

The STUDENT CHURCH

The student religious organizations are now fully organized after the "church night" receptions Friday. Most of the groups have their plans made and are starting on the program for the term.

Congregational
The Student forum, meeting at 6:00, will consider the questions: "How did the early church decide what books should be in the New Testament?" "How widespread is the belief in evolution?" "What is General MacArthur's philosophy of life?" Refreshments will be served at the meeting.

Lutheran
"The Shepherds of the Bible" is the topic for the Luther league. The meeting is to commence at 6:30 with Paul Hult as leader.

Presbyterian
"Why We Are Here" will interest the freshman men and women attending the 9:45 Sunday morning class under the instruction of Mrs. E. E. DeCoo.

The upperclass students, continuing discussions on the "Life of Jesus," will consider the topic, "What Shall We Choose?" Rev. J. M. Adams teaches this Sunday school class which meets at 9:45.

"Religion and Music" is on the program for the 7:30 meeting of the Westminster forum. Edith Grim will direct the discussion.

Catholic
The Newman club will meet after the 8:00 and 10:30 masses. Plans for the coming year are to be made at these, the first gatherings of the term.

Baptist
Open house for University students will be held at 5:30, at which time refreshments will be served. The devotional meeting follows at 6:15, with Mary Margaret Lott leading the discussion on "Good Citizens; What Is Expected of Us?"

Episcopal
The student council will examine the topic, "Catholic Protestant," at their meeting in Gerlinger hall at 7:00, Rev. H. R. White being in charge.

A cordial invitation to sing in the choir is extended to all students, Rev. White announced.

Community Liberal (Unitarian)
The young people's meeting at 7:00 is for the purpose of laying plans for the year.

Christian
After a social half hour beginning at 6:00, Sterling Cash will lead the discussion on "What Is Expected of Us as Good Citizens."

Methodist
The topic for the devotional meeting of the Wesley foundation is "8 o'Clocks and How to Make Them." Budgeting one's time will be the theme of the discussion. Jack Bellinger is in charge of the meeting, which is to be preceded by a social hour.

Frederick K. Davis is continuing his interpretations of Biblical characters at the morning meeting at 9:45.

DEBATERS WIN MANY TILTS IN AUSTRALIA

missed our raccoon coats, and confidently expected to see us swing a brace of eight-cylinder sport roadsters from the hold of the ship on which we arrived.

Prosperity Myth Troublesome
The British tradition and lack of standardization in American higher education has given American degrees a black-eye in the Dominion and the Commonwealth. In India, also, we have found that the only American degrees which are accepted at face value are in electrical engineering and agriculture. Score one for O. S. C.!

As business manager, Bob Miller has been sorely pressed in beating off the crowd of coolies, porters, tonga drivers, rickshaw men, room boys and just ordinary beggars who have been making strenuous efforts to reduce the tour's treasury to a condition similar to the University's. There are no tourists traveling in India now, and a stray American is immediately assumed to be the son of Andrew Carnegie or Mr. Mellon's nephew. Something must be done to teach public servants in foreign countries the great gulf that lies between American college boys and the butter-and-egg men who represent our country with such honor in foreign capitals.

Has She a Mind?
Roger Pfaff, debating manager, has drawn a great deal of press applause in every city we have visited, and has won more than one audience-vote debate for us by appealing to the vanity of feminine portion of the audience. Tomorrow he is going to address the student body at the Isabel Thorburn College for Girls. His subject is to be "The American College Girl—Has She a Mind?"

Our experiences in India have been many and varied, but we will spare the columns of the Emerald further affliction until next week's mail, when we can survey the whole of our Indian tour in mature retrospect from Calcutta, from which we sail for Hongkong, via alluring Singapore, on June 17.

P.S.—If anyone wants to lay any bets on the Washington or O. S. C. games, just cable us c/o American Express, Hongkong, giving full address so that we can reply collect without a hitch.

Guild Announces Date That 'Dulcy' Will Be Played

Camp, King, Love, Simons And Stipe Included In Cast

"Dulcy, fall drama production, will open on Wednesday, October 21, in Guild hall for a three-day run. Mrs. Otilie Seybolt, director, announced yesterday. This brings one performance on the night before Dad's day.

Several members of the cast have been in rehearsal for over a week, though uncertainty as to the return of one member of the Guild hall players leaves one member of the cast still unsettled.

The following cast was announced yesterday by Mrs. Seybolt: Marian Camp as Dulcinea Smith; Walden Boyle as Gordon Smith, her husband; Donald Confrey as Bill Parker, her brother; Gene Love as C. Roger Forbes, the great pearl manufacturer; Inez Simons as Mrs. Forbes the second; Kathryn King as Angela Forbes, the daughter who is infatuated with Vincent Leach, the moving picture "scenarist," played by Harvey Welch; Leonard Dart as Schuyler Van Dyck, the musical millionaire; Jack Stipe as Tom Sterrett, the advertising engineer; Howard Barret as Henry, the doubtful butler; and Carl Klipp as Blair Patterson, cousin and guardian of Schuyler Van Dyck.

