

Frosh Point For Weekend Seattle Game

Callison Rounds Defense Into Condition

Yearlings Will Face Stiff Opposition in Husky Babe Contest

The freshman football warriors are tapering off this week in preparation for their big game with the University of Washington Babes. Last night Callison sent the squad through a fast hard scrimmage practice; the last real workout before the contest in Seattle Saturday.

The Frosh went through two hours of practice on Hayward field and when they retired for the evening a great deal had been accomplished. The timing of the offense was worked out to a finer degree and the Washington game should see a much smoother machine on the field. The defense of the Frosh is everything that can be desired when it comes to stopping straight drives into the line. Pass defense is another question. This feature has been worked on faithfully this week, as a dry field is anticipated, and this usually means an aerial game.

Frosh Defense Strong

Just a word about the yearling defense. In the Rook game of last week the Frosh clicked so well that only three first downs were made against them during the first half, and these were all from penalties. So not a first down did the Frosh allow from scrimmage while the first string was in the game. This shows the possibilities of the squad as a defensive eleven, and from this record already made it is expected to show up favorably against the Babes.

Coach "Pest" Welch, former Purdue backfield star and all-American halfback in 1929, and now coach of the freshman charges at the University of Washington, has his team all primed and gunned for this invasion from the U. of O. With Pollock in the starting lineup the Frosh will have their hands full stopping this sensational yearling man. He is not the entire team by a long way but is the chief worry to the opposition. Justus is another man that will be heard about after this encounter as he is a mountain of strength in the forward wall.

Clarkson From Seattle
The game at Seattle has a private duel flavor to it, as Clarkson is from that city and played football on the Lincoln high school team. Two of his former team mates will be lined up against him when the starting whistle sounds Saturday. Clarkson plays right half on the Frosh team and his buddy Wyman holds down left end for the Babes. This is quite a coincidence when you consider that left end will be in most of the plays when right half carries the pigskin. It will be a case of bitter enemies during the game but the best of pals before and after the battle. Flanagan, guard, is another Seattle boy that hopes to stop the speed merchant, Clarkson.

When the entire game is summarized, it is impossible to predict anything but a hard fought game between two rival schools. The Frosh have one of the best teams developed in recent years and are out to keep their slate clean. The Washington Babes are out to wipe away the thoughts of last year's defeat.

Individual Swim Tourney Brings Forth Champions

Privat, Kirby, Pratt Lead Campus Mermen in Fight for Honors

Six all-campus swimming champions were crowned yesterday in each of six different events run off in a championship meet in the men's pool. The events were the 80-yard free style, 40-yard back stroke, 40-yard breast stroke, 120-yard medley relay, 60-yard individual medley, and 120-yard free style relay.

Jean Privat of the Yeomen, who was one of the most consistent point-gatherers for the champion Yeomen in the recent intramural swimming tournament, took part in two winning races yesterday. He won the 80-yard free style event and was the anchor man for the victorious Yeomen relay team in the 120-yard medley relay. Kirby of the Yeomen also swam in two winning events.

The victors in each event and their winning times follow:
80-yard free style—Privat, Yeomen. Time, 0:46 3-5.

40-yard back stroke—Pratt, Beta Theta Pi. Time, 0:25 1-5.

40-yard breast stroke—Kirby, Yeomen. Time, 0:28.

120-yard medley relay—Yeomen (Sears, Kirby, Privat). Time, 1:20 3-5.

60-yard individual medley—Thompson, Alpha Tau Omega. Time, 0:40 4-5.

120-yard free style relay—Sigma Alpha Epsilon (Robertson, Clift, Gearhart). Time, 1:20 3-5.

IN THE PRESS BOX

with Walt Baker

FROM the freshman point of view on the grid, angle things are all set. Coach Callison ran his squad through a light scrimmage followed by a hard workout that just about has the boys on a fighting edge for the coming game in Seattle next Saturday. They will furnish a preliminary attraction for the Washington varsity's game with Whitman that comes off the same day, and I'll miss my guess by miles and miles if the two first-year squads don't put on a better game than the two varsities. In fact, it would be mighty interesting to see Whitman and the Oregon freshmen take the field against each other. Although Whitman always turns out some of the best teams in this part of the country for a small school, it wouldn't be a bad bet to put a little money down on the Frosh, if such a game were possible. Nothing hands down, of course, but that's just the class the freshmen are in.

interesting to note if Oregon's power plays and off-tackle shots will get to first base when the two teams meet. Oregon State broke into the middle of the Violets' undefeated season two years ago and handed them a 25-13 licking to shock even the most optimistic dopesters. Can Oregon pull the same stunt?

