Steve Fletcher Breaks New Pacific Coast Record In Backstroke

Frosh Defeat Rooks 36-48; Rodda Wins Breast From Williams

In a meet characterized by the breaking of one Pacific coast intercollegiate record and four tank records, the Oregon swimming team defeated the Beaver mermen last Saturday at Corvallis 49 to 35. The Oregon freshmen swimmers were also victorious in their meet with the rooks, singing them 36 to 48.

Steve Fletcher, Oregon's star breast-stroker, broke the 100-yard Pacific coast record in 1:11 4-5. Fletcher broke the 200-yard record, two weeks ago in the meet with Stanford. Lafferty, Oregon, was a close second and Lillie, Oregon State, took third.

Medley Thrills

The 300-yard medley relay proved to be the premier event of the event, and one which drew the large gallery of spectators to its feet. Oregon State won the event by a matter of inches. Allen, Oregon, and Ralston, O. S. C., led out in the backstroke. Ralston gained a five-yard lead but Fletcher, Oregon, pulled up even and then two feet ahead in the breast-stroke. It remained for Needham, Oregon, and Eisenschmidt, O. S. C., the anchor men, to finish the race but Needham was not slapped soon enough by his man and was a few inches behind Eisenschmidt when he entered the water. Eisenschmidt won the race by a small lead. A new tank record of 3:27 4-5 was set.

Foster Sets Record

Charley Foster, Oregon, set a new tank record of 5:44 4-5 in the 440-yard dash with McKim, Oregon, a close second. Both men have made better time this season as neither was hard pressed. Ralston, O. S. C., set a new record of 1:10 1-5 in the 100-yard backstroke, and Oregon broke the Beaver tank record in the 400-foot relay at 1:4 2-5. Eisenschmidt barely nosed out Needham, Oregon, to win the 100-yard free style.

Six tank records were broken in the frosh-rook meet in the afternoon. The 100-yard breast stroke was the feature event of the meet. Pre-meet dove favored Williams, rook, to win from James Rodda, frosh, but Rodda turned the tables in the race which proved the most thrilling of the afternoon. Williams took the lead in the first lap but Rodda caught up in the first part of the second and led him in the latter half. In the first half of the last lap the lead went from Rodda to Williams and finally back to Rodda, who won in 1:18, breaking the old record.

Corson Loses Dash

Corson, star dash man for the frosh, was conceded a victory over Barrus, rook, in the 50-yard dash inasmuch as he had beaten him before in this event, but his foot slipped as he left the board and instead of gaining time in a dive he fell flat into the water at the edge of the tank. Barrus gained about two feet by this slip. Corson brought this lead down to a matter of inches but the difference in speed of these two men is so small that it was impossible for him to gain a lead.

Oregon lost both varsity and frosh polo games. The Beavers edged the Webfoots out by a 2 to 1 score, and the rooks downed the frosh 6 to 3. Oregon took both games from the Staters here several weeks ago.

Amphibian Club, Women's Varsity To Swim Tonight

The Amphibian club, women's swimming honorary, and the women's varsity swimming team, will swim in a meet tonight at the women's pool at 8 o'clock, with the resulting scores sent to the women's varsity team at the University of California for scoring in a telegraphic meet, according to Helen Dunshee, president of Amphibian club.

Meet Scores Will Count in Telegraphic Match With California

This will be the first meet for women swimmers held this year with another school. Last year a telegraphic meet was held with Hawaii and Washington Normal. The events tonight will be a 20-yard crawl, 40-yard crawl, 40-yard English over-arm, 40-yard breast stroke, 20-yard back stroke, plunge for distance, and a 20-yard candle race. There will be no diving because of the difficulty of judging form in a telegraphic meet.

An exhibition of architecture has been brought here by Mr. Wright, part of which is especially designed to illustrate his principles, and this will be on view at the school of architecture at the University today, it is announced.

Art Riehl, crack lightweight grappler of the Northwest, will make a bid for his fourth Northwest title at Portland next week.

Phi Delt Place Third in Intramurals; Holman Takes Honors

Sigma Nu's track squad won the intramural track and field meet held last Saturday on Hayward field, and gained possession of the silver cup offered by Babbs Hardware store, after edging out the Oregon Yeomen in a last-minute spurt. The Yeomen, with 26 1-3 points, barely nosed out Phi Delta Theta with 26.

The Yeomen, led by Art Holman, who scored 18 points to take scoring honors, led until results of the javelin and discus were handed in at the last moment. First and second places in the javelin and a second in the discus gave them enough points to put them ahead.

Large Crowd Out

Ideal track weather drew a large crowd to watch the events. While no fast times were made, Coach Bill Hayward was quite pleased with the meet. Under the direction of student managers and varsity lettermen, the 12 events were speedily run off.

PHILOGRAMS

Best Swimmers—

It is simple deductions that make detectives famous, so let's try our hand at it here. This is the proposition. Oregon and Oregon State have been pitting their swimming teams against each other for many years, yet during the meet at Corvallis Saturday night in five of the eight racing events faster times were made than ever before.

