

In the PRESS BOX with Bruce Hamby

In accordance with a custom started in 1906, but discontinued at the outset of the World war, this department will offer a prize selection of the probable winners of today's football encounters. The word "probable" herein is used in its most extreme sense.

So we have imported (none other than Amos Alonzo Zoc) Warner to go into a deep trance and gaze into his crystal. As this is the first time in a number of years that the Doc has tried this racket we have no past records to base our predictions on. But after watching the renowned man in his trance we firmly believe our predictions will be infallible.

All right, here goes! All rolled up in fancy tissue paper. But keep your pocketbook locked up. The good Doctor may be "ascray."

Trojans Strong

Southern California vs. California—The Trojans are doped as a cinch but we pick Navy Bill's boys to put up a still battle—final score, 30 to 0.

Washington vs. Stanford—Unless Phelan uses Prexy Spencer in the lineup Warner's boys will walk away with the stadium, 12 to 0.

Washington State vs. Montana—The Cougars should take this on the fly, at least 25 to 0.

St. Mary's vs. Gonzaga—The Saints to win but Gonzaga to score—30 to 6.

U. C. L. A. vs. Pomona—No doubt about this one—the Uclans, 20 to 0.

Yale vs. Army—Getting away from home territory, but the soldiers should win in a breeze, 20 to 7.

Northwestern vs. Ohio State—A walkaway for the Wildcats over the Staters, 28 to 0.

Oregon vs. North Dakota—We darn near forgot this one. The Doc says Oregon will win by two touchdowns, 20 to 6.

Frosh vs. Rooks—Rah Rah, Oregon. Again the Webfoot triumph as Doc says the Frosh have the game in the bag, 13 to 0.

Notre Dame vs. Pittsburgh—The Irish should take this by a 14 to 0 count.

N. Y. U. vs. Colgate—Both undefeated by their teams will brush their teeth tonight, 13 to 0.

Tulane vs. Georgia Tech—A double trance, this time, Doc. The Ramblin' Wreck, 7 to 0.

And that's enough of that. If anyone is to be blamed, blame Walt Baker, for he was supposed to write this column.

FROSH, ROOKS OUT TO STAGE ANNUAL MAYHEM

Tonight's the night for the Oregon frosh and the Oregon State Rooks. For over a month the two yearling squads have been drilled and sent through practice games, but their minds have been way ahead—on the first of the annual "little civil war" series. Not for several years have the two schools had such powerful teams and grid followers are enthusiastically looking forward to tonight's tussle in order to get a line on the numerous luminaries that will soon clash as varsity players.

The Rooks have Arnold Heikenen, the triple-threat half from Portland; the Frosh have Stan Koska, the powerful fullback from Minnesota. While these men are being ballyhooed as the shining lights of the two teams, it will probably be some unknown player who hobs up with the winning touchdown. Both teams boast powerful forward walls, although the Frosh will outweigh the Rooks about 10 pounds to the man.

But no matter if all the dope in the world should point to one of the events, those who have witnessed previous clashes would hesitate before making any predictions as to the outcome.

Nodaks And Oregonians Prepare For Classic Fray At U of N.D. This Afternoon

Coach West Hopes For Upset Against Highly Rated Webfeet Warriors Under Spears' Tutelage

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA. Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 23.—With one of the biggest crowds in North Dakota's history set to witness a close contest tomorrow, North Dakota and the University of Oregon will meet today in the Sioux stadium in the outstanding inter-sectional grid contest of the middle west.

Forsta

will be weakened considerably for the Oregon tussle by the loss of their sensational halfback, Ralph Pierce, and Bill Lowe, veteran guard. Lack of reserves will make it difficult for Coach Jack West to patch up his squad. Reports from the Oregon squad, now on their way to Grand Forks, states the Ducks will be at full strength.

This will be the fourth meeting between Coach Spears of Oregon and a Nodak team. Spears has should have some advantage in this department.

Neither team has had any hard practice games and this will be the first test for both. Every year it is a case of two evenly matched teams, and this year is no exception. It can be taken as valid that each man will be fighting every minute he is in the conflict. It seems to be second nature for these freshman teams to play a hard game of football with all their take their football with all seriousness. When 22 men play with this attitude, there is bound to be interesting happenings. The result is a football classic.

Much interest has been shown over this gridiron argument tonight, and more and more will be seen as the time approaches for the actual encounter. The game will be featured at the dad's. Day will be featured at the dad's. The whole atmosphere promises to be spirited as the big spotlights illuminate the playing field and the referee blasts his whistle to announce the beginning of the football feud between the Oregon State Rooks and the University of Oregon Frosh.

The tentative line-up is:
ROOKS
Mitola End Simpson
Ystad End Morris
Brunat T Eagle
Svendsen T Frye
Medley G Gagnon
Powers G R. Smith
Garbe C Chase
Franklin Q Bevans
Heikenen H Pepinjack
Pangle H E. Brown
Brande F Koska

coming out ahead every time by overwhelming scores, but Coach West and his boys hope to change the situation somewhat tomorrow.

