Library Work To Be Topic of Vocation Talk

Miss Harriet Long, State Librarian, To Address Women Thursday

Fourth in Series of Job Guidance Lectures To Be Open Meeting

Miss Harriet C. Long, state librarian, will be this week's speaker for the Associated Women Students meeting on vocational guidance, it was announced Tuesday. Miss Long will speak at 4 o'clock Thursday in Alumni hall. The meeting will be open to all women on the campus, and those interested in library work are especially urged to attend.

Due to a conflict with the drama department, which presents studio plays every Thursday at 4:15, the A. W. S. has decided to hold the rest of its meetings on the vocational project on Tuesday at 4. This change will take effect next week.

Library Experiences Wide

Miss Long has had wide experience, and is considered well fitted to talk to the women here on library work as a vocation. She graduated with Phi Beta Kappa honors from the University of Nebraska in 1908. After two years of study at the New York State Library school at Albany, since consolidated with Columbia university, she received a Bachelor of Library Science degree. She spent five years doing county library work in Santa Barbara and Kern counties, California, later going to Van Wert county, Ohio, to do similar work.

In 1917 Miss Long entered the war service and was on the Texas border before she went abroad in the library service of the American Expeditionary forces. She returned from France in 1920.

Managed Traveling Library
Before coming to Oregon as state librarian to succeed Mrs. Virginia C. Bacon, Miss Long was head of the traveling library department of the Wisconsin Free Library commission. She was also for a number of years head of the literature and art department of the Wisconsin State Federation of Women's clubs.

"County Library Service," a book published by Miss Long in 1925, was her thesis for a master of library science degree from the same school at which she earned her bachelor's degree in library work. This book is said to be the authoritative publication on the subject.

Miss Long will be on the campus for appointments at 1 o'clock Thursday, so that conference may be had with her by individual women before she speaks the same afternoon. She will also be here until 10:30 Friday morning for appointments. These may be made through the dean of women's office.

Meeting To Be Announced

The A. W. S. is arranging to have speakers at all women's houses Wednesday to announce the meeting and talk. The organization is also getting in touch with

Nine Houses Hold Discussion Hours to Open Y.M. Program

Nine houses held discussion hours after dinner last evening as the beginning of the winter term sessions sponsored by the student Y. M. C. A. cabinet. Several talks are scheduled for later in the week and the second series will begin around the 24th of the month.

Professor A. B. Stillman of the school of business administration, talked to Sigma Chi and conducted a discussion as to whether students are governed by social life or have certain definite aims to work out at college.

Sigma Alpha Mu listened to a talk by Dr. A. E. Caswell, professor of physics, on "Social Unrest." W. F. G. Thacher, professor of advertising, spoke to Phi Sigma Kappa on the topic, "Prohibition." Dr. J. R. Mez, associate professor of economics was guest at the A. T. O. house and told of his recent trip around the world, stress-

Defacing of Book Is Punishable Act

IMPRISONMENT or a heavy fine will be the punishment administered to the students or other persons who are found defacing the University library's property, H. M. Douglas, university librarian, warned today. Several signs have been posted in the library to try to reduce the amount of defacing and destroying of books and periodicals that has been increasing daily.

The law states that whoever wilfully or maliciously writes upon, injures, defaces, tears or destroys a book, or picture of any sort belonging to any library, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50 or by imprisonment not to exceed six months.

Mr. Douglass announced that this law will be strictly enforced.

Washington State Women Debaters Win From Oregon

Victorious Team Contends That Gandhi Has Been Detriment To India

The two clever, quick-witted women, Evelyn Nobach and Helen Telford of Washington State college, last night won the decision over Jane Warner and Catherine McGowan in a lively debate concerning the question, "Resolved, that Gandhi has been a benefit to India."

The 90-pound hero of India, Mahatma Gandhi, was the subject for a heated discussion in which the negative, upheld by the girls from Washington State, maintained that Gandhi hadn't accomplished anything of importance to India, but had virtually "set India back 300 years." The two women from Washington in turn pointed out that Gandhi was a detriment to India economically, socially, and politically. Both Miss Nobach and Miss Telford declared that Gandhi in his non-violence revolt was deliberately interfering with all plans of Great Britain to aid India.

