

Yeomen and Hendricks Hall Win Trophies

Paul Petric of O. S. C. Judges Song Contest Six Organizations Compete For Final Honors and Large Cups

By LOIS REEDY Oregon Yeomen and Hendricks hall were the winners of the Polyphonic Choir trophy contest held last night in the music auditorium.

Out of 19 entrants at the start of the contest in February only six competed in the finals. The final casualties were Beta Phi Alpha among the women, and Alpha Tau Omega in the men's division.

Skill Shown All six entrants showed considerable skill and finish in singing, as the result of several months' practice. All of the groups had been assisted by either professionals or upperclass music majors.

The women's voices were all unusually clear and no failure in pitch was outstanding except in the final chord of the Alpha Omicron Pi last song.

Groups Listed The winning men who sang for the Yeomen were: Dean Beistel, first tenor; Harold Arnold, second tenor; Jack Bauer, baritone; and John Littlehales, bass.

U. of O. Band To Play At Salem This Evening

The University band has been invited to present several numbers for entertainment at a contest between individuals representing the different communities of Marion county.

One of the interesting events which have been planned for the band is a dinner, given by the chamber of commerce in their honor. Twenty-five members of the band will make the trip and will leave about 2 o'clock this afternoon in private cars.

Lieutenant Prouty Recounts Experience With Gen. Butler

By RALEIGH GRAVER Lieutenant E. S. Prouty of the local R. O. T. C. unit was one of the officers who had the pleasure of observing the work of Major General Smedley D. Butler at Camp Pontanzen near Brest, France, during the World war.

At this time General Butler was serving as brigadier general of the marine corps at this station, and Lieutenant Prouty was a first lieutenant of the 8th infantry.

The formation of Camp Pontanzen into a large place in a very short time was the general's principal achievement, said Lieutenant Prouty.

Carry Lumber From Brest The soldiers objected very much to carrying lumber from the town of Brest to the camp, three miles distant, because of the muddy condition of the roads.

Beaver Radio Debaters

Rex Robinson and Gordon Winks, of O. S. C., who meet Oregon debaters in a battle of microphones next Sunday afternoon for the first non-decision radio debate.

Pfaff and Wilson To Debate O. S. C. Over KGW Sunday

University Team Will Take Negative on Question Of Disarmament

Roger A. Pfaff and David G. Wilson, University debaters, will clash with an Oregon State team, composed of Rex Robinson and Gordon Winks, in a non-decision radio debate over station KGW, Portland, on Sunday afternoon, May 31, it was announced today.

Oregon, making arrangement for Sunday's radio debate, which will be broadcast at 3 to 3:30 o'clock p. m., has allowed the O. S. C. team the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That all nations should adopt a policy of complete disarmament, except for such forces as are necessary for police protection."

Participants Active Wilson is a major in journalism, and has been an editorial writer on the Emerald. Pfaff recently won first place in the Murray Warner essay contest, is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, international forensic fraternity, and has participated in debate, oratory and speaking for the past two years.

O. S. C. debate squads won both the men's and women's Pacific coast debate championships this year. In contests with the University, each school has one victory so far this season.

Robinson and Winks, who are speaking for O. S. C., are both members of the 1931 coast championship debate team. Winks has 27 intercollegiate debates to his credit and is a senior in commerce. Robinson has participated in 13 intercollegiate contests, including some international debates.

This specially arranged radio forensic match is non-decision, emphasizing the importance and the current interest in the question to be argued.

Sigma Delta Chi To Initiate Four In Meeting Today

Portland Publisher Will Be Associate Member; Others Active

Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalistic fraternity, is initiating A. C. Gage, publisher of the Angora Journal, of Portland; Roy Sheedy, Rufus Kimball, and Jack Bauer at 11 o'clock today in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

Mr. Gage, an old-time newspaper man and member of the Oregon State Editorial association, publishes a national trade magazine of recognized importance. The wide territory covered by the magazine necessitates Mr. Gage maintaining offices in Chicago and Portland.