Since the Webfoots broke the majority of these local records and also won the meet handily, can't we carry the logic out and say that the Oregon swim squad this year is the best Oregon has ever had? It sounds reasonable enough.

Comparing Times—

If, however, you agree that the Beaver and Webfoot varsity swimmers are really good this season, have you thought what will happen next year when some of these freshmen step up into the ranks? Compare some of the times that were made in the meets last Saturday.

50-yard dash—Miller, Oregon varsity, 25.8 seconds; Barrus, rook, 24.6.

440-yard swim—Foster, Oregon varsity, 5:46.8; Stevenson, frosh, 5:41.

220-yard swim—Oglesby, Oregon varsity, 2:34.8; Corson, frosh, 2:30.2.

In the other events the times in the yearling matches were only a second or so slower than the varsities'. This yearling material certainly is fine, and Oregon's will furnish strength next season just where it will be needed.

Local Grapplers To Participate in Wrestling Meet

Riehl and Doran To Attend Northwest Amateur Tourney

Two University of Oregon wrestlers, Art Riehl, 135 pounds, and Dave Doran, 118 pounds, have announced their intention of entering the Pacific Northwest Amateur wrestling meet at Portland on March 18 and 19. Riehl will wrestle under the Multnomah club colors, while Doran will compete unattached.

It will be Doran's first venture among the top-notch amateur grapplers of the Northwest, but it is just another tourney to husky Art, who has collected enough medals to make a World war hero envious. Besides the honor of being crowned Northwest king in 1926, 1927, and 1928, Art has won the Portland city title twice, and finished third in the 1926 national amateur tourney. Minor achievements scored by him are the Benson high school title and a victory in the American Legion tournament at Portland in 1929.

A win for Art in the coming tourney means another trip to the national tourney in the spring, which will be held at Grand Rapids, Michigan, this year. The national champions will have their expenses paid to the Olympic try-outs in 1932, so Art is putting a lot of effort into his training.

But for the impending final exams there probably would be more of Coach Meisel's proteges training diligently for the meet. "Rocky Tom" Mountain, all-campus middleweight champ, had laid definite plans for participation, but his studies forced him out. Meisel's instructive efforts have been very productive as was well evidenced by the enthusiasm and skill shown by his pupils in the all-campus tourney, and a number of the men should have made creditable showings at Portland.

Hack Miller Asks Workers To Phone Seniors

An appeal for sophomore men to do managerial work in track, baseball, and tennis was issued last night by Robert E. (Hack) Miller, senior manager of managers.

Men interested in the work, which will last until the end of spring term, are requested by Miller to get in touch with Fred Reid at phone 2800, for track; Paul Grant, at 1920, for baseball; and Don Guild, at 1320, for tennis. Reid, Grant, and Guild are senior managers of the respective sports.

Dr. Meno Spann Will Give Illustrated Faust Talk

Lantern slides will be shown and an accompanying lecture given by Dr. Meno Spann, assistant professor of German, on the subject of Goethe's "Faust," tonight at 8 o'clock, at 107 Oregon.

Half of the slides will show pictures by 19th century artists illustrating the play, and the other half will consist of photographs of scenes from the play when it was given at the Weimer theatre in 1929. The 1929 presentation was given as a celebration of the 100th anniversary of the first performance of the play in 1829.

Although the slides and lecture are especially planned for Dr. Spann's class in German literature, all people interested are invited to come.

Huskies Triumph Over California, 42-30, Take Title

Washington Quintet Wins Coast Championship In Great Game

SEATTLE, March 9.—(Special)—The University of Washington turned back California here tonight in the third basketball game of the championship series by a score of 42 to 30 and the title of the coast rests in the Northwest for the first time since 1923.

After the Bears had come from behind to tie the score at 20 all at half time, the Huskies started the second period with a whirlwind shooting and fancy one-handed passing attack that gave them the edge. Eight thousand fans went wild as the northerners kept up their steady drive.

A field goal and foul conversion by John Fuller, big sophomore forward of the Washington quintet, as the final period opened gave the Huskies a lead that the Bears could not head and they ran away with the game.

Nibs Price, California's veteran coach, put in substitute after substitute in the final moments in an attempt to change the tables, but to no avail. The Huskies started off with a bang at the first of the game, and ran the score to 13-4.

Fuller was the Washington star scorer, counting 17 points during the contest.

Washington took the first game of the series, 41 to 25, and California the second, 36 to 34.

Oregon Dramatists See Student Play in Corvallis

A group from the drama department went to Corvallis Saturday in order to see the evening performance of "The Merchant of Venice," which was being put on by the Oregon State workshop players, with a cast consisting mainly of National Collegiate Players. The play was directed by Elizabeth Barnes.

Several from the Oregon chapter of National Collegiate Players and from the cast of "Twelfth Night" were in the group, which included Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt, director of the department; Cecil Matson, assistant director; Addison Brockman, Norma Jacobs, Jean Williams, Nancy Thielsen, Donald Confrey, and Gerda Brown. "The play was excellent," said Mrs. Seybolt, "and we all enjoyed it very much."
