Will Rogers in Twain Comedy

At last the much talked about comedy classic of the year, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," Twain's laugh classic of the 19th century that has been harvested by Will Rogers, arrives in Eugene. It opens today at the McDonald theatre for a run of four days.

The judgment of most critics, both in magazines and in newspapers, is that the producers coupled with Will Rogers have actually added zest to this satirical tale of the period when knighthood flowered upon the tables of King Arthur. In the cast are Myrna Loy, Maureen O'Sullivan, William Farnum, Frank Albertson, and dozens of others.

Mez Gets Information From Geneva Institute

Dr. John R. Mez, of the economics department, has just received an announcement of "The Graduate Institute of International Studies" for 1931-1932.

The institute is located at Geneva, the seat of the League of Nations, and was founded four years ago for the study of international relationships.

Eight scholarships of $500 each will be offered advanced students who have attended the institute for one year and who wish to continue their study.

Students interested in the institute are invited to consult Dr. Mez.

Dean Lawrence Is New President of Architects' Group

Man at University Since 1914 Wins Honor at Texas Meeting

Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the school of architecture and allied arts, has been elected president of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture, it is announced here, following a telegram from San Antonio, Texas. The association has just concluded its annual session, and election to the office of president is regarded as the highest honor than can be bestowed upon a head of a collegiate school of architecture.

Dean Lawrence has been at the University, since 1914, and is nationally known, not only for his efforts at establishing what is regarded as one of the finest schools of architecture in the country, but as an architect as well. He has served on the jury of awards for numerous projects, and has been honored in many other ways.

The architecture firm of Portland of which the dean is a member has designed many of the present campus buildings as well as other outstanding structures in the Northwest. His work has always won high recognition.

Dean Lawrence is a fellow of the American Institute of Architects, and has served as honorary president of the Oregon building commission. He was formerly a member of the Portland housing commission and the Portland city planning commission.

French Cinema of 'Dr. Caligari's Cabinet' Coming

The most unusual cinema masterpiece ever produced, "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," a famous French production, will be the offering of the University of Oregon faculty club at the next showing to be sponsored at the Colonial theatre Thursday afternoon, it is announced by S. Stephenson Smith, faculty club committee chairman, who has just completed arrangements to bring the film here.

W.A.A. Will Choose Pep Songs at Contest

For this entire week the Women's building will be ringing with song, for the Women's Athletic association is sponsoring a Song Week contest in order to find some peppy songs for its sole use and in the search for these songs will hold singing assemblies every evening from 4:50 to 5:10.

Every girl on the campus has been invited by the organization to join the contest and furnish some song suitable for W. A. A. use and set to the tune of some old or new popular songs. The songs are to tell of its activities and purposes and are to be songs that can be sung at assemblies, meetings, and games. A box will be placed at the main entrance of the women's gym and any contributions will be greatly appreciated.

The songs will be presented and sung at singing assemblies in the big gym every afternoon this week from 4:50 until 5:10. On Friday afternoon, the final day, several of the best W. A. A. songs will be introduced and sung. There will be entertainment and light refreshments.

The committees in charge of the song week are: Mae Masterton, chairman; Joyce Eusenbark, freshmen; Thelma Brown, sophomores; Ella Redkey, juniors; Mary Wilburn, seniors. Song leaders: Alice Madson, Nellie Schaffer, Scotty McMillan, and Ruth Johnson.

Exporter Will Speak To Foreign Traders

John G. Barnett of Portland will address foreign trade students Wednesday at 3 o'clock in room 105 Commerce on "Requisites for the Conduct of Foreign Trade."

Mr. Barnett, representing the John G. Barnett company, Inc., comes to the University under the auspices of Pan Xenia, foreign trade honorary.

The John G. Barnett company is one of the leading export houses in Portland, and it is through efforts of the foreign trade advisory board that Mr. Barnett is to be on the campus.

The foreign trade board, composed of foreign trade men of Portland, was organized recently to assist the University in outlining courses in that subject and to acquaint students with foreign trade conditions as they exist in the Northwest.

