Phi Deltas Take Second Set But Rally Fails In Third

Pasion Stars for Filipinos; Fletchers and Edwards For Phi Deltas

If Benny Pasion wasn't such an outstanding player and leader, the Phi Deltas might have won the volleyball championship yesterday instead of falling before La Casa Filipina 9-15, 15-9, 10-15. As it was the Phi Deltas came within an ace of winning by their determined playing while the Filipinos, cracking under the strain of title play, looked extremely mediocre at the critical stage.

Led by the Fletchers, Steve and Ferd, the Phi Deltas eased into a slight lead in the opening set. Brother Ferd would "set 'em up" for Brother Steve and the latter would kill them—and how. Meanwhile the Filipinos were "setting up" poorly and not until the score stood against them 9-7 did Benny Pasion get his mates to cooperate with him in working the ball up to the net. With Benny getting set for his spikes the set was quickly run out.

Al Edward entered the game for Phi Delt in the second set and he and Steve Fletcher rolled up a winning score as the Filipinos blew up. Starting with the third set Fletcher could not seem to place his shots so accurately and as hard while Pasion gave his team a 10-1 lead. For the next few minutes the Filipinos played like beginners and in spite of Pasion's fine work the Phi Deltas crept to within two points of them. The winners finally braced somewhat and the Phi Deltas started an erratic spree of their own that cost them the game and championship.

Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame, said Wednesday that football at college interfered only with the three "D's," dancing, drinking, and dates, and decried the talk on over-emphasis.

Eddie Picken, Dartmouth basketball star, became irate at an alarm clock one morning last week which faithfully woke him up for an early class. He kicked the clock with his bare foot, and cut his toe badly on the glass face. He couldn't play in the Harvard game Saturday.

Steward Turner, of Arkansas, swung hard at a golf ball. He missed it, but broke his leg.

An English rugby team, not worried about over-emphasis, purchased a player for $40,000, and promptly insured him for more than half that amount.

Rifle Team Faces Hard Competition

Five Schools Will Be Met In Shoots Next Week

Beginning the second week of intercollegiate gallery rifle matches, the Oregon team has among its opponents some teams which have placed high in past years.

This week Oregon will compete with the following five teams: South Dakota State college, Michigan State college, New York Stock Exchange Rifle team, Cornell University, and Oregon State college. Oregon State, with two teams, won first and third places in the matches last year, and is one of the most formidable opponents which Oregon has.

The ten men standing highest in marksmanship in the matches last week composes the team for this week. The men and their total number of points follow: Carey Thomson, 371; Gaylord Cox, 365; Harold Minturn, 364; James Moynihan, 364; Spencer Raynor, 362; Herbert Jones, 347; Claud Conder, 343; L. E. Smith, 342; Ronald DeVore, 332; and Robert Reiling, 331.

The total team score of 3521 is very good considering the general inexperience of most of the men on the team, according to Captain C. L. Bragg, team coach. "However, if all the men who are out for the team, and who will be here next year, will stay out and report for practice next year, Oregon will have a team which will equal any on the coast," he added.

PHILOGRAMS

SPOT DOPE ON SPORT NEWS By Phil Cogswell

Football Incidental—

President Thomas S. Gates, doubtlessly feels sincere in his athletic revolution at Pennsylvania, but somehow his statements have the same ring as the politician's promise of greater prosperity coupled with lower taxes.

Like many other sweeping plans, the one of Dr. Gates has more idealism than financial soundness. Dr. Gates says, "The mere fact that football contests produce the bulk of the revenue required to maintain intercollegiate sports will be regarded as little more than incidental. Steps will be taken in due course to minimize the importance of gate receipts by some other method of financing costs, which at present are a burden on the university."

Everyone knows that football is generally the only paying college sport, yet while Dr. Gates intends to ignore the ticket office outside the stadium, he plans to expand the athletic program in general. He says, "The policy will be to encourage and make provision for more extensive student participation in and enjoyment of athletics; to develop to the fullest extent wholesome, natural intercollegiate rivalries and relationships."

Penn for Expansion—

Penn sees nothing but evil in her present football system, even though the games which have been played in that great stadium of hers, seating 85,000, have contrib-

Alumni Charity—

There has been one plan suggested at Penn for getting the money which will be missed from football. It includes, "the extinguishing of obligations through gifts and subscriptions from alumni and friends, entitling the donors to preferential treatment in the allotment of seats, varying with the amount of contributions, or the issuance of secured notes of varying denominations at low interest rate to be sold to the alumni."