Intramural Water Polo Tournament Commences Today

Fourteen Teams Will Vie; Yeomen Are Installed As Favorites

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

4 P. M.
Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Delta Theta.

4:45 P. M.
Alpha Tau Omega vs. Friendly Hall.

5:30 P. M.
Omega Hall vs. Phi Kappa Psi.

The intramural water polo tournament commences festivities this afternoon with the scheduling of three contests. Fourteen teams will vie for the championship and the title of intramural water polo champion for this year.

Besides Phi Gamma Delta, defending champion, the squads entered in competition are Kappa Sigma, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Tau Omega, Friendly Hall, Omega Hall, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Nu, the Yeomen, Theta Chi, Sigma Pi Tau, Chi Psi, and Sigma Chi.

The Yeomen, in possession of a wonderful group of swimmers and the intramural swimming championship, have been installed as favorites to capture the water polo gonfalon, but should any other organization uncover unknown swimming stars, the race for the title will be a free-for-all.

SIGMA DELTA CHI NAMES 9 PLEDGES FOR YEAR

(Continued from Page One)
He was sports editor of the Oregon last year.

Carl Webb, of Eugene, is a senior in journalism and was, before coming to school, connected with a paper in Pocatello, Idaho. Estill Phillips, Medford, is a junior in journalism. He was on the sports staff of the Emerald in 1928-29 and was president of the Oregon State High School Press conference of that year. He is at present connected with the Emerald sports staff and is an assistant day editor.

MEEHAN, NEW YORK U.

In a recent talk with the coach of an opposing team, Chick Meehan, coach of the New York university Violets, whom the Webfeet meet this week-end, said that if the coach wanted them, he would hand over to him the diagrams of all his plays—but he would have to use his own judgment as to just when his team was going to use them. Here's one of the keynotes of modern football. Deception, such as is used to its utmost by Pop Warner, plays a very important part in present-day football. Double and triple reverses, trick plays, hidden ball plays, and all the rest of the category go a long way in the moulding of the game as it is played today. But when it comes down to winning ball games, it isn't just the working out of these plays but running them in unexpected sequence that puts opponents off the track and catches them back on their heels. And this is the sort of thing that Doc Spears and the boys will run up against next Saturday. Last Saturday, N. Y. U. took the measure of Colgate, 13-0, coached by Andy Kerr, who, until two years ago, was Pop Warner's assistant at Stanford. Here they showed their complete supremacy over deception a la Warner. It will be

McDONALD
LAST DAY—ON THE LARGEST SCREEN
IN TOWN
GUILTY HANDS with
LIONEL BARRYMORE
KAY FRANCIS
MADGE EVANS
A perfect mystery drama that defies solution right down to the last scene!
Coming—
"THE SPIDER"
"THE SPIRIT OF NOTRE DAME" IS COMING!

Nature Grows Fish...

and Sea Food for Your Health

WE SUGGEST FOR FRIDAY

Choice Pacific Salmon

Choice Pacific Halibut

(Ask us about boning it for you.)

Also the large Pacific oysters are delicious and economical to serve.

Newman's Fish Market

PHONE 2309

39 EAST BROADWAY

FREE DELIVERY

New York University Holds Impressive Victories Over Eastern Teams This Season

Chick Meehan Has Veteran Squad for Oregon Tilt; McNamara's Punting Sensational

Boasting an almost veteran eleven and an impressive record for the year, the Violets of New York university expect to add another victory when they meet the University of Oregon this Saturday.

Chick Meehan's team has yet to be beaten this year and, after hurdling such obstacles as Georgetown, Rutgers and Colgate, it is thought highly improbable in the East that the Webfoots will be able to make much of a showing.

The N. Y. U. outfit has piled up a total of 193 points to opponents' 7 in the five games played so far this season. The Violets took Hobart 65 to 0 in the opener and followed with a 54-to-0 win over West Virginia Wesleyan.

Following these two slaughters, they continued to run wild and pile up 34 points against Georgetown while holding that team scoreless.

Rutgers, while not in the same class as the powerful, precise-moving New York machine, did manage to push over the only touchdown scored against the Violets this year. This score came as a result of a single-handed drive by Jack Grossman, Rutgers flash, who is a brother of Nat Grossman, who plays at one of the halfback posts for Chick Meehan. N. Y. U. came out on the long end of the count, 27 to 7.

