

Stanford Golf Team Arrives Today To Decide Coast Conference Title With Oregon

Two Division Champs Will Meet Friday

MacNaughton, Southern Singles Cup-Holder, To Face Will

Captain Dolp, Doc Robnett To Select Two More Divot Diggers

The golf championship of the Pacific Coast conference is the prize for which the six-man team from Stanford and Oregon's own northern division champions will battle over the links of the Eugene Country club, beginning Friday.

The six men representing Stanford university will arrive here at noon today from California, where they captured the southern division title last Friday and Saturday. The Indians boast of several linksmen of wide renown. Included in their team is Malcolm McNaughton of Portland, who was well-known for his golfing exploits throughout the Northwest before he entered Stanford.

Portlanders Are in Singles

MacNaughton took individual honors in the recent southern tournament. He will meet George Will, Oregon star, for the singles championship of the coast conference. Will enters the fray as the northern champion by virtue of his victory over Vincent Dolp, Oregon captain, in the finals. Dolp won the conference championship last year. As Dolp and Will are Portlanders as well as MacNaughton, a definite Rose City slant will be given the headline matches.

Other Stanford luminaries are Harry Eichelberger, Southern California Golf association champion two years ago; Warner Edmonds, Santa Barbara county champion and also holder of the title at the La Cumbre country club of Santa Barbara; Herman Hellman, champion of the Hillcrest country club of Los Angeles; and Stuart Hawley, junior champion of the Claremont country club of Oakland.

Coaches To Confer

Although Stanford is sending six men to compete, the size of the teams has not been definitely decided. Conference rules specify four-man teams. It is probable, however, that the Webfoots will put a six-man team in the field to match the full strength of the Indians. There is a possibility that the four low scores will be counted and the other two dropped when the final results are being calculated.

Garry Bennett, Stanford coach, and Ronald "Doc" Robnett, boss of the Webfoot mascie Webfoots, will confer tonight and decide upon rules for scoring as well as the method of matching the rival men. If it is decided to have six men on each team, Robnett and Captain Dolp will go into a huddle tonight for the purpose of selecting number 5 and number 6 to uphold Oregon's end of the match.

Will Is On Game

Although Vince Dolp and George Will are the mainstays of the Webfoot divot digging squad, Harry Kincaid, number 2 man, and Frank Shafer, number 4, are reliable linksmen with plenty of experience under the stress of tournament play.

Dolp is considered the big shot of Oregon golfers, because of his continuous success and frequent brilliance during the past few years. He is at present in the possession of the runner-up cup for the Oregon state title. However, George Will is at present shooting the best golf of his career. He guards the number 1 position and is expected to put up a stiff fight against MacNaughton, the Stanford ace.

Pledges To Perform On Steps Tomorrow

In full dress suits and top hats, three young journalists will enter the ranks of Sigma Delta Chi tomorrow morning at 10:50, on the library steps. The campus is invited.

The annual initiation ceremony is to take place in traditional style. Word has leaked out, however, that in this year's presentation some interesting improvements in technique have been added. Dramatis personae (victims) this time are Roy Sheedy, Jack Bauer, and Rufus Kimball.

Yearling Nine To Clash With O.S.C. Rooks

Frosh Baseball Compile Strong Pre-Season Record

Corvallis Will Be Scene of First Contest Friday; Here Saturday

The frosh baseball nine will face its first real test of the season next Friday afternoon at Corvallis when it plays the O. S. C. rooks in the first of a four-game series.

The yearlings have shown up very well in pre-season games, having beaten Eugene high school 3 to 3 and University high 8 to 1. The actual strength of the team is not known, but reports from Corvallis indicate an unusually strong rook combination there, which will push the frosh to the limit.

Prink Callison, frosh baseball mentor, is working hard with his squad and it is rapidly gaining mid-season form. Callison has a group of men from all over the state who were outstanding prep baseball stars. He is looking forward to the rook game next Friday at Corvallis with much interest. On Saturday, the following day, the second game of the series will be played at Eugene.

The squad practices daily, and the last week has engaged with the varsity in several practice tilts. The main squad at present consists of Ike Donin, Don Dick, Jack Robertson, Micky Vale, Dick Goldthwaite, Michael Balkovich, Al McKelligon, Harry McCall, Charles Van Dine, Bill Lynds, Vincent Gates, Carol Hallen, Harold Olson, and Kenneth Norval. Callison is still shifting his men in an effort to get the best combination possible, so no definite position can yet be attributed to any one man.

300 Co-eds Expected At Annual Breakfast

Three hundred co-eds are expected at the annual Junior-Senior breakfast to be given May 17. Tickets in charge of representatives in the various houses are going fast. Independent women are urged to sign up at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow at once.