Oregon Has Affirmative
Miss Warner and Miss McGowan in carefully prepared and well-delivered speeches upheld Gandhi in his nationalistic movement, saying that "no one had understood the masses like this great leader." They used Gandhi's policy of home industry and home rule, along with the fact that he, himself, has been a great spiritual leader to show what a benefit he has been to India.

Wayne L. Morse, associate professor of law at the University, acted as a critic judge, rendering the decision in favor of the negative. Dr. Morse has been in the past debate coach and teacher at the University of Minnesota. It was decided yesterday afternoon that the debate would be a decision contest instead of a non-decision as planned previously.

They Will Model Spring Fashions

Five girls and three men will model spring clothes in the style show sponsored by McMorran and Washburne department store at the Gamma Alpha Chi Fashion Dance to be given at Coconut Grove Friday night. Those pictured above are: (1) Bernice Waincott, wearing a new spring tweed coat with matching accessories; (2) Dorothy Drescher, modeling a black straw hat with a black feather brim; (3) Dorothy Harbaugh, wearing a green crepe sport dress with white cow collar and black patent leather belt; (4) Elizabeth Wright, modeling a bright red chiffon formal-flowing lines, cape collar and a tight-fitting hat; (5) Tony Peterson, wearing a brown tweed suit of the new spring style; and (6) Dorothy Cunningham, modeling a blue crepe semi-formal with long white kid gloves and a black straw hat. The other men models will be Leighton Gee and Larry Jackson. The models will appear on the dance floor during intermission, presenting several changes of costume.

Gamma Alpha Chi Sets Dance Quota At 110 Couples

Models Will Show Spring Fashions at Affair Friday Night

Only 110 couples can be accommodated at the Gamma Alpha Chi fashion dance Friday, according to Josephine Stoffel, president of the organization. Miss Stoffel requests everyone who intends to attend the dance to phone Coconut Grove for reservations after securing tickets through the house representatives.

Larry Jackson lives.

"Your date will undoubtedly be looking forward to seeing the advance showing of spring styles that she will not be able to see down town for some time yet, besides showing off her own frock and dancing," says Miss Stoffel, in urging the campus men to attend the affair. "You, too, will be pleased to see the new tweed suits and sporty flannel jackets that Leighton Gee, Larry Jackson, and Tony Peterson are going to show."

The fashion dance is an all-campus dance, and tickets are on sale in all men's living organizations.

Congress Club To Elect Officers at Meet Tonight

Election of officers of the Congress club for the remainder of the school year will take place tonight at the club's regular meeting in the College Side at 7:30.

Ethan Newman, president, urges all members to attend, as this is a very important meeting.

Oregon Co-Ed Will Ring Last Curfew

TO Betty Anne Macduff, sophomore in journalism, will go the honor of being the last person to ring Springfield's curfew bell when at 9:30 o'clock some night next week the bell will sound for the last time. Miss Macduff brought this information back to the campus after her trip to Springfield, where she is correspondent for the Eugene Register-Guard.

The Springfield city council Monday decided that the ringing of the curfew was stopped, since the tower that supports the bell is rotting and is considered unsafe. It will be torn down some day next week.

Curfew has been rung in Springfield at 9:30 every night for the past six years. A night watchman has usually rung the bell, but the Oregon co-ed will be the last person to sound the warning.

Bill Finds That "Herding Cans" Is Real Problem

CAMPUS CENTER, Eugene, Feb. 10.—Parking on this here campus reminds me of a San Francisco theater because there never are any spaces where you can herd your can. Usually turns out to be a "ride and while" and "walk a while" proposition when I want to get to class. I never could see what that space over by the administration building couldn't be made just a little larger.

Anyway at Oregon State the cop is going to tag everybody that doesn't have a permit to drive on the campus. It might be a good money-making proposition to set up some rules like that here and catch a few of these Thirteenth tourists at a dollar a throw.

Yours,
BILL ROTERS.