Two Commissioned Second Lieutenants

Gaylord Cox and Jesse Douglas, who graduated from the University last term and completed an advanced course in military training, were commissioned second lieutenants in the infantry reserve by the United States war department March 19, according to information received from Sergeant Agule, of the local R. O. T. C.

2 Students Fined Hours for Hiding True Residence

As a result of filing false statements of residence at the time of registration, two University students will be required to earn five additional hours for graduation besides having their registration cancelled. This action has been taken by the student advisory committee, it was revealed yesterday.

Music, Drama Recital Slated for Thursday

Members of Phi Beta, women's national professional music and drama fraternity, will give a music and drama recital in the auditorium of the Music building at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, April 23. A 25-cent admission will be charged for the scholarship fund.

Each fall, both associate and active members of Phi Beta give a scholarship to a worthy and talented girl. The money for these scholarships is made by Phi Beta through the efforts of its members.

Last year they sponsored a recital by Warren D. Allen, organist of Stanford university. They also presented two one-act plays written by Mrs. Eric Allen and Mrs. Rudolph Ernst.

The girls holding this year's scholarships are Helene Robinson, pianist, and Frances Brockman, violinist, both of Eugene.

Wesley Club Presents 'Cleopas' at Wendling

The Wesley club, organization of University students maintained by the Methodist church, presented "Cleopas," a religious drama, at Wendling, Sunday evening. The play was directed by Esther Lisle, and the part of "Cleopas" was taken by Lloyd Brown.

Wallace Campbell (varsity debater), had charge of the meeting at 6:30 Sunday evening. The discussion topic was "Christianity in Industry."

Plans for the Wesley club retreat at Newport this coming week-end were also discussed. It is anticipated that a large group of students will attend. Students who plan to make the trip are asked to make arrangements immediately by calling Miss Dorothy Nyland at 375 or 1550-J.

False Statements Given at Registrations Brings Committee Action

As a result of filing false statements of residence at the time of registration, two University students will be required to earn five additional hours for graduation besides having their registration cancelled. This action has been taken by the student advisory committee, it was revealed yesterday.

The housing regulation which the students attempted to evade is the one concerning the forbiddance of undergraduate students living in apartment houses. Leniency was granted in this case and permission given the students to re-register subject to payment of the late registration fee. The committee adopted, however, a

The spring term issue of the Coldex, class notebook divider published by Fletcher Udall, was distributed yesterday to campus living organizations and additional copies placed at the College Side Inn.

Tarkington Story on Screen

The first screen version of Booth Tarkington's story, "Father's Son," is being shown today and Wednesday at the Hellig theatre.

The story, originally called "Old Fathers and Young Sons," is a marvelously true story of a boy who is misunderstood by his middle-aged father, who takes all his boyish pranks as evidence of depravity. It is one of those rare child pieces that has universal appeal.

Leon Janney, child star who last appeared with George Arliss in "Old English," plays the part of the boy.

BRAWN - for the blade artists

Take the coach's word for it, fellows—you can't get the strong back for the long stroke, unless the old corpus has the right rations. You won't do much in other activities either—unless food is building you up instead of dragging you down. Whether it's stroke of the crew or sub on the chess team, you can't go wrong on Shredded Wheat. Coaches, pros, trainers and dietitians all loudly praise the body-building, mind-mending virtues of that unbeatable combination—two Shredded Wheat Biscuits completely sunk in good rich milk! Try it tonight—for the late supper—and tomorrow morning for breakfast.

"I've marched with the Foreign Legion" —says Chesterfield

Yet you sign for me at your country club"

What do the grim watchdogs of the desert know of luxuries? Well, try to take their Chesterfields away from them! Over there—and here too—a good cigarette means good tobaccos. What you taste in Chesterfield cigarettes is milder and better tobaccos—nothing else—blended and "cross-blended" to produce a satisfying fragrance, a flavor which is Chesterfield's alone!

Greater mildness... better taste!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes. Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.