Junior women will stand treat at this affair which will be held in Gerlinger hall at 8:30 Sunday morning. Tickets are on sale for 75 cents, and each admits two girls.

The committee in charge of the event is: Louise Webber, general chairman; Betty Jones, tickets; Janet Osborne, attendance; Margaret Hunt, program and decorations; Helen Hallowell, service.

At It Again—

Periodically our California brethren of the Coast conference seem to get in bad humor. Especially do they get sulky and malevolent just after one has received a beating from another. We notice this statement in the San Francisco Examiner appearing after the Trojan-Stanford track meet last Saturday. "Severing of athletic relations between Stanford and U. S. C. will be 'almost inevitable' if more such incidents as surrounded the 440-yard dash of the meet are repeated," the Stanford Daily, student newspaper of Palo Alto, predicts.

Foul Play—

The difficulty which arose in this critical race was as follows: Vic Williams of Troy won the race in 48.3 seconds, won it by four feet from Abe Hables of Stanford, but is alleged to have committed a foul. Not many fouls are made by trackmen so it is interesting to note this. Williams, coming into the last turn, ran into a perfect "box" with Abe Hables in front of him and shove also of Stanford at his side. Nearing the home stretch it was apparent he could not get through unless he shoved Hables out of the way, which he did, and which almost brought down the whole crowd of Stanfordites on his neck. Vic Williams, galloped on to victory.

Two Sides Maybe—

At the turn where the foul was said to have been committed the inspecting official did not report it. The whole affair was said to be "the blow which really put Stanford in the "hole" and psychologically led to their downfall. On the face of things it looks as if the Cards might have a right to get riled up, but perhaps there was something deeper. Perfect boxes around a star opponent who is figured to win the race don't always form accidentally on the home stretch. Maybe the Stanford coach had something up his sleeve which the fans weren't in on.

The picture, filmed with actual characters of the slums and the underworld of Berlin, has nevertheless a fast-moving plot. While it gives the audience an accurate impression of life as it is lived in the wiser parts of the great German city, it also tells a very human story, with a surprisingly happy ending.

The photography of the picture, especially that of the characters, is very unusual and will be a new experience for cinema lovers. The cast is also very capable, and the direction is of the best.

The usual three showings will be held for the picture, starting at 2 o'clock, with the supper matinee beginning at 5:15.

Geology Team Beaten By Education School

Geology succumbed to education in a lively kitten ball tilt yesterday afternoon, 15 to 9. The score was the result of a rapid-fire rally on the part of the winners in the last half of the game.

With the tallies of 3 to 2, against them at the end of the third, the educators organized a batting eye in the fourth, knocking in six runs in that inning and six in the next. From then on victory was on ice, and the final innings were without thrills.

Sprague and Knox, both of the educators, helped the score along with consistent slugging. Faculty members and majors made up the respective teams.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock education will clash with psychology in their next piffleball foray, on the practice field.

Archery Tournament To Be Held by Co-eds

A tournament will be run off this week in women's archery, preparatory to the Intercollegiate telegraphic meet which will be run off next week, according to Kathryn Kjosness, intramural archery representative.

The winners of the tournament will be determined by high scores, based upon the Columbia round. Each girl will be required to turn in two or more scores, however, no one is required to shoot more than one range per day. In this way one may shoot two rounds of a 30-yard range on one day, and the other ranges on other days.

Practices and shoots will be held on Tuesday and Thursday at 4 o'clock, under the supervision of Kathryn Kjosness. They will also be held on Wednesday at 5 o'clock under the direction of Georgia Boydston. Everyone planning to enter the telegraphic meet is urged to turn out for the tournament this week.

W. S. C. Students Rate

Four hundred and sixty-four students, or 14.19 per cent of the entire W. S. C. enrollment, are included on the all-college high scholarship roll for the past semester. Students must make a grade average of more than "B" to achieve this honor.

Trojans Hoggish—

The schools in California are good examples of the terrific competition that has developed between colleges. A coach who fails to win leads a miserable life if he survives even at all. Even the followers of Pop Warner, the "wizard," have had their confidence shaken. The trouble is that Southern Cal has won almost everything from the Bears and Cards, including football, basketball, and track. If there is going to be any harmony in "God's country," the Trojans will have to quit being hog-

Rhythm Boys Win Way to Finals in KGW-RKO Tilt

The Oregon Rhythm Boys, Bob Goodrich, Kelsey Slocum, and John Smedberg, won their way to the finals in the KGW-RKO Rose Festival radio contest in Portland, the University students were informed yesterday by officials of the contest.

