AWS Will Elect Year's Officers At Polls Today

Balloting To Take Place In Front of Library

All Candidates Active in Work of Organization During Past Terms

Polls for the annual Associated Women Students' elections will be open from 9 until 5 o'clock today, it was announced last night by Ardis Ulrich, in charge. The balloting place will be in front of the old libe. If it rains, votes will be cast in the main hallway of the old libe.

Candidates up for the six offices are: President, Ann Baum; vice-president, Dorothy Eads and Virginia Grone; secretary, Maryellen Bradford and Ellen Sersanous; treasurer, Lucille Kraus and Adele Wedemeyer; sergeant-at-arms, Dorothy Hughes and Nancy Suomela; reporter, Betty Davis and Madeleine Gilbert.

Candidates Are Active

Miss Baum has been extremely active in campus affairs, having been secretary of the A. W. S. for the past year. She was recently elected president of the Oregon Intercollegiate A. W. S. She has also served on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and is a member of the Junior Week-end committee.

Dorothy Eads was Big Sister chairman for the past year for the A. W. S. Virginia Grone was chairman of the tea committee. Maryellen Bradford is a member of Kwama, and among other activities has been a member of the A. W. S. tea committee. Ellen Sersanous, also a Kwama, is active in sophomore class affairs.

Both Kwama Members

Lucille Kraus and Adele Wedemeyer, both members of Kwama, have been very active their first two years in school. Miss Kraus has had numerous class and committee appointments, while Miss Wedemeyer has had charge of the A. W. S. "Hello" dance and the spring vacation dances.

Dorothy Hughes has been in charge of the classified advertising of the Emerald this year. Nancy Suomela has been active in Frosh Commission work this year, and is in charge of the doughnut sale which the commission is putting on today. Betty Davis was a member of the Emerald news staff during fall term, but was not on the campus last term. Madeleine Gilbert is a Thespian and has been a member of the Emerald news staff for the past two terms.

Counting of votes will begin about 4 o'clock this afternoon. (Continued on Page Two)

Monthly Meeting of Council Postponed

The regular monthly meeting of the Graduate Council has been postponed until April 22, it was announced from the office of Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school, yesterday.

The postponement is made necessary on account of committee meetings pertaining to the recent University survey.

Vodvil Theme Song Is 'New Idea,' Practices Commence

Something new! This time it isn't a new spring hat or a new dean of men, but a real, honest-to-goodness "New Idea." "There's a New Idea," by Chuck James, campus song writer, will be the theme song for the Junior Vodvil. "Snuggle Up and Love" by Marvin Jane Hawkins and Con Hammond, is another song that everyone will be humming and singing this spring. A snappy little number used by the dancing chorus for a "Drill Dance." Then there is a new waltz, and a "stomp" number also for the dancers.

These new song hits were just finished yesterday noon. They were immediately turned over to Vint Hall who has sent them to Seattle where the orchestrations will be written for them by Oscar

Michigan Man To Address Meeting

DR. CLIFFORD WOODY, director of the bureau of educational reference and director of research of the University of Michigan, regarded as one of the leading authorities on higher education in the United States, will be present for the first annual conference on higher education, to be held here April 13 and 14, according to word just received by Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education here, who is chairman for the event.

Dr. Woody will be on the program with William J. Cooper, United States commissioner of education; Dr. Ben Wood, director of collegiate research at Columbia University; Dr. George Frederick Zook, president of the University of Akron, Ohio, and a number of leading educators of the West.

Hilton Oratorical Contests Set for Tomorrow Night

Ten Contestants Will Enter Annual Law School Student Event

The annual Hilton oratorical contest, for students of the law school, will take place tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall, Charles E. Carpenter, dean of the school of law, announced yesterday.

The subject for this year's contest is "Resolved, That the defendant should be allowed to waive the jury trial in criminal cases." The speeches are to be 12 minutes in length.

