

Webfoot Golf Team Defeats Husky Squad

Varsity Players in One-Sided Victory Over Northerners

Northwest Division Match Scheduled for Today And Tomorrow

By HAL RUSHTON

The Webfoot golf team yesterday trimmed the University of Washington Huskies by the score of 19 1-2 to 1 1-2 on the local golf course. George Will, playing in number one position, beat Kermit Rosen 3 to 0. Harry Kincaid, number two, took two points from Adolph Levar of Washington but dropped the third. Captain Vince Dolp, finding himself playing in number three position, trimmed John Schwager by 3 to 0. Evidently Vince is playing closer to his usual game now after having had a slight slump.

Case Drops Points

Elwell Case of the Huskies found the going not altogether to his liking and dropped three points to Frank Shafer who has been playing consistently good golf lately. A fifth match, between Danton Rossell of Washington and Bob Adelsperger of Oregon, over 36 holes, resulted in an additional three points for the Webfoots.

Lunch found the Webfoots well ahead of the Huskies. The half-time score of 12 to 1 cinched the match for Oregon. In the afternoon, Will and Dolp took 2 1-2 points from Rosen and Schwager but lost one half. Schafer and Kincaid beat Case and Levar by 3 to 0.

Entered for Championship

Both teams are entered in the important Northwest division championship here today and tomorrow. Other teams competing are Oregon State and Montana. By the looks of their performances to date, the local boys seem to have things pretty much their way in the Northwest.

In case that the Webfoots should win the division championship, they will be host to a representative team from the south, this team to be determined soon in a similar divisional playoff. We predict that Stanford university will win the southern championship and if so,

University To Aid Swim Week With Free Instruction

School's Tanks To Be Used For Classes; Students Will Turn Teachers

Young Lane county will put on its bathing suit and learn to swim from May 11 to 16, when the fourth annual swim week is given by the Eugene Y. M. C. A., the Lane county Red Cross, and the University of Oregon physical education school. This year instruction is to be devoted almost entirely to beginners, although a few classes for boys and men who know something about swimming will also be held.

The men's and women's tanks at the University will be used for the classes, which are under the direction of Miss Ernestine Troemel and Jack Hewitt, campus swimming instructors. Advanced swimming students will act as teachers of the various classes and as life guards during the week.

Instructors for the girls' have been announced by Miss Troemel as follows: Jessie Puckett, Edna Kerns, Florence Tennet, Ruth Johnson, Lucille Hill, Evelyn Hamilton, Dorothea Goodfellow, Ethel Mason, Dorothy Lou MacMillan, Fanny-Vick Pierce, Dorothy Goff, and Dorothy Barthel. The life guards will be announced in the near future.

Co-ed Tennis Tourney Must Be Over Monday

The first round of the women's interclass tennis tournament has been scheduled for this week, and must be completed before Monday, according to Sigrid Riddell, assistant manager of tennis.

The contestants and opponents will be: Alavan Davis vs. Raynild Bendixen; Mona Masterton vs. Nellie Schaffer; and Eleanor Thurston vs. Dorothy MacLean. These matches must be played before Monday, any afternoon from 4 until 6, at the convenience of the players, the scores to be placed with Miss Margaret Duncan.

The contestants will be required to secure their own referees, however a list of available referees has been posted on the main bulletin board of the women's gym with their phone numbers for reference. The second round will start next week, with about 35 girls enrolled.

Webfoots Meet Huskies Today

These two Oregon ball players will probably see action today during the Washington game. Vern Arnett, relief hurler, has been shifted to center field. Cliff Potter has been playing either at third or first base.

Education School Now Organizes Kitten Ball Team

"Kitten" ball is still luring the students and faculty on the campus into its mesh. The latest to succumb is the education school, which has been organizing a team to meet the foreboding psych players on May 16.

The most recent threat in the baseball spotlight is being rounded into a team that will be noticed by the other departments. A call for more "educators" has been issued. Anybody who knows how to bat or heave a ball, provided he is a member of the education faculty or a major, is urged to come out and add strength to the budding team.

The practice field is in back of the Education building, and the invitation is out for all teachers to teach the psych department how to play kitten ball.

Seventeen have turned out to date. The temporary line-up includes Anderson, Park, and Brewer for catcher; Spreague and Davis, double-barreled pitching staff; Black, Stetson, and Schlessler, first; Van Loon and Spreague, second base; Eberhart and Anderson, third; Mather, short; and Moore, Goddard, Roubal, and Rothwell, candidates for fielders. There is room for more.

diately following are the events. The Oregon-Washington baseball game will afford entertainment for those who do not care to dance.

Commanders To Play

Music for the entire week-end will be handled by the Ten Commanders. They will play for the campus luncheon, the tennis court dance, and the canoe fete today, and tomorrow they will furnish music for the junior prom.

Programs, in which the week-end schedule of events and illustrated descriptions of each event are listed, went to press yesterday and will be distributed at the campus luncheon today.

PHILOGRAMS

By Phil Cogswell

Huskies Arrive—Washington's baseball team, opening the series with the Webfoots here today, is tied for the leadership of the league, having taken two games from Idaho and one out of two from the Cougars. This doesn't furnish any dope to bet on, though the Huskies may be given the edge over the Webfoots on reputation. They won the title last year and have virtually the same lineup again. The Washington golfer, who took it on the chin so badly yesterday, were of the opinion that their ball club would revenge them.