The three students being initiated have been actively connected with the Emerald for the past several years.

Rufus Kimball, sophomore in journalism, having been a reporter for the past two years, was editor of the men's edition of the Emerald this year.

Jack Bauer, junior in journalism, was formerly editor of the student paper published at the Columbia university, Portland. Since coming to the Emerald Bauer has worked as a feature writer and publicity director for the school of music.

Two medals, one gold and one silver, have again been presented to the Romance language department by the French government through the French consul at Seattle, as awards for excellence in French. The gold medal will be awarded to that student who stands highest in the advanced courses in French literature.

Two Medals To Be Awarded To Best French Students

Language Department Is Honored Second Time By French Consul

The announcement of these awards will be made on commencement day and will appear on the program. The French government also gave two medals last year to the Romance language department. Naomi Hohman received the gold medal last year; Schuyler Southwell won the silver medal.

The idea is to encourage the study of French and French literature among American students," said Dr. Ray P. Bowen, chairman of the Romance language department, in commenting upon the presentation.

Luncheon Will Honor Seniors on Libe Staff A luncheon in honor of the senior members of the library staff is to be given at the Anchorage this noon.

Senior members are Esther Malkasian, Ronnelo Lewis, William Bruce, and Edward Graham.

Thirty-Three Nominated in Class Meetings

Lineups Are Unchanged, Aside Few Additions

Three Candidates for Each Senior Office; Two Vic In Other Classes

Thirty-three candidates officially threw their hats into the political ring at the nominations of class officers held yesterday in Villard assembly hall.

The lineups for senior offices were completed with the naming of Amos Lawrence, running on Hobart Wilson's ticket, and Alice Redetzke as secretary on Merlin Blais' ticket, and four nominations for the much coveted position of class barter.

Juniors Name 12

The candidates nominated for senior offices were: President, Bill Barendrick, Hobart Wilson, and Merlin Blais; vice-president, Helen Kaufman, Hope Shelley, and Dulcie Lytzell; secretary, Margaret Ansley, Virginia Grone, and Alice Redetzke; treasurer, Bob O'Melveny, Amos Lawrence, and Paul Lafferty; class barter, Eleanor Lewis, Elizabeth Strain, Barney Miller, and Joe Hughes.

Willamette U. Prexy To Address Banquet

Dr. Carl Doney, president of Willamette university, will give the address at the banquet of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi at the Osburn hotel, Tuesday, May 26. Sigma Xi will hold its initiation at 5 o'clock of that day at the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 and will cost $1 a plate. The address, which will begin at 8 o'clock at the Osburn hotel, will be open to the public.

Hog-Calling Sophs Wara Farmers as Saturday Nears

Farmers living near Swimmers' Delight are requested to keep close tab on their animals this Saturday because the hog-calling contest, a feature of the sophomore picnic, will bring forth the best talent in the class with enticing effects upon the swine.

This feature in addition to many others was disclosed at a meeting of the sophomore picnic directorate Wednesday night. Bart Siegfried, chairman of the affair, laid special stress upon attendance. A prize will be given for the house having the most sophomores present.

Other features of the picnic will be a tug-of-war for girls, swimming races, golf approach, rat-racing contest, waltz contest, and other features. Prizes will be awarded to the winners through the courtesy of Eugene merchants.

Buses will be leaving for Swimmers' Delight from the Administration building from 4 o'clock on. The food will be served at 5:30, between contests, and will be followed by dancing.

The menu, which is being handled by Marguerite Tarbell, will consist of sandwiches, cakes, coffee (Continued on Page Six)

Lettermen's Slide Issues Invitation To Entire Campus

Buggies, Hay, Buttermilk Will Be Features at Igloo Tonight

Whee! Slick as a whistle! C'mon over, Skinny. 'Nary a splinter in this freshly sanded, planed, and waxed 30-foot slide, the one and only entrance to the big all-campus barn dance to be given tonight by the Order of the O at 9 o'clock in the Igloo.