The judges are to be Justice Harry Belt, of the Oregon supreme court; Edward Bailey and David Evans, attorneys of Eugene.

The contestants are Harvey Benson, Stanford Brooks, Ernest Burrows, Francis Coad, Walter Durgan, Otto Frohnmayer, George Layman, John Galey, Walter Norblad, and Sam Van Vactor.

The contest is sponsored by Frank R. Hilton, of Portland, who donates the first prize of $50. The second and third prizes, $25 and $15, are donated by the school of law.

Library Receives New Books During Vacation

The University library has received several new books over the vacation period which have been catalogued and placed on the shelves for circulation.

Some of the most outstanding books include: "Conqueror of Space" or the life of Lee De Forest by Georgette Carneau. The book is a story of the inventions of this genius and a story of his life. "The Strange Death of President Harding," a story taken from the diaries of Hoston B. Means, department of justice investigator. "Education and Life," by Ernest Martin Hopkins, president of Dartmouth college. "The World's Best Short Stories," the fifth volume of short stories of 1929 by a number of very successful authors. "The Charm of Kashmir" by Scott O'Connor is one of the latest books of its kind.

Chemistry Text By Williams To Be Out May 15

Textbook Fills Long Felt Need in Field

Three Years Spent Doing Material for Work on Cells, Organisms

Written to fill a long felt need in the college textbook field, a volume entitled "An Introduction to Biochemistry," by Dr. Roger Williams, professor of chemistry, will be published May 15 by D. Van Nostrand company of New York, it is announced here.

The text, which is the first to appear in this field, deals with the chemistry of living things and graphically describes cells and the composition of organisms. It goes into nutrition of cells and shows how they transform food into tissue.

The book is especially written for upper division students in medicine, biology, agriculture, chemistry, and home economics. It presupposes two years of college chemistry.

Works Three Years

Dr. Williams has spent three years in preparing material for the volume, which is a companion text to his book, "Introduction to Organic Chemistry," which is now in use as a standard text in more than 300 universities and colleges throughout the country. A second edition of this work is soon to be published also.

In addition to texts Dr. Williams has written extensively on various phases of research, and is now engaged in an extensive project dealing with growth factors in yeast, a project financed by the Fleischman Yeast company. He is regarded as an authority in chemistry and his writings and work has won high commendation from scientists all over the country.

Formal YWCA Banquet Will Be on Thursday

The annual Y. W. C. A. formal banquet, will be an event of Thursday, April 9, at 6:30 o'clock at the Anchorage, announced Louise Weber, chairman yesterday. Margaret Hunt is arranging for the programs and decorations, and Betty Jones is in charge of the ticket sale. Daphne Hughes is to act as toastmistress.

Speakers for the banquet will be Mrs. W. G. Beattie, the first president of the Y. W. C. A. and Mrs. E. E. DeCou, who from 1911 to 1916 was regional secretary of the Seabeck division, and from 1916 to 1922 was dean of women on the campus. Dorothy Eberhard and Helen Chaney will also speak.

The Y. W. C. A. has been on the Oregon campus for 36 years, and this idea will furnish the background for the motif of the banquet.

First Overnight Hike To Be Held on Sunday

The only over-night hike of spring term has been scheduled for this Saturday, April 11, according to Ella Redkey, student manager of hiking. Although a similar jaunt was planned for winter term, weather conditions did not permit, so this is the second overnight hike to be taken.

The hikers will leave the Women's building at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, journeying to Peters Lodge and returning on Sunday. Every girl planning to attend is required to bring 50 cents to take care of housing and eating expenses, and to sign up on the W. A. A. bulletin board as soon as possible. Thelma Brown is in charge of the menu and food for the trip.

The hare and hound chase held April 4, enjoyed an unusually large turnout. The hikers traveled to Hendricks park, punctuating the trip with brief intervals of Easter-gund hunting. Alice Madison and Esther Lisle led the hike,

Doughnuts Get Official O. K.

