

Two Victories Over Idaho Vandals Puts Oregon Hoop Quintet Out of Cellar Berth

Webfoot's Get First League Wins at Idaho

Huskies Take Two Games From Beavers To Dash Staters' Hopes

Cougars Only Team Which Block Washington's Path to Title

The Oregon basketball quintet managed to crawl out of the conference cellar berth, where they have rested since the start of the season, by virtue of two victories over the Idaho Vandals Friday and Saturday nights. The Webfoots took the first contest by a close 33-to-30 score, but had little trouble in downing their opponents 42 to 34 in the second game. The Ducks are now in fourth place, followed by the Vandals.

Huskies Take Two More
Hec Edmundsen's Huskies have moved a notch closer to another northern division conference championship by taking two games from the Oregon State Beavers. Washington State is now in second place, although they remained idle over the week-end, and is the only quintet which has a chance of overtaking the leaders. The two leaders meet Friday and Saturday nights at Seattle in what will be deciding games as far as the championship is concerned. Oregon State will take on Idaho Friday and Saturday nights at Corvallis. A couple of victories for the Orangemen might put them back into second place, depending, of course, on the results of the Seattle games.

Upsets in South
In the southern section of the conference, last week's games upset the standings considerably. By winning a pair of games from U. C. L. A., last week's division leader, California moved into a tie for first place with U. S. C. The Trojans are on top because of defeating Stanford. U. C. L. A. and Stanford are now tied at the bottom of the league. The two leading teams will meet the two cellar place teams over week-end.

Last Saturday night's game between Oregon and the Vandals was very much of a speed contest with the Ducks proving to be the faster team. Windy Calkins, with six field goals, led the Oregon attack. Jean Eberhart, with four field goals and three free throws, and Bill Keenan, with four field goals and one foul conversion, were responsible for most of the remaining points.

Oregon took the lead at the start of the contest, only to have the Vandals tie up the score three times in the first period. The Webfoot forged ahead during the last of the canto to lead at half-time 26 to 20. They gradually increased their lead until at the middle of the second period they were ahead 42 to 23. Drummond, substitute guard, took high scoring honors for the Vandals with 11 markers.

Grapplers To Vie In Annual Bouts

Meisel Has Large Turnout For Wrestling

The all campus wrestling tourney is slated to commence on Monday, February 16, and Clair Meisel, wrestling coach, has placed his entry list in the wrestling room. As the deadline is Saturday, February 14, Meisel requests that the entrants sign as soon as possible. The tournament preliminaries are slated for Monday and Tuesday with the finals being held over to Thursday.

Although it is too early to predict the exact number of grapplers who will endeavor to pin each other, Coach Meisel expects around 30 participants, which is a strong percentage gain over last year. At the present time Meisel has 65 men working out. Not all of these men are in classes either, but are getting in tip-top condition for the meet.

Parsons Returns After Trip East

Social Science Professor Confers With Leaders

Dr. Philip A. Parsons, dean of the school of applied social science, returned to the campus yesterday from a three weeks' trip to the East in the interests of the University and community organization.

Dr. Parsons conferred with community organization leaders in St. Paul, Chicago, and New York. He stopped at Oregon, Illinois, for a conference with Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden, and at Washington, D. C., conferred with Mr. Alexander Legge, head of the federal farm board.

While in New York, Dr. Parsons had a conference with George Russell, Irish poet and economist, better known to literature as AE, who spoke on the campus during fall term. Dr. Parsons is a member of the national committee of welcome for the AE lecture tour, and was chairman of arrangements for the lectures he gave in this state.

While in the East, Dr. Parsons spoke over the National Broadcasting company's nation-wide radio hook-up regarding rural problems.

Extension Party Features Wafers

Foods Class Fixes Fancy Trimmings for Tea

It isn't every office on the University campus that is served with afternoon tea in tall green glasses, and feasts on an unlimited variety of delicious wafers, which decorate a green glass dish, but the extension division took time off yesterday to enjoy the benefits of its near proximity to the household arts department.