ON BOARD THE EMPIRE BUILDER SPECIAL CAR, near Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 24.—(Special to the Emerald)—As the Oregon team nears its destination, there is a spirit of quiet and determination spread all over the special car. All day Doc Spears has told the members of the squad of the prowess and size of the North Dakotans and there is anything but a spirit of cock-sureness now. A short stop this morning gave the team an opportunity to limber up a bit on a station platform of some small jerk-water town. Every man on the squad is in fine condition.

Con Fury has gotten over his great disappointment of yesterday when he found that the train did not stop at Sand Point, Idaho. Mike Mikulak and Ken Wilson claim to have counted every mile clicked off on the way toward Minnesota and home.

Frosh Commission Heads To Take Office Sunday

Cynthia Liljeqvist, President, Announces Cabinet

Installation of Y. W. C. A. Frosh commission officers and cabinet members will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the bungalow.

The new officers are as follows: president, Cynthia Liljeqvist; vice-president, Myra Helen Gaylord; secretary, Gail McCredie; treasurer, Betty Goodman.

Cynthia Liljeqvist, president, announces her cabinet as follows: groups chairman, Elizabeth Benstrup; pennant project chairman, Louise Thomas; doughnut project chairman, Dagmar Haugen; social chairman, Bobbie Bequeath; service, Myra Bartholemew; and program, Marygolde Hardison.

Following the installation service, the old cabinet will meet for an hour with the new one in an attempt to orient its new officers. The outgoing cabinet was composed of the following: Nancy Suomela, Maxine Reed, Jean Robertson, Charleen Purcell, Dorothy Morgan, and Betsy Steiwer. Music for the installation will be furnished by Eileen Wharton.

Groups To Meet at Lodge To Plan Year's Programs

The A. W. S. has extended an invitation to W. A. A. and Y. W. C. A. to confer November 12 at Peter's Lodge for the purpose of planning programs of activity for the entire year.

The conference of leaders in these branches of women's activities will be to promote a better understanding of the groups. In formulating their programs for the remainder of fall term and for winter and spring terms as well, a definite effort will be made to avoid conflict of time, and duplication of material.

Those who will plan the meeting are Ann Baum, A. W. S. president; Frances Haberlach, president of W. A. A.; and Helen Cheney, Y. W. C. A. president. Faculty advisers of the three organizations will be present and in addition, two junior and one sophomore from each council. The complete program for the conference will be announced in the near future.

Correction Made On Time Allowed For Fee Payment

TODAY the cashier's office will be open from 8-12 for the last payments of course fees rather than from 9-12 as was stated in yesterday's Emerald. E. P. Lyon, cashier, wishes to remind the students that after noon today payments of fees can be made only with an extra charge of $3.00 with an increase for each succeeding day.

Swim Tourney Advances To Semi-Final Meets; Next Tilt Monday

MONDAY'S SCHEDULE
4:45 P. M.
Chi Psi vs. Phi Gamma Delta.
5:30 P. M.
Yeomen vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The Yeomen and Sigma Alpha Epsilon entered the semi-finals of the intramural swimming tournament by winning over rivals yesterday. The Yeomen outspashed Kappa Sigma by a score of 27 to 15. The S. A. E.'s swam to a 26-16 win over Alpha Tau Omega.

The winner of each meet on Monday will enter the finals of the tourney, which will be held next Tuesday, October 27, at 4 p. m. The Fijis, defending champion, and the Chi Psi, runners-up in last year's pool competition, will tangle in what ought to be a titanic struggle. In the other semi-final meet, Sigma Alpha Epsilon will come to grips with the Yeomen in another closely contested tilt.

Yeomen Beat Kappa Sigs Results of the Yeomen-Kappa Sigma meet:

- 80-yard free style—Privat, Yeomen, first; White, Kappa Sig, second; Nock, Yeomen, third.

A.W.S. Executive Council Put Out Questionnaire

Committee To Conduct Query on Mass Meetings

"What's wrong with A. W. S. mass meetings?" will be the title of a questionnaire to be sent to every woman student in the University, as a result of discussion in the last executive council meeting of the organization.

The committee in charge of formulating the questionnaire is composed of: Ellen Sersanous, Frances Haberlach, and Janice Hedges. Students will be asked to give in detail their suggestions for the improvement of the regular mass meetings, and the reasons why they have not considered the meetings valuable in the past.

The results of the questionnaire will be used as the basis for formulating a new program of A. W. S. meetings which it is felt by council members will have a more general appeal to women students and be of more vital interest to them. "I wish to ask each woman student personally for her complete support of the first women student's mass meeting scheduled for November 3. No attempt will be made this year to transact official business unless a minimum of 150 students is present," Ann Baum, A. W. S. president states.

