

Congressmen To Hold First Meet Tonight

Annual Group Opening Inaugurates Year

Campbell Invites Frosh to Attend First Meeting Of Congress Club

The Congress club will formally open its season of discussion tonight with Rolla A. Reedy, president of the University Y. M. C. A., presenting the topic, "Is Socialism the Remedy for the Present Depression?" The meeting will start at 7:30 p. m., over College Side Inn.

At the meeting this evening the club will elect its officers for the coming half year. Emery Hyde, Stephen B. Kahn, and Roy McCullen are candidates for the presidency; Lawrence Opedal and Don Saunders are nominees for the post of secretary; and George Bennett and Wallace Campbell are vying for the position of sergeant-at-arms.

Opposed to Reedy's advocacy of socialism will be Ethan Newman, junior in economics, who will point out the fallacy of the contention.

Wallace Campbell, varsity debater and retiring president of the Congress club, has extended an invitation to freshmen to be present at the meeting. "Those students taking a pre-law course, I feel confident, will benefit exceedingly by attending the opening meeting this evening. I have found the Congress club of invaluable assistance not only in developing my speaking ability, but in training my powers of reasoning."

Each year Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University, offers a series of awards to members of the Congress club for extemporaneous speaking. Last year George Bennett and Kenneth Fitzgerald were winners of first and second prize, respectively.

Eight Members to Form Tonqued Executive Body

Inaugurating a new policy for Tonqueds, Eugene girls' organization, Marian Chapman, president, yesterday appointed eight members to form an executive council which will direct the group's activities during the year.

The council, composed of officers and chairman of committees, will convene once a month and make plans for the monthly mass meetings.

The officers of the group are: Edith Luke, vice-president; May Masterton, secretary; Ellen Endicott, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are: Helen Garrison, teas; Kathryn Liston, dances; Jessie Steele, personnel; Florence Nombalais, calling; Thelma Nelson, publicity.

Matthews Sets Rally Dance For Thursday

Freshmen Must Attend, Says Committee

8-piece Orchestra to Play; Rally Spirit to Reach Height Before Game

A big pre-game rally dance will be held at the Igloo Thursday night from 7:30 until 9 o'clock, with an eight-piece band, a slick floor, extensive rallying, and a charge of 10 cents per person, according to Carson Matthews, head of the Oregon rally committee.

The dance has been scheduled for Thursday evening as that date is the last night before students leave for Seattle. All freshmen are required to attend the dance. For this reason house presidents are requested to dismiss study table, or to make arrangements for postponing it.

The orchestra has not been definitely selected; however, several well-known bands on the campus are being considered and the choice will be announced tomorrow. The orchestra will be eight pieces so that the music will carry thoroughly throughout McArthur court.

The charge of 10 cents a person has been necessitated to defray the expenses of hiring an orchestra and the other incidentals, incurred in staging a dance. However, the admittance is nominal, and as this is the first rally dance of the year, a record attendance is expected.

Carson Matthews has selected an energetic group for his rally committee, and they are endeavoring to put over rallying successfully and call upon every student for support. The committee is composed of Hal Short, Jack Wood, Ethan Newman, Gordon Day, Ferd Fletcher, Hugh Chapman, Marge Swafford, Esther Hayden, Ellen Sersanous, Marie Meyers, Marguerite Tarbell, Lucille Kraus, and Lucille Weber.

Dean Faville to Attend Social Science Meeting

Dean Faville of the school of business administration is leaving today for San Francisco, where he will attend a meeting of the social science research council to be held October 9 and 10. The dean will stop at Berkeley, where he will meet with University of California and Stanford professors. The purpose of this meeting is the assembling of research projects suitable for cooperative research among Pacific coast universities.

SOCIETY

A. W. S. Compliments Italian Scholar at Tea

Honoring the foreign scholar from Italy, Nella Roster, and all freshman women on the campus, the Associated Women Students will give an informal tea in Gerlinger hall a week from Thursday.

Freshman women will be accompanied to the affair by their Big Sisters, it was announced last night by Betty Anne Macduff, Big Sister chairman. Representatives of the various schools, departments, and activities in which freshman women might be interested will be present at the tea to discuss academic and other adjustment problems with the girls.

Virginia Grone, vice-president of the A. W. S., is general chairman for this event, the first social function of the A. W. S. this year. Her committee includes Harriette Saeltzer, food; Gretchen Kagel, flowers; Violet Walter, invitations; Elizabeth Strain, reception; Miriam Swafford, music; Alice Harvey, kitchen.

