Survey Outlines Athletic Control Reorganization

Great College of Arts Planned For Eugene In Education Survey

Professorial Basis For All Coaches Urged

Intramural Athletics To Receive Support Sports Supervision Should Go Under P. E. School, Says Report

Complete reorganization of the present plan of management of intercollegiate athletics is proposed in the bureau of education survey.

In order to correct the prevailing conditions and to place physical education upon a simple but sound foundation it is recommended:

Boards of Control Banned

"1. That the present boards of control composed of students, alumni, and faculty members be abolished.

"2. That control of intercollegiate athletics be incorporated in the schools of physical education and be administered upon the same basis as are the academic major divisions.

"3. That all coaches be employed in the same manner as other staff members and receive no larger compensation than is provided in the regular salary schedules of the faculty.

Games Receipts Affected

"4. That all receipts from intercollegiate games be handled through the same channels as other departmental earnings and be budgeted by the administrations, and that budgeting be approved by the board as is the case of other institutional funds.

"5. That the policy of supporting intramural athletics by means of institutional and state funds be adopted and that the proposal to finance intramural sports from intercollegiate receipts be rejected.

"6. That emphasis be placed upon intramural sports with the definite objective of securing participation by all students, both men and women."

C. officer of the ninth corps area, who for the last month has been on a trip of inspection of the entire area will be at the University April 22 to make an administrative inspection of the local R. O. T. C., according to Lieutenant G. S. Prouty, local officer.

A training inspection will also be made about May 1 by Major James H. Tierney, infantry D. O. L. officer in charge of all the organized reserves in this district with headquarters at Eugene, Lieutenant Prouty said.

Whole Educational System Revision Declared Needed

Four junior college systems in the state and two upper-division schools would be organized under the plan outlined by the federal commission surveying higher education in Oregon, in the report made public this morning.

At La Grande and Ashland normal schools, at the University, and at Oregon State college, junior colleges with practically the same curricula will be formed. At Eugene and at Corvallis upper-division work will be given in addition to the lower-division subjects.

At Oregon State college will be centered the advanced study of the physical sciences, engineering, geology, mathematics, and like subjects; at the University, social sci-

Oregon May Lose High School Meets

OREGON WILL LOSE: (1) annual high school conference; (2) state high school relays; (3) high school drama tournament.

The practice of holding invitation conferences and meets of high school students at the several institutions will be discontinued if the federal survey of higher education meets with the approval of the state board. The commission characterizes such high school meetings as high-pressure recruiting of students.

Oregon Schools Have Students of Poor Preparation

High-Pressure Recruiting Lowers Standards, Says Survey

Oregon institutions are receiving large numbers of students of poor preparation and low college ability. That charge is made in the final chapter of the survey of Oregon schools of higher learning made by a federal commission.

"Of those who entered the University in 1925 only 19.1 per cent were graduated by the end of the fourth year. Of those who entered the state college in the same year only 22 per cent were graduated in four years.

"The losses are extraordinarily high as compared with those of similar institutions throughout the United States.

"Part of the low percentage in Oregon is due to the poor preparation and low abilities of Oregon students enrolled under conditions of high pressure recruiting, in part to the poor preparation and abilities of out-of-state students admitted."

The commission made recommendations for raising standards of admission.

Nominations Close as No Names Are Added In Meeting

No names were added to those presented by the nominating committee of the Associated Women Students for officers for the year 1931-32 at the mass meeting of that organization yesterday.

The election of Ann Baum as president was assured when no further nominations were made for that office. Her name was the only one proposed by the committee, and none were made from the floor at yesterday's meeting.

Other nominees are: Virginia Grone, Dorothy Eads; secretary, Maryellen Bradford, Ellen Sersanous; treasurer, Adele Wedemeyer, Lucille Kraus; sergeant-at-arms, Nancy Suomela, Dorothy Hughes; reporter, Madeleine Gilbert, Betty Davis.

Improvements Mark Campus Dance Floor

With the Coconut Grove back in the old form of the Campa Shoppe of the Kollege Knight days, new decorations, a freshly sanded floor, and the Ten Commanders, Henry Sims, manager of the night club, has scheduled the gala opening for tonight.

A new orchestra pit has been constructed in the north end of the building since nine holes of the golf course have been removed. The Ten Commanders, new campus orchestra, has been engaged for Friday and Saturday nights together with many different features, says Mr. Sims.

New Required Course Added for Student-Teachers

'Supervised Teaching' Is Essential, Says Dean Sheldon

All university or college students now in training who plan to teach next year in high schools who have not yet taken a three-hour course in supervised teaching must apply for their certificates from the state department of education prior to September 1, when a new ruling requiring this work goes into effect. It is announced here by Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education.

