

Tryout Times Please Coach; Marks Fast

Exceptional Half-Mile, 220 Race Won by Hill, Starr

Bale Takes 100 in 10:2; Meet With Oregon State April 24

Results of last Saturday's varsity and freshmen track tryouts must have left Coach Bill Hayward with a very satisfied feeling for several of the marks turned in were exceptionally fast for this time of the season.

Outstanding among the results were the half mile and the 220-yard dash. Ralph Hill beat out Tom Moran in the half to finish in 1:56.6, which is only a trifle less than the fastest time made last year in the Northwest. Moran led Hill through the entire race until the last hundred or so yards, when Hill staged a remarkable spring finish to win.

In the 220, Paul Starr barely edged out Paul Bale, who had previously beaten him in the 100, to finish in the fast time of :22 flat. This mark equals the Oregon-Oregon State mark set last year by Bale.

Bale Wins 100

Bale took the 100-yard dash in 10:2, edging out Starr and Johnny Marrs. In the freshmen tryouts in this event, Adolph Stegrest beat out Johnny Blew and John Pennington. The time was 10:4.

Bob Hall took first in the mile in the fair time of 4:32. Bob Hunter and Win Tinnerstet finished second and third. In the varsity 440, Art Holman, Chuck Dolloff, and Johnny Rollwagen finished one, two, three. The time was 51:4.

Fair pre-season time in the 120-yard high hurdles was set by Hubert Allen, who turned a .16 flat. A yard behind was Mason McCoy, freshman hurdler. John Blew took a third in this event.

Robinson Vaults 18 Feet

Marks in the field events were only fair. Bob Robinson went only 12 feet to take first in the pole-vault. Bob Voegtly, freshman vaulter, was second with 11 feet. Stoddard and Daniels tied for third place. With a toss of only 41 feet 11 inches, Bun Stadelman took first over Moeller, Hall and Jesse.

Ed Moeller tossed the discus 151 feet to win that event. This is a very good mark, considering that the intercollegiate mark is only slightly over 160. Bill Palmer took first in the high jump, getting over the bar at 5 feet 8 inches. Everts, Simpson and Daniels finished in the order named.

Only two weeks remain before the first varsity meet, the annual Oregon-Oregon State relays, to be held at Corvallis Friday, April 24. As far as can be ascertained now, the first freshman competition will come May 1. No tryouts will be held next Saturday due to the holding of the intramural relays.

Instructions in Golf Lure Faculty Women

Thirty-five women turned out for the first faculty women's golf lesson given last week by Miss Ernestine Troemel. The class will be held open until one more meeting, and after that it will be closed to further enrollment, as instruction will have been already started.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday at 5 o'clock at the women's gym. Everyone should have a driver and a soft croquet golf ball to begin with. Although instructions are given only once a week, practices are required between lessons. All faculty women, wives, and administration members are eligible for the course.

Later in the term, after instruction has progressed, a series of tournaments will be held. These will include use of the various strokes, driving, putting, etc. A series of pictures denoting correct form has been placed on the bulletin of the gym, for the benefit of anyone interested.

the event as a whole. It is recognized that at that time the production will not be ready, but it is hoped that by reading the parts and walking through the scenes it will be possible to obtain a more or less complete idea of what the program as a whole will look like. The time element is one of the problems which it is hoped will be approximated at this early rehearsal.

The chorus, under the direction of Marion Camp, is rounding into shape and will be more nearly finished than any other part of the program at the rehearsal Sunday afternoon. Miss Camp announces that the girls will rehearse tonight at the Coconut Grove.

Gamma hall moved a notch closer to a league championship yesterday when they bowled over the Sigma Chis 3-2 in a tense pitching battle. Art Minney of Gamma twirled capably in all but one inning, while Espy, frosh hurler of last year, had the Gammians baffled with his southpaw slants.

The first batter for Gamma in the first inning, Mann, cracked out an infield hit and reached second on an error. After pilfering third, he raced home on Lynd's grounder to second. This lone marker looked bigger and bigger as the second and third periods slipped by for Minney and Espy were handling the situation perfectly.

