

Standings of Hoop Squads Are Released

Superior Teams in Each League Evident

Yeomen, Betas, ATO, SAM And SAE Favorites In Groups

The standings of the teams in each league in the intramural basketball tournament at the end of the second week's play were released yesterday.

In League I, the Yeomen have taken three games without suffering a defeat and are conceded the flag. Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Pi Tau have won three games but have suffered a loss apiece.

The Betas have just about sewed up the title in League II with four wins. Kappa Sig is their only hurdle to overcome. The only team which has completed its schedule in this league and in the whole tourney is the Alpha hall quintet which showed a string of five losses without recording a single game on the victory side of the ledger.

The A. T. O. five is given the edge on the other teams in League III as far as capturing the crown in this league is concerned. The hill boys show a perfect percentage with three victories.

Sigma Alpha Mu is the class of League IV, having obtained three victorious frays without tasting defeat.

League V is in the same condition as it was at the end of last week, for nary a game has been played since that time.

Women's Volleyball Play To Begin in Game Monday

Interhouse competition in volleyball, sponsored by the W. A. A. as part of Health week, begins Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Alpha Chi Omega team will meet the Alpha Gamma Delta team.

W. A. A. representatives in each house are to organize the teams. The competition is in the form of a ladder tournament and, until further notice, any house team may challenge any other house team. As soon as a game is arranged, it should be scheduled with Mae Masterton, sports-program chairman. Phone 1562-J or 225.

again got in the clear to take the ball from the Rook 30-yard marker to the 2-yard line, but a 15-yard penalty took away the chance to score. A stubborn Rook defense showed itself at this point and the play became a see-saw affair.

Morse Blocks Kick

Morse blocked Franklin's kick on the Staters' 7 and recovered it over the goal for another touchdown, making the score 37-14 for Callison's crew. Brown made the conversion.

In the first minute of the fourth canto Mitola blocked Brown's kick on the Oregon 22 and Pangle picked it up and ran for the Rook's final touchdown. The score was: Frosh, 37; Rooks, 20.

Pepelnjack made the last Oregon score with an 18-yard run after he had fumbled on the State 2-yard line and the Orange had kicked out. Final: Frosh, 43; Rooks, 20.

The Frosh rolled up a total of 24 first downs from scrimmage to two for the Rooks.

Rockne Ceremonial Held

A short ceremony in commemoration of the late Knute Rockne was staged during the half. A period of silence while the melancholy but beautiful tones of taps filled the stadium marked the event.

Duck Win Needed To Keep Oregon in Mythical Race

State, Northwest Championships Affected by Tilt

DUCK WIN NEEDED—3
The University of Oregon has two important considerations in wanting to win today's game with Oregon State besides that of the state championship. The victor of the game will play the Rocky mountain conference champion, University of Utah, in a charity game in Portland, Dec. 5. Secondly, Oregon must win this game to stay in the running for the mythical northwest championship. Washington State is the other possible winner.

needed badly. Clark will start at left guard instead of Hughes, and Spook Pope will fill Nilsson's post at left tackle. Red Bailey and Chuck Wishard will fill the wing positions; Captain Irv Schulz will hold down the right guard berth; Bill Morgan, right tackle, and Eric Forsta, at the pivot position.

Grid experts have widely different opinions on the outcome. Some believe Oregon will win by a narrow margin, while still others are certain Oregon State will take the contest by at least two touchdowns. The decision rests in the hands of Fate, Juke Pluvius, and the referee.

5 Teams Near End Of Campaign for Geneva Petitions

Goal of 10,000 Signatures Is Hoped for in the Final Count

Most of the petitions for disarmament, which were circulated in Eugene by the Student Christian council have been turned in to Rolla Reedy, president of the Y. M. C. A., according to his announcement. The final count will not be ready until next week after all workers have made their reports.

"The project has been a success, judging from the petitions that are already in," Reedy said. As soon as the tabulation is completed, the petitions will be sent to President Hoover as an expression of opinion from the people in Eugene on the coming disarmament conference to be held next February.

The Oregon campus was the first one to undertake the project of petition circulation for disarmament. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., through their New York offices, are now sponsoring similar campaigns throughout the United States. Reedy was appointed chairman of the disarmament committee for the 22 universities and colleges in the Northwest.

O. S. C. PROFESSORS AID IN FUND FOR JOBLESS

Governor Meier's relief fund committee, informed President W. J. Kerr of Oregon State that the next meeting of the committee would be for formulating a plan which would take into consideration the satisfactory distribution of funds to local relief.

Both Oregon and Oregon State faculties have been among the chief sources for relief funds at Eugene and Corvallis, respectively, and to turn their contributions entirely into a state fund would seriously handicap these local charities.

Donut Basketball Drawing for Next Week Announced

Regular Intramural Play To Be Completed Friday; Playoffs After

The revised schedule for next week in the intramural basketball tournament was released yesterday. All games will be played in the men's gym from now on.

The original schedule, which would have completed the hoop play this afternoon, was changed because of the unavailability of the Igloo and the scarcity of games on the Armistice holiday this week. The altered sked will complete the tourney next Friday, November 20, with the playoffs scheduled for the week after next.

