

Spears Revamps Entire Team For Coming Grid Tilt

Greatest Changes Made In Backfield

Pozzo To be Quarterback; Gee, Temple To Hold Halfback Berths

Doctor Spears sent an entirely revamped Webfoot football team through a tough four-hour scrimmage session and a three-hour blackboard drill last night as a final practice before leaving for North Dakota this afternoon. In endeavoring to find a backfield and line combination which would click into a perfect scoring machine, Spears tried every available combination offered by the green material at his command. The lineup of players running through signals last night was his final choice.

In the backfield, Doc shifted Pozzo from fullback to quarterback to keep him in the lineup and take advantage of his great offensive strength. At the half positions are Leighton Gee and Mark Temple, both fast, shifty ball-carriers and good interference runners. Temple will probably do most of the passing for the squad, as he has the most accurate throw on the team. Gee will do most of the kicking and pass-receiving.

Tackle Positions Strong

At the ends will be Bowerman and Wishard. Both these boys started out the season in the center of the line. Bowerman tried out at quarterback in the first practice after the squad returned from U. S. C. Bowerman is the best bet on the offense, while Wishard is a hard-playing, aggressive, defensive man. Both weigh over 190.

The tackle positions will be filled by Nilsson and Morgan in all probability. Nilsson is playing his first year and Doc has chosen him for this position in the games so far this season as he tips the beam at over 220. Bill Morgan, at the other tackle, has been handicapped for a part of the season by a sore shoulder muscle, but his size and drive elicit him a probable starting position in the lineup. At center, of course, will be Eric Forsta, who is acting captain in the absence of Schulz. Forsta is one of the best ball-passers in the conference and is strong on defense.

Winters Out

A big hole was opened in the Oregon line yesterday when it was announced that Laurence Winters, end, would be out for the rest of the season with a broken leg-bone. The extent of the injury, sustained in the game with the Trojans, was not fully realized until yesterday morning. As a consequence, Winters must wear a cast on his leg for at least four or five weeks.

In the final workout before leaving for the East, Spears scrimmaged the second team against the freshmen, the varsity on the offensive using mostly off-tackle plays and passes. After the lights were turned on, the Frosh were sent to the dressing room, and the team spent the next half-hour running through signals in three squads.

Mathews Slates Big Pep Display For Igloo at 4:00

THE varsity football team will start on their trip east today amid a galaxy of cheers, yells, songs, and music. An organized rally will be held in McArthur court this afternoon at 4 o'clock to give the Webfoots a royal send-off. The band will be on hand in full array to add to the good-luck wishes of the whole student body, according to Carson Mathews, head of the rally committee.

Hall Announces New Slating for PIPA Convention

Conclave Is Scheduled for Homecoming Week; Hearst Invited

In response to a poll of popular sentiment among members of the Pacific Intercollegiate Press association, conducted by Vinton Hall, president of the body, the date of the annual convention of the association, which will be held on this campus, has been changed to November 12, 13, and 14.

The change was made in order to enable those Washington delegates who had been unable to attend on the earlier dates to arrange to be present.

"Many delegates," states Hall, "have written their appreciation of the selection of the new dates for the conference, which coincides with those of the first of the annual Oregon-Oregon State joint homecomings."

Hearst May Attend

Word has not been received from William Randolph Hearst, internationally known newspaper man, as to the possibility of his attending the session, but as he signified his intention of attending a meeting in the future when he was unable to make an appearance last year, it is hoped he will find it possible to attend this year.

Because of an extended illness King Wilkin, the association's executive secretary and director of publications at the University of California, will be unable to attend this year.

Arrangements have been made for the housing of the delegates during their stay on the campus at the new men's dorm.

To Receive Applications

During the conference the association will discuss the possibility of taking in new members to be selected from daily, weekly, and semi-weekly papers in the college field. In doing so it is asking the publications in this group to send an application for membership to the association.

The conference will be started off with a luncheon Thursday noon. Thursday and Friday will be devoted to business, and a banquet followed by a dance will be the event of Friday evening. Saturday afternoon the delegates will be guests of Oregon at the annual grid classic of the two state institutions, after which they will be among the guests at the homecoming dance that evening.

The committee chairmen as announced by Hall are: Larry Jackson, program; Barney Miller, entertainment; Bob Allen, speakers; Phil Cogswell, housing; and Willis Duniway, regular business.

Nancy Thompson Heads Body To Further Social Welfare

That more interest is being shown this year in the industrial group of the Y. W. C. A. than ever before was evidenced by the large turnout at the first meeting held last night under the leadership of Nancy Thompson, chairman of this commission.

The program for the year, drawn up at this meeting, will concern the following phases of industrialism: the effect of industrialism on the worker from a sociological, economic, and psychological viewpoint; unemployment; the causes of depression; the place of the citizen in this situation; and other similar topics.

It is also the desire of this group to get in touch with those who have actually had experience in the industrial world and to learn the conditions of the working population in this community.

The group will culminate its work in industrial week which comes in the month of January.

The Y. W. C. A. industrial committee is composed of the following girls: Nancy Thompson, chairman; Gwen Elsemore, Frances Sale, Helen Valentine, Wilberta Wilson, Edwina Anderson, Beth Bede, Rosalind Gray, Mary Hadley, Dorothy Hallin, Helen Harriman, Velma Hamilton, Janice Hedges, Alma Herman, Jeanne Holden, Ruth Irwin, Vivian Johnson.

Old Golf Course Gives Way For Junior-Senior Informal Affair

Cocoanut Grove, chosen as the scene of the first annual Junior-Senior dance to be held Saturday night, October 21, began to take on a new appearance yesterday. Armed with picks and shovels, workmen began tearing out the 18-hole miniature golf course in the north half of the Grove, seeking to enlarge the dancing space.