Fireworks Break

The fireworks broke in the fourth. Hollen smashed a double to left and Page maced out a vicious grounder that tore through Mann's fingers. Williams then looped a lazy fly to left that would have been an easy out if the left fielder had moved. Instead, Downs raced over from center, but the ball fell safe and Hollen and Page scored. Sammy Nigh laid down a nice sacrifice for Williams, but Minney whiffed two Sigma Chis in the pinch.

Gamma came back in their half of the inning to take the game. Carley clicked one past second and MacMasters followed with another bingle. Mann bunted and on the catcher's throw to first Carley came in. Lynds followed with a strikeout and Vail, Sigma Chi catcher, missed the ball. MacMasters scored on Vail's peg to first.

Scoring Ends

Carley lined out a triple to right in the fifth inning but died as Espy flung his way out of the hole. Minney was threatened the next inning when Hollen collected another two-bagger and stole third. At this juncture Page struck out. Will fled out, and Hollen was thrown out at the plate. Minney fanned eight batters and allowed three clean hits. Espy sent one more hitter down via the strikeout route and was found for five hits, two of them being of the scratch variety. With any breaks at all and faster support behind him, Espy could have easily won. Mann, Ekterovitch, and Downs of Gamma gave Minney splendid support throughout.

Soft ball raised itself to the rank of a hard-boiled and expensive sport when nearly a dozen bats were splintered in a quartet of games, Omega hall and Phi Psi

PHILOGRAMS

Track Prospects—

With opening track festivities, the relays with Oregon State, only two weeks away, it's about time to hold an investigation as to how the Webfoots are stacking up. The first thing to be noticed is that Coach Bill Hayward is feeling almost optimistic. That's an awful good sign. Furthermore, the veteran trainer made the remark yesterday that he was quite pleased with the results of the practice meet last Saturday for they were better than he expected.

Hill's Ambition—

A world champion, an ex-world champion, unofficial, and a Canadian champion, being among the members of the team, are three reasons why Oregon's tracksters should do well this spring. Captain Ralph Hill is out for a big year again. Ralph is concentrating on the development of a sprint, the final sprint so valuable at the end of the mile. Ralph's record is just two seconds slower than Nurmi's all time mark of 4.10 and two-fifths. Captain Hill says he feels great this year, and it's no secret, he has plans of running a mile some time in the near future just two and two-fifths seconds faster than he has ever run before.

The Discus Mark—

Ed Moeller, the giant of the discus, was in good form last Saturday. He merely tossed the plat-

Amphibians Present Proper Canoe Use

The canoeing course, offered by Amphibian, women's local swimming honorary, presented forms of simple paddling and strokes in the canoe at the women's pool at 4 yesterday afternoon and will continue with the instructions at 4 o'clock next Wednesday.

The exhibitions are being staged by Hellen Dunshee, Dorothy Lou MacMillan, and Agnes Stewart, assisted by Ella Redkey, Juanita Young, and Mary Wilburn. If the demand is great enough, they will be presented again. The exhibits are Wednesday and Friday at 4.

On Monday, instruction in simple paddling, bow and stern strokes, getting in and out of a canoe safely, and particular hints on handling a canoe in a narrow, swiftly moving stream were given. Wednesday more difficult canoe paddling will be given, as well as canoe safety. On Friday the canoe will be demonstrated as a life saver, how to make use of currents, and canoe stunts will be taught.

No one who cannot keep up in deep water should come to these meetings, in fact they are requested to keep away. "Anyone who cannot keep up in deep water should not enter a canoe, so that he will not be shifting responsibility upon the shoulders of someone else," stated Miss Ernestine Troemel, adviser of the organization.

Varsity Engages In Rough Session Of Scrimmages

Several Men Temporarily Forced Out of Play By Injuries

A two-hour session of grueling scrimmage was the main event at football practice yesterday afternoon. Coach Spears worked two teams, with frequent substitutions. Plays used were line bucks through center and tackle berths, end runs, with an occasional lateral or forward pass.

Fast Races—

Some of the times in the races Saturday were exceptionally good. Hill ran the half in the very fast time of 1:56.6, Bob Hall, a sophomore, stepped out to cut three seconds off his best mark in the mile, and turned in the time of 4:32. It is in the dashes that Hayward thought the squad would be weak, but Bill has strengthened this department a great deal. Consider Bale's hundred in 10.2 seconds and Starr's time in the 220 of 22 seconds flat. These two fellows ran almost even in both two races.