To Raise Standard The ruling of the state department is aimed to raise the standard of teaching in high schools, but it is not the intention to discriminate against students who will graduate this year. These students must have fulfilled other requirements, however, and must make application for their certificates before September 1, it is pointed out.

Last year a ruling requiring three hour courses in secondary education, educational psychology and principles of teaching went into effect, and a previous announcement was made that students without this work must apply before September 1, 1930. Some students neglected to make application before this date and as a result were (Continued on Page Three)

Education Survey Proves Big Task

EXACTLY 612 mimeographed pages were necessary to contain the report of the commission surveying higher education in Oregon. At 30 minutes per mimeograph (University secretary's estimate), it would take exactly 38 1/4 stenographers one eight-hour working day to get the report out.

Single School Hint Given; Dual Plan Now Used Scored

Classes, Professors May Commute Between U. O. And State College

Formation of one great school is hinted for the University of Oregon and Oregon State college in the recommendations of the higher education survey released this morning. The recommendations provide that there shall be easy transfer of credits between the two schools, that professors shall in some instances teach subjects on both campuses, and that a system of transportation be provided for students to commute between Corvallis and Eugene.

Inconvenience Slight

"Study of the facts," the report says, "convinced the commission that the inconvenience caused to a few students would be slight; that the desire of instructors to conduct upper division and research work in areas which are confined to the lower-division level in their institutions may be met by exchange of services between the institutions and by development of cooperative research and graduate programs.

"The state may well insist that continued failure to maintain such coordination that may arise by reason of the present dual administration of the two institutions should result in the establishment of a single administration for the two campuses."

Lower Work Same

Until such time as the single administration program might be effected, the recommendations provide that lower division courses shall be practically identical on both campuses. In graduate and upper-division courses the schools will specialize at Eugene or at Corvallis.

Editors To Hold Meetings This Month

Three district meetings of the Oregon State Editorial association will be held this month, it was announced by Arne G. Rae, field manager. A review of the members' newspapers will be a feature of the first meeting at the McMinnville chamber of commerce on Saturday, April 11.

At this meeting George S. Turnbull, professor of journalism, will comment upon and constructively criticize the news and editorial contents of the newspapers submitted to the "reviewers" by this district's publishers. Robert C. Hall, superintendent of the University Press, will comment in a similar way upon the typography and mechanical phases of the newspapers.

"The presence of Professors Turnbull and Hall, both authorities in their work, will provide an excellent opportunity for publishers attending the meeting to obtain constructive and valuable advice about their newspapers," Professor Rae said.

The newspapers to be reviewed will be those issued during the week of March 30 to April 4. This meeting is for the publishers of the district including Polk, Washington, Yamhill, and northern Lincoln counties.

The second meeting is scheduled for April 18 at La Grande for publishers in Union, Wallowa, and Umatilla counties. The last one this month is to be at Baker, April 25, for the newspaper men in the district of Grant, Baker, Malheur, and Harney counties.

Vodvil Heads Make Complete Show Report

Skit Casting Will Begin First of Week

Girls' Chorus Rehearsing; Music To Be Ready By Saturday

At a meeting of the Junior Vodvil directorate last night complete reports from all committee heads were received and discussed. Barney Miller and McGowan Miller, who are jointly in charge of skits and manuscript, announced that they have completed most of the manuscript and that it would be ready to hand in to Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt, faculty adviser of manuscript writers, for approval today.

Casts To Be Chosen

The two Millers stated that casting of the skits and plays would begin the first of next week, and that for the remainder of this week they would receive further ideas and acts as was previously announced.

The girls' dancing chorus, under the direction of Marion Camp, held its third rehearsal in the back room of the College Side last night. The girls went through a series of 12 steps almost without mistake to gain the approval of the entire directorate. At the beginning of next week they will begin practice on a series of intricate figures which have been devised by Miss Camp.

Staging Delayed

Work on costuming, lighting and stage properties has been delayed until all acts, skits, and plays are finished in order that that work may progress smoothly without danger of having to indulge in any costly last-minute changes, Kelsey Sloum, assistant chairman of the directorate, reported.

Marvin Jane Hawkins, in charge of music for the production, reported that music for the chorus will be complete by Saturday of this week.

Talent Discussed

A list of all talent which is being considered for use in vodvil was presented during the meeting and other available talent was discussed by the directorate.

Complete plans for practices, rehearsals, costuming, lighting, and the making of properties are being drawn up, according to "Slug" Palmer, chairman-director of the vodvil, and will be in working order by the end of the week.

Club Leadership Training Course Given Teachers

School of Education Offers Two-Hour Seminar Each Week

To train future high school principals and teachers in dealing with young people's organizations a course in club leadership is being offered this term under the direction of the school of education. This is the second year that a course of this kind has been given with Professor Harold S. Tuttle in charge.