Whoa, there, Pegasus! The latest in chariot races will feature one huddle-buggy of real fame.

Don't miss the two Raduks from the RKO circuit strut their stuff—who knows—perhaps the real barnyard shuffle.

Hay! Hay! cry the 72 bales that together with numerous antiquated buggies—not to mention the livestock, constitute the decorations.

There need be no parched throats tonight as long as the 20 gallons of strictly fresh buttermilk hold out!

Don't miss this opportunity to stomp to the Turkey in the Straw as fiddled by the campus band—the Ten Commanders.

Banquet Opens 1931 Conclave Of Ad Makers

Oregon Rhythm Boys To Be Program Feature

2 Nationally Known Men Will Present Main Addresses

The Oregon Rhythm Boys have been secured as part of the program for the banquet which opens the annual advertising conclave of the Oregon chapters of Gamma Alpha Chi, national women's advertising honorary, and Alpha Delta Sigma, national men's advertising honorary, at 6:30 tomorrow night at the Osburn hotel.

The speakers for the evening will be two nationally known men: Frank Skipper, director of personnel of the Penzold company, Los Angeles, speaking on "Thinking Through"; and Joseph Hosmer, prominent in Hearst newspaper work, from Seattle. A great many business men from Portland and elsewhere in the state are expected for the conference.

Sunday morning both organizations will hold initiation breakfasts, Alpha Delta Sigma at the Osburn hotel, with James W. Leake, former Oregon student, presiding, and Alpha Gamma Chi at the Anchorage, with Josephine Stoffel presiding.

There will be three national Gamma Alpha Chi officers present for the convention: Ruth Street, former Oregon student, Portland, national secretary; Mary Irene Nicholas, Seattle, editor of Gamma Alpha Chi News; and Diana Irving Nelson, Seattle, national treasurer.

Portable Typewriter Disappears From Hall

Even thieves may be industrious. At least the one who, last Wednesday, entered room 9, Friendly hall and stole a typewriter was evidently out to find some work for himself. The typewriter, an Underwood portable, was the property of Fred Fricke, sophomore in journalism. It was stolen at some time between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m., during which time all occupants of the room were away.

Police are now working on the case and four or five individuals are under suspicion.

A Story, Decidedly Not Minus a Name

ONCE there was a Shumaker who had a Stetson and a Packard. He was greatly given over to Bossing—and Howe he liked to Bragg! Not that this means anything to the story in question, but he smoked the gosh-awfullest Erb in his Pipes that you ever dreamed of. This really doesn't matter, either, but I kent see how anyone could have such beautiful blond Hair as he.

One day he went out into the country to Fish, and after parking beside a stream and Underwood(ed) hills he walked to the bridge Span(ing) the river. There sat a beautiful maiden—age 93. She looked like his favorite movie Starr, but she turned out to be a gangster's moll.

"Boyer pretty," sez he. "Rae! Rae!" shouts she. "I always knew it, but I don't know what you're Ganoed do about it." And with that she Halls off and plants a Barker on his Shinn.

Maybe his legs weren't any gilt-Edge Bonds, but he did prize them anyway, so he slaps her Beck. In so doing, he knocks a hot Ash from her cigarette which falls on a bare knee. "Hay you," shouts she, and falls into a dead faint.

This story hasn't any sense; it hasn't any end. It is not true, Norris it Wright. Moral: Never give an unoccupied frosh a Pigger's Guide.

Guild Hall To Be Scene of Annual Children's Play

'Sir David Wears a Crown' To Be Staged Tuesday At 4 o'Clock

'Sir David Wears a Crown' has been selected as the annual children's play, it was announced yesterday by Cecil E. Matson, assistant in drama, who is directing the production.

This play, the last presentation of the drama department this season, will go on the stage at 4 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon at Guild hall.

