

Varsity Practice In Rain On New Grounds as Annual Game With Oregon State Approaches

Leighton Gee Rejoins Squad; Hughes and Nilsson Only Regulars on Casualty List

After moving their training grounds outside Hayward field due to the poor condition of the regular field, Coach Doc Spears sent his varsity through a long, sloppy practice yesterday with the freshmen in the final ironing out process before the big game next Saturday with the Beavers.

Leighton Gee, who has been absent from practice since returning from New York with a bad cold, was in uniform at Saturday night's session for the first time. Bernie Hughes is still out with a pulled muscle in the calf of his leg. The only other casualty is Erwin Nilsson, who is being kept out of practice with a bruised shoulder. With the possible exception of Hughes the Webfeet will be in excellent condition Saturday.

Due to excessive rain during the last few days it was decided to use the practice grounds west of the Hayward field stands for practice in order to get the regular grid in the best possible shape for the Homecoming contest.

Scouts Get Little Dope

Oregon scouts failed to gain much information about the Beavers last Saturday. Coach Schissler ran in substitutes throughout the Montana game and used his regulars only for a few minutes at a time. The Beavers used only a few plays, keeping most of their trick formation under cover.

Coach Spears evidently don't believe in taking any chances on letting any of his players get out of condition due to week-end dates for he issued a call for a drill Saturday night under the lights of Hayward field. Those players who had disobeyed orders and gone to dances Friday night were ordered "to take ten laps around the field for the good old doctor."

The varsity evidently is mastering a defense against the Oregon State formations used by the frosh eleven for they stopped most of them yesterday for no tried. When Callison's troupe first grieved them they had little trouble in working passes and end runs.

U. H. S. Gridsters To Mix With Grad Eleven in Big Tilt

Chappy King's Prep School Warriors To Engage in Armistice Day Fray

At last age shall have its due—wisdom and experience bid fair to triumph over youth, that is—if pre-game dope is not erroneous. The hoary-headed alums of University high will once more gather together on the old playing field behind the education building and defend themselves against the upstart Chappie King's University high varsity.

The game is slated as a practice tilt for the prep school gridsters, but, according to authorities, it is apt to be more than a practice game. The alums number in their midst men whose names have made athletic tradition in the good old U. H. S. Men who have played hours for their alma mater—from the sidelines. Quite a few ex-basketball stars are turning to football during the idleness of University life, and have taken on weight enough to make formidable football men.

Foster "Speed Demon" Burnett and George "Whirlwind" Pratt will star in the backfield. A big red-headed package of dynamite, Ingram "Ton-of-brick" Kjosness, is listed as quarter. Denzil Page, a hard-driving gofer as well as football back, will play fullback. Little has been heard from the University high school barracks, but it is expected that King will have enough players on the field to play. It is rumored that the prep school varsity is all in the hospital.

The complete starting line-up of the alums is given below:

- Right end—Bill Lake, '30.
  - Right tackle—John Enright, '29.
  - Right guard—Bob Riddell, '31.
  - Center—Harvey Fields, '30.
  - Left guard—Lee Valentine, '30.
  - Left tackle—Sol Cuddeback, '30.
  - Left end—Alton McCully, '30.
  - Fullback—Denzil Page, '28.
  - Quarter—Ingram Kjosness, '29.
  - Left half—Foster Burnett, '29.
  - Right half—George Pratt, '28.
- The officials for the meet are Hack Miller, referee, and Hank Levoff, umpire.

BOOKPLATES ON DISPLAY

A collection of book plates is on exhibition in the English reserve of the University library. The group includes book plates of many of the colleges and universities throughout the country as well as specimens from the public libraries and individual sources. An attractive display of University of Oregon book plates is included in the collection.

Girls vote for PIPES (for men!)

ASK any girl you know to name her favorite smoke—for men! Ten to one she'll say a pipe!

She's discovered—trust her bright little eyes—that it's the BIG men, on the campus and off, who welcome the mental stimulation and relaxation they get from this real man's smoke.

And if she's very wise in the ways of smokers, she'll go one better than that. She'll tell you the men who know, smoke Edgeworth!