"Dig up a dime, and dunk a doughnut," will be the cry of Frosh commission workers on the campus today as they sponsor the first doughnut-selling drive among students. In the above photo, from left to right, we see Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, munching a doughnut with evident satisfaction; Betsy Steiwer, assistant chairman, making a sale to Mrs. Hazel Prutsman Schering, dean of women; Nancy Suomela, general chairman of the drive; and May Masterton, in charge of town soliciting.

Doughnuts Sell When Frosh Workers Deny Making Them

"Do you make the doughnuts yourself?"
"No, we don't."
"Very well then, I'll take a dozen."

Such was the reception received by Nancy Suomela, and her co-workers during their doughnut-selling campaign among the people of Eugene yesterday. They could relate many more amusing stories gleaned from their experiences during the last week, and could tell of various other such unconventional greetings.

Nevertheless their labors have sold 500 dozen already, and expect to sell at least 50 dozen more on the campus today.

Despite the fact that this is the first time such a sale has been sponsored on the campus, everyone seems eager to co-operate towards its success, Miss Suomela said. The Frosh commission workers have not confined themselves to the campus, but have campaigned throughout the city.

"Although we have met with remarkable success," said Miss Suomela last night, "it was quite amusing to find how many people intended to leave town on Wednesday when the subject of doughnuts was broached."

Yesterday several booths were placed at various intervals on the campus, and in these booths the doughnuts will be sold today. Workers hope to make the doughnut sale an annual event on the campus.

Feature of Leap Week Is Annual Mortar Board Ball

Women To Pay Way Bill at Formal Dance Held By Honorary

The biggest affair of Senior Leap week will be the Mortar Board ball, to be given by the members of Mortar Board, senior woman's honorary, on April 24 at the Eugene hotel.

The unusual feature of the dance is that all bids will come from the women. Women will pay the way ($1 a couple); and will call for the men as well as take them home again.

The affair is to be strictly formal. Decorations will be simple and will consist mainly of palms, flowers, and colored flood-lights. The list of patrons and patronesses has not yet been announced.

Dorothy Eberhard, president of Mortar Board, is in charge. She will be assisted by the five other members of Mortar Board: Daphne Hughes, Bess Templeton, Kathryn Langenberg, Margaret Cummings, and Mildred McGee.

Last year was the first time that the Mortar Board ball was given as a leap-week affair. It has been planned, however, to make it an annual event, at this time, as it was extremely successful.

Congress Club Will Discuss Communism

Communism will be the subject for discussion at the term's first meeting of the Congress club, campus public speaking organization, to be held this evening. The session will be held at the College Side, beginning at 7:30. Wallace Campbell, president, announced. Ralph David, senior in journalism, and Kenneth Fitzgerald, freshman in journalism, will open the discussion with short talks on the subject.

Joan of Arc Film Next Faculty Club Offering Friday

European Movie Obtained By S. Stephenson Smith for Show

A cinema, direct from Europe, that combines genuine artistry with vivid realism, "The Passion of Joan of Arc," will be the next offering of the faculty club in its series of pictures now showing at the Colonial, it is announced by S. Stephenson Smith, chairman of the committee.

The picture will be presented this week on Friday, in place of Thursday, it is also announced, and the usual three showings, the last of which is the popular "super matinee" will be given during the afternoon.

"The Passion of Joan of Arc" gives the highlights of the life and career of this intensely interesting woman of history. In its realistic scenes it goes farther than pictures produced in this country, and the creators have tried in every way to give a genuine interpretation to their theme.

Wesley Club Begins Practice on 'Cleopas'

Practice is now under way for "Cleopas," a play which the Wesley club is giving next Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Methodist church, Esther Lisle, graduate student, who is directing the play, announced yesterday.