Library and Red Cross Arranging Braille Texts

Of great interest to blind students is the work being done by the Eugene Red Cross and the University library in transcribing books into braille. Mrs. Ebner, under the auspices of the Red Cross, started a class in transcribing last spring. Two women have since finished the course, Mrs. Fred E. Smith and Mrs. C. P. Tillman. Mrs. Smith is transcribing Vos, "Essentials of German," the text for beginning German students, and Mrs. Tillman is working on Galsworthy's "Strife." The Red Cross supervises the training, while the library furnishes the paper and binds and shells the finished books.

Education Should Cultivate Intuitions, Says Owen Young

Emotions Also Stressed in Address to Class at St. Lawrence

Cultivation of intuitions and emotions was emphasized in a commencement address given this summer by Owen D. Young, author of the Young plan and director of International General Electric company, which is cited by Dr. John R. Mez as one of the best comments on education he has read.

In the address, which was made at St. Lawrence university, of which Mr. Young is a member of the board of trustees, he asked five questions of the graduates. The questions as quoted by Dr. Mez are:

"Have you enlarged your knowledge of obligations and increased your capacity to perform them?"
"Have you developed your intuitions and made more sensitive your emotions?"

"Have you discovered your mental aptitude?"

"Have you learned enough about the machinery of society and its history to enable you to apply your gifts effectively?"

"Have you acquired adequate skill in communication with others?"

Mr. Young wonders whether college courses have not tended to exalt "the mere operations of the conscious mind." He also wonders if the emotions have not been deadened by too much application to cold mathematics and exact sciences.

Dr. Mez pointed out that while Mr. Young urged and advised cultivation of the emotions and intuitions he is a man who has had to deal extensively with cold scientific facts and the solid figures of international finance.

In commenting on the five questions Dr. Mez preferred to transpose them into the present tense, and asked, "Are you doing them?" Dr. Mez went on to quote a part of Mr. Young's address:

"I commend to you an examination of what your obligations are in this modern world and a continuing study of how you intend to perform them. Democracies will fail unless you do. The political liberty of the individual will be diminished from necessity unless you do. Dictators will arise to perform your responsibilities, and having performed them, they will take their full toll from your liberties. Our colleges are in default in this great field of research and instruction. No diplomas should be granted until men and women know something more about the area of their obligations in life and something more about their duty in their performance." Some of the social science courses in the University are tending to develop the emotions and the intuitions, according to Dr. Mez. He adds, however, that they are few and that the number of students coming in contact with them is far too small.

Civilization to be Topic At Sunday Discussions

A series of Sunday evening forums discussing "What I would do to reconstruct our present civilization" is to be held at the Congregational church during the next 11 weeks.

Representatives of different occupations will open the discussion at each meeting. This group of speakers includes many of Eugene's prominent business men and four University professors.

The meetings will be opened each Sunday evening at 7:30 with the speaker introducing the central topic of the night. This is followed by a general open forum discussion. The meetings are open to all who wish to attend.

The dates, topics, and speakers are as follows:

- October 11—"An Economist's Answer," Dr. John Mez.
- October 18—"A Farmer's Answer," Jim Bryant.
- October 25—"A Business Man's Answer," R. A. Booth.
- November 1—"Labor's Answer," Carroll Sutherland.
- November 8—"A Woman's Answer," Mrs. Eric Allen.
- November 15—"An Artist's Answer," Nowland Zane.
- November 22—"A Journalist's Answer," William Tugman.
- November 29—"A Physical Scientist's Answer," Dr. W. D. Smith.
- December 6—"A Social Scientist's Answer," Dr. Samuel Jemison.
- December 13—"Youth's Answer," George Bennett.
- December 20—"A Churchman's Answer," Rev. Clay E. Palmer.

Journalism Fraternity To Hold Meeting Sunday

"Breakfast at new reduced prices" will be the cry of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, in starting off the first business meeting of the year Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the Green Lantern inn.

Election of a new treasurer, decision concerning the annual Journalism Jamboree, and other major issues will be discussed at this meeting, it was announced by Ralph David, president.

TALKIE TOPICS

McDonald—"Pardon Us," featuring Laurel and Hardy.

Colonial—"Gold Dust Gertie," with Winnie Lightner.
State—"Partners of the Trail," and Tom Tyler.
Heilig—"Defenders of the Law," starring Bill Houston and Phil Perry.

By RALPH MASON

"Pardon Us" at McDonald Laurel and Hardy, who appear in their first feature length comedy, "Pardon Us," are disappointing. Everything they do is uproariously funny, but they make the fatal mistake of overdoing it. If "Pardon Us" could be condensed to two reel length it would be a veritable knockout; as it is the audience is worn out after the first 15 minutes and from then on it is pitiful.

