Norma Talmadge appears as Madame Du Barry, in the film of the same name coming to the Colonial theatre on Sunday.

enough this picture's superb artistry.

Dealing with young lovers who find that this world will not allow their dream of love to last unfulfilled, they decide to keep it for themselves. Making an exit in a gas-filled room, closed in each other's arms, they take voyage on a mystery ship, sailing toward the "Unknowable," from which there is no return. On their ship is no captain and no crew. There are only their fellow passengers who at first do not realize they no longer have the breath of life.

Rex Has Stage Comedy

"Fast and Loose," the feature for the Rex theatre today only is the film version of the delightful stage play, "The Best People," that kept Broadway and road audiences rolling in their seats. It deals with the amusing situations social climbers can cause by their frantic efforts to become some of the "best people."

ald Sunday in her latest talkie, "The Easiest Way." Included in the cast are Robert Montgomery, Adolphe Menjou, Anita Page, Marjorie Rambeau, and J. Farrell MacDonald, a veritable blue book of Hollywood nobles.

The story deals with a young girl who accepts a wealthy man's luxuries in exchange for her presence in his apartment. She later meets a man she really can love, and is thrust into a tense dramatic situation, finding that the easiest way is not always the best way.

Norma Talmadge at Colonial

One of the greatest romances of history is the basis for the action in Norma Talmadge's newest picture, "Du Barry, Woman of Passion," coming to the Colonial Sunday as the next in their series of first run United Artists features.

The plot concerns a courtesan who risked power and a king's patronage for the love of a common soldier. The film includes some magnificent settings done in replica of the famous court of France's Louis XIV. In the cast are Conrad Nagel, William Farnum, Cissy Fitzgerald, and Hobart Bosworth.

INDIA BEST SUITED TO FEDERAL IDEAL

"India's higher education has been laboring under extreme difficulties. The government does not help the universities; therefore, they are dependent entirely on student fees and individual contributions. Yet India has 20 universities, one of which, the University of Calcutta, has an enrollment of 20,000 students. The schools are crowded with young men and women who have a real hunger for knowledge. They are poor, many of them desperately so, but they attain the highest of scholastic honors, some of them continuing their work at the great universities of England and France.

"Few of these post-graduate students come to the United States for study, because they cannot get jobs when they go back. The British selection of officials in India is partial to the England-trained Hindu, and students trained in the ways of American democracy are not wanted," Doctor Nag pointed out.

"The story of India's higher educational development is one that includes the sacrifices of such men as Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, vice-chancellor of the University of Calcutta, and founder in 1920 of a science department that was to produce, ten years later, C. V. Raman, 1930 Nobel physics prize winner. Pandit Maleviya, of the Hindu university, at Benares, who went to prison with Gandhi, is another example.

"But the real need is for a primary and secondary system. The government offers salaries of from two to four dollars a month, with totally inadequate housing, and expects that to educate the people.

"India is fighting for control over her own revenue, and when she gets it, then education for the masses will be possible. It is the rule of private monopolies over the government of India that Gandhi is opposing. He is probably ready to accept dominion status, but the essence of his goal is India's control over her own finances, her own foreign affairs, and her own army and police force. All India idolizes Gandhi as the personification of her ideals, and they will back him in anything he does; but he is fair-minded in his demands—all he asks is a voice for India in India's affairs," Doctor Nag said.

Susan Campbell Hall To Hold Reception Tonight

Four hundred invitations have been sent out by Susan Campbell hall for a reception this evening which will honor Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Miss Ernestine Troemel, and Miss Fanny McCamant. Hours will be from 8 until 11 o'clock.

Standing in the receiving line will be: Mrs. Campbell, Miss Troemel, Miss McCamant, Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall, Mrs. Charles Leslie Schwering, and Miss Ann Baum.

Music will be furnished during the evening by Mildred Wharton and Lucy Spittle, who will sing solo numbers; by Edith Grim at the piano, and by Esther Wicks on the violin.

Miss Emma Bell Stadden is chairman of the committee in charge.

Alpha Phi Dance Decorations Are Stars

This week-end is proving one of the busiest of the winter season, as 12 house dances have been scheduled; seven for last night and five for tonight.

The Alpha Phis are turning their house into a mansion of glittering snow crystals; all of the walls covered with stars, sparkling under vari-colored flood-lights.

Alladine Hollister is in charge of the event, assisted by Dorothy Cunningham, chairman of the decorations committee.

Patrons and patronesses are: Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Dr. and Dean Charles Leslie Schwering, Mrs. A. H. Wahl, and Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins.

Old Southern Garden Delta Gamma Formal Scene

An old-fashioned Southern garden, gracious and sunny with flowers clambering up trellises and poking their heads around doorways, will be the scene of the Delta Gamma formal tonight.

Each table will be decorated in a different pastel shade.

A Southern tap dance by Louise Marvin and Jane Stange, a duet number by Sally Adleman and Ione Anderson, and trio numbers by the Oregon Rhythm boys will be the features of the evening.

The chairman for the affair is Mary Lee Carter.

The list of patrons and patronesses includes: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Adleman, Mrs. Katherine Yerex, Mrs. Grace Russell, Mrs. Rose Osborne, Dr. and Dean Charles Leslie Schwering, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dunn, and Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Endicott.

Pink and Gold Scheme Planned by Alpha Chi Omega

The color scheme of the Alpha Chi Omega formal dinner-dance, which will be given tonight at the chapter house, will be pink and gold: pink flowers in gold baskets, gold and pink tapers, the fireplace banked with flowers, and flowers climbing up a trellis.

The feature will be given by the Oregon Rhythm Boys trio.

Ettabelle Kitchen is in charge of arrangements.

