MIMNAUGH TICKET ELECTED INTACT

Junior Week-End To Open Today at Luncheon

Canoe Fete on Race Tonight Is Leading Event

Eleanor and Princesses To Rule Over Campus

Festivities This Afternoon Include Flivver Race, Beauty Parade

JUNIOR WEEK-END

Program Today

- 10:00—Pacific Northwest Intercollegiate Golf Match. 11:45—Campus Luncheon. 12:30—Orchestra and Entertainment. 1:30—Flivver Race. 2:00—Men's Beauty Parade. 2:15—Tennis Court Dance. 2:30—Washington vs. Oregon Baseball Game. 8:00—Canoe Fete.

Junior Week-end will open today at noon with the campus luncheon, when the entire student body and visiting mothers will gather on the campus lawn as guests of the junior class.

The leading event of the day will be the canoe fete, "La Fete Moderne," scheduled for 8 o'clock this evening on the mill race. Fifteen floats, entered by living organizations, will pass in review, in competition for the annually presented prize trophies.

Queen Coronation Tonight Over Eleanor I, who will reign over Junior Week-end, will be officially crowned at the canoe fete by Art Potwin, president of the junior class.

Immediately following the campus luncheon a number of events will be run off. The flivver race in which the campus' oldest "rolling wrecks" of four cylinders or less will compete in terms of the shortest distance in the greatest length of time.

Canoe Fete Staging Improves

D. T. Bayly, Viewer of Many Annual Mill Race Shows, Says Events Getting Better Each Year

By JIM BROOKE

"There is something that always stands out in every Canoe Fete," D. T. Bayly, manager of the Anchorage Raceway, who has viewed a succession of fetes from his doorway, said yesterday. "One of them tips over, or catches fire, or gets caught on the trees or along the bank. But as a rule they go off pretty smoothly.

"Are they getting more elaborate? Well, I don't know," he continued. "They had some mighty fine floats in 1922 and '23. I suppose they are improving in quality a little. One thing does improve, though. There has been a continual bettering of staging and stands.

"When I first came here the people sat around on the banks of the race. Later they built a species of 'seats'—that was in 1922. Until I acquired the property they were unable to construct anything on the other side of the race. The or-

Death House for Candidates

Student voters went to the polls at the Y hut early yesterday to decide the fate of candidates for A. S. U. O. offices. Here are a few of the voters snapped by the Emerald's staff photographer.

High School Title In Debate Will Be Decided Saturday

Medford and Prineville, District Champions, Are To Meet in Villard

The high school debating championship of Oregon will be decided here tomorrow when Medford high school, winner in western Oregon, meets Prineville high school, the winner of eastern Oregon, according to Percy M. Collier, of the University extension division, chairman of the high school league.

As champions of eastern and western Oregon these two teams will be awarded the Burt Brown Barker cup, while the winner of this last debate will receive the E. E. DeCoup cup.

Medford Has Affirmative Helen Wilson and Donald Darnelle will compose the team which will represent Medford, under Ralph R. Bailey, coach. They will argue the affirmative side of the question. Last week this pair defeated Astoria high school in a contest held in Portland, thereby winning the right to represent western Oregon. Last year Medford won this right, also, but was defeated by McLoughlin high school at Milton-Freewater, in the final debate.

The Prineville team, upholding the negative, is composed of Frances Mays and Catherine Coshow and coached by Vernon I. Basler. The debate will be held at 7:30 o'clock in Villard hall on the campus, and the subject under discussion will be "Resolved, that chain stores are detrimental to the best interests of the American people." Judges will be Robert Prescott, Eugene; George W. Robbins, of the school of business, and Carlton Spencer, of the law school.

Water Carnival Race Rules Given Out by Rollwage

Event Saturday To Start At 10:30 o'Clock; Features Ready

Rules to which entries in the water carnival races must adhere have been formulated, it was announced yesterday by Jack Rollwage, carnival chairman. Leading events on the program for the carnival will be a canoe race, and a men's and women's swimming race. The event will take place at 10:30 Saturday morning on the mill race.

Swimming race entries, both men and women, will be required to pass physical examinations at the health service by today noon, or they will not be allowed to enter. Hugh L. Biggs, dean of men, made this statement imperative yesterday.

