International Week Program To Start Today

Forum Hours at All Houses Scheduled as Feature of Evening

G. B. Noble of Reed College To Speak at Villard Wednesday Night

International week will get under way this evening with forum hours being scheduled in all the living organizations on the campus. According to Mildred McGee, chairman of the week's program, a select group of speakers has been obtained for the various houses and each organization may therefore be assured of an entertaining and instructive evening. All houses will have dinner at 5:30 p. m. in order to hold the forum hour.

Dr. G. B. Noble, of Reed college, Portland, will speak at Villard hall on Wednesday evening. His address, which will be a discussion of America's future relations with foreign nations, is scheduled to begin at 7:45 p. m. Dr. Noble is noted for his wide knowledge of international affairs and all students are therefore urged to take advantage of this opportunity to hear him.

General Discussion Set

A general forum discussion is to be held Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. At this discussion, which will be held in the Westminster house, Eric Cable, British consul in Portland, and Mary Klemm, well-known Northwest peace worker, will be the principal speakers. Miss Klemm will discuss the World Court. All students on the campus are invited to attend this forum.

The banquet which had been scheduled for Friday will be given Thursday evening, due to a change in the plans of the International week directorate. This event is scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock. The chief speaker of the evening will be Dr. Roy Akagi, well-known Japanese authority on international relations. At the present time he is in America for the purpose of gathering material for a book which he is writing. After the banquet, the International House will have open house. Mr. Cable, the British consul, will be the honor guest of the evening.

A program of lantern slides and motion pictures will be given in Villard hall on Friday evening. These pictures will be a portrayal of the workings of the League of Nations and will also present sketches of foreign life in various forms. The program will be given free of charge.

Pageant Saturday

The pageant is scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening. Both performances will be held in Gerlinger hall, one beginning at 3 p. m. and the other at 8 p. m. The pageant will be a series of sketches portraying various nationalities in their native settings. Admission to the pageant will be 15 cents in the afternoon and 20 cents at night. This event will be the last item on this year's International week program.

This is the third annual International week sponsored by the

Ancient Literary Treasure Gift of Richard H. Thornton

A second edition of Aristophanes printed in 1547 and presented to the University by Richard H. Thornton, former dean of the school of law, is preserved in the library vaults among other literary treasures.

This book was printed on the Basel press in France by an unidentified printer of the 16th century. The binding sheet of the book is a medieval copy of the Psalms of David written in Latin and including several bars of music. The first line may be translated, "I have gone astray like a lost sheep."

The title page is written in both Latin and Greek as follows: "Nine comedies of Aristophanes with ancient commentaries and the addition of a very bounteous index

German Club To Hold Xmas Party

A ONE-ACT comedy, German folk songs, music and dancing will be on the program of the campus German club's Christmas party to be given Wednesday evening in the dancing room of the women's gym in the Gerlinger building. The entertainment will be open to the campus, according to Miss Minnie Helzer, president of the German club, and admission will be 50 cents. Near beer and pretzels will be served during the evening.

The German comedy will be "Er Muss Tanzen," enacted by a cast of advanced students. German folk songs and Christmas songs will be sung by soloists and quartets. Leo's Varsitarians will furnish the music for dancing.

Oregon Yeomen Select Officers At Last Session

M. Blais Named President; Montgomery Elected Vice-President

The Oregon Yeomen last night elected Merlin Blais, junior in journalism, president of the organization. The recently organized group of independent men elected other officers as follows: Ted Montgomery, junior in journalism, vice-president; Jack Bellinger, sophomore in journalism, secretary; Charles Davis, junior in education, treasurer; and Evan Hughes, senior in business ad, sergeant-at-arms.

Bennett Swanton, senior in business ad, was appointed permanent sports chairman by the new president; and Beverley Caverhill, freshman in journalism, was named publicity chairman for the organization. According to the constitution, a chairman of social functions must also be named, but as yet no person has been appointed to this position.

"The Oregon Yeomen have become definitely organized, and in the future this independent group will be classed as a regular social organization on the campus," President Blais stated last night. Every independent man is eligible, and the Yeomen desire that all shall take an active interest in the plans of the club. Hereafter, the Yeomen expect to participate in campus affairs, and to achieve a standing equal to that of any other organization on the campus.

A forum meeting of the Oregon Yeomen will be held in conjunction with the independent women of the campus this evening at 5:30 at the Y. W. bungalow, at which time Dr. J. R. Wetherbee, Eugene physician and world traveler, will address the group in connection with International week, the president announced at last night's session.

No other meetings will be held this term.

Debaters Teaching

Two members of the varsity debate team are assisting in the debate work of other schools. Errol Sloan is helping to select the debate team for Eugene high school, and Walter Evans is coaching the Springfield high school debate team.