Patrons and patronesses will be: Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. West of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Prince Callison, Mrs. Anna C. Hart, and Mrs. F. B. Burke of San Francisco.

Oregon Yeomen Dance at Gerlinger

Spring pussy willows decorated the dance of the Oregon Yeomen's club which was given last night in Gerlinger hall. All independent men were invited.

Clifton Culp, social chairman of the organization, was in charge. The patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Hawkins, The Reverend and Mrs. John Maxwell Adams, Dr. and Dean Charles Leslie Schwering, and Lieut. and Mrs. J. E. McCammon.

Pi Beta Phi Has Colonial Decorations

In recognition of George Washington's birthday, the formal dance of Pi Beta Phi, which will be given this evening at the Eugene hotel, is to be a colonial ball.

The background for the orchestra will be a large silhouette of an old-fashioned lady and gentleman. The color scheme will be blue and black, with the flood-lights blue.

Helen Kaufman is general chairman. She is assisted by Jane Cook, who is in charge of the decorations.

Winter Formal Slated By Sigma Pi Tau Tonight

The winter formal of Sigma Pi Tau will be held tonight at the Eugene hotel. The ballroom will be flooded with colored lights. Roger Biswell is in charge of the plans.

The feature of the evening will be a tap dance.

Chaperons will be: Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, George Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Van Loan, and T. W. Douglas.

Thetas Entertain For Chapter Adviser

Honoring Mrs. Hugh Rosson, their chapter adviser, Kappa Alpha Theta entertained at dinner Wednesday evening. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Rosson, Dean David Faville, Mrs. Dean Walker, Mr. and Mrs. William Tugman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merrill, and Mr. and Mrs. David Graham.

Phi Psi Trek To Portland for Banquet

Twenty members of Phi Kappa Psi will spend the week-end in Portland attending the annual Founder's day banquet which will be given Saturday evening at the University club.

The banquet celebrates the seventy-ninth anniversary of the fraternity, which was founded February 19, 1852.

Kappa Sigma Holds Formal Dance at Hotel

Programs made out of bronze, the fraternity crest engraved in the metal, were a feature of the Kappa Sigma formal dance which was given last night at the Eugene hotel. The ballroom was formally decorated with palms, flowers, and tall colorful tapers.

The chairman for the affair was Jackson Burke. Patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gage, Mrs. L. W. Pittman, and Mrs. I. D. S. Wade.

Palms, Flowers Decorate For Chi Omega Formal Dance

Chi Omega entertained with a formal dance last night at the Eugene hotel, decorating the ballroom with palms, flowers, and lighting it with candles.

Harriet Kane was in charge. The chaperons were: Mrs. Lottie Koehler, Dr. and Dean Charles Leslie Schwering, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins, Dean and Mrs. H. D. Sheldon, and Mrs. A. L. Wahl.

Friendly Hall Entertains at Formal

Palms, flood-lights, and flowers decorated the formal dance with which the members of Friendly hall entertained last night.

Clair Meisel, social chairman, was in charge of the plans. Patrons and patronesses included: Dr. and Mrs. Carl L. Huffaker, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bouchey, and Mr. and Mrs. Eyer Brown.

"Coffee Dan" Scheme Holds Forth at Bachelordom

"A Coffee Dan Idea" was used by the members of Bachelordom for their informal dance last night. A colored orchestra was hired to furnish the music.

Ivar Shuholm made the arrangements. Chaperons were: Professor and Mrs. Frederick Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morris, and Miss Fredericka Travis.

Medieval Castle Idea Used at Kappa Alpha Theta

The house of Kappa Alpha Theta was turned into a mediaeval castle: the walls dark, the windows of stained glass with light shining through them, the only light that rom candelabra, crusaders' shields, flags, and swords hung against the wall, ale served in tall silver flagons. Invitations and programs were carried out in black and silver.

Emmajane Rorer was general chairman for the event.

The list of patrons and patronesses included: Mrs. Grace Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. King, Mr. and Mrs. David Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. G. E. Lehman, and Mrs. Katherine Yerex.

Sunday Reading To Be Old Drama

Mrs. Smertenko To Recite Greek Choral Poems

Selections from Greek drama with special emphasis on the choral poems which flourished during the fifth century, B. C., will be read by Mrs. Clara M. Smertenko, associate professor of Latin and Greek, at this Sunday evening's English reading which will take place from 7:30 to 8:30 in the women's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

All tragedy originally came from these choral poems, Mrs. Smertenko explained. The original poems or songs recounted the sufferings of the Greek god of wine, Dionysus. Gradually these choral poems developed into plays which were given at the Dionysus festival which took place every spring. By the fifth century B. C., the poems had become a part of the drama, serving as interludes between the action of the play.

The chief originators of the Greek tragedies using these choral poems were Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. It is from their work that Mrs. Smertenko will read. She will read for the most part translations into English made by a number of famous English poets, but she will also read one or two choral poems in Greek.

Fellowships To Be Given By American University

The graduate school of the American university at Washington, D. C., has sent to the University of Oregon library an announcement of the awarding of four $1500 fellowships.

Chancellor Lucius C. Clark says that these fellowships are being awarded for the years 1931-32 in the departments of international law and relations, history, government, and economics. Students taking advantage of these fellowships will have to pay a tuition of $300 and also a library fee. The University library posted the announcement on the bulletin board so that it is available to students seeking further information concerning the award.

Seven Students Remain In University Infirmary

With seven students confined to its care, the University infirmary yesterday had settled down to its regular daily routine. There were no serious cases reported, and the predominant cause of confinement at the present time is colds.

The students now confined to the care of the University health service are: Beatrice Bennett, Thelma Downer, Byron Lillie, Carrol Watson, Helen Martindale, Bob O'Melveny, and Betty Carpenter.
