Ex-Student Visits Here
Now a full-fledged flier in the United States army, bound for active duty at Lake field in Hawaii, Lieutenant Don Zimmerman, graduate of the University of Oregon in 1925, stopped in Eugene for a visit with friends Tuesday. Lieutenant Zimmerman has recently completed his training in aviation in California, where he went following his graduation from the United States Military academy at West Point in June, 1929. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

B. A. School Shows Big Gain
The school of business administration has increased its enrollment nearly 13 per cent since the fall quarter of 1928, according to Dean Faville of the school of business administration. Figures from the registrar's office show that 627 students are this year registered in the school of business administration representing an increase of 182 students or 15 per cent over a year ago.

Professor to Return
Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of geology, will return to Eugene a little later than he had expected, or about January 15, it was stated yesterday. Dr. Hodge has been attending the annual convention of the Geological Society of America at Toronto, Canada. He is spending his time now in visiting science laboratories, famous museums and libraries.

Friedman Visits Cleveland
To get new ideas from other chemistry departments and to attend the national conventions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and Sigma Xi, Dr. Leo Friedman, assistant professor in chemistry, made a trip to Cleveland, Ohio, and other middlewestern cities. Dr. Friedman returned Sunday after a three weeks trip.

Gage To Conduct Course
Daniel D. Gage, professor in the school of business administration, will conduct a class each Tuesday at Portland on credits and collections for the special benefit of the Portland Credit Men's association and under the auspices of the Portland extension division. Professor Gage will make the trip to Portland each week from Eugene in order to carry on this work.

New Equipment Received
A set of organ pipes and a coincidence pendulum were received in a shipment of equipment to the physics department during the holidays. The organ pipes will be used to demonstrate sound principles and the pendulum will be used to test out the laws of the pendulums.

Miss Ellis To Be Speaker
Miss Conah Mae Ellis, of North Central high school, Spokane, Washington, who will be guest speaker of the deans' section of the high school conference next week-end, was a teacher in the department of education on the University campus last summer session, according to Dean Henry D. Sheldon.

Rael Back on Campus
Juan B. Rael has just returned from New Mexico, where he has been doing research work on Spanish folk-tales. He will talk to the Spanish club at its next meeting, which will be held at 7:30 Tuesday evening, January 13, at Westminster house.

Clark Elected to Office
Dr. Dan Clark, professor of history, was elected president of the Pacific coast branch of the American Historical association at their annual meeting December 29-30 at Stanford university.

Dr. Benjamin Stops Here
Dr. Harold Benjamin, of Leland Stanford university, and formerly principal of the University high school here, was visiting in Eugene before Christmas. Dr. Benjamin was en route to the University of Minnesota, where he will teach secondary education during the winter quarter.

Tea, Fashion Show To Be Given Here

Plans Made To Entertain Women Delegates

A tea and a fashion show will feature the entertainment being planned for visiting Girls' League delegates and high school deans of women when they attend the high school conference here this week-end. The Associated Women students and Connie Baker, in charge of arrangements for the dean's section, are backing the affair.

Virginia Grone is managing the tea for delegates which will be held in Alumni hall Friday afternoon from 4 until 5:30. In the receiving line will be Mrs. Hazel Prutsman Schwering, Miss Conah Mae Ellis, of Spokane, Margaret Cummings, Constance Baker, Madeleine Gilbert, president of the state Girls' League, and the newly elected state president. Members of Thespian and Kwama will serve. They will be assisted by Dorothy Davis, president of the Girls' League at Eugene high school, Catherine Coleman, president of the similar organization at University high, and two officers from each school.

Miriam Stafford is arranging a musical program for the affair, and Maryellen Bradford is in charge of the food. Between 250 and 300 people are expected. Forty models will display not only what the well-dressed college girl will wear on all occasions, but also several of the more outstanding and unusual clothes worn by college women at the fashion show Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the women's gym.

A clever setting has been planned by the committee for the show. Pajamas, sports outfits, campus clothes, afternoon dresses and coats, dinner dresses, and evening dresses and wraps will be modeled for the high school girls. In addition a stunt will be given. Committees include: general chairman, Helen Chaney; models, Alexis Lyle, Maxine Reed, Julia Creech; music, Irma Logan; properties, Frances Drake; programs, Betty Anne Macduff; stunt, Marylou Patrick; scenery, Florence White.

Dean Allen Back From Convention

Casey, Formerly of Oregon Elected to Office

Dean Eric W. Allen, of the school of journalism, returned to the campus Tuesday after a two weeks' trip East where he attended a convention of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, held in Boston, Massachusetts.

Ralph D. Casey, former associate professor of journalism at the University of Oregon and now at the University of Minnesota, was elected president of the association, and Everett W. Smith of Stanford was elected vice-president.

Dean Allen was president of the association this year and also chairman of a sub-committee on research. Next year the convention will be held in Minneapolis. While East, Dean Allen also visited several newspaper and magazine offices in New York, Chicago, and other large cities.

PREP MEETING SLATE FILLED FOR DELEGATES

series of round tables extending until Saturday morning, with leading educators from Oregon and Washington taking part, will follow.

Dean Conah Mae Ellis, of the North Central high school of Spokane, Washington, will be perhaps the most prominent speaker on the program for visiting deans. Mrs. Hazel Prutsman Schwering, University dean of women, will give the closing address.

A campus tour, a group picture of the preppers, and a tea for all women delegates will bring Friday afternoon's events to a close.

A banquet will bring the entire delegation together Friday evening at the men's dormitory, with Burt Erown Barker, University vice-president as the principal speaker. The University orchestra will furnish numbers.