Winners Don't Kick—

The alumni of Pennsylvania may be very altruistic minded. On the other hand, the men to be called on for athletic gifts will be the sportsmen who are not so strong on athletic principles, but support only winning teams. They may get disgruntled when strict "precautions are taken against the proselyting of athletes, highly paid coaches, training tables, spring practice, training camps, practice games, and athletic scholarships."

Penn's new policy will not affect other colleges. The team there has not been winning recently, that's the reason for the change. At schools such as Notre Dame, Stanford, and U. S. C. you hear no talk of reform. Where it wins championships, and makes money, football will still be readily tolerated.

Leuck Tops Hiking List With 98 Miles

Women's Intramural Sport Standings Issued

Katherine Leuck stands at the top of the revised hiking list issued by Ella Redkey, manager of women's intramural hiking for the year 1930-31, with 98 1-2 miles to her credit. Dorothy Lou MacMillan is second with 68 1-2 miles.

Miss Leuck is the first girl to receive 50 points for hiking this year. One must hike 70 miles for 50 points and 140 miles for 100 points. The new list of hiking has been posted on the bulletin board of the women's building. Dorothy Kelly is third on the list, having hiked 66 1-2 miles.

The next hike is scheduled for February 15, Sunday, when the hikers will meet at 8:30 in front of the Gerlinger building for a hike lasting all morning. This is contrary to an erroneous report previously issued. Women's hikes will be held every other Saturday and every other Sunday, but not every Sunday because of the conflict with the 10 o'clock horseback rides. The destination of the hike Sunday will be announced later.

'EAR AND 'AIR

Is a living organization an asset to scholarship?

"That depends entirely upon the individual himself, whether or not he has the will power to forgo 'bull sessions' when he has work to do. It also depends upon the type of fellows in the fraternity." —Freeman Young, sophomore in B. A.

"I think that a living organization, such as a fraternity or sorority, is a distinct asset to scholarship. It forces the student to study during his first two years, and thereby helps him form the habit of study." —Willis Warren, senior in economics.

"A fraternity is a help to a student's scholarship. It sets a certain goal, such as the 35 points necessary to initiation, to strive for, and keeps him at it his first year. After that, it will be easier for him to settle down to work. It also gives him the house scholarship average to work for as well as for his own." —Jack Edelfsen, junior in B. A.

The committee which handled the drive included Dean Eric W. Allen, Major F. A. Barker, Dean John F. Bovard, Dr. Dan E. Clark, Dean David E. Faville, Dean James H. Gilbert, Mr. L. H. Johnson, Dean John J. Landsbury, Dean Philip A. Parsons, Dr. Warren D. Smith.

The conference will become in future years a resource for material for smaller schools, a place where they can get help and possible solutions to their problems, and stimulation to do more things through contact with organizations on other camps, Ann believes. The larger schools will benefit by being able to exchange with one another their ideas and various methods of carrying out their work.

"I think it would be fine to have an actual clearing house to be used between conferences," Ann suggested. "If the organization has the funds, I would like to start something of this sort. Perhaps each organization belonging to the state group could send in a report of its activities each month, and these could be sent in the form of a bulletin to all the other schools. The vice-president is supposed to handle exchange of material of this sort under the ruling of the constitution."

There is a possibility that the conference will be held earlier in the winter term next year, since the Western Intercollegiate Associated Women Students will meet in Corvallis in April, Ann said. This will be arranged later, however.

Sigma Delta Psi May Install Chapter, as Entrance Bars Are Met

Hal Lewis finally managed to master the 10-second stationary handstand to qualify for Sigma Delta Psi and as three athletes have now cleared the entrance bars, the University can apply for a charter. This charter will give the University a national chapter of the honorary.

Mayville Kelliher and Orville Bailey were the first to qualify and, together with Lewis, will be the charter members of the local fraternity. Honorary members will be Russ Cutler, whose untiring training and helpful instruction have proved no little help toward the success of the candidates for membership, Bill Hayward, varsity track coach and trainer, and Paul R. Washke, intramural director. Mr. Washke is already an honorary member of the University of Michigan chapter.

Right on the heels of the three trail-blazers come Leonard Steele, Howard Bobbitt, W. A. Palmer, E. H. Clark, Al Haakanson, and Bob McCulloch. After substituting his varsity letters in cross-country and track for two of the requirements, Steele still has the 100-yard swim, handstand, and high jump to accomplish. Bobbitt and Palmer are down to two requirements, the former lacking the swim and handstand, while Palmer still is short the mile and handstand.

Clark needs the 220-yard low hurdles, 100-yard swim, the handstand, and the handstand; Haakanson is striving for the 220-yard hurdles, pole vault, mile and bar vault, and McCulloch is handicapped by the pole vault, swim, mile run, handstand, and handstand.