The play is a story of the time of Christ. The part of Cleopas is taken by Lloyd Brown. The other characters are: Father, Howard Lee; Mother, Ruth Ludington; Bernice, Grace Fennell. Costumes and properties are in charge of Carol Johnson and Violet Adams. Evan Hughes is stage manager, and Donald Saunders is in charge of lighting effects.

Orchestra, Glee Club To Close ASUO Concerts

Joint Program on April 16 To Be in Igloo

Student Body Cards Will Admit to Event, Says 'Doc' Robnett

"Local talent," so to speak, will provide the last of the five concerts presented this year on the A. S. U. O. concert series. The University symphony orchestra and the combined glee clubs will appear in joint concert at McArthur court on Thursday evening, April 16.

The concert will be given in the court instead of the music auditorium in order to accommodate the crowd which traditionally attends an A. S. U. O. concert, according to Ronald Robnett, assistant graduate manager. All members of the associated students will be admitted without charge upon presentation of cards at the door.

Both the orchestra and the glee clubs have gained reputations as musical groups well above the average of collegiate musical organizations. Both have given a number of concerts annually for many years, but this coming concert will be the first occasion on which they have appeared as a part of the regular A. S. U. O. concert series.

The orchestra will be directed by Rex Underwood, and will number about seventy instruments. The combined glee clubs total about eighty mixed voices, and are under the direction of John Stark Evans. Both Evans and Underwood have held their respective directorial posts for the past 10 years.

Oregon Riflemen Begin Practicing For Competition

Junior Students in ROTC Will Try for Trophies During Summer

Filled with a spirit of enthusiasm at the prospects of winning the Doughboy of the West trophy, and with a spirit of determination to win it, junior military students of the advanced course, who will attend summer camp at Vancouver barracks, this summer, began a period of pre-season rifle practice yesterday in preparation for the rifle instructions they will receive there.

The Doughboy of the West trophy, which Oregon won year before last but lost last year by a narrow margin, is awarded to the R. O. T. C. unit making the highest score of all R. O. T. C. units in the infantry of the ninth corps area, according to Captain C. A. Bragg, Oregon rifle team coach. Practice will continue until time for summer camp in June.

While at the summer camp the Oregon students will also compete with other schools there for the C. R. Hotchkiss infantry reserve trophy, which Oregon won three years in succession directly previous to last year. This trophy is awarded to the school having the highest score of any school at the summer camp.

New Archery Expert Handles Gym Classes

L. L. "Flight" Daily, holder of numerous archery records, has been a recent addition to the teaching personnel of the physical education staff and is now conducting archery classes on the lots immediately west of Hayward field this term.

Mr. Daily has charge of the 9 and 10 o'clock Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday sections of the field sport classes and is assisted by Earl Boushey and Gene Shields, who have charge of the clerical work connected with the classes. As long as these activity sections remain small Mr. Daily welcomes any outside students who would care to develop proficiency in the sport.

Grades Keep 32 Out Spring Term

POOR scholarship was responsible for disqualifying a lesser number of students from returning to the University for the spring term than for the winter term. Forty-two students were not allowed to register winter term because of poor fall grades as compared with 32 who could not reach the standard last term.

Freshmen are the most numerous group to be disqualified. The sophomores follow closely behind with 11, juniors 7, seniors 2, and one special student.

These students must remain out of school for nine months, after which they may petition for readmission to the University. If they are readmitted, it is on probation. This opportunity is given so that the student might prove his ability to carry University work.

Morse Survey in Bar Association's Issue for April

Work on Criminal Justice Wins Wide Recognition For Oregon Men

Giving in detail many phases of the survey of criminal justice in Oregon conducted recently by Wayne L. Morse, associate professor of law, and Ronald H. Beattie, research assistant, of the University of Oregon law school, an article in the April number of the American Bar Association Journal has been noted with keen interest here.

The Journal is one of the leading law publications of the country, and has a widespread influence in the legal profession. It outlines the features and significant facts of the survey, a study which has already attracted national attention.