11 Rules Given The canoe race entries will be subject to a set of rules as follows:

- 1. Canoes shall be procured by

Texts on Spanish To Be Discussed At AATS Meeting

Teachers' Oregon Chapter To Exchange Ideas on Methods

The Oregon chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish will hold a meeting on this campus at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Oregon hall. Teachers who will be here for Junior Week-end will be among the delegates.

The purpose of the meeting is to exchange opinion on methods and policies of teaching Spanish, and to discuss textbooks. At last year's meeting a committee was appointed to recommend a textbook to be adopted by the state for six years. The recommendation of the committee was acted upon by the legislature and the textbook adopted.

Officers for the coming year will be elected. The retiring officers are: Dr. L. O. Wright, professor of Romance languages, president; Miss Anna M. Thompson, assistant professor of Romance languages, secretary-treasurer, and Carl J. Furr of the Romance language department, corresponding secretary.

Canoe Fete Costs Must Be Submitted to Gregg

Houses entering in the canoe fete must have a complete list of the cost of materials used in their floats, compiled in the shape of a budget, handed to Jack Gregg by noon today. These expenses must not run over $30, according to Gregg, and must cover the complete expenses.

At the same time the type, number, and color of spot lights needed for each float and the music desired will be determined.

Mothers' Day Registration Begins Today

Scene at Johnson Hall From Nine Till Seven

500 To Attend Banquet on Saturday; Cups Will Be Awarded

"Register your mother early," Irma Logan, chairman of the registration committee for Mother's day, urges students, "or they will not be counted in on the house competition trophies which are offered by Mrs. Walter M. Cook of Portland and Mrs. Charles Hall of Marshfield."

Registration will be at the administration building, and the hours are from 9 until 7 today, and from 9 until 1 tomorrow. Mothers' pins may be purchased at this time.

To Escort Mothers

Members of Skull and Daggers, sophomore men's service honorary, will be present to receive the mothers and to escort them to their respective houses. Mrs. Charlotte Donnelly, acting in the role of official hostess for the University, will also be present to welcome the mothers, assisted by Mrs. Alice E. Macduff, assistant dean of women. Mrs. Donnelly will aid mothers who have not been able to obtain rooms at the hotels in securing places to stay.

Tickets at Office Up until today 469 tickets for the banquet, which is to be held Saturday at 6 in Gerlinger hall, had been sent out by the dean of men's office to mothers, it is announced. Those who sent in requests and who did not receive tickets may secure them at the dean's office.

The cups will be presented at the banquet to the houses having the most number of mothers. The competition will be placed on a percentage basis. Mrs. Cook, president of the Oregon Mothers' association, will preside, and in the event of her absence, Mrs. J. F. Hill, past president of the organization, will take her place. The men's cup was won last

Depression Due To Public Mind, Says Dr. Morris

Overcoming of Fear and Uncertainty Would Control Conditions

"One key to the control of business conditions is the learning of the public to control its state of mind." This was the statement of Dr. Victor P. Morris, professor of economics, when he spoke over station KORE during the Emerald editorial hour yesterday afternoon.

The talk was third in the series being given by members of the University faculty on topics of current interest. John G. Hazam, of the history department, Dr. John R. Mez, of the economics department, and Wayne L. Morse, of the law school, are among those who will speak during the next two weeks.

"If we can overcome that fear and uncertainty which always helps to bring on a financial crash, and that mob spirit which sweeps everyone along with it into a feeling of hard times, we will go a long way toward abolishing business depression," Mr. Morris remarked.

The present business system,

Huskies Face Oregon Today In Local Game

Starting Time of Tussle Moved Up to 2:30

Washington Leads League; Dave Bloom To Pitch For Webfoots

The purple and gold Huskies from the University of Washington will face the offerings of Dave Bloom with the rest of the Webfoot nine behind him at Reinhart field this afternoon. The Huskies come to Eugene leading the Northwest baseball conference. Another game will be played tomorrow.

As afternoon classes are dismissed today, the starting time of the game will be moved up from the usual 4 o'clock to 2:30.

Washington was champion last year and they have started the current season impressively, winning both Idaho tussles, and splitting even in a two-game series with Washington State.

Putnam May Pitch Coached by Tubby Graves, the Husky line-up is composed principally of sophomores. However, there are enough second and third year men to season the squad.

Dignon and Gaw, regular pitchers, each pocketed a game from Idaho earlier in the week. After a lapse of a year, Oregon probably will renew acquaintances with Pitcher Putnam today.

