Oregon, O.S.C. To Open Baseball Season Today

Reinhart Field Will Be Scene Of Initial Fray

Gigantic Parade To Start Season on Campus

Mayor To Pitch First Ball To Professor Turnbull; Earl Will Catch

By PHIL COGSWELL (Emerald Sports Editor) Baseball will be king on the campus today, when Oregon and Oregon State meet at Reinhart field at 3:45 this afternoon in the opening game of the 1931 season.

Rally Parade Set

Unequaled in the history of the school will be the inaugural baseball ceremonies which will fittingly start the 1931 season.

Mayor To Pitch Ball

Mayor H. E. Wilder will be on deck to pitch the first ball towards the home plate, and George S. Turnbull, professor in the school of journalism, will attempt to hit it, providing it comes near enough.

Enthusiasm over the opening game celebrations has been running high both on the campus and among the down-town merchants.

Avenging Co-Eds in Full Sway As Senior Leap Week Starts

By RUFUS KIMBALL

With the avenging co-eds now in full sway over the campus, and the men powerless except for listening hopefully to the telephone.

The "Co-ed's Revenge" got off to an auspicious start at the Delta Gamma house last night, and will continue mercifully today in various forms, beginning with the annual Kappa Koffee between 3 and 5 this afternoon, and winding up with the all-campus Mortar Board ball.

The Kappa Koffee, an informal function for seniors only, is to be a date affair, according to Gladys Clausen, general chairman for Leap Week festivities.

All Quiet Along Political Front After Sudden Party Upheaval

Mimnaugh and Knowlton Uneasy Heads Hoping To Wear Crown

By THORNTON GALE

Following the cataclysmic upheaval of the Knowlton, nee Potwin, ticket yesterday, all is comparatively quiet along the political front.

Results of the party were problematical, and as whether it weakened or strengthened the ticket, one man's guess is as good as another's.

Debate Tonight In Villard Ends Forensic Season

Chain Store Question To Be Argued; Willamette Upholds Affirmative

Oregon's forensic season, which has included debates with schools of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and California, will close tonight with the decision debate between the men's team of Oregon and Willamette college in Villard hall at 7:30 o'clock.

Charles Roberts and Rolla Reedy, both of whom are sophomores, will uphold the negative of the question, "Resolved, That the expansion of the chain store is detrimental to the best interests of the American people," while the Willamette debaters will argue the affirmative.

Rolla Reedy has debated before this year for Oregon, but this is the first time that Charles Roberts, who is also, center on the basketball team, has taken part in a forensic contest.

Dr. Robert H. Seashore, associate professor of psychology, will act as chairman for this last debate, and Denver Garner, Corvallis high school debate coach, will serve as critic judge.

Water Carnival Committee Named By Jack Rollwage

Plans for this year's water carnival received a shove forward when a committee was announced yesterday by Jack Rollwage, chairman of the meet.

The committee is to take place on Saturday morning of Junior Week-end, May 8, 9, and 10. The committee has as follows: Jane Munk, secretary; Paul Lafretz, chairman.

Drawings Held Today

Drawings for the canoe race are to be held today in front of the old library at 12:45. All men's and women's living organizations are asked to have a representative there, said Rollwage, so that they may find out what organization they will be paired with in the race.

"Although the canoe race will be the same distance as last year, from the portage to the Anchorage, the distances for the swimming contests will be shortened to about half the old length," Rollwage said.

AWS President Gets Place On ASUO Council

Executive Body Position To Be Non-Voting

Additions Made to Duties Of Student Body Secretary

A permanent resolution will be added to the A. S. U. O. constitution to the effect that the president of the Associated Women Students each year shall have a non-voting place on the executive council, it was decided by the vote of the executive council at its meeting yesterday.

George Cherry, president of the associated students, and Bill Whitely, vice-president, in making known the decision of the council, released the resolution as follows, taken from the minutes of yesterday's meeting:

"On the recommendation of the constitutional revision committee, a motion was made and passed that the president of the Associated Women Students be entitled to attend meetings of the A. S. U. O. executive council, with power to participate in discussion but not to vote."

"The committee felt that this is a wise move," Whitely, who is chairman of the revision committee, told the Emerald last night, "with the purpose in mind of securing for the women students a definite representation on the executive council, and making for closer cooperation between the A. W. S. and the A. S. U. O."

A. W. S. Constitution Approved At its meeting yesterday, Cherry revealed, the executive council passed favorably upon the new A. W. S. constitution, which has been drawn up and is now pending, and which was submitted to the council for its approval.

Provides for Student Council The executive council took action yesterday on a proposal to

William Ludlow, Former Oregon Student, Injured

Youth Crushed Under Tree Falling Through Roof Of McKenzie Cabin

William Ludlow, 19, former student in the University, who suffered a dislocated hip, badly injured knee, and severe shock when he was pinned to his bed in his father's cabin near McKenzie Bridge by a huge falling tree which crashed through the roof, was reported in a poor condition at the Eugene hospital late last night.