There is little plot to the picture, all the attention being centered on the inane antics of the two "Beer Barons"—as their prison record lists them.

"Pardon Us" is unusual in two ways: there is a scarcity of the fair sex in the cast, and it is always possible to anticipate just what is coming next. Possibly if there was some more of the former there might be less of the latter.

These are harsh words, but please "Pardon Us."

"Monkey Business," starring the four Marx brothers in their latest comedy riot, is coming to the McDonald Sunday.

Winnie Lightner at Colonial

Miss Lightner and that hard-to-beat Olsen and Johnson combination do some topsped slapstick clowning in their latest hit, "Gold Dust Gertie," showing at the Colonial for the last time today.

"The Wise Child," starring Marion Davies, opens for a two-day run at the Colonial Sunday. "The Viking," first talkie to be filmed in the arctic, will open for its first run at the Colonial some time next week.

"Defenders of the Law" at Heilig
"Defenders of the Law," a gangster picture featuring Bill Houston and Phil Perry, is playing at the Heilig today. "Children of Dreams" will open Sunday.

Tom Tyler at State

"Partners of the Trail," starring Tom Tyler, is showing for the last time today. A Saturday night preview of "Women Go On Forever," a first-run picture featuring Clara Kimball Young, will be shown. "Women Go On Forever" is filled with ribald humor, sure-fire action, frankness and spicy situations. It will run till Tuesday.

Fine Volumes Augment Homer Book Collection

Two interesting and valuable books have been added to the Pauline Potter Homer collection of the University library during the past week. The books are gifts of Walter Church, '16, a Portland architect and former University student. They are publications of the Limited Editions club, which issues only 1500 copies of each book they accept. The titles are: "An Iceland Fisherman," by Pierre Loti, and a translation of "Aucassin and Nicolette," by Andrew Lang.

Another recent addition of much interest is a set of "Don Quixote" in Spanish. The set, which contains two volumes, was procured by the library, aided by Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary.

Oregon Best Architectural School Russian Student Says

"Back home in Siberia I used to hear of the United States as a country where civilization is at its greatest height and as a land where opportunities for educational pursuit are more abundant than elsewhere, that I decided to come over."

Thus spoke a Russian member of the International house, Michael Haimovich, junior in architecture, when interviewed in his study room yesterday afternoon.

"I like Oregon in spite of its rainy weather. The climate and the surrounding country are very much the same as those of the place where I was born," Haimovich said.

"You probably want to know why I came to attend the school of architecture of the University of Oregon. I lived in California for more than two years and it was there where I became acquainted with people who had studied in this University. They told me that you have a wonderful school of music and architecture here. I am glad to say that the two years I have spent in school on this campus have convinced me that what I was told about Oregon is true.

"I have also heard," Haimovich added, "about the 'hello spirit on this campus." He said he likes the Oregon traditions, although, according to him, he himself, was negligent in wearing the green lid when he was a freshman.

Haimovich expressed approval of the campus. "I think it is pretty. There are lots of places in and around Eugene where I can go for a ride or a hike, and right close to the campus is the Mill race. I just love to go canoeing as I did enjoy boating back home," he explained.

Haimovich has a taste for artistic beauty. He is a talented pianist, but due to the pressure of his studies in the school of architecture, he is not able to take courses in the school of music.

Speaking on the International house, of which he is a member, Haimovich said: "I think the University of Oregon is leading other institutions in the promotion of international friendship. Perhaps because I am a Russian, I have always been individualistic. But my stay in the house, during which time I have been in constant contact with foreign as well as American students, has made me internationally-minded. And due to the prevailing homelike atmosphere, I am not at all home-sick."

Is the factor that makes the purchase here satisfactory.
4 YEARS ON THE CAMPUS

WALORA CANDIES

"THERE IS A REASON"
851 East 13th

"I'm older than you think I am..."

"BUT I remember some of the things that I heard when I was younger.

"I was told to watch out for one of those so-called friends who is so mighty glad to see you today—almost going to hug you; and the next time you see her, is holding her head high up in the air and won't even speak to you.

"I was thinking about this while I was enjoying a CHESTERFIELD cigarette. You know, I have been smoking CHESTERFIELDS quite a long time, and they are not like some of our friends—one thing today and another thing tomorrow. They are always the same—always mild—always so pleasing in taste. They just satisfy all the time.

"By the way, that reminds me of something. I was playing bridge recently with a girl friend of mine and two men, and after we finished the game they began lambasting a whole lot of things and folks. Some of the talk was right funny, you couldn't help laughing; but, really, they pulled down a whole lot of things, and didn't build up anything.

"And that reminded me of a salesman who called to see me the other day to tell me something about CHESTERFIELD. The thing that pleased me more than anything else was that he didn't lambast and cuss out any other cigarette; but, of course, he thought that CHESTERFIELD was the best... And I rather agree with him. They do satisfy."

GOOD... they've got to be good!