Joe LaMark, heady violet quarterback, was responsible for a great deal of his team's success against Rutgers, and he starred again last Saturday when Colgate bowed to New York university 13 to 0.

The big sensation of the Colgate battle, however, was the phenomenal punting of Bob McNamara, little 162-pound fullback. McNamara practically kicked Colgate into submission as his long, perfectly placed boots into the coffin corner took all the spark out of the Colgate offensive. Time after time, just as the Maroon squad would get well under way in a march down the field, McNamara would put high twisting spirals close to the Colgate goal line and the work would have to be started all over again.

McNamara followed this procedure to break up Colgate threats five times in the first three periods and, not content with that, he sent three other kicks for 69-74 and 78 yards before they were finally grounded.

In addition to his punting, McNamara scored the second touchdown after a brilliant 64-yard dash through the entire Colgate defense.

In the event that Oregon should press the New York danger line, the presence of McNamara and his educated foot should be a big factor in the Violets' defense, although Meehan does not consider that alone as his only advantage over the westerners.

Many German leaders are attempting to discourage so many young Germans from going on with their educations instead of some lucrative occupation.

Husky Coach Prepares For Berkeley Tilt

Game To Be Played on November 7

Washington, Whitman To Meet Saturday at Seattle Stadium

SEATTLE, WASH., Oct. 28.—Coach "Irish Jimmy" Phelan of Washington's Golden Tornado is "pointing" his Huskies for their annual battle with the California Golden Bears at Berkeley on November 7. Phelan's Huskies pulled one of the biggest upsets of the conference season here Saturday when they fought a heavily-favored Stanford Cardinal off its feet in a scoreless deadlock.

"We've got a conference season still ahead of us," Phelan declared Monday as he called his men together to start working on California offense and defense. "In meeting California at Berkeley on November 7, I realize we are catching 'Barnacle Bill' Ingram's men on the up grade. Then, of course, without any rest we've got to come back to our home orchard and take on Washington State, one of the finest passing teams in the conference this season."

Whitman Is Opponent
Next Saturday, Jimmy Phelan and Earl Campbell, graduate manager of the A. S. U. W., have invited 10,000 youngsters under the age of 14 years to be guests of the Associated Students for the annual Whitman-Washington game here on the Husky field.

Last year, led by Capt. Buddy Applegate, the Whitman eleven provided Washington's opening competition and although the Missionaries were severely trounced they were never beaten, throwing passes, pulling spinners and trying until the final gun.

The second and third string teams will have a chance to show their stuff, although Coach Phelan probably will put his regulars in there long enough to give them a workout. He isn't anxious to have anyone "go stale" but doesn't want to take any chances of injury to some of his big fellows with two such games as California and Washington State on successive Saturdays.

Nude culture is spreading over Germany with hundreds of men and women being converted to the movement each week. At one swimming pool recently 500 nudists gave a sporting festival before newspaper men, the purpose being to show the attractiveness of the movement.

LAST TIMES TONIGHT!
The LAWYER'S SECRET
CLIVE BROOK
CHARLES ROSS
RICHARD ARLEN
RAY WALKY
JEAN ARTHUR
25c
TOMORROW BRINGS
Joe F. Brown—Winnie Lightner in
"SIT TIGHT"
COLONIAL
THEATRE
"COMON OVER"

Coats Polo

at DeNeffe's

In Great Variety

Tan Color $23.50 to $38.50
Grays $33.50
Blues $38.50

The Swagger Coat of the 1931

Season-styled by Braeburn

Yours is waiting.

YES—AND BE SURE AND GET THE NEW RED BOOK.

DeNeffe's

On and off the Campus

THE MAN OF THE MOMENT IN FILMDOM!

Gallant Cavalier—Valiant Fighting Man—

IVAN LEBEDEFF

A fresh, vibrant, exciting... personality that has caught the imagination of romantic America.

GAY DIPLOMAT

BETTY GOMPSON
GENEVIEVE TOBIN

DON'T MISS HIM!

HEILIG

I LIKED THEM FROM THE FIRST

The first Chesterfield I smoked won me over. Two things make Chesterfield different. They're milder. They taste better. That's why more and more smokers are turning to Chesterfield every day. No purer, better-tasting cigarette can be made. Only mild, ripe, sweet-tasting tobaccos are used. And the purest cigarette paper. You'll find every Chesterfield smooth and cool—every Chesterfield good. They're made to be good! They Satisfy!

Chesterfield

SMOKED BY MORE MEN AND WOMEN EVERY DAY