Fraternities and Sororities Guests

With the resumption of social activities on the campus, the exchange dinner regains a prominent place in the affairs of the week.

Tonight Alpha Phi will entertain Kappa Sigma, Gamma Phi Beta will be hostesses to Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha will entertain Alpha Chi Omega, and Kappa Kappa Gamma will invite Phi Delta Theta for coffee and dancing.

Tomorrow night Alpha Xi Delta will be entertained by Sigma Phi Epsilon, Alpha Chi Omega by Alpha Tau Omega, and Chi Psi by Alpha Phi, for coffee and dancing.

Alpha Omicron Pi Has Dinner for Officer

Honoring Mrs. Katherine Bremer Matson, grand president, members of Alpha Omicron Pi will entertain with a formal dinner tomorrow night. The guest list includes Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Schwering, Mrs. Nelson Macduff, President and Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall, Mr. and Mrs. John Stark Evans, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Robnett.

Dinner Party Given For Foreign Scholar

With Nella Roster, the Italian scholar, as guest of honor, seven couples will be entertained tonight at a formal dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Schwering. Helen Chaney, Ann Baum, Janice Hedges, Virginia Grone, Alexis Lyle, and Louise Ansley, members of the Associated Women Students executive council, are hostesses.

Large Tea Given by Delta Zeta Sunday

Members of the faculty, mothers of members, and alumnae were guests at a tea given by Delta Zeta on Sunday, October 4. Thelma Nelson and Emma Meador were in charge.

Theta Chi Guests On Saturday Night

Saturday evening Mrs. George P. Hitchcock was hostess to members of Theta Chi fraternity for an informal dance at the chapter house.

Kappa Mothers' Club Plan Joint Dinner

The Kappa Kappa Gamma Portland mothers' club will meet the Eugene mothers' club tonight for dinner at the Anchorage.

TALKIE TOPICS

Heilig—"Five Star Final," with Edward Robinson.

Colonial—"The Magnificent Lie," starring Ruth Chatterton.

McDonald—"Personal Maid," featuring Nancy Carroll.

State—"Quick Millions" and "The Perfect Alibi."

Newspaper Story at Heilig

By ROY SNEYDY
"Five Star Final" barely misses being one of the great pictures of the year. But for the fact that this tabloid newspaper story, starring that splendid actor, Edward G. Robinson, has two weak points in its casting, it would be in the same class as "The Front Page."

This is the third of Robinson's screen ventures, and each film has been excellent. The actor plays the part of a managing editor, hard-boiled, of course, who is forced by his superiors to drag into his newspaper all the slime that can be found in order to increase the circulation of the paper. A murder committed 20 years before is serialized in the Gazette, and it is about this piece of news that the drama revolves. The picture comes to a splendid dramatic conclusion.

Fine as the acting of Robinson is, it is almost surpassed by an actress named Aline MacMahon, a newcomer, who plays the part of his secretary. Miss MacMahon presents a distinctly new type of movie personality. H. E. Warner and Marion Marsh both contribute to the acting side, as does Georgie Stone and the other actors playing members of the newspaper staff. The two weaknesses in the cast mentioned above are those of the mother and of her daughter's fiancé.

"Personal Maid" at McDonald

By RALPH MASON
Nancy Carroll gets paid for what she knows—and keeps still about it in "Personal Maid," showing for today and tomorrow at the Fox McDonald. Miss Carroll, as the red-headed Mora Ryan, sees many things in high society that the rest of the world never hears about. "Personal Maid," deals with Mora's experiences as a maid in a ritzy New York apartment with its wealth, shoddy morals and high living, and its affect on her. She later tries being "a lady" herself and then—You'll just have to find out for yourself what really did happen.

Double Fare at State

"Quick Millions" and "The Perfect Alibi" are showing at the State theater for the last time today. "The Subway Express," a puzzling detective story, will show Wednesday and Thursday. "Women go on Forever," a first run picture starring Clara Kimball Young, is coming Sunday. This picture is James Cruze's latest screen effort.

Ruth Chatterton at Colonial "The Magnificent Lie," showing at the Colonial today and tomorrow, stars Ruth Chatterton in a difficult role. The story is a spirited one, but it rapidly changes to a near tragedy. "The Magnificent Lie" has Miss Chatterton singing in a New Orleans cafe, where she dupes a lumberman on a wager.