Twelve acts were selected by the judges as eligible for the finals, which will be held Saturday night on the stage of the RKO Orpheum theatre in Portland. One act, to be picked as winner of the competition, will be sent to New York with all expenses paid and will go on the air over the NBC network of stations in a coast-to-coast program advertising the Rose Festival.

Tri Delts Wallop Thetas 18 to 5 in Kittenball Game

Strawberry Festival Causes Postponement of Today's Game

Handicapped by inexperience and loss of regular members of their kittenball team, the Thetas nevertheless managed to stem the Tri Delta tide yesterday afternoon and to score five runs in a game that ended with a score of 18 to 5, in Delta Delta Delta's favor.

The game was late in starting, so only five innings were played. At the end of the first inning the score was tied, but the Tri Delts, inspired with baseball spirit and encouraged by kittenball togs, forged far ahead. Lucille Murphy umpired, Virginia Hunter scored, and Elizabeth Gesler refereed the bases in yesterday's game.

The game played Monday, between the Independents and Hendricks hall, was one of the closest to be played by the women's baseball teams, ending in a score of 22 to 20, in Hendricks' favor. Williams starred for Hendricks, completing five runs; while Payne, with seven runs, was top woman for the Independents. The first inning started off with a bang when the Independents scored five runs. Hendricks was most successful in the fifth inning when six runs were completed.

The game for this afternoon, scheduled between the Alpha Gams and A. O. Pi's, has been postponed because of the Strawberry festival. The next game of this week will be played Thursday, when the Thetas will play again, opposing Alpha Chi Omega. On Friday, Alpha Chi Omega will play Chi Omega.

Women To Hold Second Round Tennis Tourney

The second round of the women's tennis tournament will be run off this week, according to an announcement given out by Sigrid Riddell, assistant manager of tennis. These matches can be played any day this week from 4 until 6 on courts reserved.

The contestants can secure the names of their opponents and of available referees, whom they are to furnish, at either the courts or at the bulletin board of the women's gym. They are required to turn in an account of their scores to Miss Margaret Duncan before next Monday.

In the first round, which was played last week, Dorothy MacLean defeated Eleanor Thurston, 6-1, 6-2; and Gladys Haberlauf defeated Edith Schmeideskamp, 6-0, 6-0.

"We cannot make students study or make grades for them, but we are willing to help them find their place. Some students fail because they are taking something for which they aren't suited," Dean Onthank said.

Most of the students who are interested and avail themselves of the personnel service are in the upper half in scholastic rating.

The address didn't fool the post office officials for the letter was delivered on time.

Annual Swimming Week Opens With Huge Enrollment

Free Campaign Meets With Unusual Success at Three Pools

Lane county's annual swim week opened Monday with 1006 men, women, and children enrolled in the free campaign sponsored by the University, Y. M. C. A., Red Cross, and the public schools of the county. So crowded are the daily classes at the Y. M. C. A. and the men's and women's gymnasiums that instruction has been confined to only those persons who cannot swim.

The tank at the women's gym is being used by 505 women and girls while 305 boys are receiving instruction at the men's gym. The Y. M. C. A. tank furnishes practice for 196 men and boys. Extra classes have been added to the schedule until it is almost twice as inclusive as before. Later, it is hoped, instruction may be given for those swimmers who wish to improve.

Jack Hewitt, varsity swim mentor and in charge of swim week at the men's gym, reports that 30 out of town grade schools are sending pupils in every day to the gym where they receive instruction from Charley Foster, John Allen, Gilbert Sprague, Jean Eberhart, Tom Johnson, Stan Kidder, Chuck Spears, and Milo Mariatt. Classes commence at 4 o'clock every afternoon and continue through to 9:15. As a conclusion to the weekly session a swimming and life-saving demonstration will be held Saturday night at the women's gym.

At Virginia and Kentucky ... down where tobacco grows

college men choose this one outstanding SMOKING TOBACCO

THE men who go to the universities of Virginia and Kentucky know tobacco ... they see how it grows and what makes it good.

So when Virginia students, and the men who stroll down old South Limestone Street in Lexington, pack their pipes with Edgeworth, their choice tells volumes about the cool, slow-burning quality of this favorite smoking tobacco.

It's the same story everywhere—North, South, East and West. In 42 out of 54 leading colleges and universities, college men prefer the smooth, fragrant burley blend of Edgeworth. Try Edgeworth yourself. You'll find more pleasure in a pipe than you ever knew before. Every tobacco store has Edgeworth, 15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleven-step process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms — "Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.