McElroy's Dance Band To Provide Senior Ball Music

Original Spanish Ballroom Orchestra To Appear Here First Time

Music for the Senior ball, formal dance to be held Saturday evening, February 14, at Gerlinger hall, will be by one of the best orchestras in the state, it was assured last night when Ken Moore, music chairman, announced that Cole McElroy's Spanish Ballroom orchestra from Portland has been secured for the event.

The organization is McElroy's own nine-piece orchestra, and not

Bishop Sumner Arrived Today From Portland

Seventeenth Annual Visit By Episcopal Diocese Being Made

Many Events Planned for Week; Sunday Vespers Attraction

The Rt. Rev. Walter Taylor Sumner, bishop of Oregon in the Episcopal diocese, will arrive on the campus this noon from Portland to make his seventeenth annual visit to the University of Oregon.

Each year Bishop Sumner has been invited to spend a week on the campus dividing his time among various groups and organizations. Several of the fraternities and sororities are to give luncheons and dinners for him this week.

To Attend Ball

Saturday night Bishop and Mrs. Sumner will attend the Senior ball as patron and patronesses, and on Sunday morning there will be a corporate communion, followed by a breakfast of the Young People's Fellowship of the local Episcopal church. All communicants and members are cordially invited to attend.

Summer To Lead Vespers

The regular vesper services, which are held every Sunday afternoon in the auditorium of the Music building, will be led by Bishop Sumner. The polyphonic choir will assist him as a demonstrating medium.

The program Sunday afternoon will also consist of a string quartet composed of Esther Wicks, viola; Frances Brockman, second violin; Howard Halbert, first violin; and Roberta Spicer, cello.

McGowan Miller Injured in Water Polo Practice

Other Injuries Help Blight Hopes of Victory Over O. S. C. Saturday

During an unusually rough water polo match between the varsity and freshmen Monday night, McGowan Miller received injuries to two of his fingers. At the time the fingers were thought to have been sprained but doctors believe one of them is either broken or the bone splintered. X-ray pictures have since been taken and the result will be known today.

"Miller is star dash man on the Oregon squad and his loss will be felt greatly," said Jack Hewitt, varsity swimming coach, last night.

The game which resulted in the accident was one of the roughest seen in the men's pool. It resulted in several other men receiving minor injuries. Edwin Cross, freshman, received a badly cut lip. Fred Sears developed a bloody nose at the time, and several others emerged from the tank with bruises and minor cuts. Paul Laferty has been vaccinated and has not fully recovered.

Coach Hewitt has been working hard to get his men in shape for the meet this Saturday with the Oregon State college. He will be somewhat handicapped by the loss of one of his star men, but he expects the others to be in fairly good shape.

In Play Tonight

Jack Stipe and Marian Camp have important roles in the Guild theatre comedy, "The Single Man," which will open a two-day run on the campus tonight.

'The Single Man' Staged Tonight At Guild Hall

Comedy of English Home Life Will Be Given By Student Actors

By ISABELLE CROWELL

"The Single Man," a four-act comedy of English domestic life will be presented at 8:15 tonight in Guild theatre by the class in technique of acting of the drama department under the direction of Cecil E. Matson, assistant in this department. This play will again be given tomorrow evening at the same time.

Tonight will be the climax of many weeks of rehearsals for the cast and of much work by the backstage crews. The dress rehearsals have been as smooth as can be expected.

Minor Details Fixed

Only minor details are being perfected now. For instance, Neva Lois Thompson must improve her technique in throwing sugar lumps and catching them in her mouth.

Eleanor Lewis had slight difficulty in getting up gracefully in a long evening dress from a position on the floor. Hobart Wilson was shown the proper method for closing the curtains when entertaining one's secretary privately at dinner. Inez Simons' snag seemed to be in lighting a match with the first scratch.

And so a rehearsal goes, with Martin Geory, stage manager, poking his head around the curtains between scenes, Rosamund Stricker climbing around in her characteristic white cords arranging the lighting effects, and Louise Webber, property manager, running about in a blue smock placing things for the next act.

