

The Emerald SCORE BOARD

By Phil Cogswell

Injured Beavers Play Banged Up Contest

Nothing like having a bunch of cripples on a team to make it a good one. Take the case of Oregon State. With their star hoop center so badly hurt that he couldn't play at all, and with Fagans, having only the efficiency of a one-legged man due to a torn muscle in the other one, and with other sundry ailments, the States played another splendid game Saturday night and Oregon lost another one.

Incidentally those two sick men, Fagans and Ballard, who despite expectations were not confined to wheel chairs, but circulated on their natural supports, scored 32 points together, all but 8 of the Beavers' total. And did they look sick doing it!

The Webfoots came back at the start of the second half when the score was 20 to 9 against them, and fought up within one point of equalling the count. It was 22 to 21. Ballard and Fagans found the range again, however, and Reinhardt's men being supposedly in fine condition, had no chance to match the superior stamina and drive of those weak, suffering, Corvallis men.

Webfoot Five Holds Grip on League Cellar

Oregon Loses 40 to 26 to O. S. C.; Game Is 7th Defeat for Ducks

Huskies Remain in First Place; Beavers in Second Position

The Oregon basketball quintet continues to remain in undisputed possession of the cellar position in the northern section of the coast conference standings as a result of their seventh straight defeat last Saturday night, this time at the hands of the Oregon State hoopers, 40 to 26.

Washington Leads Race

The University of Washington five, despite their first loss last week to Oregon State, remain at the top of the list. Oregon State with two wins and one defeat during the week, forged ahead of the Washington State to take second place. The Cougars took the Idaho Vandals into camp Saturday 37 to 13 to remain in third position. Idaho with a lone victory over Washington State is next with Oregon trailing behind.

In the southern division of the conference U. C. L. A., despite a one point loss to Stanford 29 to 28, still heads their league. U. S. C. took two games from California to jump into a tie with Stanford for second place. But one game separates the league leading Bruins and the California Bears who are in the cellar.

Webfoot Stage Rally

Last Saturday's contest at Corvallis ran true to advance predictions and despite the crippled condition of the Orangemen and the desperate rally staged by the Webfoot at the first of the second period, the States had the edge throughout the game. Jean Eberhart managed to get the tip-off most of the time but the Beavers took the ball away time and time again. The game was one of the fastest played this year and both sides missed cinch shots often so fast was the battle.

Rod Ballard, who was reported to be under the care of a physician, had a big night, tossing in eight field goals and a foul conversion for a total of 17 points. Kern Stevens led the Ducks with seven markers.

Rifle Team Meets Stiff Competition

Eight Schools Scheduled To Shoot With Oregon

The University of Oregon rifle corps assumed active participation in the ninth corps area gallery rifle shoot yesterday, when 13 riflemen entered the matches as scheduled by ninth corps area headquarters.

This week Oregon is competing with Mississippi Agriculture and Mechanical college, U. S. Military academy, W. L. A. C. rifle team, Nashville, Tennessee; the University of Tennessee, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New Mexico State college, Kansas State Agricultural college, and the University of Cincinnati. At the end of the week the aggregated score will be sent to each school.

A tentative list of those who will shoot during the week is as follows: Robert Relling, Spencer Raynor, Claud Conder, Gaylord Cox, Edward Judkins, L. E. Smith, Vernal Shoemaker, Howard Minerton, Wayne Felts, Carey Thompson, Dick Somers, Harold Kinzell, and Moynahan. Each man is required to shoot from the four positions, prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing, and turn his card to the Captain Bragg, rifle team coach, who will compute the aggregated scores of each man. The ten men standing highest in marksmanship at the end of the week will constitute the team for the following week. Matches will be held each week until February 28.

The ten men with the highest total score at the end of the last week of matches will be given a sweater by the military department and a gold shield pin by the associated students.

1931 SUMMER SCHOOL CRUISES ANNOUNCED

Sweetser, professor of botany, will be the instructor in that subject. Dr. E. L. Packard, professor of paleontology, will give a course in geology.

Swimming, surfboarding, and interesting side trips are planned for the entertainment of visitors.

Will See Volcanoes

The students will see the famous Kilauea volcano, observe the native life of the islands, as well as enjoy the many unique and delicious fruits and native dishes of Hawaii.

Oregon cruises have become nationally known, and last year drew students from all over the United States. Mr. Powers expressed the belief that reservations would be filled before summer, and announced that the students on the Alaska cruise will be limited to 150.