Reinstatement Is Petitioned For Bob Allen

Student Plea Is Circulated For Deposed Managing Editor of Emerald

Allen Blameless, Ousted Officials Say; Decision Upheld at Rehearing

Petitions were circulating last night, addressed to the student relations committee and the executive council, asking the reinstatement of Robert Allen, who was ousted from his position as managing editor of the Emerald, when the executive council, on recommendation of the student relations committee, took away all student activity privileges for one term.

This action followed a meeting of the student relations committee yesterday afternoon at which they refused to alter the recommendation to the higher body. Allen was granted a hearing before the group.

Committee Drops Case

George Cherry, president of the student body and chairman of the committee, last night said that no new evidence had been brought up that would call for a reversal or change of opinion.

John Creech, yell leader, Brian Minnaugh, chairman of the Oregon rally committee, and Allen were suspended from participation in student activities for one term on the charge of having directly or indirectly been responsible for inciting a student rally on the Friday morning preceding the Oregon State football game. The student committee claimed this was in violation of a gentlemen's agreement in spirit entered into the day before the rally.

Allen Held Blameless

Both Creech and Minnaugh addressed and signed a statement to the student relations committee in which they stated that Allen was in no way connected with the plans for the Friday morning rally. The committee held that responsibilities on jobs could not be shifted.

Allen printed a banner at the top of the page which read, "Oregon Spirit Is on the Warpath. Rallies Are the Order of the Day—Any Time—Any Place." The committee supported their original decision that Allen was nevertheless guilty of assisting with the rally which had not been duly scheduled.

Dr. Clark Notified About Committee

Oregon Professor Named For Investigating

Dr. Dan Clark of the extension division has been notified of his appointment on a committee to investigate the calendaring of historical material on the Pacific coast. The appointment was made by the Pacific coast regional committee of the Social Science Research council.

Members of the committee will meet during the Christmas holidays at Stanford university at the time of the annual meeting of the Pacific coast branch of the American Historical association.

Dr. Clark is also vice-president of the Pacific coast branch of the American Historical association, and in view of the president's absence will preside at all sessions of the association.

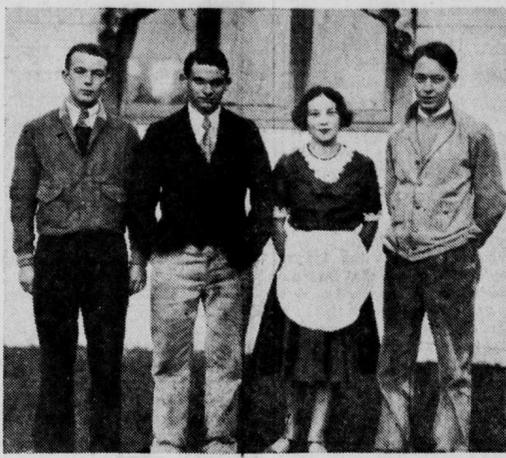

Dr. R. C. Clark, professor of history, will attend the conference and will participate in the Historical association program.

Pi Lambda Theta To Hold Initiation; Social Meet

Initiation and social tea will feature a meeting this evening of Pi Lambda Theta, women's education honorary, at which Dr. Clara M. Smertenko, of the Latin and Greek department, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Smertenko will speak on "Our Inheritance From the Greeks."

The meeting will be held at the home of Dean H. D. Sheldon, 1343 University street at 5 o'clock. Those who are to be initiated into the group are Beth Bowerman, Lenore Casford, Harriet Hodgen, Ruth Severance, and Mrs. Veola Ross.

Star In German Play

Players in the one-act comedy, part of the entertainment that will be given on Wednesday evening by the German club. They are, left to right: Jack Hart, Sol Snyder, Evangeline Miller and Vincent Russell.

Colorful One-Act Plays To Be Given At Guild Theatre

Both Tragedy and Comedy To Be Featured on Stage Wednesday

Variety and color will be offered in the three one-act plays to be produced at Guild theatre at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and at 8:15 the evening of the same day. Both tragedy and comedy will be represented in the program which includes the plays, "The Dear Departed," "The Devil Comes to Alcaraz," and "The Breaking of the Calm." The settings vary widely, changing from Spain in "The Devil Comes to Alcaraz," to shipboard in "The Breaking of the Calm."

Three members of the cast have parts in two plays. Gene Love has another character part in playing Abel Meryweather in "The Dear Departed," and also plays a straight part for the first time as the captain of the "Mary Ann" in

Frosh Debaters To Have Try-outs Next Thursday

Oregon State on Schedule Of Freshmen For First Time

Aspirants for the freshman debate squad will compete Thursday at 4 o'clock in Villard hall. They will follow the same program used in the varsity tryouts and will speak for six minutes on either side of the question, "Resolved: That the United States should gradually lower its tariff so as to adopt a policy of free trade within 20 years."