For the Title—When the division meet is under way, the entrants will play 36 holes each day. This will be medal play and the low scorer regardless of how the teams come out, will meet the winner of a similar tournament being held in the South for the intercollegiate championship of the coast. Vince Dolp is at present the coast title holder; but he may find George Will the man to beat for the honor this time. George has been playing fine and steady golf while Vince hasn't been able to settle down yet.

Idaho Feels Better—The games should be close, because the Huskies haven't done anything wonderful so far, and neither have the Webfoots. That does away with chances for one-sided victories. But everybody knows that anything can happen in baseball. For instance, this is what Bill Pohliman, Idaho sports editor, writes us. "Our team looked plenty green in Eugene I guess and probably will remain so the rest of the spring, but nevertheless they pulled a fast one when they upset Oregon State. I have to brag about that."

represented the break-up of a faction that successfully ran class politics for three years. Mimnaugh, Potwin, Knowlton, and Stipe played in each other's back yards, supported each other in class affairs, were with each other heart and soul until it came time for the presidency. All four were called, but only Mimnaugh and Knowlton were finally chosen. It was ascertained early that Mimnaugh would run, so the other three of the quartet played ball together. Stipe was first considered but withdrawn in favor of Knowlton. Potwin was chosen to head the party, but Knowlton was substituted for him in the last half, in order to garner more organization support.

Golfing Thrills

There will be plenty of thrills for golf fans this week-end with the division playoffs getting under way. Whether you are another club or a fair hand with the clubs, you'll enjoy seeing Vince Dolp or George Will, the Webfoots, or Levard, Schwagler, and Rosen, of Washington. These men have been playing par golf or better. In fact, George Will has been going like Bobby Jones, the great, cutting par by three or four strokes.

Four Teams Here

There will be four teams entered in the division tournament, Oregon State and Montana having entered, too. The Webfoots have already drubbed the Beavers badly, one-

Phi Deltas Defeat Beta Theta Pi in Golf Tournament

Only One Man of Losing Teams Manages To Beat Opponent

The campus intramural golf championship came to a close today with Beta bowing to the Phi Deltas by 7 1-2 to 4 1-2. The golf exhibited by both teams of the finals was distinctly superior to any shown in previous intramural matches.

Willie Johnston was the only Beta to win from his opponent. Johnston trimmed Bill Grigsby by 3 to 0, playing a fine round in the meanwhile. He had six birdies and medaled approximately 72 over the Country club course. Jerry Lillie surprised Bob Near to the tune of 2 1-2 to 1-2 in a match that the Betas expected to win without much trouble.

Phil Mulder from the big grey barn took Wally Hug down the line by 2 to 1. Larry Bay next came in with the scalp of Treve Jones hanging on his belt. Bay medaled a mere 75 to take Jones' measure, 3 to 0.

Oregon State Evens Series With Cougars

Flashing ahead to a two-run lead in the first inning, the Oregon State Beavers evens the series with Washington State at Corvallis yesterday by a 5 to 1 victory over Buck Bailey's baseball team.

A shut-out narrowly eluded Cate, pitching for the Orange, when the Cougars pushed over their only run after two outs in the ninth. Succeeding the Beaver splurge in the first, the teams battled without a score until the eighth when Ralph Coleman's charges tallied three times.

With Cate shooting the ball over the platter in great style the Cougars never had a chance. All told they could gather but three hits off the Beaver hurler. Rod Ballard made the only extra base blow for Oregon State, connecting with a double.

The loss of the Cougars puts them back alongside Oregon with three wins and a like number of defeats, while Oregon State forces into undisputed possession of second place with a total of four wins and two losses.

The score: R. H. E.
Washington State..... 1 3 3
Oregon State..... 5 5 4
Batteries: Nelson, Fiscus, Estill and Mitchell, Cate and Mack.

Students Penalized for Cribbing, Intoxication

Four University students were penalized and one had his probation period lifted at a meeting of the student advisory committee yesterday. Three of the four who received penalties were fined because of cribbing which they had done in examinations.

A freshman man was indefinitely suspended for intoxication in a University residence. Two students, a senior man and a freshman girl, were required to earn five additional hours for graduation for copying from neighbors in a quiz. A sophomore man was required to earn three additional hours for graduation for copying from a neighbor in a daily quiz.

Edith Dodge Visitor

Edith Dodge of Ashland, a past president of the Associated Women Students, is visiting on the campus for Junior Week-end. She works in the office of J. A. Churchill, president of the Ashland normal, and will participate in Mortar Board pledging ceremonies today.

Alpha O, Alpha Gams Take Baseball Games

Overcoming a 15 to 4 lead which the Alpha Xi Delta baseball team held over them at the end of the third inning, the Alpha O's rallied to defeat their competitors by a score of 27 to 16 in a game played at 4 o'clock on Condon field.

Stars on the Alpha O team were Aiken, who brought in two home runs for her team and scored a total of five points and Snow who added five points to the Alpha O score.

Greenwood knocked one home run for the Alpha Xi Deltas and Ray brought in 3 runs.

Margaret Duncan, physical education instructor umpired the game.

The game scheduled for tomorrow night between the Thetas and Tri-Deltas has been postponed until Tuesday of next week, according to Caryl Hollingsworth, manager of the inter-society contests. Games are scheduled at 4 o'clock every day next week. Miss Hollingsworth said, and requests may be made for games at other hours. Hendricks hall and the Independents will play Monday afternoon.

In the game which followed, the Alpha Gams defeated Sigma Kappa at 6 o'clock by a score of 24 to 14. The Sigma Kappas failed to score until the first of the fourth inning and brought in ten of their points in the fifth and sixth. Alpha Gams scored nine runs in the first inning.
