff, Leslie Whitehouse, John King, Charles Roberts, Rolla Reedy, Marl Liles, Robert Gamer, and Cecil Espy.

Six members of the squad who were on last year's team and will continue this year are Arthur Potwin, Walter Evans, Roger Pfaff, Errol Sloan, Robert T. Miller, and Wallace Campbell.

Scout Leadership Course Planned

Training Offered Oregon Men Students on Friday

A scout leadership training course will be offered Oregon men students interested in boys' work in a series of eight lectures sponsored by the Eugene Boy Scout offices, according to H. B. Sallee, scout executive here, who is working under the supervision of Victor P. Morris, chairman of the leadership training committee.

The course will open Friday at 7:45 p. m. in the chamber of commerce building on West Broadway, and all lectures will be held at the same hour and place on succeeding Fridays in December and January. The course will end January 16 with an outdoor meeting at Camp Lucky Boy.

Rev. Weber of Eugene will lecture Friday on "The Volunteer." Physical and mental nature of the 12-year-old boy, the significance of oath and law, discussion of tenderfoot tests, and importance of investiture service will be other topics covered at the first meeting.

L. S. Cresman, professor of sociology, will talk on "The Gang—Why—Danger and Advantages," on December 12. Other topics will be listed later.

Men attending the leadership training course may obtain a certificate at the end of two months' period if they so desire, according to the scout leaders.

Faville To Confer

Dean Faville of the school of business administration, will leave for Portland today where he will confer with R. H. Kipp, manager of the Columbia Valley Development association, concerning the traffic research being carried on by the bureau of research of the school of business administration.

Rally Leaders Lose Right To Participate In Student Activities

Action Which Is Taken by Executive Council Removes Yell King, Rally Committee Chairman And Emerald Managing Editor

Exercising authority as the supreme executive body of the associated students of the University of Oregon, the executive council last night suspended three students, John Creech, Brian Mimnaugh, and Robert Allen, from participation in all activities for one term after their implication in the incitement of a rally disrupting Friday morning classes preceding the Oregon-Oregon State football game.

Action was brought about by the executive council upon recommendation to the student advisory committee that such misdemeanors as may come directly under the supervision of

Willis Duniway Managing Editor Of Daily Emerald

Staff Member Succeeds Allen, Removed by Executive Council

Willis Duniway, editorial writer on the Emerald staff, was appointed by Vinton Hall, editor, last night to succeed Robert Allen as managing editor of the Emerald. Allen was forced to vacate his position by action of the executive council.

Duniway is a junior in the school of journalism. He has risen rapidly in the ranks of the Emerald since his freshman year when he started as a reporter. Throughout all last year he held a position as day editor, and was promoted to the editorial staff at the end of the spring term.

The new managing editor, who goes by the name of "Bill" around the Journalism shack, is from Portland. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and is campus correspondent for the Portland News.

Mary Klemm Is Member War Prevention Society

Miss Mary Klemm, U. of O., '30, at present associate secretary of the northwest office of the National Council for Prevention of War, was in Eugene yesterday, speaking before the Eugene and University high schools.

Miss Klemm has just recently returned from Washington, D. C., where she attended a national conference of the organization with which she is affiliated. She has been traveling in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho, addressing schools, business and professional clubs, and civic bodies. Her headquarters are in Portland.

Miss Klemm is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho, national public speaking honorary, and Theta Sigma Phi, woman's journalistic honorary.

Caswell Gives Six Reasons Why Saturday Classes Fail

Approximately six reasons for the evident failure of Saturday classes have been ascribed by Dr. A. E. Caswell, professor of physics, who conducted the survey last week which indicated that they are not achieving their object.

Natural resistance on the part of the students is given as one of the chief reasons. The fact that Saturday classes are an innovation and consequently meet with some disapproval is also assigned as a cause. Quite a few students work in local stores and, inasmuch as Saturday is rush day for the tradesmen, numerous students are thus drawn away from the classes held on this day, according to Dr. Caswell.

Some of the professors like to leave over the week-end and classes on Saturday cause them inconvenience. Similarly it is nearly impossible for some of the professors the association of students be handled by the supreme body of the organization. The affair was primarily placed in the hands of the student advisory committee, a group composed entirely of faculty members, which has previously dealt with student violations.

By such suspension from activities John Creech will no longer hold his position as yell king. Brian Mimnaugh is removed from chairmanship of the rally committee, and Bob Allen will lose privileges of acting as managing editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald, according to the edict of the executive council. Creech and Mimnaugh were held to be chief instigators of the Friday morning rally which disturbed the regular routine of the University educational program. Allen, as managing editor, unofficially tendered his support to the rally by printing material in that morning's issue which was said to have had an encouraging effect upon the rallying students.

"A gentleman's agreement," stated George Cherry, president of the student body, regarding the action taken by the executive council, "incorporated in the A. S. U. O. constitution and exercised only the night before, has been violated by those acting in the name of the association. The student relations committee and executive council have acted for the best interests of student government in placing the men on one-term activity probation.

"An organization," he continued, "cannot live long or accomplish its purpose if it sets up standards and conforms to them only at will. Student government is not universal. If we are to enjoy its benefits and yet, in so doing, prove ourselves worthy of the trust which every Oregon student prizes, it is imperative, obviously, that the group standards set up in the constitution be the standards of every individual and respected as such."

Incorporated in the decision handed down by the council is a clause that the student removed

(Continued on Page Three)

Business Ad School Makes Study of Lumber Industry

That cyclical fluctuations in short term interest rates have a direct bearing on the Douglas fir lumber industry is brought out in a research report on "Forecasting Fluctuations in Demand for Douglas Fir Lumber" now in process of preparation in the school of business administration in its bureau of business research, according to O. K. Burrell, who is now putting on the finishing touches.

The original draft is nearly completed and will soon be in the hands of officials in the industry for their inspection before it is sent to the printer for official publication.

According to the report, lower interest rates in the past have called for movement in the Douglas fir industry within a period of five or six months, however, present indications point to a considerable lengthening of this period, during the depression of 1930, but the powerful stimulus of low interest rates will undoubtedly assert itself to speed up building construction.

The report also brings out the fact that the Douglas fir industry in the past has been an early mover so far as the major turning points in the business cycle are concerned and that the general industrial activities in the past have been preceded by movements in Douglas fir. It also shows that there is a considerable degree of relationship between fluctuations in the residential construction and agricultural prices and the Douglas fir industry, but that fluctuations in the Douglas fir industry precede the fluctuations in residential construction and agricultural prices.

The report also indicates that there is no correlation between fluctuations in demand for Douglas fir and volume of new corporate financing, stock prices or bond prices.