Miss Tingle's foods class sent the tired extension faculty delicious dainty morsels—some chocolate with minute decorations in white frosting—some cut in the shape of spades and ornamented with colorful candies—still others were mysterious rolls filled with jams and jellies; and in keeping with the playful mood of those who partook of the repast, were cookies cut in the shape of ducks and other familiar animals.

It isn't hard now to understand the spirit of cooperation which exists between the extension division and the household arts department, for the former is always a willing market for the products of the latter.

Frosh, Rooks End Unusual Hoop Series

Both Teams Take Contests At Home; Babes Lose Final Game

Atkinson, Lillard, Wilson Lead Scoring; Temple Plays Longest

Last week-end the Oregon freshman basketball team finished a more or less unusual four game series with the O. S. C. rooks. The "more or less" part is the fact that the frosh started in and like the proverbial line went out like the lamb. The babes went fine in the initial game on the Igloo floor and smeared the Rooks 30-13, displaying an unbeatable brand of ball against the bewildered O. S. C. first-year men. The second game of the series, at Corvallis went to the rooks after a hard-fought battle and a five-minute overtime period.

In the third game, here, the frosh played listlessly and came out at half-time on the short end of an 11-7 score. Coach Callison did a little bit of talking between halves and the boys pulled the game out of the fire in the first five minutes of the second half, eventually winning, 22-18.

Atkinson Leads
The less said about the last game the better. Nothing clicked, nobody could hit the hoop or even stay inside the court markings; and the Rooks steadily piled up the points, winning 32-16.

Jumping Joe Lillard, the very active frosh center, shared high score honors of the series with Elnard Wilson, forward, with 20 points apiece—not a very imposing total considering the four games played. Jim Watts, whose main trouble is his uncertainty, was next in line with 17 points. For the rooks Atkinson was the series high-point man with 21 points and was followed by Lenchitsky with 20 points. As the figures indicate, neither team possessed a scoring ace to depend upon for points, but the rooks had the advantage in that every man made the majority of his shots show up in the score book. The frosh tossed at the basket from all angles and connected seldom. For instance, in the first half of the third game, the Oregon yearlings took 33 shots, of which only two went for counters.

Of the possible 165 minutes in the four games, the only yearling to go the entire route without a break was Mark Temple. Temple proved to be a plenty good offensive player and, although he looked good at guard, his man Atkinson was the rook high-scoring.

A. W. S. TO BE HOSTESS FOR 1932 CONFERENCE

Normal, and the University delegates all described systems used at their respective schools for financing their organizations.

The vocational guidance project which has been undertaken by the University A. W. S. was presented by Margaret Cummings, president, and evoked a great deal of interest from all the delegates. Each school asked for a list of the speakers which the A. W. S. is bringing to the campus, and many questions as to the working out of the project were asked. The normal schools were particularly interested in investigating the work with the possibility of starting a similar program at their own institutions.

Talks on Etiquette Given
"Etiquette Talks" have been proving very popular with the men and townspeople, as well as co-eds at Oregon State, it was reported by Betty Robley, president of the A. W. S. at that school. Speakers have come to the campus to talk on table manners, etiquette at dances and formal affairs, and on style.

The point system, publication of a handbook, and Big Sister work were all discussed and ideas on each were exchanged by the delegates.

Under the constitution adopted at the meeting each school which belongs to the state organization will pay three dollars a year membership fee. This money will be used for stationery and postage, and to partially defray expenses of the A. W. S. which is acting as hostess to the conference. All voting at the conference will be done by schools and not by delegates, it was decided. Each school will have one vote. The constitution, which was drawn up by Dorothy Kirk, Dorothy Eads, and Alexis Lyle, was modeled after that of the Western Intercollegiate Associated Women Students.