No two ways about it, you do get a doubly satisfying smoke when you fill up your pipe with this famous old blend. It's a happy combination of choice burleys—cut long to give you a cool, slow-burning smoke. And its mellow flavor and rich aromahavemade Edgeworth the favorite pipe tobacco on 42 out of 50 campuses.

Help yourself to a pipeful next time someone pulls Edgeworth out of his pocket. Pick up the familiar blue tin yourself at any good tobacco stand. Or for a special free sample packet write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

Yearling Mix At Corvallis To Be Thriller

Game Expected To End In Mud Conflict

Frosh Favored To Emerge With Another Victory; Pepelnjack Star

Freshman sports are forced to take a rear seat this week because of varsity activities, but this fact does not mean that the Frosh-Rook game is forgotten. When the two teams line up for the Rockne memorial game at Corvallis, Friday night, spectators will be treated to a battle, it is going to be the opponent of both squads when they meet in their annual death grip. The first contest, fought on Hayward field, was played on a sloppy gridiron, but from all indications the "mud crawl" on Bell field will far out-water the one played here.

Yearlings Fast

Rain will hamper the Frosh eleven a great deal. A team composed of such speed merchants as Clarkson, Pepelnjack, Browne, Parker, and Kostka cannot show their abilities up to par under apparent conditions. These men, with the exception of Clarkson, who was out of the last engagement with a knee injury, showed their heels to the Rook footballists, and from all indications are out to duplicate the feat with a few added trimmings. Pepelnjack is the man that is expected to lead the onslaught against the Rooks. This lad is a sweet ball toter and has caused the varsity much trouble in recent practice sessions.

The Rooks with their flashy passing game will be a snag in the undefeated record of the Frosh if they should get this form of attack clicking. This type of football is very good for a dry ball, but indications point in the opposite direction. From all appearances and records to date, a clever aerial game is the Rooks' only hope to put this game in the bag.

SPEARs FOR A DRY FIELD

Doc Spears was over there taking it all in with his two quarterbacks, Ed Moeller and Bill Bowerman, diagnosing plays and it seems that Doc has come to the conclusion that what Oregon will need next Saturday is a fast dry field. In fact he thinks this way so much that the varsity will spend the rest of this week working out on the practice field with the freshmen in the hopes that if the present rain ever lets up for a while—at least by Thursday—he can get sawdust on it and rake it off for St. Martin's defeated both the Babes and Rooks, over which the Frosh hold victories, and this again raises the stock of our yearling squad. However, anything can happen in a Rook-Frosh mix, but a green and lemon victory is anticipated.

The Frosh team is not just composed of a group of clever ball carriers, but also has a line that is aggressive and fast. A pair of ends, Simpson and Morse, are ideally placed, and are varsity material beyond a doubt. Chase, the big center, is beyond a peer in freshman circles. The entire line is the type that makes backs stand out with their spectacular runs. In the first Rook game these linemen stopped everything the Rooks had to offer, playing such a wonderful brand of ball that the backs were seldom called upon to make a tackle. It is this kind of line play that makes a football team a good football team.

IN THE PRESS BOX with Walt Baker

AST Saturday Oregon State college, Oregon's opponent in the Homecoming game for this coming week-end took the measure of the University of Montana 19-0—and the size of the score just about demonstrated the Beaver superiority. This Montana team would be no set-up for anybody. When they lined up they made the husky Oregon line look like so many pigmies but like so many mammoth teams, they played the same slow, sluggish style of ball.

Oregon State's much-written-about center, one Buck Hammer, who has been boosted for an All-American berth for this year proved little in the way of opposition for the Grizzly fullback who seems just about as good as anything playing on the Coast today. Hal Moe, Beaver halfback who got in a good share of the game and who has played against practically every team in the conference says that next to Musick, U. S. C.'s fullback, looks better than anybody on the coast.