Five Groups Discussed

The class, which is a two-hour seminar meeting every Wednesday, deals with five different movements for boys and girls, the Hi-Y, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Girl Reserves, and Campfire Girls. Representatives from each of these groups are scheduled to speak during the term.

Faculty To Talk

Activities common to all organizations are to be presented by members of the University faculty. E. R. Knollin, instructor in physical education, spoke before the class yesterday on first aid. Next week Professor Tuttle will discuss the significance of ritual. Other faculty members who are to appear on the term schedule are Miss Florence D. Alden, whose phase is group games, Miss Lilian Tingle, camp cooking, and Prof. Albert R. Sweetser, nature lore.

O.S.C. Favored For Sciences; Commerce Suggested Here

A GREAT school of science at Corvallis and a great college of arts at Eugene. These are two of the major recommendations of the federal survey of higher education in Oregon, planned to unify the work and administration of the five schools of higher education in Oregon. The report was released at 10 o'clock this morning.

New Library for University Asked By Federal Men

Rebuilding of Entire Plant Suggested in Survey; Inefficiency Cited

A new $500,000 library for the University, a biological science building, and a future chemistry building for the state college are called for in the federal survey of Oregon schools. The first unit of the University library should cost approximately $350,000, the report says.

"Practically the entire plant of the University should be rebuilt by replacing obsolete and flimsy structures by fire-proof, well-designed buildings," reads the opinion of the survey commission.

"The University does not show a very efficient use of the plant as a whole or of any single building. This is largely due to unwise planning which has resulted in the multiplication of small units and the building of extravagantly cheap structures. It is in part due to the wide variety of subjects offered on the upper division level and in part to the type of class scheduling that seeks to concentrate classes in the morning hours."

Phi Beta To Present Program on April 23

Phi Beta, woman's national professional music and dramatic fraternity, will present a program of music and drama on Thursday evening, April 23, in the auditorium of the Music building. The program is being given for the Phi Beta scholarship awarded each year.

The music program will consist of numbers by the Phi Beta string quartet composed of Jean Aiken, Estelle Johnson, Roma Gross, and Mabel McKinney; piano selections by Helene Robinson, Dorothy Lindeman, and Frances Powell; violin numbers by Frances Brachman, and songs by Pauline Brigham and Estelle Johnson. Winifred Tyson will play the organ. Admission will be 25 cents.

Three Schools Open Drama Tournament; Plays Pleasing

By ISABELE CROWELL

The first program of one-act plays in the annual high school drama tournament was performed last night in a crowded Guild theatre. Cottage Grove presented the old favorite by Booth Tarkington, "The Trysting Place." The second play on the program was "Somebody," by Richard L. Melville, presented by Corvallis high school. The University high school entered "Jazz and Minuet," by Ruth Giorloff.

There will be two more programs in this contest. The plays to be presented tonight will be "Two Crooks and a Lady," entered by Gardiner high school; Eugene O'Neill's "Ile," to be given by the Milwaukie Union high school, and "Judge Lynch," presented by Eugene high school.

The interest of the first play on last night's program, "The Trysting Place," centers about the

Six Recommendations Made

A summary of the fundamental recommendations of the survey is as follows: "1. The training of teachers for the elementary schools should be done at the three normal schools

"2. Unspecialized freshmen and sophomore work, referred to as lower division work, in all the arts and sciences should be available upon essentially identical terms at Eugene and Corvallis. It is the purpose of lower division work to provide the board general education needed by men and women without respect to the careers that they will follow and to provide service courses needed in the many professional curricula.

O. S. C. Science Center

"3. A great school of science should be developed at Corvallis based upon lower division work that may be pursued at either the University or the state college. This school of science should provide curricula leading to undergraduate and graduate degrees in the various sciences including botany, zoology, geology, chemistry, physics, astronomy, mathematics, and statistics.

"4. A great school of arts, literature, and social sciences should be developed at Eugene, based upon lower division courses that may be pursued at either the state college or the University. This school of arts, literature, and social sciences should provide curricula leading to graduate and undergraduate degrees in the arts, English language and literature, foreign languages and literature, speech, history, economics, political science, sociology, and psychology.

B. A. Here May Gain

"5. The professional schools based essentially upon the natural sciences should be located at Corvallis. These include engineering, (Continued on Page Three) amusing plot complications. It tells what secrets can be exposed when three men are hidden under or behind various articles of furniture, and other members of the family choose to discuss their private affairs in the same place. The story is of a young boy very much bossed by a sister and a mother. He feels that he is a grown-up man capable of marrying an attractive widow against any opposition, especially when he learns that his mother and sister are both carrying on secret affairs. However, he is entirely disillusioned when he finds that the widow is already engaged to someone else.

With the exception of perhaps a little slowness of tempo, the play was nicely given by a cast consisting of John Clark, Frances Randall, Jerine Burrows, Louise Wynne, Debbie Safley, Howard (Continued on Page Three)