John Fletcher college at Oskaloosa, Iowa, recently received a gift of property valued at $300,000 from F. H. Jackson, of Euclid Village, Ohio.

Dorm Director Redecorates Women's Halls This Summer

"If I live I shall save enough out of my budget to redecorate the rooms in these dormitories." This was the vow made by Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, dormitory director, when she first saw the dull, drab rooms in the girls' halls a year ago in August. This year she has made her dream come true.

"It was this June that I took Mr. Ager, Mr. York, and Mr. Pallett through Hendricks and Susan Campbell halls and showed them how badly the rooms were in need of repair," Mrs. Turnipseed said when asked how she accomplished the redecorating. "I pointed out that the walls would need filling and calcimining, and that the woodwork and porch floors would have to be repainted. The administration was decidedly in favor and told me to submit my figures for the work."

"My first reaction was that the wood work would have to be a warm tan. I wanted the north rooms done in a bright color, the east and west rooms in a shade that would take the light, and the south rooms in a cool color. After thinking of and rejecting many color schemes, I finally found one that I thought would be suitable. I decided to have the rooms facing the south done in a cool green, those on the north in what I call a warm yellow, while the east and west rooms were to be pink."

Mrs. Turnipseed spent the entire summer redecorating and brightening up the halls. With very little money and a good deal of hard work she has succeeded in doing wonders. The girls' rooms are now done in bright, pleasing tones instead of the dead gray they were formerly finished in. The dining room of both Hendricks and Susan Campbell have been redone, the walls in tan to correspond to the halls throughout the buildings while the furniture has been painted green. The furniture in the living rooms has also been reupholstered.

"I have never liked the 'beau parlor' at Hendricks, as it has never seemed homelike and cozy to me," continued Mrs. Turnipseed. "I juggled the furniture from here and Susan Campbell and finally found pieces that were suitable. Perhaps you have noticed that some of your furniture is missing. I tried to arrange this room so that you could be in individual groups and still be all together if you wished."

"I would love one more dream that I want to take one of the suites in each unit and make a living room out of it for the girls of that unit. My plan is to knock out the partition between the living room and the dressing room and make one large room. Then I want to make the sleeping porch into a kitchenette. You know, the girls miss half of their college fun if they can't have feeds."

Divot-diggers To Run Wild in Big Faculty Struggle

After reading the probable starting lineup of the south sidetam in the faculty golf tournament, as announced in Thursday's Emerald, Captain Donald M. Erb of the northsiders commented, "We will probably be outweighed 20 pounds to the man, with Howard Taylor and Earl Balleto in the opposing lineup."

"We are expecting to counter their excessive weight with a fast, shifty attack, throwing all our reliance on a pony backfield composed of Waldo Schumacher, Harry Yowam, Rudolf Ernst, and Charles G. Howard."

The stalwart line on which the northsiders will depend includes Roger Williams, Jack Rae, Carlton Spencer, and L. M. Myers. The possible addition of two or three men to this lineup before the whistle closing the qualifying round is seen by Captain Erb.

Emphatic denial was made that Professor Schumacher has been limping the past days as a move to work "psychology" on the southsiders and get them over confident. It is said that the north side back was injured in scrimmage while getting in condition for the qualifying round. He is expected to be ready for the big match, however.

HALL, MIMNAUGH TO WELCOME OREGON DADS

ARNOLD BENNETT HALL, President.

Mimnaugh Makes Statement To Our Dads:

It is indeed pleasant to have the privilege to welcome our Oregon Dads to the campus this weekend. Your presence here adds a homelike atmosphere that we feel at no other time other than Mother's Day.

You do not only bring a ray of sunshine from home to your own sons and daughters but also to many of us whose Dads are unable to attend, for your presence here seems to create that friendly and homelike air that we all miss so greatly.

We want you to feel that this is your Eugene home and we extend to you a most cordial invitation to visit us at your every opportunity. It is our singular purpose to show you a pleasant weekend and we sincerely hope that we can fulfill that purpose to your satisfaction.

BRIAN MIMNAUGH, President, A. S. U. O.

Short Story by Oregon Student Is Published

"Peter Beloved," a story by Florence Brent Thompson, chaplaine at Chi Omega, appears in the current issue of Good Housekeeping. Miss Thompson is a Wellesley graduate and has been teaching at St. Helen's Hall. She is taking graduate work in English here.

sessions at 4 o'clock Monday and the same hour Tuesday in the Y hut. The advisory board of the University Y. M. C. A. will hear him at a meeting Monday evening at 7:30. Raymond B. Culver, executive secretary of the Northwest Field Council of Student Y's, plans to accompany the speaker. Mr. Porter is in the northwest to attend the faculty-student conference to be held at Government camp on Mt. Hood next week-end. The University of Oregon and the University of Idaho, southern branch, are the only schools he is visiting while in the northwest.