Inquiries concerning either of the educational excursions may be addressed to the extension division of the University or to the portland center, Oregon building, Portland.

Charley Foster Outclasses Chuck Silverman In 440

Thomas, of the club, came in second, and Needham third. Francis Oglesby, Oregon, won the 220-yard free style in 2:31 4-5. Foster, who substituted for Needham in this event and after swimming the 440, took second. Thomas, of the club, came in third.

The 320-yard medley relay was won by Oregon in 2:38 3-5. Allen, Fletcher, and Miller comprised the winning group.

The diving as a whole was not of a high standard. Howard Dirks won the diving with Stocks, of the club, second, and Sam Nigh, Oregon, third.

Handball Games To Be Arranged

Schedule Planned in Order To Complete Tourney

As the all-campus handball tournaments are showing the same sluggish tendencies that characterized those of fall term, Director Earl Boushey has arranged a playing schedule for the participants.

Courts 11 and 12 will be reserved each week afternoon between 4:20 and 6 o'clock for the singles, and Court 3 at the same hours for the doubles matches.

In the four matches played so far, Dick Jennings outpointed Don Lewis 21-5, 21-8; Dick Goltswaite edged out Leonard Hagstrom 21-18, 12-21, 22-20; Meredith Sheets walloped O. Vanderheit 21-11, 21-6, and in turn was taken into camp by Kashuba 21-18, 21-17. In the doubles Roy Sheedy and Jennings won from Smith and Summers 21-1, 21-12; Schneider and Kashuba overwhelmed Van Dine and Goltswaite 21-7, 21-5, and Director and Schneider defeated Short and Cogswell 21-7, 21-14.

Schedule for Today

unusual antics. In the soft passages he would raise his hands in the air and look soulfully to the heavens, while in the dramatic parts he would assume a ferocious look and shake his head till his hair hung down in his eyes.

Five Minutes Bad

"Needless to say I never had that same accompanist the second time. He gave the audience an evening's amusement but he gave me five of the worst minutes I have ever experienced on a concert platform!"

Miss Austral's accompanist on her present tour of the United States is Nils Nelson, whom she guarantees will attract attention only by the excellence of his playing. Her recital in McArthur court which will be free to students upon the presentation of student body cards, will be given jointly with John Amadio, who, besides being a concert flutist of international standing, happens to be Miss Austral's husband.

Club Takes Relay

The 160-yard relay was taken by Multnomah club in 1:19 4-5. The Pacific Coast record is 1:19:2. Hansen, Multnomah, and Needham led off. Hansen was away a fraction of a second faster than Needham. But for the distance made by this difference, their speed and position remained the same. Charley Foster and Palmer McKim were unable to overcome the costly advantage. Oglesby pulled up on his opponent a trifle but could not close the gap. The swimming was extremely close but for that slight advantage.

Paul Lafferty, Oregon, broke the Oregon state tank record in the 100-yard breast stroke. His time was 1:12 2-5. The previous record was 1:15:0. Lafferty gained a big lead on the second lap and maintained it throughout. Steve Fletcher, Oregon, pulled ahead of Moon, Multnomah, on the third lap, to come in second.

Foster Wins 440

The real test for endurance came in the 440-yard dash, which Foster, Oregon, won in 5:40. He beat McKim, his teammate, and Hansen and Chuck Silverman of the club, by half a lap. Silverman, the club's distance ace, came in last.

The 440-yard dash is 22 lengths of the pool. Foster and Hansen took a very early lead, keeping together for several laps. On the fourth lap, McKim pulled up even with Foster and Hansen. Foster and McKim forged ahead of Hansen about 20 feet. Foster soon pulled ahead of his teammate and lengthened his lead to almost a whole lap, which he maintained. Hansen and Silverman were swimming abreast when suddenly Hansen dashed ahead to catch up with McKim and passed him a few seconds from the end.

Anderson Scores Again

Johnny Anderson, Multnomah, won the 100-yard back stroke in 1:14 2-5. Harrison Spain, Oregon, swam abreast with Anderson until the end, but in turning at one end of the tank he made a slip which cost him the race. Fred Sears was third.

McMiller tied the Pacific Coast short course, 60-foot pool record in the 100-yard free style at 36.