New Pamphlets To Be Published

Publications Committee Approves Step

A new series of the University of Oregon publications was approved by the publications committee, at its last meeting, it was announced by Dean Eric W. Allen, chairman. The new series will be called "The Humanities" and will consist of articles on philosophy, literature, and similar subjects not covered in the existing series.

The first publication of this series will be an inquiry by H. G. Townsend, professor of philosophy, and his graduate students, entitled "Studies in Philosophical Naturalism," a systematic essay on the contemporary hypothesis that man is a part of nature and to be known as other parts are known.

The nine other series published quarterly by the University of Oregon are on the subjects of mathematics, business administration, education, psychology, journalism, geology, language and literature, physical education, and plant biology. The University also publishes "The Commonwealth Review," "The High School," "Oregon Exchanges," and "The Oregon Law Review."

Dean Rebec Will Give 4 Lectures in Portland

Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school, will lecture at the home of Mrs. Burt Brown Barker in Portland on February 27, on the subject, "The Riddle of Russia to Date." He will speak at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Rebec's talk will be one of a series of four given for the benefit of the Edgar Piper Memorial fund at Willamette university, and for the Margaret Snell foreign fellowship fund of the American Association of University Women.

La Casa Filipina Goes Into Finals

Independents Drop Game In Straight Sets

| Deuel and Stott vs. Benson and Whitely.               |      |
| Eiswell and Bonebrake vs. Sol Schneider and Director. |      |

The Independents momentarily halted La Casa Filipina's volleyball championship drive, but the issue was only in doubt for a few seconds in the second set. Then Benny Pasion and his gang boomed through to victory 15-7, 15-10. Today La Casa tangles with the Phi Deltas for the championship, and if the latter wins—the day of miracles is not past.

The Filipinos were uncanny in their change of pace yesterday. When the bewildered Independents were expecting Pasion to smash a sizzling drive into their court, he would barely tip the ball over the net. They also showed superlative skill in placing the ball in the corners of the court. Mangavil, Pimental, Hortalez, Ocampo, Arangel, and Pasion played on the winning side, while Smith, James, Kjoensness, Sprague, and Good-nough were on the losing end. The Independents were again handicapped by having only five men on the floor.

Chemical Society Holds Annual Dinner Saturday

Between forty-five and fifty people attended the 107th dinner and meeting of the American Chemical society held Saturday evening, February 7, in the men's gym.

After the dinner, Dr. W. E. Caldwell of Oregon State college, and Dr. J. R. Haag, of the State Experiment station at Corvallis, spoke on the topics of "Rapid Sulfur Determination on Technical Products" and "Sulfur Metabolism." The program was carried on in room 105 of McClure hall. The visiting women were entertained at the home of Mrs. Leo Friedman while the business meeting and program were being carried on.

The next meeting of the society will probably be held in Corvallis, according to Dr. Leo Friedman, secretary of the association.

Philomelete Will Initiate On Wednesday Evening

At an initiation for Philomelete members on Wednesday evening, February 25, approximately one hundred girls will become active members.

Plans were made at a meeting of Phi Theta Upsilon, upperclass service honorary which sponsors

Philomelete, which was held Sunday evening. Marguerite Mauzey, president, appointed Alice Redetzky as chairman, with Janet Osborn and Frances Richards to assist her with arrangements for the initiation.

Publication of Acacia Branches, official paper that is issued for members of Philomelete, will be edited by Helen Evans. Mildred Dobbins will act as associate editor.

Plans for future social activities were tentatively made, but no announcement was made about them.

Freshman Girls To Have Valentine's Day Party

A Valentine party for members of Y. W. C. A. frosh commission will be held at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow at 4 o'clock Wednesday, according to Caroline Card, president of frosh commission.

Dancing, refreshments, games, and features will be a part of the afternoon's entertainment. Dorothy Morgan is in charge of program arrangements. Jean Robertson is frosh commission social chairman.
