State — "Fifty Fathoms Deep," and "Don't Bet on Women," last time today.

Heilig — "The Bargain," starring Lew Stone and Charles Butterworth. Showing for three days.

Colonial — "The Millionaire," with George Arliss, two more days.

McDonald — "Murder by the Clock," featuring William Boyd and Sally O'Neil, showing today and tomorrow.

Edmund Lowe at State — "Don't Bet on Women," starring Jeanette McDonald and Edmund Lowe, and "Fifty Fathoms Deep," with Jack Holt and Loretta Sayers, are showing for the last time today.

"One man's wife is another man's temptation," aptly describes "Don't Bet on Women." Edmund Lowe, as a cynical bachelor, believes that all women are bad and he gets involved—and how, when he bets ten thousand dollars on a woman's kiss.

"Song of My Heart," with John McCormack, is coming for Thursday only.

George Arliss at Colonial — "The Millionaire" has Arliss in a different type of role from his preceding pictures. In "The Millionaire," Mr. Arliss is in need of a rest, but instead of the usual trip to Europe he takes a work-cure, although he doesn't solve the depression.

"The Millionaire" is a heart-warming tale done in the Arliss fashion. A first run screening of the new Graham McNamee talking news completes the bill.

"Murder by the Clock" at McDonald — Here's a thriller, with dead men buried alive, carefully timed murders, and a beautiful woman who spins a deathly net. "Murder by the Clock," starring William Boyd, Sally O'Neil and Lilyan Tashman, has all these and many more. Not recommended for young ladies without chaperons.

Lew Stone at Heilig — "The Bargain," a heart warming domestic drama starring Lewis Stone, Evelyn Knapp and Charles Butterworth, is showing at the Heilig for the next three days.

'Duley' Will Open Tonight in Guild Hall at 8:30 P. M.

Final Rehearsal Portrays Clever Interpretation By Student Cast

In final rehearsal last night, the cast of "Duley," which will open for a four-day run tonight at 8:30 in Guild hall, put the finishing touches onto its clever and entertaining interpretation of one of the most rollicking comedies to be presented on the campus. Last night's dress rehearsal was devoted mainly to perfecting details of tempo and rhythm of the play. Marian Camp, with her excellent feeling for comedy, promises to present a lovable and delightful "Duley" to her audience. She is surprisingly human in her role of "perfect hostess" and humorously pathetic in her efforts to aid her husband's business transactions.

Harvey Welch, as Vincent Leach, showed promise of being the true "brainless, conceited motion picture jackass," as one of the other characters describes him.

Gene Love, as the shrewd business man who "doesn't care a damn about motion pictures," is up to his old standard and may, in final rehearsal, surpass his other performances. Walden Boyle, as Gordon Smith, and Jack Stipe, as the advertising man, are also carrying their roles with their usual amount of skill. Inez Simmons seems particularly well fitted to her role as Mrs. Forbes, and Donald Confrey showed good work in the role of Bill Parker.

Kathryn King supplies a delightful romantic element to the play as Angela Forbes. Howard Barrett plays the part of the butler who has served time for "writing some checks." Leonard Dart will play the part of Schyler Van Dyke.

Box-office ticket sales were reported as heavy yesterday by Chuck Jones, business manager. The office will be open from 10 to 12 this morning, from 1 to 5:15 this afternoon, and from 6:30 on this evening.

Gilbert Greets All Delegates at Baptist Church

The 25th convention of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers is being held in Eugene from October 20 to 23, with headquarters in the First Baptist church.

Several members of the faculty are taking an active interest. Dean James H. Gilbert gave a welcome address yesterday at 8 p. m., and Dr. Harold Tuttle will speak on "Juvenile Protection" at the luncheon to be held today in the Baptist church.

Miss Mozelle Hair will address the assembly in the afternoon and John Stark Evans will direct the musical selections that evening.

Dr. Phillip Parsons will speak at 1:30 Thursday afternoon, and at 3:30 in the afternoon the Faculty Women's club will give a tea at Gerlinger hall.

EMERALD of The... AIR

A sports review by Walt Baker, sports editor of the Emerald, will be featured during today's Emerald-of-the-Air program over station KORE at 4:15. The talk will touch on Oregon's chances in the games which the Webfoot grid team has yet to play this season. Opinion on the outcome of the game with North Dakota on Saturday has been extremely conjectural, but Baker will have some definite evidence to present over the radio this afternoon, which ought to help determine the betting odds.

He will try to answer questions raised about the fighting morale of Doc Spears' men and about the effects the long trip east may produce. Baker has some ideas of his own whether or not Oregon will equal the showing of Oregon State when that school surprised the sports world by decisively beating New York university; and he will state some of them during the 15-minute broadcast.

Miss Nella Roster, formerly a student at the University of Florence and a native of Italy, will be presented in a radio interview during the hour on Thursday. Miss Roster, who is this year's foreign scholar, will answer questions on the Mussolini regime as it affects the Italian people.

Twenty-Thirtians Will Organize on Oregon Campus

Group of Young Men Is Sponsored Here by Ted Wall

Movement toward the organization of a Twenty-Thirty club for Eugene and University young men was begun Monday when Ted Wall, University senior, issued a call for all students who are members of other chapters of this organization.

The Twenty-Thirty club is an organization of men between the ages of 20 and 30 years. The activities of this group are civic, and function along the same line as do the senior organizations of Kiwanis and Rotary.

Although these clubs are quite numerous in California, only a few have been installed in Oregon. Other Oregon chapters are at Marshfield, Klamath Falls, Bend, Burns, and Lakeview. Wall states that this is an attempt to officially organize a Eugene chapter. The group is to include both University and down-town business men.

All men residing in Eugene who are already Twenty-Thirtians are asked to call Wall at 2882-W. His address is 2240 Kincaid. Robert Clark is working with Wall on the plans for local organization.

Oregon Law Review Will Soon Have Office Room

The student editorial board of the Oregon Law Review is soon to have a permanent home.

Room 215, Oregon hall, is being equipped with desks and a conference table which, together with a small partition, will fit it for the office of William Kuykendall, student editor-in-chief, and Howard Green, business manager of the Review.

Meetings of the editorial board will also be held in the new quarters, stated Kuykendall at the law school yesterday.

The publication had not previously occupied any special of-ice, but the nature of the work requires desk space and conference room for convenience, the school believes.

GIRLS Do Not Smoke Pipes

THE GIRLS haven't left us many of our masculine rights. They fly our airplanes, drive our cars, smoke our cigarettes—but they don't smoke our pipes! They've left us this one manly right, anyway.

A man almost has to smoke a pipe nowadays. A pleasant necessity! For a pipe filled with good tobacco is just about the best smoke a man could want.

And if you're troubled about selecting a tobacco, remember that Edgeworth is the popular favorite in 42 out of 54 colleges. It somehow seems to fit the college man's taste. Edgeworth is cut especially for pipes, it burns slowly, it gives a cool smoke. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or, for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.