Ludlow sustained his serious injuries about midnight Wednesday, being crushed under the weight of the tree and frantic with pain until rescued at 5 o'clock Thursday morning by a neighboring woodsman, Dee Wright.

Ludlow was brought to the Eugene hospital at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon after crews of men worked to remove fallen trees from the highway in order that the relief truck and ambulance carrying the injured boy could get through to Eugene.

Ludlow entered the University in the fall of 1929 as a freshman in pre-law, but did not register last fall. He was well known for his ability in tennis, having reported for the freshman net team.

Cold Reception Greets Visitors At Friendly Hall

AN epidemic of water bagging broke out at Friendly hall last night, and disaster followed in the wake of anyone approaching the building.

Residents of the top floor vied for long distance honors, hurling balloons of cold water far out in front of the hall. Seventy feet was the furthest record created up to a late hour. One unlucky dweller on the first floor unwisely stuck his head out of a window and was accurately and thoroughly water-bagged.

Wet pavements surrounding the building gave mute evidence that Friendly hall was none too friendly last night.

Band Tuned Up For Big Program Tomorrow Night

Musicians Parade Campus To Advertise 'Bust' At Colonial

With the ticket sale started off with a big band parade on the campus yesterday afternoon, and the finishing touches completed for the vaudeville stage program, everything is in readiness for the first annual "Band Bust" tomorrow night at 11 o'clock at the Colonial theatre, it is announced by Carson Mathews, in charge of the event.

The concert and parade demonstrated that the band's share of the entertainment will be well worth while. The group will open the show at 11, when after a short concert in front of the theatre, they will play a couple of specially prepared numbers inside.

During the band numbers horns and noisemakers will be passed to everyone in the audience, and from that time on the "lid will be off."

The entire audience will take part in singing one of the popular "screen songs." This will be followed by some rapid-fire magic by the famous Virgil Mulkey. A mysterious ususal dancer will then trip some unusual steps, and the Oregon Rhythm Boys, with some brand new numbers, will wind up the stage performance.

Comedy Feature One of the outstanding talking picture hits of the year, "Follow the Leader" with Ed Wynn, will be the feature cinema of the evening. This is crammed with humor and is one great laugh from start to end.

Tickets have been placed on sale

Grads Made Members Of Education Honorary

Seven graduate students became members of Phi Delta Kappa, national education honorary for men, at its spring initiation held yesterday afternoon in Gerlinger hall.

Virgil D. Earl, director of physical education and the new dean of men, Philip B. Park, Franklin Anderson, and Aage E. Anderson were elected from the school of education; Lester Beck and Joseph Trainor from the psychology department; and H. B. Hunsaker from the physical education department.

After the completion of the initiation ceremonies 40 gathered at the Anchorage for a banquet in honor of the new members. Speaker for the occasion was Henry D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education, who discussed the effect of propaganda on education.

Irving Mather, vice-president of the group, acted as toastmaster. Another initiation is planned by the organization, which will take place some time before the end of the term.

Junior Vodvil Dance Slated For Saturday

All-Campus Affair To Be At Coconut Grove

Special Features Including Chorus of Twelve Are Promised

An all campus dance will be held Saturday night at the Coconut Grove dance pavilion, it was announced last night by Walt Robins, who is in charge. The dance is sponsored by the directorate of the Junior Vodvil and will feature excerpts from this year's production, Robins said.

The dance will last from 9 to 11 o'clock, and an admission of 50 cents per couple will be charged. The music will be furnished by the "Ten Commanders," who will also provide music for "That New Idea" when it goes on the stage at the Hellig May 1 and 2.

Chorus To Feature

Some of the special features of the dance will include the pony chorus, made up of 12 of the Vodvil chorines who will reveal a few of the steps which will feature their appearance in the show. "Rhythm Boys," the well known Oregon trio who will appear in the Vodvil, will also perform at the dance. They announce, however, that they will not release the numbers which they have worked up for the revue. Marian Camp, dancer and director of the girls' dancing chorus will also be featured at the dance as will Tory Shell, and the Harmony Twins, "those banjo playing fools."

This will be the first and last opportunity, Palmer said, that the students will have to get a line on the 1931 Vodvil.

Palmer Will "M. C."

"Slug" Palmer, chairman-director of "That New Idea" will be master of ceremonies, and promises that this will be the best dance of the term, and that the features will outnumber and outclass any that have been seen this year.

"If you are looking for a good time, good music, good features, and an all-around good dance," Palmer said, "be sure to be on hand Saturday night at 9 o'clock, at the Coconut Grove."

All profits, after paying for the floor and the orchestra, Robins stated, will go to the Vodvil fund.

Campus Trio To Sing Over Radio KGW in Contest

Oregon Rhythm Orpheum In Competition Tonight

The Oregon Rhythm Boys, Kelsey Slocum, John Smedberg, and Bob Goodrich, will compete tonight in Portland in the KGW-RKO radio contest, first prize in which will take the winners to New York City where a national broadcast audition will be given them.