Where's the Sun?—

Yes, as Bill says, he has some good men out there. And if pre-season indications mean anything they are going to keep on being good. Hayward's squad needs strengthening in a few events, but Bill has time yet to get a lot of work done. The hurdlers, jumpers, and some of the weightmen aren't quite up to their standard. Chances are they won't be until the sun comes out and the weather warms up, if that ever happens.

Independent Men Take Northwest Fencing Tourney

Winetrot Wins Individual Northwest Honors At Corvallis

For the second successive year Dick Waggoner, Lee Winetrot, and Dave Killion, Webfoot bladesmen, vanquished the best collegiate swordsmen of the northwest at the annual fencing tournament at Corvallis Saturday. For the second successive year the University of Oregon refused to recognize the trio as Oregon's representatives or helped to defray their expenses. All squads but the Oregon one had their expenses paid to the quadrangular meet.

The independent Oregon fencers completely outclassed the pick of Washington State college, Reed, and O. S. C., winning 23 out of 24 matches as compared to 11 victories for W. S. C. and 6 apiece for Reed and O. S. C. Winetrot and Killion made a clean sweep of their eight duels while Waggoner lost but one bout. Receiving only 6 touches in his series of matches enabled Winetrot, University champion, to carry away individual northwest honors and a medal. Waggoner also suffered but six touches while Killion drew eight.

Besides Winetrot's medal the Webfoots brought home a handsome cup, which ordinarily would be left as a school trophy. However, since the University does not support a fencing squad or even allow the northwest champions to use the University name the men will promptly stage a personal tourney to determine the final custodian of the cup. W. S. C. was represented at the meet by Zerbe and Bushel; Reed by Gehlert, Lundstrom, and DeLashmatt; and O. S. C. by Venowitz, Maybach, and Cummings.

Mrs. Beck Made Head Of Music Conference

Several Men Temporarily Forced Out of Play By Injuries

Mrs. Anne Landsbury Beck, head of the public school music department of the University music school was honored at the northwest public school music conference held in Spokane last week by election to the presidency of the conference. The northwest division includes Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana, and is one of six divisions of the national conference, which numbers some 7,000 members.

Last fall Mrs. Beck, who in addition to her University post is music supervisor in the Eugene public schools, was made a member of the editorial board of the Music Supervisor's Journal, the official organ of the national conference. She will continue to hold this position in addition to her northwest presidential duties.

Red Temple juggled a pass before catching it for a clear field, where he ran till Spears stopped him with a word. Doc tells his ball carriers that if their interference gets through, they also should; and false motions, or sidesteps which are unnecessary help a man not at all, only slowing up the play.

Kennedy, fullback, is out temporarily with a bad strain, and Cupoletti, who sprained his back last week when tackled is not in uniform.

EVANS NAMES FETE WORKERS, ENTRANTS

Omega, Theta Chi, Alpha, Zeta, and Sherry Ross halls.

"The members of this year's directorate will have work of great importance on their hands," Evans said in making the appointments. "There were more than 2500 spectators in last year's fete. Those appointed to this year's directorate are fully capable of handling the task."

In choosing the houses which are to take part in the water festival, Evans explained, care has been taken that no house appears three years in succession. The ideal is that each house should take part in alternate years. However, as this is impossible, a certain amount of overlapping has occurred. Nine of the women's and two of the men's houses were in last year's fete.

Delta Delta Delta and Chi Omega, both entered again this year, were winners last year. The Tri-Deltas, paired with Sigma Pi Tau won first place, and Chi Omega and Gamma hall were second.

E. B. Price Will Speak Before Aviation Class

Ernest B. Price, former representative of China Airways Ltd., and for 12 years a member of the consular service, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the class in commercial aviation today at 11 o'clock. Mr. Price will speak on China Airways.

In addition to having Mr. Price speak, there will be moving pictures furnished by the Boeing company. The pictures are a part of an educational series put out by the Boeing company to better acquaint the average person with airplanes and airplane motors.

The class will be held in Villard assembly and it is open to anyone who wishes to attend.

The guest speaker who will address the class on the 21st of this month is Mr. E. L. Wells, who will speak on meteorology.