A similar type of play is produced each year primarily for the Eugene school children, though it usually attracts many students. "Two plays were produced last year, 'The Steadfast Tin Soldier' and 'The Knave of Hearts,' and proved very popular even with the college audience," Mr. Matson stated.

Work on "Sir David Wears a Crown," which is by Stuart Walker, has been under way for several weeks with a cast selected from Mr. Matson's dramatic interpretation classes. The cast, which includes 17 persons, will be announced (Continued on Page Two)

Tribute Paid To President Hall at Banquet

University Head Pledges Devotion and Service

Mock Trial Finds Prexy Guilty of Untiring Effort

Today marks the fifth anniversary of Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall's presidency of the University of Oregon. Congratulations and letters of appreciation are pouring in from friends and graduates everywhere. As a special feature, the Emerald is printing an additional page in honor of President Hall's exceptional accomplishments here on the campus and wishes him many years of continued success.

Eugene and the University paid homage last night to Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall in one of the largest and most inspiring banquets ever held in the city.

The occasion was the fifth anniversary of Doctor Hall's election to the presidency of the University. Nearly 300 men and women of all walks of life were present, and the president was cheered to the echo when he pledged anew his devotion and service to the cause of education in Oregon.

The banquet took the form of a mock trial, with the people of Eugene accusing Dr. Hall of being untiring in his efforts to bring fame and renown to the University and in trying to work for the best interests of the students and people of the state of Oregon.

Dr. Hall Found Guilty After listening to the testimony of various witnesses among whom was Dr. H. D. Sheldon of the University faculty, who even when so far as to claim that since the arrival of Dr. Hall at the University the instructors have actually become "interested in the work they are teaching," the jury, through R. A. Booth, foreman, returned a verdict of guilty of the aforementioned accusations. Dr. Hall was then sentenced for life at hard labor as president of the University.

At the close of the trial, Dr. Hall was introduced by Lawrence T. Harris, formerly of the state supreme court. The president then said that he wished he might honestly plead guilty to the accusations made against him, then added, "I have always tried to make decision for the good of the people and the development of the youth of this state, and I feel that the faith of the people has repaid my efforts."

Those taking part in the trial were Judge Harris, Ed Bailey, Judge Skipworth, Roy Booth, Dr. Sheldon, Mayor Wilder, Walter Evans, Ann Baum, Cal Young, Lee Young, Lee Brown, and R. A. Booth.

The music was supplied by the Eugene Gleemen under the leadership of John Stark Evans, and by a trio consisting of Marian Stafford, Pauline Robinson, and Juanita Hoskins.

Spanish Posters in Oregon Recall Colorful Histories

By RUTH DUPUIS

Sixteen beautiful colored posters of Spain have been arranged around the walls of room 105 Oregon, the room of Miss Anna Thompson, assistant professor of the Romance language department. The French honorary, Pi Delta Phi, bought the posters. Miss Thompson has arranged them.

"I arranged the posters according to their position on the map, to make it easier for the students to remember what part of Spain each poster is from," Miss Thompson told the interviewer.

So, starting with the first poster, the Valley of Aran, each one was explained. Miss Thompson pulled down a map of Spain and pointed out each place of which she spoke.

"The Valley of Aran is in the Pyrenees mountains on the border of France. It resembles both Switzerland and the Canadian Rockies," Miss Thompson explained.

"In Gulacia there is some of the most beautiful scenery I have ever seen. Galacia is called the 'Switzerland of Spain,' and looks like this picture of the Valley of Aran."

A wealthy-looking beach resort was painted on the second poster. "That is, or used to be before the abdication of the king, the royal summer palace. When I was there we could stand on the hotel veranda and watch the king and other members of the royal family dive from their yacht and swim to the beach below the castle," Miss Thompson said.

"This next is Asturias, the 'Cradle of Spanish liberty,' so-called because it has never been captured by foreigners, although the rest of Spain has been invaded by Carthaginians, Romans, Vandals, Goths, and Moors," she continued. The poster shows the chapel of Covadonga which commemorates (Continued on Page Six)
