"Let Us Be Gay" Returns
 "Let Us Be Gay," one of the most delightful of the sophisticated modern comedies, and in which Norma Shearer does much better work than usual, returns to the Colonial today.

Included in the cast are Marie Dressler, Rod La Roque, Raymond Hackett, Sally Eilers, Hedda Hopper, and others. What more could you ask?

"Trader Horn" Carries Jungle Voices

For the first time movie goers can see and actually hear the voices of the jungle, for the "Trader Horn" company carried with it on the 25,000 mile trek, the first and only sound apparatus ever to be taken into the dark continent.

One hears the laugh of the hyenas, the strange growl of crocodiles, the hiss of snakes, the roar of lions, and most impressive, the war cries of thousands of savage natives, their drums beating a rhythm that lingers in one's ears long after the show is over. "Trader Horn" is a distinct achievement in the motion picture world.

It plays today, Friday, and Saturday at the McDonald theatre.

Murder Story at State

A tense drama of crime and criminals in conflict of the dreaded, sure Scotland Yard, is the subject of the current State theatre film, "Scotland Yard." In the leading role is Edmund Lowe. He has a part which gives him a better chance at straight acting than he has had before.

Love Drama at Heilig

"Illicit," comedy drama of modern love and marriage, which comes today to the Heilig, includes in its cast Barbara Stanwyck,

Negro Position Is Precarious, Says Labor Organizer

Frank Crosswaith Speaks At Cosmopolitan Club Luncheon

"I do not believe with the present organization that the negro will gain the civil rights to which he is entitled," Frank Crosswaith, lecturer and labor organizer, told the luncheon gathering of members of the Cosmopolitan club, and other students and faculty, yesterday at the Westminster house.

"These rights can only come through economic power," he went on. "The position of the negro at the present time is a precarious one."

Trip Enlightening
 Mr. Crosswaith said that he had found his trip across the continent very enlightening, in that in almost every city where there was a negro population, he found a minority group of men and women determined to be free.

He described the cultural aspect of the situation and gave many illustrations of the contributions of the negro race to the cultural and economic life of America. The term social equality has been misunderstood by most people, Mr. Crosswaith believes. Every negro and every white man has the right to expect social equality, he feels, and this means equality in using social agencies.

Negro Will Contribute

"The negro has a greater contribution to make—a spiritual contribution. I feel that when he is free to make them, he will make far greater, far nobler contributions than he did in the slave-pens of the South," Mr. Crosswaith concluded.

The luncheon which preceded the talk by Mr. Crosswaith was under the direction of Dorothy Davidson, assisted by Elizabeth Plummer, Thelma Nelson, Elizabeth Gessler, and Geneva Turner.

Bobby Robinson introduced the speaker who has been a guest of the International house during his stay on the campus. After the talk an open discussion was held.

He has proved to be an actor of the finest active type. Other notables are Pat O'Brien, Edward Everett Horton, Slim Summerville, Mary Brian, and others of high calibre.

All Religious Appeals Will Receive Support

The student-faculty committee on religion, which met in Johnson hall at 4 o'clock yesterday, decided that any steps by means of which non-denominational appeals are made to the campus, either through support of organized denominations or under interdenominational auspices, would be heartily welcomed by the group. The committee also pledged its support to any movement that promises to make this appeal more effective.

The committee will meet next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at Westminster house to consider a report of the student half of the committee, which has made an investigation of the religious life of the campus.

Robert Gould Rates Well in Organ Recital

A well-contrasted program of highest quality was presented at the music auditorium last night by Robert Gould, organist, senior in music and student of John Stark Evans.

The entire recital was played with great ease and expression, which showed a complete understanding and mastery of the composition.

Melody and choice harmony combined to make the two Bach Chorales that opened the program very interesting numbers, although Bach is usually thought of in connection with pieces of more technical than melodic value.

"Fantasia" by Candlyn—a very colorful number with a very free use of rich chords and harmonies with charming melodies, was very well interpreted.

"Eco" and "The Primitive Organ," by Yon, were highly descriptive; the first a canon in strict style; the second, an imitation of an old hand-organ.

