LEMON PALOOKA

And without more to do, we publish forthwith Little Irvin of the Vigilance Committee's report on the opinions the sororities have of the fraternities.

Alpha Tau Omega:—Lots of noise. For amusement they bring Joe Stoll who does a clown act. Quite different. They are "just darlings."

Alpha Upsilon:—Out of the darkness of the night came these silent men. A wide variety of features and heights was displayed.

Beta Theta Pi:—Nice fellows, but not wonderful... cute frosh... Don Moe conspicuous among them.

Chi Psi:—Came off their high horse. Too many steel plates on their shoes.

Delta Tau Delta:—They came, they saw, and they left—unharmd.

Kappa Sigma:—a little short in height. Frosh of the Sunday school variety.

Phi Delta Theta:—The Rowdy Dows of Oregon.

Phi Gamma Delta:—remembered for cute little trick they had of giving the "bird" to the "steadies."

Phi Kappa Psi:—bumptious frosh. Rat racers. All the old alums they bring back.

Phi Sigma Kappa:—Plenty of quantity. Pledges all over the place. Barney Miller and Charlie Foster getting dates for the year with the innocent freshmen.

Pi Kappa Alpha:—Noticeable absence of their football men. Pledges showed sign of recent high school graduation.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon:—won by default. De fault of whom, we can't say.

Sigma Chi:—The pygmy tong of the campus. Do they have any men taller than five feet six?

Sigma Nu:—Living on the mill race makes them fishy, for they do have a line. Do they ever entertain a sober thought? Just like them to go up in Hendricks park after the dance and play ring-around-the-rosey and farmer-in-the-dell.

Sigma Phi Epsilon:—Two all-star dancers and some of the coiest pledges.

Sigma Pi Tau:—No mention of D. U. but they do boast the junior line and been repulsed. Coach Spears was all hot and bothered. He had an idea! The famous Spears Never-Fail play! It had always been good for at least five yards in crucial moments. Word was sent out to the team by the water carrier.

The players snapped to position with renewed vigor. The Lemon Green would be victor again. The center was poised. His arms moved to snap the ball. Suddenly out of nowhere a hatless man materialized rushing down the field. He had in his tightly clutched hands a sheaf of legal papers.

"Stop that play!" he shrieked. "Why," demanded the umpire. "Who are you?"

"I," said the man impressively. "I am Jonathan R. Butler."

A shudder ran thru the team but was promptly arrested by the vigilant czar.

Butler raised his hand. "The Oregon backfield is ineligible for conference play," he intoned majestically.

"And why?" "I have papers here to prove that they played tiddle-de-winks under an assumed name."

And the Oregon team folded up their tents like the Arabs and as silently stole away.

There's Music in the Air

ONCE again the student body and the community of Eugene have shown their appreciation of the efforts of the school of music. The crowd which filled all the seats in the music auditorium and stood in the lobby at the first of the twilight organ recitals Sunday is more than sufficient evidence that students on the campus enjoy hearing good music.

The generosity of the school of music in answering a demand for the weekly twilight concerts which, it was felt, would fill a very definite part in the University cultural program, has been praised on all sides. The many students and other University people who attended the first program and the great interest which is being shown in the weekly recitals certainly are indicative that a real need is being satisfied.

The Emerald already has commented on the desirability of the weekly organ recitals as a step in the progress toward a true and definite aesthetic as well as academic program in the University. The splendid cooperation which the school of music and John Stark Evans as organist have shown in taking on this added burden to their already heavy schedules is gratifying; even more so, perhaps, was the very great interest shown in the project by the more than six hundred persons who attended the recital Sunday.

The Emerald very highly commends both Mr. Evans and the school of music for the program of twilight concerts which will be presented this year, and we hope that the effort which will be expended in presenting them will be more than paid for in the interest and appreciation which the campus at large is showing in the undertaking.

Conviction But Not Imprisonment

THE world's most notorious and shameless criminal has finally been brought to justice and faces a maximum term of 17 years in prison as part payment for his misdeeds. "Scarface Al" Capone, surviving leader of Chicago's racketeering industries, has received a conviction on several counts from a jury that had listened to long stories of his activities from both the defense and the prosecution.

The conviction of Capone marks an example that might well be followed by Chicago's criminal courts. The king of gangsters and hoodlums, so long immune from criminal prosecution, is found not invulnerable. It took the United States government's best investigators and prosecutors to do the trick in a Federal court, but they did it—which is something.

However, we have no further cause for real rejoicing until "Scarface Al" is actually behind the bars. There seems much likelihood that the maximum penalty will be inflicted by Federal Judge Wilkerson, who clearly indicated his attitude about a month ago when he exposed a deal between prosecuting and defense attorneys which would have entered a plea of guilty from Capone in return for a light sentence. He refused to allow any bargaining with a federal court.

But, unfortunately, a sentence by Judge Wilkerson will not end the story. It is possible for Capone to delay serving of the sentence for two years through appeals to higher courts. That there will be appeals, there is not much doubt. While there is reason for assurance that the gangster racketeer will ultimately land in prison, it is unfortunate that so many loopholes exist in legal procedure to allow the convicted man further freedom.

B.C.C.

It means Before Campus Cords—an unenlightened era during which corduroy shunned style and was only used to make pants.

Campus Cords changed all that—brought style to corduroy trousers, and a new note to university attire.

Made of the finest cream-color corduroy, Campus Cords are tailored to give snug hip-fit, the correct straight hang, wide but not extreme cuff bottoms. Campus Cords wear unbelievably well, and keep their smartness to the last day.

Ask for them by name—Campus Cords. Look for the label inside the waistband. It protects you against the "almost-as-good" imitations.