Freshman debate this year has one of the best schedules that has ever been obtained. For the first time in the history of the University men and women will debate Oregon State. This debate will take place the last week in February.

The men will debate the College of Pacific in Stockton, California, and Nazarene college, Nampa, Idaho. Both the men and women teams will debate Oregon State, Pacific university, Linfield college, Albany college, Monmouth Normal and Ashland Normal.

S. S. Smith Sees Ibsen's 'Ghosts' on Trip South

Ibsen's "Ghosts," which is soon to be presented by the drama department of the University, was seen by S. S. Smith when he was at Stanford during the Thanksgiving vacation attending the Philological meeting of the Pacific coast. This drama and also Shaw's "The Apple Cart" were being given by a group of English players, of whom Mrs. Patrick Campbell is the star.

St. Cecilia Mass To Be Presented Next Sunday at 4

Evans Will Play Organ and Direct Choir for Annual Musical Event

The eleventh annual presentation of the University's traditional Christmas music program, Gounod's "St. Cecilia Mass," will be given by the University choir at the music auditorium next Sunday afternoon, December 7, at 4 o'clock.

Every year since 1920, the University choir, directed by John Stark Evans, has sung the "St. Cecilia" shortly before the beginning of the Christmas holidays, and its constantly increasing popularity has made it more or less of an institution.

The University choir consists of the combined men's and women's glee clubs, and totals about 80 voices picked from more than 200 candidates who tried out for places at the opening of the school year. The choir has been rehearsing the "St. Cecilia" for more than six weeks.

In line with the custom of past years, this program will be free to students and to the general public.

Mr. Evans will accompany at the organ as he conducts the singing.

Janet Fitch Wins First Award for Reading Contest

No Second or Third Prizes To Be Given This Year Judges Decide

The first prize in the freshman reading contest for the year 1929-30 has been awarded to Miss Janet Fitch, M. H. Douglass, librarian, announced yesterday.

The judges in the contest recommended that no second or third prizes be awarded this year as the few other papers which were presented did not quite measure up to the standard which the judges feel that they could warrant the giving of the prizes.

The object of the prizes is to stimulate an interest on the part of the freshman students in intelligent general reading of books outside of those required in connection with the classroom work.

The subject of the papers presented is "Books I have Read During the Year and What They Have Meant to Me." The first prize is $30 in books to be selected from the Cooperative Store. The prizes are offered jointly by the Co-op and the University library.

The judges for the contest were Mrs. Mabel E. McClain, circulation librarian; Miss E. Lenore Casford, periodical librarian; and Dr. C. V. Boyer, of the department of English.

Parsons Goes East

Dr. Philip A. Parsons, dean of the school of applied social science, will leave for the East Thursday, December 4, to attend a conference of community organization leaders in New York, December 9. Dr. Parsons plans to be back on the campus about December 18.

15 Sophomore Men Charter Members of Honor Service Group

Presentation Of "Messiah" Is Scheduled

University Orchestra and Polyphonic Choir Will Unite in Program

Sunday, December 14, Set As Date for Special Christmas Oratorio

Another major musical program which gives promise of becoming an annual tradition on the Oregon campus will be inaugurated Sunday afternoon, December 14, when the polyphonic choir and the University symphony orchestra will unite in a large scale production of Handel's "Messiah."

Arthur Boardman, conductor of the choir, will use its full strength, 150 voices; and accompanied by the 65-piece orchestra it will be a fitting medium for the majesty of Handel's great oratorio.

Christmas Program Popular

A presentation of the "Messiah" at Christmas time has become an institution in many cities of the United States. Last December the Portland Symphony orchestra, with Mr. Boardman as tenor soloist, gave the "Messiah" with marked success.

This will be the most ambitious production that the Polyphonic choir has undertaken in the year and a half that it has been organized. Arthur Boardman joined the Oregon faculty as head of the voice department in the summer of 1929, after several years of operatic engagements in Italy. In the fall he organized the Polyphonic choir, practically the only organization of its type and size in Oregon.

Boardman To Direct

The choir has been training for the oratorio since the beginning of the term. The orchestra is being trained by Rex Underwood, its conductor. During the performance, however, Boardman will direct both choir and orchestra.

The concert December 14 will be the first appearance this year of the full strength of the choir. The first division, consisting of 40 voices, appeared in a Bach cantata early in November.

Illness, Injuries Hits Swim Team

Foster Is Suffering From Broken Eardrum

The Thanksgiving vacation proved the undoing of several swimmers. Sickness and injuries will prevent several from participating in practices this week.

Charley "Red" Foster, varsity swimmer, is suffering from a broken eardrum received while swimming last week. He received medical attention in Portland during the week-end. For several days it was not known whether Foster would again be able to enter the tank, but the specialist who was consulted stated that in a few days he could enter the water again.