"Overture on Negro Themes," by Dunn, built on characteristic negro syncopations and melodies, contained some excellent pedal work.

Mr. Gould completed his program with the "Prelude and Fugue," by Dupre, an excellent example of modern harmonic counterpoint making continued use of the augmented second, creating a fitting climax in a well-balanced program.

Oregon Yeomen Plan Spring Dance, May 15

The Oregon Yeomen spring informal dance will be given Friday evening, May 15, it was announced by Clifton Culp, social chairman for the independent men's organization. Decorations will be those of a hunting lodge, and the event will take place in the dance room of Gerlinger hall.

"Last term's dance, sponsored by the Yeomen, proved so successful that a repetition of the event for this term was thought to be the wish of those attending the first one. A veteran three-piece orchestra will furnish music, and refreshments will be served at the affair," Culp said in making the announcement.

The Yeomen dance will be open to all unaffiliated men on the campus. Tickets will go on sale today, and may be procured from members of the group's executive council.

At 6:30 o'clock Margaret Atwood, president of the club, will have charge of the regular evening meeting, which will be in honor of the mothers.

at third base, while the rest of the infield will consist of Stevens at short, Londahl at second, and Chester on the initial bag. Duke Shaneman behind the bat will be Bloom's battery mate as usual.

Brian Minnaugh is slated to hold down right field, with the speedy Barnes in center. Chappie King probably will be stationed in the left garden, although his slugging has not been lusty of late. There is a possibility that Jensen, McLaren, or another of the sophomore fly-chasers will pull down the sunfield assignment.

SHOPPING NEWS

To Our Mothers

"Sue" dedicates her column today! She wants all you co-eds to bring your mothers to all the Eugene shops and show them that we really have bargains here. Mothers, this week-end the campus is yours. Shop with "Sue" and then enjoy all we have planned for you!

Old Sol Says--

We're going to have some real, hot summer weather now, so prepare some cool clothes that will be comfortable and smart. "Sue" recommends Buster Brown's woven sandals for your summer frocks. They're new and smart, and, oh, so comfortable! Buster Brown's, on Willamette street, will be glad to help you select your favorite style this afternoon. Bring Mother in with you!

Top It Off

"Sue" means "top" your new frock off with a smart hat. And if you can't afford a new one, bring in your last year's hat to the U. of O. Ko-ed Shop, right next to the College Side, where Mrs. Bockes will recut and hand-block your favorite old hat into the latest, most becoming style. Mrs. Bockes is well known in Eugene as an expert in this line, so "Sue" knows you will love the "new" hat she will make for you.

Your Crowning Glory

During Junior Week-end will be the loveliest yet if you make an appointment now with the Beau Monde Beauty Shoppe, above Gilmore's Dress shop—phone 4-4-6—for your favorite wave. Nestle Circuline permanent waves at $7.50 and $5.00, and Ringlet Corquinoile permanents at $7.50 also. With all $7.50 waves the Beau Monde gives you shampoos and finger-waves for five months for only fifty cents! And contour hair-cutting, and thinning and shaping of the hair to the head, too, by an expert barber!

Sweets to the--

Sweet and to our mothers this week-end too. What could be a more appropriate gift for her than a box of delicious Whitman's chocolates in a special Mother's day box! Drop into the Oregon Pharmacy, next to Taylor's and right by the campus, where you'll find the campus agency for Whitman's. And be sure to select one of the Pharmacy's greeting cards, too, for greetings on Mother's day to those who can't be with you too.

Whoever She Is

Your mother or your best girl will adore a spring corsage this week-end. Order one this afternoon from the University Florists. Your date for the Prom tomorrow night will have a more perfect time if you send her some flowers before the dance. And to start the day right with Mother, be sure that she gets her corsage too, for Mother's own day.

Make Her Happy

On Mother's day, Sunday, buy a gift and greeting card from the Oriental Art Shop, next to the Eugene hotel. A bit of pottery, some jewelry, or bridge accessories will be appreciated by Mother. Bring her into the Oriental and show her where the co-eds buy their gifts! And she will adore one of the individual Mother's day cards the Oriental has on display now, too, for her special campus week-end.