The new drawing follows:

Monday, November 16
3:45—Zeta hall vs. Fiji.
4:30—Omega hall vs. S. A. E.
5:15—Kappa Sig vs. Beta.
Tuesday, November 17
3:00—Phi Delt vs. Gamma hall.
3:45—Phi Psi vs. Alpha Upsilon.
4:30—Sigma hall vs. Sigma Chi.
5:15—Sigma Nu vs. Fiji.
Wednesday, November 18
3:45—Theta Chi vs. S. A. M.
4:30—S. A. E. vs. Zeta hall.
5:15—Chi Psi vs. Sherry Ross hall.
Thursday, November 19
3:00—Pi Kap vs. Yeomen.
3:45—Phi Delt vs. Phi Psi.
4:30—A. T. O. vs. Alpha Upsilon.
5:15—Kappa Sig vs. Delt.
Friday, November 20
3:45—S. P. T. vs. Sherry Ross hall.
4:30—S. P. E. vs. Friendly hall.
5:15—Yeomen vs. International house.

voted upon in the final meeting today.

The managers eliminated the resolution proposed by King Wilkin, executive secretary of the association, and passed last year providing that all national advertising for the publications of the association be received through the central offices of the association. The possibility of getting advertising through the advertisers themselves rather than through advertising agencies was also brought up. The delegates from California are planning to have a conference with the manager of the San Francisco advertising agency concerning this possibility. The banquet held at the Lee Duke cafe last night was addressed by Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state of Oregon, and former newspaper publisher, "A Newspaper Man in Public Affairs." Dean Eric W. Allen, first honorary president, was the toastmaster.

After attending the rally on Wilamette street the delegates were guests of Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, journalism fraternities, at the annual Journalism Jamboree.

The final session of the convention will be a business meeting at 10 o'clock this morning. Delegates will be guests of Sigma Delta Chi this noon in the city room of the school of journalism. William M. Tugman, managing editor of the Register-Guard, will speak on "Trial by City Desk."

Delegates will attend the Oregon-Oregon State game this afternoon and the Homecoming dance this evening as guests of the Associated Students.

IN THE PRESS BOX

—with Walt Baker—

FROM all indications, today's big game will in all probability carry out the worst of Dr. Spears' expectations—the field is wet—which is lovely and the Oregon injuries have not improved as has been hoped for—which is also lovely.

Oregon State comes to the Oregon campus sometime this morning—too late for the Homecoming luncheon and is leaving too early for the official dance in the Igloo tonight. The attitude shown in these two affairs is rather antagonistic to the fact that somebody could spare enough time to grace the Oregon campus long enough to plaster paint around the other day. Here you have the idiosyncrasy that's hard to explain—perhaps nobody can explain it—it's more like the old adage that goes along to the effect that the "coat and pants do all the work and the vest gets all the gravy."

RAIN HERE TO STAY

Craft's little squib in the town paper the other night about enjoining the rain to take a leave of absence for the week-end hasn't seemed to have much of an effect—because it looks like winter has descended just at the time when sunshine is needed the most. It is too late to condition the field any more than has been done and this afternoon's battle will probably cause the correspondents to head their stories with "sea of mud," "driving downpour," "slithering and slipping his way," and all those other traditional phrases that would apply to the occasion. Someone with an eye to the gate receipts has suggested that the Homecoming game be played earlier in the season after this year, in order to get it into the fall weather when the chances are at least even of good weather to bring the crowds out. It sounds like a good idea outside the fact that neither team in the past has been willing to get together until along about this time, because of the lack of scouting facilities and due preparation for the best possible chances of a first class team. No doubt, the graduate managers would like to see an earlier playing of the game—with an eye to the money end of the situation, but at the present with coaching reputations hanging upon the contest, a change doesn't appear likely. Unless things clear up from the present writing, the cash customers in the bleacher seats on Hayward field track are going to get awfully wet. Probably most of them can get their baths cheaper than $2.50 at that.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEAM OUT

We just read an article in some paper or other, where practically the entire football team of a school in the Rocky Mountains was dropped from the roll of attendance for liquor offenses at the Homecoming celebration. It's too bad that athletes are in the public eye all the time. Any infraction of the rules leads to much censorship, while a lot of the small fry may carouse to their hearts' content—and get away with it. It makes good news, anyhow, if somebody can pin on a charge of the kind and make it stick—and football does nothing more than support entirely the rest of intercollegiate athletics. From now on, this little school—minus a football team—will probably have a tough time of it trying to make ends meet in the current budget for affairs. What price glory! Perhaps if administrations here and there would take the spurs out of the students in prominent positions and do a little riding on those more deserving—both in instances such as this, and others—more would possibly be accomplished.

Mr. Paul John Schissler seemed to have plenty to say over KOAC last night when he went on the air for publicity for the game this afternoon. This gentleman doesn't seem to think that all the moaning that Dr. Spears has been putting out for the past week means a thing. Perhaps it would be the position of a coach who has had the material that attends Oregon State, to soft pedal any protest of the gloom printed by an opposing coach, and maybe get on the boat and do a little himself. We have heard very little from that side of the fence this season—and yet, how many ball games has O. S. C. won? Over confidence and a true facing of the facts in the case are two entirely different matters.