Bill Reinhart was out of town yesterday. In his absence the squad took a light workout and then played a practice game with the frosh.

Potter Remains on Third

The line-up this afternoon will resemble the coterie that tackled the Cougars Tuesday. Although they were thrown for a loss by the

Junior Class To Start Construction For Prom Today

Mimnaugh Issues Call for Men To Be at Igloo To Aid in Work

Construction work on the Junior Prom, to be held tomorrow night, will get under way in earnest at the Igloo today, and a call has been issued by Brian Mimnaugh, chairman, for all junior men to be on hand today to aid in the preparation of the court for the dance.

This work will be under the direction of Sol Director, chairman of the construction committee. Representatives of the Stark Decorating company, of Portland, will assist the committee in planning the decoration of McArthur court in the "Queen" motif, which is being used for the dance.

The ticket sale is going well, according to Ken Jette, assistant chairman of the directorate, who is in charge, and it is expected that the quota of 450 will be sold when the sale closes tomorrow.

Decorations will continue tomorrow, and those who cannot be at the Igloo today are asked to aid in the work tomorrow.

Oregana Circulation At ASUO Office Today

The final shipment of 900 Oreganas will be distributed from the graduate manager's office in Friendly hall from 8:30 to 11:30 this morning, Roger Bailey, business manager of the 1931 yearbook, said last night.

About 1,200 copies of the Oregana have been given out so far, and it is thought that distribution today will exhaust the supply. Books will be given out to those students who have paid their $5 subscriptions.

Presidential Victor Gets Majority of 238 Votes in ASUO Poll

Evans Edges out Stipe in Final Count; 1810 Ballots Cast

By THORNTON GALE

TICKET politics were seemingly vindicated last night, when Brian Mimnaugh and his complete ticket were elected by majorities ranging from 238 in the case of Mimnaugh to a difference of 51 in the vice-presidential race.

At no time was Mimnaugh's lead threatened. He was ahead from the first returns at 4:30 until the final results at 9 o'clock. The most fiercely contested race was between Walt Evans and Jack Stipe for the vice-presidency. Stipe took an early lead, which he held with a small margin until 8 o'clock, when the tide changed and Evans gradually crept ahead to win by a majority of 51.

Irma Logan won over Alexis Lyle for the position of secretary of the student body by a vote of 1091 to 796. Logan held a consistent lead throughout the race. Wally Baker defeated Kelsey Slocom for executive man by a vote of 1064 to 750.

Velma Powell defeated Eleanor Lewis for the position of executive woman by a vote of 1116 to 763, and Jim Travis defeated John King for the junior finance post by a vote of 1124 to 759. This was the largest majority piled up by a candidate of the Mimnaugh side.

Co-op Candidates Win The three candidates on the Mimnaugh ticket, for the Co-op board all won by large majorities. Adele Wedemeyer polled 1071 votes, Ethan Newman 964, and George Turner 1024. Their opponents in the field for the same offices were Dorothy Johnson, who received 783 votes; Bob Near, 887; and Bob Perigo, who polled 779.

In spite of the complete election of one ticket, almost half of the ballots counted were split, said election officials last night.

Re-election Held Unlikely Two callers and four checkers passed on each ballot, and in the race for vice-presidency only an error of one was discovered. The lack of tally difference makes the possibility of a re-election extremely unlikely.

Only 1810 votes were cast. In a previous issue the writer predicted that 1800 would be balloted, which is a close enough guess for any game except horseshoes.

The results of this election still prove that ticket politics are a profitable investment for the ambitious young politician.

Faction Breaks Up Now that the election is over, it can be pointed out that the race between Mimnaugh and Knowlton

Favors United Student Church

Dr. Nelson L. Bossing Says Edifice Near Campus Opportunity To Influence Life

Editor's note: This is the third of a series of articles being published in the Emerald concerning united student religious work and its relation to the proposed union of student religious organizations on the Oregon campus.

By JACK BELLINGER

A united interdenominational church for students was advocated by Dr. Nelson L. Bossing, professor of education, in an interview yesterday. Dr. Bossing is chairman of the student-faculty committee on religion, which met at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to consider various plans to better the student religious life on the Oregon campus.

"If the churches involved in the talked of merger should fall in their plans of union to provide for a church in proximity to the University of Oregon campus a real opportunity will have been lost to influence most effectively the student life," Dr. Bossing said.