EX-OREGON STATER BEATS ST. MARY'S

It must have been quite a sight to look at Coach Paul Schissler's face yesterday morning when he read the account of the St. Mary's Olympic Club game and saw that one of his cast-offs, Bill Leggett was the main-spring in the attack that put the last undefeated team on the coast off the football map. It seems that Leggett just didn't have the stuff for John Paul to put him on the OSC varsity this year and so Bill is now playing for the Olympic club down South and demonstrating to his old coach that he made a big mistake by not putting him in the Beaver lineup. Leggett played a mighty fine game down there, scoring the Olympic club's only touchdown on a pass the game. Providing as firm a footing as possible for the Webfeet. Their name may sound wet but they do their best work out of the mud. Hayward field gets just plenty wet and slippery when wet and the only thing that will keep Oregon out of the hole to start the game with will be the condition of the field on Saturday.

FROSH AND ROOKS

This wet field business has a lot to do with the coming games this week-end. Over at Corvallis they're praying for a dry field also only this time the cheer leader is the Oregon Rook coach, Vern Ellers. The last time his boys got a wonderful drubbing in a downpour and he seems to think that Beavers play better on a dry field. Perhaps he's right at that. On the Rook starting lineup are seven boys who before they faced the Frosh had never played a game in the rain—four on the line and three on the backfield. That seemed to be the reason why Franklin, Rook safety, dropped a couple of punts that went out of range of the lights and came spiraling down to fall through the arms of inexperienced we-ball receiver. Also maybe that can also account for a few other misplays that featured the Rooks' chances.

Trojans Lead In Conference Gridiron War

Annual Webfoot - Beaver Tilt Holds Interest for Coming Week-End

The "Thundering Herd" of the University of Southern California is now stamping around at the top of the Pacific coast conference heap following its 19 to 0 victory over Stanford last Saturday. The powerful Trojan attack led by the driving Gus Shaver trampled Pop Warner's deceptive efforts under unyielding hoofs to put the Cardinals out of the running as far as the conference championship is concerned for this year.

It is possible that Stanford might go into a tie with Howard Jones' "power house" but it is extremely unlikely as the Trojans' two remaining games are with the comparatively weak Montana eleven and the Huskies. Washington fought Stanford to a scoreless tie a week ago but lost to California last Saturday in Berkeley when "Navy Bill" Ingram's men reached their peak of the season and won 13 to 0. As U. S. C. has already beaten the Golden Bears it is apparently not in the cards that they should suffer much manhandling at the hands of Phelan's men.

Trojans Picked as Winners

As far as Montana is concerned it will be just another "breather" for the Jonesmen. Unless Washington brings the biggest surprise of the season it is certain that the Trojans will walk off with the title without much more than a little flurry of opposition.

Oregon State chalked up its first conference victory of 1931 last Saturday when Montana fell before the Beavers 19 to 0. Coach Oakes has the best Grizzly outfit that has shown on the coast in many years. They are coming along fast under his new system and proved it when they held the heavy Oregon State team down to a seven-point lead until the final period.

Beaver Power Unfolds

The Beavers have not played a game thus far in which they have really hit their stride, and the true strength of Schissler's crew yet remains to be displayed. With the crucial classic with Oregon coming up for the Homecoming attraction this week-end the Beavers held out against Montana and only from Ralph Buerke, also an ex-Oregon Stater. From the looks of the Beavers' showing this season, Schissler is in a pretty bad way for a lack of just such a back.

D. Fields and T. Nelson Win Passes to Colonial Journalism Freshman Receives Prize for Three Weeks

For the third consecutive week, Donald Fields, freshman in journalism, wins the Colonial theater pass for the most stories published in the Emerald during the past week, it is announced by Jack Bellinger, news editor. Fields turned in 20 stories. Genevieve Dunlop was second with 15 stories.

Thelma Nelson, junior in journalism, wins the pass for the best story of the week. The winning story was "Californians Form 'Fifty-Fifty' Club for Benefit of Piggers." The Colonial ticket for the best story the week preceding, previously unannounced, goes to Evelyn Shaner for her story, "Professor Pollard Discusses Present German Educational System."

Through the courtesy of the Colonial management, the passes will be given each week throughout the year.