Independent Men Deadlock League By Downing SAE

Smith's Sextet Takes Two Games of Volleyball 15-13, 15-4

TODAY'S GAMES

Volleyball
4:00
Sigma Pi Tau vs. Beta.
Gamma hall vs. La Casa Filipina.
5:00
Friendly hall vs. Sigma Nu.
International house vs. Alpha hall.

Smith's Independents threw their league into a three-way tie in the intramural volleyball tournament yesterday by trouncing the rangy S. A. E. sextet 15-13, 15-4 yesterday afternoon. The Independents are now tied with one loss each and two extra games will be needed to break the deadlock unless Alpha hall upsets International house today. As the Alphas have failed to break into the win column in previous games, it appears a cinch for International house.

As for the S. A. E.-Independent game, Gilbert Sprague of the winners ran up seven points on his serve in the first game before the opposition got going. Then Walgren, Bale, Eddy and the rest of the fraternity crew spurted and for a brief period had the Independents scattered and disorganized. With the score 11-9 against them, "Red" Kjoeness began burning his hot-shot spikes into the S. A. E. court and the set was soon over.

Kjoeness continued his fine playing in the second game, ably assisted by Wade Rutherford and Sprague, and the issue was never in doubt. For the first time in the tourney the Independents had nearly a full crew of regulars, only Frank Smith being absent. In the other games Fiji broke into the win column over Zeta hall, A. B. C. took the odd set from Kappa Sig, and Alpha Upsilon won from S. A. M.

which have since been incorporated into United States government maps.

Dr. Hodge is to publish soon the findings upon which his Toronto paper was based, and this will contain what is probably the first complete and accurate data on the Columbia river. This is expected to be of great value to water power and shipping experts who wish to be informed on this section. He also has nearly ready for publication a report on North Central Oregon, including the counties of Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam, Jefferson, Crook, and Deschutes, which will include much valuable information on mineral and other economic phases of this region.

Attracted National Attention

The recognition of Dr. Hodge by the national association has won him warm commendation here from his associates and others, who point out that not only has Dr. Hodge worked earnestly as a man of science, but he has always interpreted his findings so that they would be of interest and value to the layman. His work has attracted national attention to Oregon, since authorities in many fields have been drawn here by his reports. These men have often returned and as a result others

Hoop Game Goes To Rooks After Overtime Battle

Series Now Stands at Tie With Odds Favoring Oregon Frosh

Civil war activities between the Oregon frosh and the Oregon State rooks remain on even terms after the two yearling basketball quintets broke even in the first half of the four game series. The rooks took an overtime contest at Corvallis Saturday by a 26 to 24 score to even up matters. The ducklings trounced them 30 to 13 Friday night.

The baby Webfoot started out Saturday night as if they meant to duplicate the previous night's performance, scoring five points before the rooks could find the basket. At half time the frosh led 17 to 10 but they could not stop Lenchitsky and Atkinson with the result that the final whistle found the score deadlocked at 23-all.

In the overtime period Atkinson tossed in a field goal to gain the lead. Temple made good a free throw only to have Brown put the rooks safely ahead with a last minute tally.

Watts, Temple and Lillard led the duck attack. Watts scored seven points to follow Atkinson of the rooks by one point for high scoring honors. Lenchitsky and Brown played stellar ball for the Orangemen.

The two quintets will wind up the series this week-end. The rooks will again journey here Friday night and the final game will be played at Corvallis the following night.

Paper To Be Published

"The paper soon to be presented for publication represents the culmination of several years' research conducted at the University of Oregon and meagerly financed by grants made by the University of Oregon Research Council. It is a part of a more extensive research program upon the geology of the northern Cascades, particularly the Three Sisters, Mt. Jefferson, and Mt. Hood areas, and the adjacent region to the eastward including the Deschutes and lower John Day basin, and the Columbia river valley from Roosevelt to the gorge.

"This very important contribution to Oregon geology and to the Columbia river basin is based upon two years' work in a critical section of the Columbia.

"The data presented at that Eastern meeting reveals a history of the Columbia hitherto unsuspected, and which, when completely written, will solve many of the problems of Northwest geology. A brief outline of the findings to date will be of interest to the layman as well as geologist."

Dr. Hodge is to publish soon the findings upon which his Toronto paper was based, and this will contain what is probably the first complete and accurate data on the Columbia river. This is expected to be of great value to water power and shipping experts who wish to be informed on this section. He also has nearly ready for publication a report on North Central Oregon, including the counties of Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam, Jefferson, Crook, and Deschutes, which will include much valuable information on mineral and other economic phases of this region.