Only one row of tables will be placed around the dance floor proper, it is announced by Ferd Fletcher and Gordon Day, general chairmen for the upperclass informal. The rest of the tables will be placed in the space formerly given over to the golf course.

Plans for the dance progressed last night when a score of committee workers met at the Phi Psi house to report on their work and ideas. Complete announcement of workers for the social affair was made by Fletcher and Day as follows: secretary, Louise Ansley; business managers, John Painton

An Answer

NOW we're getting somewhere. Responding to the Emerald's demand yesterday for an investigation of the campaign and voting in the recent freshman class elections, Brian Minnaugh, president of the associated students, has promised the full cooperation of the student administration. We appreciate his stand greatly.

Minnaugh has two plans to prevent illegal voting at campus elections. They call for identification of voters by the use of individual photographs on student body cards, and the signatures of student voters at the polls as they receive their ballots. Both plans could well be used together, we believe.

The Emerald, let it be understood, is attacking neither faction of the recent freshman campaign in its investigation. We want all campus elections cleaned up, and fully believe there is no time like the present to start the good work.

Plans on Campus Luncheon Taking Form, Says Lyle

Homecoming Directorate Announces Progress At Meeting

Plans for the biggest Homecoming in the history of the University broke with a bang at a snappy meeting of the directorate in charge of the big affair last night.

Alexis Lyle, Klamath Falls, chairman of the luncheon committee, announced that plans had already taken form with the committee expecting to serve 5000 people instead of 4000 who attended two years ago.

The luncheon will be served in McArthur Court between 11:30 and 1:30 with a charge of 50 cents to the alumni. All students will be required to present their student body cards at the door. A banquet for alumni not wishing to enter into the college spirit of the luncheon will be served at the same time in the men's dormitory.

Plan Innovations

Plans are under way to bring an orchestra from Portland to furnish music while the guests partake of a box lunch. This will be an innovation on the campus and the box lunch idea is expected to greatly speed up the serving. An additional feature will be the pledging to Friars, senior activity honorary for men.

The general meeting of the directorate was marked by enthusiasm from all present, and the announcement that the merchants of Eugene were wholeheartedly cooperating in every way to make it the biggest event of its kind in history added to gusto of the occasion. The merchants are already making extensive plans for the decoration of the whole city instead of limiting the gala touch to the campus district as in the past.

Committee Named

The complete list of the committee appointments for the luncheon are:

Assistant chairman, Bob Hall, Eugene; secretary, Helen Chaney, Eugene; menu, Louise Ansley, Portland; serving, Nancy Suomela, Portland; music, Helen Burns, Portland; tickets, Howard Ragan, Eugene; tables and assignments, Ned Kinney, Portland; cleanup, Neal Bush, Vernonia.

Alteration in By-Laws of Donut Sports Announced

The intramural sports administration board has announced a change in the by-laws governing donut athletics. It concerns the eligibility of frosh numeralmen, and the alteration is in Article I, Section 2 (b).

The revised rule now reads as follows: A student who has received a frosh award may not compete on a team in that particular sport until after one school year of inactivity in that intramural sport on this campus.

ASUO Officials Pledge Aid In Election Probe

Joint Investigation With Emerald Planned

Plans Under Consideration For Elimination of 'Dirty' Balloting

DISFRANCHISED VOTERS STILL SOUGHT

Any freshman who found his name crossed off on the polling lists and was deprived of his vote in the class election last Friday is asked to leave his name in the box provided for the purpose in the library of the school of journalism, room 10 Journalism building.

Cooperation of the student administration in the investigation of questionable practices in the freshman election last Friday was assured yesterday by Brian Minnaugh, president of the student body. The investigation was started by the Emerald last week and will be continued with the help of student body officials.

Two plans for the prevention of illegal voting have been under consideration by Minnaugh since he took office last spring. The first of these involves the use of a photograph of the holder on each student body card. Under this system, the student body would use the pictures taken by the University as a part of registration procedure, and it is believed that this would prove a positive means of identification.

Require Signature

Under the second plan, the student would be required to sign his name on the poll list at the time he votes. This signature, according to the plan, would be compared with that on the student body card, thereby checking the use of the cards by anyone other than the owner, according to Minnaugh.

Another project under consideration is that of a limitation of campaign expenditures. Much unfavorable comment has arisen out of campaigns in recent years, where dances, printed booklets, banners, airplane stunts, and other expensive forms of advertising have been used in the interests of candidates.

Clean Spring Election Plan

If the proposed plan were put through, such practices would either be entirely eliminated or so curtailed as to be of little value, according to Minnaugh. It is believed by student officials that cleaner campaigns would result from such a limitation.

"The Emerald and the student administration should work hand in hand on this investigation," Minnaugh said yesterday. "The student administration has already taken steps looking toward clearing such matters in the future, and it is hoped that something definite can be accomplished in time for the elections this spring."

Y.M.C.A. Student Officers Elected on Frosh Council

Will Discuss World Problems at Group Meetings

Carroll Pawson was elected president of the Freshman Council of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting held in the "Y" hut Tuesday afternoon. William Wheeler was chosen vice-president; Howard Ohmart, secretary-treasurer; William Johnson, sergeant-at-arms.

William Wheeler and Max Duniway were appointed to act as a committee to plan the social activities of the council for the coming year.

The group will meet weekly to discuss student and world problems. The council, under the guidance of R. B. Porter, executive secretary of the campus Y. M. C. A., will work to bring about a closer relationship between freshmen and other students. To afford a more active social life and to sponsor inter-organization activity will be a further purpose of the council, it was said.

Another meeting will be held next Tuesday at the "Y" Hut at 4 o'clock, at which time the immediate activities will be decided upon.
