

The Emerald SCORE BOARD

By Phil Cogswell

Mr. Prices Loses Now in Basketball

After five years wherein they suffered 17 successive defeats in basketball from the California Bears, the Stanford Cardinals have turned the tables and licked their Berkeley brothers on the maple court.

Does this mean that Nibs Price, recently ousted as California football coach, is slipping at the helm of the basketballers? Will the Bears begin looking for a successor to a man who could only make it 17 straight over the traditional foe? The answer is, yes, it is entirely possible.

In these days, says Knute Rockne, it doesn't matter how fine a man a coach is and how much he develops character in his players, he must win. Knute adds, "Our college educators, who dery over-emphasis of football, show their lack of sincerity when their own particular school is losing. It is then that they wail loudest and start looking for a new coach though it be in the middle of the season."

Distinction for Oregon State

To Oregon State goes the honor of being first to throw the Huskies for a loss in the present basketball season. After being licked in the game Monday night, the Beavers upset Washington last night. The score was 37 to 23, and was the first defeat the boys from Seattle have suffered in more than 20 games so far. However, the Huskies have a big lead in the circuit and probably won't be caught. O. S. C. has a jinx over Washington. Last year they took three games from them, and those were the only three contests the Huskies lost.

The Uclas, newest school in the Coast conference, are on top of the basketball heap down South. California beat them once, but now that Stanford has walloped the Bears, the Uclas are ahead in games won. The Trojans are on the bottom for a change.

CORVALLIS, Jan. 27.—(Special to the Emerald)—Minus the services of Ed Lewis, star center, Oregon State's basketearing Beavers swamped the Washington Huskies under a deluge of field goals to win the second game of the present series, 37-23, here tonight.

Ken Fagans, forward, who played center in tonight's game in place of Lewis, literally rushed Swanson, the pride of the Huskies, off his feet, and scored 12 points, while his teammate, Ballard, chalked up seven field goals and one foul conversion for 15 points. Fuller led the Washington scorers with 10 points.

O. S. C. Opens Scoring

Oregon State opened the scoring early in the game with two field goals before the Huskies came through to sink one. The score varied with one or two points difference until, with the score at 11-11, the Beaver quintet broke open the Husky defense and ran the score to 16-11 at half time.

Fagans converted a free throw at the beginning of the second half and followed with a long shot to make the score 19-11. Washington missed two free throws and Ballard put on a scoring spree and looped three baskets in short order to run the count to 25-13. Grayson came down the center of the floor and sank a one-handed shot, Swygard knocking him down on the play. However, Grayson's free tosses were nil and Hank Swanson tossed in a gratis shot and immediately dropped in a field goal to make the score 27-16.

Sinks Free Throw

Lyman sank a basket and Ballard a free throw. Fuller and Cairney each contributed one point but Lyman and Fagans ran the score to 32-18. Ballard, Swygard and Swanson contributed the rest of the points, the game ending before Washington awoke to "what the score was."

Coach "Slats" Gill's team, making a final effort to bid for the Northern division title, was a much different team than the one which the Huskies defeated last night by eight points.

Kelliher First To Pass Test For Honorary

Sigma Delta Psi Candidate Successfully Fulfills Requirements

Forty Applicants Working Toward Fraternity; Bailey Close

Mayville Kelliher, freshman in the school of physical education, has the honor of being the first Oregon student to successfully complete the requirement tests of Sigma Delta Psi, national athletic honorary. When two other candidates fulfill the requirements a local chapter can be established here.

Kelliher, who passes under the cognomen of "Doc," experienced no great difficulty with the events and his time of 1 minute and 12 seconds in the 100-yard swim bettered that of any of the 40 men who are taking the tests.

Dash Mark Fast

With a goal of 11 3-5 seconds in the 100-yard dash, he broke the tape in 10 2-5 seconds, did the 220-yard low hurdles in 28 3-5 seconds which is nearly 3 seconds under the requirement, and wound up his running a few moments later with a mile ticked off in 5 minutes and 40 seconds.

Turning to the field events Kelliher slid over the high jump bar for the required 5 feet, pole vaulted 8 feet, 6 inches above the necessary mark, and tossed the shot a fraction over the minimum limit of 30 feet. His baseball throw sailed 300 feet, while the requirement is only 250 feet. At punting he easily bested 120 feet, hanging up a mark for 55 yards. He completed the tests by displaying perfect form at the handspring, handstand, and bar vault.

Others Trying Out

Orville Bailey, football star, is close on Kelliher's heels with only the mile and 220 low hurdles facing him now. Howard Bobbitt, E. H. Clark, Harold Lewis, Leonard Steele, Roy Hughes, and Al Haakanson are other men who have completed a majority of the tests and loom as future honorary members. Russ Cutler's activity in forming the gym section which specializes in the requirements for Sigma Delta Psi has encouraged nearly 40 other men to take the tests.

Saturday at 8 o'clock has been set aside for tests and practice in swimming and all who have not fulfilled this requirement are asked to attend. Men not enrolled in the section can appear at any of the class hours and take part in whatever tests have been assigned for that day.

