

The Emerald SCORE BOARD

By Phil Cogswell

Oregon Swimming Team Has Possibilities

Jack Hewitt is having his problems as coach of the varsity swimming team, but in spite of them, his squad is coming along well. One thing that is all in Jack's favor is the trip which the team will take to California. This trip is something the fellows will work for. Last year there was no such incentive.

As far as material is concerned, the Webfoots have a fairly strong squad. There is a weakness among the backstrokers, none yet have turned in a performance anywhere near meet winning time. John Allen, two-year letterman in this event has been ill and has not been able to get in condition. There are no other veterans out for this event.

Then another problem prevails among the divers. Don Neer, a letter man, and one of the outstanding divers on the coast, was being relied upon to furnish the team with at least one winner. But Don has quit school and gone to Hawaii or some other place which doesn't help the Webfoots any.

In the dashes, breast-strokes and distance races, Oregon will be fairly strong. Hewitt took some time trials last night, the first of the season, and although he didn't want them published, he admitted they were pretty good.

Hewitt Already Building for Future

Jack Hewitt has the idea of building Oregon's swimming for the future. One of his plans is to encourage the activity in high schools. You see, the Northwest has a tremendous handicap when it comes to competing with the California schools. Down south there are lots of tanks, the kids start swimming as soon as they start to walk, and due to the

DeNeffe Five Drops Frosh In Slow Fray

Experienced Opponents Outplay Yearlings To Win 43-35

Twenty-Eight Fouls Called During Contest; Wilson Gets 16 Points

The Oregon freshmen hoopsters received a rough and tumble lesson in the gentle art of basketball last night when they dropped a ragged, slow game to DeNeffe's, 43 to 35.

It was a case of too much experience on the part of the local amateur outfit. They took the lead at the very start when Wirth, Rubenstein and Epps rang up seven points before the frosh could get organized. Wilson finally found the hoop for the yearling's first score only to have Donin and Epps add three points to give DeNeffe's a 10 to 2 lead.

Freshmen Knot Score
The frosh finally came to life and Houghton, Wilson and Lillard tallied field goals to knot the score. Two field goals by Roy Hughes, assistant varsity coach, gave DeNeffe's a lead which they kept the remainder of the contest. At half time they led 22 to 18.

Field goals by Donin, Hughes, and Rubenstein gave the local basketballers a ten point lead. Although the frosh tried hard they were unable to do more than close up the count a little. Time after time Lillard, yearling center, took the tipoff from Epps only to have some DeNeffe player take the ball away from the frosh. The yearling's passing and shooting was very erratic and they missed enough shots to win any game.

Wilson Is Star
Wilson, lanky forward, was the individual star of the freshmen with 14 points to his credit. Houghton, with seven, was a close second. Mark Temple played a consistent game at guard and Lillard showed flashes of form. Max Rubenstein scored 10 points to lead the DeNeffe outfit. Wirth, former Southern Oregon Normal star, scored eight points to follow him.

The game was very rough and Referee Chappie King called 28 fouls. Wilson, Rubenstein, Wirth and Donin all received four personal, the limit.

The following men will accompany Coach Prince Callison to Salem tonight where the frosh will tangle with the Salem high school team: Jim Watts, Lis Wilson, Mark Temple, Joe Lillard, Willard Eberhart, Stub Olsen, Tom Tinker, John Jeffers, LaGrande Houghton, and Mike Wishard.

MANAGERS APPOINTED ON TAX COMMITTEE

The committee from the house-managers' association on this campus will keep in touch with Mr. Angell in order that the association may be notified at any time of the progress of the bill, or of any occasion arising in which they may help to further the bill.

The suggestion was made at a special meeting called last Tuesday that the house-managers of the several organizations on the campus should communicate with their alumni and parents, in order that they may co-operate and support the bill.

Huskies Out Of Northern Ball League

Graduate Managers Meet In Portland; Release Diamond Schedule

U. of W. To Tour Orient; Oregon Opens Season Here May 6

The schedule for the coming baseball season was revised and released yesterday by the graduate managers of the northern schools who met in Portland. The outstanding feature of the baseball race this year is that the University of Washington will not have a team entered. The Huskies is planning a tour of the Orient during the spring and will not be able to play in the circuit.

Cougars Play First
The Washington State Cougars will open Oregon's season here May 6. The Webfoots start off by playing four games in succession. W. S. C. will play two games and then Idaho is slated to arrive for a couple of contests.

The four teams left in the league, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington State, and Idaho, will each play the other teams four games. Two on each of the home fields.

Managers Meet

The graduate managers who attended the meeting in Portland were: Hugh Rosson, Oregon; Earl Campbell, Washington; George Horton, Idaho; Carl Lodell, O. S. Oregon's schedule follows:
May 6, W. S. C. at Oregon.
May 7, W. S. C. at Oregon.
May 8, Idaho at Oregon.
May 9, Idaho at Oregon.
May 15, O. S. C. at Corvallis.
May 16, O. S. C. at Eugene.
May 20, Idaho at Moscow.
May 21, Idaho at Moscow.
May 23, W. S. C. at Pullman.
May 24, W. S. C. at Pullman.
May 29, O. S. C. at Eugene.
May 30, O. S. C. at Corvallis.