Vaudeville Show Planned
"A College Night," a vaudeville program featuring the best show talent in the University in a varied performance, will be opened to both delegates and University stu-

WHAT SHOW TONIGHT?

McDonald — Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Reducing."
Colonial — George Arliss in "The Green Goddess." Last day.
Hellig — "Temptation," with Lois Wilson. Last day.
Rex — Evelyn Brent in "Madonna of the Streets." Last day.
State — Lewis Stone in "Strictly Unconventional."

Arliss Makes Hit

If you will take your atlas and open it to the map of Asia you will note a vast expanse of color to the north of India with very little information attached. Somewhere near the spot where India, Tibet, and Mongolia seem to come together—a spot which few Europeans have ever seen and which none of them have ever lived to tell about—is the setting of the weird and dramatic story of "The Green Goddess," which stars the screen's finest actor, George Arliss, and playing its last day at the Colonial today.

Stone in State Comedy

Lewis Stone, star of the comic "Strictly Unconventional," playing at the State theatre today, is one of the screen's old silent players, brought over to talkie technique and winning new and greater laurels. He specializes in roles depicting middle-aged menaces to do-

Women's Order Of the O To Meet

Class Spirit in Donut Tilts Is Aim of Convention

The Women's Order of the O will hold a meeting for both regular and associate members on Friday evening at 8 in the social room of the women's gym, according to an announcement given by Lucille Hill, president.

The meeting will be devoted to ways and means of instigating and inspiring new pep and class spirit in the intramural contests for this term. Intramural practice in basketball and speedball will start at the first of next week.

The members of the women's Order of the O are to act as guides in Gerlinger hall for conference delegates who meet in that building. They are requested to dress entirely in white.

delegates in Gerlinger hall, following the conference banquet.

Chairmen of the divisions of the conference, acting under Bill Pittman, general chairman, who have arranged the program for the week-end, include John Penland, program; Harry Van Dine and Tony Peterson, press; Connie Baker, deans; Margaret Cummings, girls' league; John King, principals; Ralph Walstrom, student body officers; Carson Mathews, reception; Margaret Tarbell, registration; Carol Werschul, banquet; Barney Miller, College Night; Bill Price, campus tour; Adele Wedemeyer, correspondence; and Merlin Blais, publicity.

Registration of delegates will commence this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the administration building, where house representatives will be stationed to escort visitors to their respective living quarters.

mestic happiness. His performance of late was in "The Office Wife," with Dorothy Mackall playing the feminine name lead.

Rex Has Melodrama

The glamorous Evelyn Brent is starring in "Madonna of the Streets," playing at the Rex theatre today. This film was adapted from the famous story, "The Ragged Messenger," by W. B. Maxwell. An important supporting cast includes Robert Ames, Josephine Dunn, and Ivan Linow.

Marie and Polly at McDonald

The biggest box office comedy tea min the talkies today, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, are playing at the McDonald theatre today in "Reducing." The film is rated to be an even funnier, more hilarious comedy than their classic, "Caught Short."

Lois Wilson at Hellig

Human interest drama with real heart appeal are elements of "Temptation," playing at the Hellig theatre today. Lois Wilson plays the leading feminine role, with Lawrence Gray, Billy Bevan, and Eileen Percy in the supporting cast.

There is no let-up of tense action. Starting with the initial situation, it speeds rapidly toward an inevitable and thrilling climax.

Cornelia Ingram Added to Staff

Newcomer Takes Position In Art School

Miss Cornelia Ingram of New York City is now a new addition to the University staff. She will teach courses in the interior design department of the school of architecture and allied arts.

Miss Ingram is a graduate of Parson's New York school of fine and applied arts. Upon graduating from the New York school she continued her work in Parson's school in Paris, where she spent one summer.

For three and one-half years she has been a member of the Metropolitan Museum staff, being in the textile department. More recently Miss Ingram has been associated with a consulting decoration firm in New York City. She is also a member of the National Decorators of Women of New York.

Theta Sigma Phi Plans Tea for Visitors Friday

Plans for a tea to be given by Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity, in honor of the women press conference delegates were discussed at a meeting of the honorary held yesterday afternoon. The purpose of the tea is to enable the high school delegates to become better acquainted with the women who are taking an active part in journalism in the University.

Lenore Ely, chairman of the tea, announced that it would be held in the women's lounge of Gerlinger hall from 4:30 to 5:30 Friday afternoon.

Play Tryouts Are Slated Today at 4

Students Interested Asked To Turn Out

The tryouts at Guild hall at 4 o'clock today for the studio plays are open to all regularly registered students. Everyone who is interested in acting is urged to come out.

"There will be fifteen plays altogether, but as many as possible will be cast from today's tryouts," said Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt, director of the drama department. "Four of the plays which will be used for tryout texts may be found on reserve in room 30 of the old library. People planning to try out are advised to look them over, if they can, to see what parts they would be most interested in."

"Phipps," a sophisticated comedy, can be found in "One Act Plays for Stage and Study" (series one); "Hearts Enduring," in Cohen's "More One Act Plays"; "The Vanishing Princess," not a fairy play, in "Three Plays" by John Golden; and "Catherine Parr" in "Plays in Miniature." This play gives an especially good opportunity to impersonate Henry VIII in an amusing quarrel scene with one of his many wives.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

Clipping a second would save 25,000 hours

A second saved here — an unnecessary step cut out there — on such close attention to detail rests the success of modern industry. Nowhere is this more strikingly shown than in the telephone business.

In accounting work for instance, an improved method that clips just one second from the time required to handle one toll ticket would have great results.