Wilson "Single Man"

The action of the play takes place in the study of a writer, Robin Worthington, alias the "single man," played by Hobart Wilson. His brother, Capt. Worthington (Jack Stipe) and his wife (Marian Camp) and the baby, played by a bundle of cloth, are visiting him. The wife, carried away with match-making instincts, invites a girlhood friend whom she thinks would make a good wife for Robin.

This Miss Louise Parker of Lemington arrives just as Robin announces that he is engaged to Maggie Cottrell, a very young girl living next door. Complications occur when Miss Parker appears

Cougars Edge Out Webfoots 35-32 in Game

Washington State Quintet Stages Desperate Rally To Take Second Tilt

Oregon Jumps Into Lead But Fails To Hold It; Gordon High Again

(From the W. S. C. Evergreen) PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 10.—(Special to the Emerald)—With a desperate rally in the last eight minutes which netted them 12 points to knot the score at 30-all, the Washington State Cougars edged out the University of Oregon hoop quintet 35 to 32 in a hard-fought contest here tonight.

Oregon took the lead at the very start of the game when Eberhart put in a free throw. The Lemon-Yellow cagers ran up a 10-to-6 lead only to have Willis put the Cougars ahead 11 to 10 at half-time.

Rally Is Successful

The visitors piled up a commanding lead in the second period and it looked as though the Cougars were through for the night. Their rally was more successful than Oregon's was last night, and they scored 15 straight points to obtain the lead, 33-30. Keenan, Webfoot forward, tossed in a field goal to tighten the score, but Gordon, Cougar center, tossed in a long one just as the gun sounded.

Roberts, Eberhart, and Stevens played sensational ball for the visitors. Roberts and Eberhart, in particular, worked some pretty blocks on Gordon for several short shots and rebounds. Horner's floor game was outstanding. Although Gordon, Cougar center, chalked up 13 points, he was off his usual game. McLarney, Willis, and Pesco starred for the Cougars.

The lineups:
Wash. State (35) (32) Oregon
Holsten (6) F Dolp
McLarney (4) F (6) Calkins
Gordon (13) C (7) Eberhart
Willis (9) G (3) Horner
Wills (5) G (7) Stevens
Pesco (3) S (7) Roberts
S (2) Keenan

YW Group Plans Valentine Party

Freshman Girls Invited as Guests of Commission

Frosh commission of Y. W. C. A. will hold a Valentine's day party at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow at 4 o'clock today, according to Caroline Card, president. Dancing, games, features, and refreshments will be a part of the afternoon's program.

"Our purpose is to bring all the freshman girls together for a good time," said Miss Card. "It will be our only party this term, and we are anxious for the girls to enjoy themselves."

The party is in charge of Dorothy Morgan, program chairman, and Jean Robertson, social chairman.

Several novel entertainment ideas will be featured, among which will be the Kappa Trio, and a tap dance by Frances Carruthers.

Admission will be free.

Intercollegiate A.W.S. Head Aims at Larger Organization

To incorporate several more schools in the Oregon Intercollegiate Associated Women Students will be the chief aim of Ann Baum, junior in sociology, and president of the organization for the coming year, it was revealed yesterday.

"I am going to concentrate a great deal of my effort this year on getting further organizations into the group," Ann said. "I think that this can be done by correspondence with influential people, such as deans of women and presidents of women's organizations, on the various campus."

Ann as junior delegate from the A. W. S. became president of the state organization automatically when Oregon was selected as the meeting place for the 1932 conference. This year's meeting, which was attended by six universities, colleges, and normal schools, was held in Corvallis last Saturday, and was presided over by Dorothy Kirk.

"I think the chances are pretty good for enlarging the state organization," Ann continued. "There were representatives from six institutions present at the conference Saturday, but there are 14 schools of higher learning in Oregon. I hope to get at least half of the remaining schools into the organization next year."

"Part of this can be done by sending these schools material on what we have to offer them, and then we can show them what a unified group such as the A. W. S. can do for a campus. It furthers and strengthens all other women's organizations on a campus, and if we can only convince these other schools of this, I think we should