The same issue of the Bar Association Journal contains an article on the survey, of the grand

Old Oregon Resident Will Lecture Friday

Captain O. C. Applegate of Klamath Falls will give a free lecture at the Presbyterian church on Friday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock on Oregon history and his work among the Indians.

Captain Applegate is almost 86 years of age, a native of Oregon, and an authority on history of this state, having been an eye witness to events transpiring before Oregon became a state, during her early period as a state, and down to the present time.

He is expected to appear in his Indian costume, and will be remembered by those who saw the two pioneer pageants as one of the outstanding figures in them.

Captain Applegate has held every government office in connection with work among the Indians in Oregon. He was captain of the Oregon mounted militia in 1865 and captain of the state troops in the Modoc war of 1872-1873.

A collection will be taken to defray expenses of the lecture.

Journalism Said Profitable And Interesting for Women

"If the printers' ink is in your blood in sufficient quantity, nothing in the world can prevent you from making a success of journalism." This was the declaration of Miss Adelaide Lake, church editor and staff reporter of the Oregonian of Portland, who addressed the Associated Women Students of the University of Oregon here yesterday on journalism as a profession.

Miss Lake, a graduate of the University, has been active in newspaper work in Portland and elsewhere for the past eight years. Her talk was regarded as one of the most outstanding given in the series of vocational meetings that are being sponsored here by the Associated Women Students this year. Newspaper work makes greater

Emerald Staff Nominates Five For Editorship

Gale Only Nominee for Oregon Post

Business Staff of Annual Names Roger Bailey For Manager

Nominations for editor of the Emerald for the coming year and for editor and business manager of the Oregonian were made yesterday afternoon at three separate staff meetings called for the purpose.

Thornton Gale, junior in journalism, was the only candidate nominated for editor by the editorial staff of the Oregonian, and Roger Bailey, sophomore in business administration, was the nominee of the business staff for business manager.

Four Put up in Meeting

Four men were nominated for editor of the Emerald next year by members of the editorial staff at the nomination meeting yesterday. They are David Wilson, Merlin Blais, Willis Duniway, and Ralph David, all juniors in journalism. A fifth name, that of Robert Allen, was added to the list of nominees early in the evening, through a petition carrying the required 100 signatures.

Gale has worked for two years on the Oregonian, and for the past year has been associate editor of the yearbook. He is a member of the Emerald staff, working as day editor, and last year was KORE correspondent. He is also a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity. Bailey is the present business manager of the Oregonian.

The four nominees for editor of the Emerald were chosen by a vote of the editorial staff, from the five candidates who were nominated from the floor at the meeting.

Names Go to Committee

Wilson has been a member of the editorial board for the past year and has also handled publicity work for music. Blais has been night editor, day editor, and reporter on the staff. Duniway is the present managing editor, and formerly was an editorial writer. David has been night editor, chief night editor, reporter, and is at present on the editorial board. Allen, now an editorial writer, was managing editor during the first part of this school year.

The five names are turned over to the publications committee, which will begin its deliberations today in choosing one of them for

Alpha Delta Sigma To Hear Professor Hall

Robert C. Hall, superintendent of the University Press and assistant professor of journalism, will be the main speaker at a meeting of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity, to be held this noon at the Anchorage, it is announced by Harry Tonkon, president.

A business meeting will also be held. All members were asked to attend by Tonkon.

Journalism Said Profitable And Interesting for Women

demands upon women who enter it than does almost any other profession, Miss Lake pointed out, but it has compensations that more than make up for its less attractive phases. Women holding responsible positions are often required to work long hours and are often under constant nervous strain due to the necessity of complying with "deadlines" and the sacrifices of social pleasures is a price that many must pay. No "social butterfly" can hope to creditable writing, she said.

By presenting news to the public in a clear, coherent and accurate form, the news reporter is performing a great service and should derive genuine satisfaction from this, Miss Lake believes. News is
