Official Bulletin Will Be Sent To All Students Who Have Signed Up

Each Course Will Count as Two Term-Hours Credit Of University Work

"The Alaska Boatman," the official bulletin for the summer sessions in Alaska, makes its first appearance for this year today when it will be mailed to all those who have ever enrolled in the summer school to Alaska or have written to the University concerning the excursion.

The faculty staff for the trip, as announced in the Boatman, will consist of nine instructors: Prof. M. H. Parsons, American literature of the Pacific Northwest; Dr. Alexander Goldenweiser, anthropology; Prof. Andrew Vincent, art of the Alaskan Indians; Miss Lenore Casford, children's literature; Prof. A. R. Sweetser, field botany;

Dr. E. L. Packard, geography and geology of Alaska; Dr. Joseph Schafer, history of the Pacific Northwest; Professor Vincent, landscape sketching in water-colors and pastel; and Prof. W. G. Beattie, state and territorial school system.

Start August 3

All those enrolling in the school must be in Eugene on Monday morning, August 3, where the first meeting is to be called in Villard assembly. On Wednesday, August 12, the members of the cruise will leave Eugene by special train for Seattle, where the boat, the Admiral Rogers, commanded by Captain Gilje, will leave the following morning. Classes will begin immediately.

The first stop will be made in British Columbia. A chance to inspect Victoria and visit the provincial museum there is to be given the students. Prince Rupert is the last port of call on the trip. From Skagway a side trip will be conducted on the White pass and Yukon railroad, along the "trail of '98," over the summit of White pass to Lake Bennett. The entire trip will carry the excursioners over more than twenty-five hundred miles of "campus."

Sweetser To Teach

Dr. Sweetser, head of plant biology on the campus, who has taught a course in field botany on each of the past two cruises, will continue again this year.

Dr. Joseph Schafer, who will teach the history course, was at one time head of the history department here and is now superintendent of the Wisconsin Historical society.

Dr. Alexander Goldenweiser is known through his writings on anthropology and ethnology, and is the leading authority on totemism, the system of dividing tribes into clans according to their totems. He is at present a teacher at the Portland center.

Gives Literature Course

Mable Holmes Parsons is an instructor of literature at the Portland extension school and gave the literature course on the University cruise to Hawaii last year. The administrative staff for the trip consists of Professor Beattie, director; Miss Casford, librarian; and Mrs. Beattie, dean of women.

Each course offered will count as two term-hours credit. Enrollment at the present time is being taken by the director of summer sessions, University of Oregon, 814 Oregon building, Portland.

comedies, revues, news reels, endeavoring to make an all round potpourri of the best shorts on the market. Showings begin at 7 or 9.

Heilig Operetta Colorful
The useful and technicolor Heilig feature, "Viennese Nights," will close after today's showings to make room for the Junior Vodvil. One of the most successful films at this theatre in recent months, it is obtaining an unusual amount of comment. Written by Oscar Hammerstein and Sidney Romborg, with Franz Lehár helping out, the film is a musical romance of old Vienna, gayest of European capitals.

Norma Shearer Makes Hit
Norma Shearer, winner of the Academy of Motion Pictures 1930 award, makes a hit again in the current McDonald film, "Strangers May Kiss."

A story teeming with "modern" situations that arise from a girl's desire to live her own life in her own way offers her a vehicle that brings out the best of the Shearer talent. It is filmed from the novel by Ursula Parrott, Robert Montgomery and a large cast of "well-knowns" support Miss Shearer.

Recognize these four men? They were way up in campus affairs a few years ago. If you don't know them, you'll find their identities on this page today.

Observer Finds Plenty of 'Bull' In Junior Vodvil

"What! My fiancée in another man's arms!" storms Don Bruzio, coming upon the beautiful Estralita talking to Don Evara, a minstrel with a beautiful voice.

Just then the bull fighters and frightened people start running around—Don Bruzio, who is a bull fighter, tries to play hero—but he fails miserably, when the bull gives a sneeze which blows his opponent off the stage.

Stage? Yes, this didn't happen in real life; it is a story which has leaked out from the Junior Vodvil.

Of course the story doesn't end there, but it is hard to find out much about the vodvil until Friday night. However, there are rumors to the effect that Don Evara calms the two-piece bull, who then does a tap dance before making his exit.

It's all just the "Spanish Fantasy." There are many other clever skits in the show. Some dope about them will be spilled tomorrow.

ROTC HOLDS PARADE

Bell; and Company D, Carey Thomson.

A feature of the parade was the ceremony in which the company commanders of the four companies marched to the battalion commander's station for review.

The parade was the final element in the training inspection made yesterday by Major James H. Tierney of Eugene, and was the first of a series to be held each Wednesday during the term.

As the University must choose the successful candidate for this scholarship before May 20 it is urgent that all those desiring to apply do so at once. Those who are interested may file their names at the office of Karl W. Onthank, dean of the personnel bureau.