Allen and Lafferty are both suffering from boils. Culp and Needham have had colds while Al Edwards has a strained hip. Maurice Pease, a varsity diver, sprained his ankle during a practice last week and will not be out for some time. "Mike" Mariatt, also a varsity diver, is suffering from a sprained leg.

Jack Hewitt, varsity swimming coach, announces that regular diving practice will be held every night 5:45 to 7 o'clock in the women's pool.

Twenty men are turning out for varsity swimming. Pease, Dirks and Mariatt are the divers. Casner, Douthit, Ingram, Patterson, Vail, Wilson, Sleeter, Hegdahl, and Stine are the frosh divers.

Oregon Grid Men To Star for West

THREE Oregon grid stars, Johnny Kitzmiller, George Christensen, and Austin Colbert, have accepted the invitation extended to them to play in the annual East-West all-star game at San Francisco on Christmas day.

This is the first time in many years that such an honor has been given to Oregon men. The announcement of their acceptance was made Monday after their return from the St. Mary's game.

All three played their last game for the Webfoots against the Gaels on Thanksgiving day.

Public Speaking Teams Are To Be Selected Tonight

Extemporaneous Speaking And Oratory Tryouts To Be at Villard

The oratory and extempore speaking tryouts will be held tonight in Villard hall at 7 o'clock. At this time fifteen-minute orations will be given on optional subjects. The orators may select their topic from any one of the topics that will be used in various contests during the year. They will be permitted to read their manuscript providing they have their introduction and conclusion memorized.

The extempore speakers will speak for 10 minutes on some phase of free trade. Each speaker will be assigned his particular phase at the beginning of the tryouts.

Five contests that the members of the varsity squad in oratory and extempore speaking will enter this year are: the State Peace contest, the Old Line contest, State Extempore contest, Pacific Forensic League extempore speaking contest, and the Pacific Forensic League oratory contest.

Faculty members of the speech division will act as judges.

Oregon State Man Guest Speaker at Meet Tonight

"The Education of the Poor Mountain Whites in the South" will be the topic of an address to be given by Dean J. R. Jewell, of Oregon State college, who will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Education club tonight.

Dean H. D. Sheldon, of the University of Oregon school of education, will address the group at the same meeting. Dean Sheldon will review recent researches in the field of educational values.

Afternoon Tea Suggested For Tired Football Teams

Can you picture Austin Colbert balancing a cup of tea on one knee and gripping a dainty green and yellow cake in his manly fist, all the while making polite conversation with Dean Schwerger? Or maybe the prospect of George Christenson exchanging chit-chat with Cecil Sherwood of the Oregon State squad in the cool depths of the alumnae hall, of the Gerlinger building, appeals more to the readers' fancy.

At any rate, if Oregon and Oregon State followed the custom of Dartmouth and Harvard after their respective football struggles, they would have a delightfully informal tea after the annual encounter on the home field. And wouldn't the alumnae hall be an appropriate place for such a gathering?

The game would probably have to start at 11 o'clock as did the St. Mary's encounter last week, only

Choice Based On Merit Only By Committee

Fraternity and Political Affiliations Are Given No Consideration

Constitution and Plans To Be Drawn Up Today At 4 O'clock

Fifteen sophomore men were chosen yesterday by a committee of upperclassmen as charter members of the new sophomore class service honorary group that will be installed on the Oregon campus. The executive council passed upon the selections unanimously.

The sophomores, all outstanding in campus and class activities both last year and this term, were selected for the honor group solely upon merit, and without thought of fraternity or political affiliations, according to Ken Curry, chairman of the upperclass committee which picked the 15 men.

Charter members of the sophomore service honorary are:

- | | |
|----------------|----------------|
| Bill Bader | Charles Larkin |
| Larry Bay | Kenton Lawson |
| Gordon Day | John Marrs |
| Ted Jensen | Carson Mathews |
| John King | Richard Mumaw |
| Ed Kinney | Jim Travis |
| Virgil Langtry | George Vaughan |
| Freeman Young | |

Carefully Picked

The choice of the 15 men for the honor organization was made from a list of more than 60 names comprising the best men from each house, hall, and independent group. The upperclass committee then discussed each man according to his present standing on the campus and his future possibilities, and considered the honor each would be to the organization while he was an active and past member.

"On all university camp that have similar sophomore honoraries, the group is the most coveted goal of all underclassmen," George Cherry, president of the Associated Students, said yesterday in discussing the new Oregon group. "The purpose of the honorary here is the same."

Men Active

The men chosen for the sophomore organization have entered into a variety of activities on the campus. Bay was freshman president, and Travis is president of the sophomore class. Jensen was chairman of the sophomore informal. Day is advertising manager of the Oregonian. King is a varsity debater and last year won first place in the vice-president extempore speaking contest. Mathews is acting manager of the University band. All the other men have been found responsible in campus positions.