MAKING ROUNDS WITH NEWS EDITORS AT MEET

ject of lotteries was up. It had just been learned from Mr. Jones that printing the prize-winners at bridge parties is against the lottery laws. "How about golf?" came a voice from the rear of the room. Someone recognized the tones of Mr. Brodie. "Well," was the reply, "if it's your game, it's entirely a matter of chance." Mr. Brodie doesn't think highly enough of his golf to continue the discussion.

It isn't so long since Anna Jerzyk was writing features for the Emerald. She's here at the conference, having come from Rainier, where she helps A. E. Veatch get out the Review. Miss Jerzyk participated in the discussion, telling her fellow-journalists what a job it is to get the right kind of news from the ministers.

Elbert Bede, genial sage of Cottage Grove, is here nursing a sore hand he hurt in the Sentinel shop when a glass door fell on it. Elbert came down from Salem, where he is reading clerk of the house during the legislative session.

William H. Warren, Sunday editor of the Oregonian, and Mrs. Warren were on the campus for the first time. Mr. Warren was on the program, and Mrs. Warren came along to see that he made his schedules and got back to Portland in time to attend their daughter's graduation from Washington high school, Portland, tonight. They both had warm words for the appearance of the Oregon campus. Their son, Larry, is editor of the O. S. C. Barometer.

E. E. Brodie, United States minister to Finland, selected his vacation period to synchronize with the conference dates, thereby giving his many old cronies in Oregon journalism a chance to chat with him. Of course, incidentally, he misses a bit of Finland winter, which, he reports, is almost as cold as that of our own Inland Empire. He will be in Oregon for two more weeks.

Swimming Regulations Revised for Girls' Pool

A change has been made in hours for open swimming in the women's pool, according to an announcement given out by Miss Ernestine Troemel, women's physical education instructor.

The hours, which were formerly 5 o'clock every afternoon, have been changed to 5 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and 4 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday. This change has been made to accommodate the men's diving team, which uses the pool at 5 every Tuesday and Thursday. Any girl who is interested in swimming is requested to turn out at these open swimming hours to practice. Life guards will be in attendance and will give instruction to anyone desiring it.

Narrowed down to eight teams, the handball tourney will commence its last week of play on Monday afternoon, January 26, at 4:20 o'clock. At this time the powerful Sigma Nu and Independent quartets will clash, while the Betas will meet either the Fijis or the Delts. Unless the Delts arrange a special match with their neighbors today, the Fijis will receive the Monday match as they were on hand for the previously scheduled match with the Delts. Another schedule difficulty was ironed out when the A.T.O.—(winner of Sigma Nu-Independent match, was Sigma Nu-Independent match), was shifted from 5 o'clock Monday to the same hour on Tuesday.

La Casa Filipina will make their second appearance in volleyball, this time against A. B. C., while the Beta-Zeta hall game should be spectacular as both teams have shown proficiency in juggling the light ball. Another unbeaten squad, Smith's Independents, will try to keep their slate clean against Alpha hall.

MANY DESIRE TEACHING POSITIONS IN OREGON

(Continued from Page One) Assuming "proper training" to mean the standard normal or college requirement, he found that among the teachers new to the profession last year the number of poorly trained teachers was somewhat alarming. For instance, in one-room schools only 45 per cent of the new teachers last year were adequately trained. The proportion rises, as the schools enlarge, to 61 per cent in the two-teacher schools, and 66 per cent in the three-or-more teacher schools. The proportion of all types of teachers, old and new, who were adequately trained, was 43 per cent in one-room schools, 52 per cent in two-teacher schools, 72 per cent in those with three or more teachers, 61 per cent among elementary principals, with a total percentage of 61, for adequately prepared elementary teachers in Oregon last year.

In secondary schools the percentages are higher, running 35 per cent in junior high, 81 per cent in senior high, 86 per cent in four-year high, 73 per cent in high school principals, and a total of 78 per cent adequately prepared secondary teachers in Oregon.

The weakness of the present system is due, Dr. Huffaker believes, to the fact that teachers can re-enter the teaching profession by the examination route, if they have ever held an Oregon certificate, regardless if it was ever used or not, and regardless of the amount of training it represents, and to the fact that teachers may qualify by examination for positions for which they have not been sufficiently trained. For instance, the most comprehensive certificate—the life—is based on examination, and gives the holder the privilege to teach in any elementary, junior, senior, or four-year high school.

Dr. Huffaker points out that Oregon has now reached a position where it could afford to abandon the examination method of certification and could insist upon special certificates for specialized groups. Standards are consistently being raised, however. Last year the requirement was 48 weeks in a normal or 7 terms in college. From January, 1931 to 1933, it will be 60 weeks in normal, and 8 terms in college, and after that, 72 normal weeks and 3 years in college, or 9 terms. However, teachers may still enter by examination.