Health Service Relies On Physical Education

The health service, according to Dr. Miller, is often developed as a department in the school of physical education. Very often physical education directors are physicians, and physical education has frequently been advanced by contributions made by physicians. This he attributes to the fact that those actively engaged in health work can better appreciate the necessity of physical education.

In regard to the teaching of hygiene by physical education directors Dr. Miller says, "In practice the physical educator who does not have a medical training is apt to be better trained as a teacher

Interest Grows As Rifle Contest Date Approaches

U. of O. ROTC Team To Be Chosen For First Meet; Scheduled Feb. 7

As the date on which Oregon enters the R. O. T. C. intercollegiate galley rifle shoot nears, renewed vigor is shown by Oregon riflemen, and those trying out for the team are following the practice schedule closely. The first shoot is scheduled for the week ending February 7, at which time the team will be chosen.

Many Teams Enter

Sixty-four R. O. T. C. rifle teams have entered the ninth corps area intercollegiate galley rifle shoots, in which Oregon is competing, according to information received from ninth corps area headquarters. The group is divided into three divisions, the seniors consisting of teams from universities and colleges, the juniors made up of high schools, junior colleges, and private military schools, and the third group consists of high schools and private military academies.

One-third of the teams from each group will participate in the national intercollegiate galley rifle shoot to be held later in the spring. Members of the winning teams in the ninth corps area shoot will be presented with medals.

Change None Too Good

Although the prospects for Oregon do not look so good, due to its having lost several good men last year, Captain Bragg believes the team should at least duplicate the standing of last year, Oregon placed fourth last year. O. S. C., with two teams, placed first and third, otherwise Oregon would have taken third place. Washington placed second.

One new man, Moynahan from California, who has had considerable experience, has reported at practice the last week.

Other Competitors Listed

Others who are out are: Robert Reiling, Spencer Raynor, Jon Conder, Gaylord Cox, Edward Judkins, L. E. Smith, Verbal Shoemaker, and Harold Menturn, all of whom were on the team last year, and Carey Thompson, Dick Somers, Wayne Felts, and Harold Kenzell, who are members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon team which won the intramural rifle cup.

Corvallis YWCA Declared Active

Mildred McGee Speaks at O. S. C. Gathering

"I think the Corvallis Y. W. C. A. is very active, and the way they incorporate their Y. W. work with their class work is certainly effective," declared Mildred McGee, World Fellowship chairman of the University Y. W. C. A., upon her return from Corvallis where she spoke Friday on the student pilgrimage to Europe, which she attended last summer.

Miss McGee's audience consisted of some 100 sophomore girls. She stated. An indoor picnic and program was held under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, for the purpose of stimulating interest in a world-fellowship project group.

"Each class has a special project," announced Miss McGee, "and since the sophomores had completed their 'big sister' work, my talk was to help them formulate new interests."

Lois Reedy Named Aide To Co-ed Forensic Chief

Hobart Wilson, general forensic manager, yesterday announced the appointment of Lois Reedy, freshman in journalism, as assistant manager of women's debate for the A. S. U. O. Lois Reedy was active in high school forensics at Pendleton, Oregon, where she won the extempore speaking championship and placed second in the national oratorical contest.

Miss Reedy is a member of the women's debate team and is affiliated with Theta Omega sorority.

they were interested to the secretary. He stated that the list would be referred to as much as possible in the appointments. He also announced that all appointments would be made in the near future in order to give the committees plenty of time to work out their various projects.

At the beginning of the meeting Potwin, in behalf of the class, thanked Jack Edlefsen, general chairman of the Junior Jinx, for his work. "The Jinx marks the first time in the history of the school," said Potwin, "that the junior class has sponsored any type of activity during fall term, and it is hoped," he continued, "that it was the initiation of a new campus tradition."

Mermen Holding Secret Trials in Practice Events

Tough Battle Is Expected When Oregon Clashes With M. A. A. C.

Time trials are being held Tuesdays and Thursdays in the women's pool at 5:15 o'clock with Jack Hewitt, varsity swimming coach, in charge.

Hewitt was not satisfied with the trial meet between the frosh and varsity swimming teams two weeks ago. The walls of the women's tanks are rather high and there was not enough water to promote good swimming. When the water is low, the swimmers create small waves which greatly impede their progress and cut down their time, it was pointed out.

Prepare for Meet

An effort is being made by Coach Hewitt to supply the tank with a plentiful amount of water for the meet with the Multnomah Athletic club of Portland next Saturday.

The results of the time trials will not be released until just before the Multnomah club meet, but Hewitt said they have been very favorable.

The Portland club is very strong

Men Add Speed

In the Portland city swimming meet, which was held about two weeks ago, Anderson did not show up as well as he was expected to. He appeared to be a little out of condition from all reports and will have to get in better shape to beat out his ex-team mates.

Besides paying a tribute to Kitzmiller, Spears thanked his coaching staff for its cooperation, especially mentioning Bill Hayward, of whom he said no man felt more deeply, or worked harder for Oregon to win.