The contest, sponsored by the Morning Oregonian's radio station KGW, and the RKO Orpheum theatre, is being held to arouse interest in the Rose Festival, to be held in Portland in June, and also in the On-to-Oregon movement.

Many radio acts have entered the competition. The Rhythm Boys sang over the Portland station for the Hoot Owls last month and won high praise for their performance.

The campus trio will go on the air over KGW at midnight tonight from the stage of the theatre. During the day they will fulfill two other engagements in Portland, singing at the civic auditorium and before a business men's meeting.

Emerald, Oregon Business Managers, Annual Head Named

Executive Council Approves Committee's Choice

ACCEPTING the recommendations of the publications committee of the A. S. U. O., the executive council last night appointed an editor for the 1932 Oregon, and business managers for both the Oregon and the Emerald.

Thornton Gale, junior in journalism, is the new Oregon editor. Larry Jackson, junior in business administration, was chosen for business manager of the Emerald. Roger Bailey, sophomore in business administration, will be business manager of the Oregon for the second successive year.

Men Take Leave As Mortar Board Ball Approaches

Women To Turn Tables on Men This Evening at Formal Dance

A great many men are packing their bags and leaving town for the week-end. Destination unknown. Reasons? Also unknown, but tonight is the night for the Mortar Board ball (9 o'clock at the Eugene hotel), and the women are doing all the inviting, are calling for the men, sending them flowers, hiring cars, dining them afterwards.

The tickets are going like wild fire," said Dorothy Eberhard, general chairman for the dance, "and a great deal of enthusiasm is being shown. Many of the houses are holding formal dinners before the ball."

The Mortar Board ball is an exceedingly formal affair and one to which every person on the campus is invited. "There has been a rumor," Miss Eberhard advised, "to the effect that freshman men will not be allowed. I want to deny that rumor. The dance has been advertised as "all-campus," and it is that."

Those who have not already obtained their tickets may get them at the Co-op or at the dean of women's office. The price is $1.25. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The assisting Miss Eberhard on the committee are: finance, Bess Templeton; decorations, Mildred McGee and Kathryn Langenberg; Colin; publicity, Daphne Hughes; music, Margaret Cummings.

The entire length of the dancing floor at the Eugene hotel has been procured for the evening. Decorations will be carried out in a color scheme of red, green, and amber.

Republic's Failure is King's Chance, Says Miss Thompson

By RUTH DUPUIS

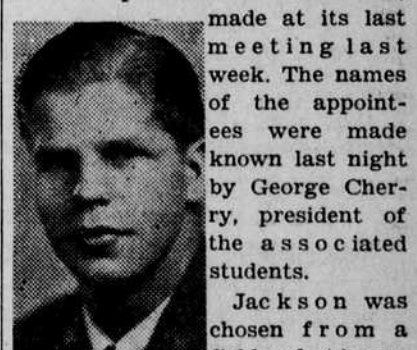

The King of Spain's only chance for return as ruler of Spain would be the failure of the Republican party, is the opinion of Miss Anna Thompson, assistant professor of Romance languages, who has lived 10 years in Spain.

"The Spanish people are very individualistic. In their history they have shown themselves to be united against the enemy, but when they succeed, they break up into factions.

"If the decent people of Spain can sink their individual differences, I think that the Republican form of government will be a success," said Miss Thompson.

"The Republicans can even get the aristocrats to join them, unless they should antagonize them by confiscating property," she added.

A liberal republic, the return of the monarchy, or communism are

Larry Jackson candid dates for the Emerald management, while Gale was one of two running for the editorship of the Oregon. Jack Gregg and Harry Schenk were Jackson's competitors; Gale was apposed by Gibson Danes. Bailey was the only nominee for his position.

A member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, and of Ye Tabard Inn chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national writers' honorary, Gale has had two years' experience on the student yearbook, as well as a record of two years' work on the Oregon as section editor, while his work on the 1931 edition has been in the capacity of associate editor. On the Emerald, he worked last year as reporter and as news editor for KORE, this year as day editor, and at present holds the position of political editor. His home is in Bandon, Oregon.

Has Active Record

Jackson has behind him three years of service on the Emerald business staff. As a freshman he joined the staff as assistant circulation manager, rose to circulation manager when a sophomore, and during the present school year is national advertising manager. His other activities this year include circulation drive chairman and advertising director on the Oregon, and member of the Junior Week-end directorate. He is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, national three alternatives for Spain, which Miss Thompson pointed out. "On account of their individualism, the Spaniards will not make good communists," she said.

Miss Thompson met one of the members of the newly formed provisional cabinet, Fernando de los Rios, minister of public instruction, whose daughter was one of her pupils in Spain.

Fernando de los Rios, formerly a professor at the University of Granada and a member of congress, is the nephew of Francisco Giner de los Rios, an educator who had much influence on Spanish men of affairs. Desiring a reform in Spanish education, he later established the "Free Institution of Teaching" in Madrid which was located just across the street from the Instituto Nacional, where Miss Thompson taught. It was at this place that Miss Thompson
