Oregon's Good-Will Ambassadors Find Adventure in Far Eastern Lands

Enesco Retaining Artistry After His Debut as Prodigy

Rumanian Violinist Still in Prominence Through Lengthy Career

Seldom does a "child prodigy" in music continue to be a stellar performer in later life, but Georges Enesco, Rumanian violinist and court musician to Queen Marie, is one of the few who have demonstrated lasting artistry and genuine, enduring worth.

Enesco will play the first concert of the season in McArthur court Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the A. S. U. O. General admission will be 25 cents, with reserved seats, now on sale at the Co-op and McMorran and Washburne's, at 50 cents.

Enesco is now the teacher of the two child prodigies, Menuhin and Mitzel. Enesco was entered in the Vienna Conservatory at the age of 7. When he applied for admission, the director was not interested, but highly amused. Yet after hearing the boy he invited the young musician to make his home with him, as well as offering him special privileges in the Conservatory.

Westminster Men's Club To Study World Religions

Organization Invites Persons Who Are Interested To Attend

The Westminster Men, a group of University students devoted to the study of the various religions of the world, met last night at Westminster house and laid out a plan of study for the coming term. It is the hope of the group to interest more Oregon students to join them in their program of study.

The group, under the advisement of the University pastor, Max Adams, will conduct studies this term in contemporary religions to Christianity and others including Confucianism, Paganism, Buddhism, and the religion of Shinto.

Next Wednesday at 9 o'clock John Caswell will lead the discussion on the mythical religions of Greece. Those interested are invited to attend.

Erb Collects Startling Group Of 'Boners' Made at Oregon

Not to be outdone by that great metropolitan newspaper, the Morning Oregonian of Portland, and several hundred other organs subscribing to the Bell Syndicate, the Oregon Daily Emerald herewith presents its very own collection of "Boners." Oregon-raised Boners by Oregon Students.

Dr. Donald M. Erb, of the economics department, is responsible for gathering the Emerald's choice group of Boners, which include "bright ones" made by students in Dr. Erb's section in principles of economics in the fall-term examination.

"Silver dollars are money because they contain 23.22 grains of fine gold," was the naive statement of one student.

Condon Library To Remain Open Till 9 Saturdays

THE Condon hall reference library will be open till 9 o'clock on Saturday nights this term, it was announced yesterday.

Matthew H. Douglass, University librarian, said that the same would probably be true of the old library.

Northwest District YWCA Secretary To Visit Eugene

Miss Seeber Will Participate in Conferences Here

Marcia Seeber, Y. W. C. A. traveling secretary for the Northwest, will arrive in Eugene Wednesday, January 13, to spend a week here giving suggestions to the local organization, and checking up on its relation to the campus as a whole.

For the past four years Miss Seeber studied in New York City, taking work at the Union Theological seminary and at the University of Columbia. She also spent several months abroad in the interest of her work.

While on the campus she will spend her time with the Y. W. C. A. advisory board, cabinets, discussion groups and members of the regional council who are attending the University.

Advertising Procedure Class Will Promote Film

Class To Attend Showing, Draw Up Publicity Plans

Practical experience in the promotional field will be gained by W. F. G. Thacher's class in advertising problems when they will promote the picture, "The Guardsman" at the McDonald theatre sometime this month.

The class will attend a preview showing of the picture and then draw up, individually, their plans for the promotion of the picture, which will be presented a few weeks later.

Prizes will be presented by the Fox Film corporation. The first prize will be $5, and the winner of the second prize will receive a two weeks pass to the theatre.

Pacific Debaters Honor Guests at Banquet Tonight

State Education Head, Student Prexy, Mayor To Give Speeches

Formal welcome for the Pacific Basin Good-Will team will be made at a banquet at 6 o'clock tonight at the men's dorm, when Hobart Wilson, president of the senior class, will present a scholarship to each of the three men. Vice-President Burt Brown Barker will act as toastmaster.

The program for the banquet bears the title, "The End of the Speech Trail," and consists of speeches and toasts three and four minutes in length. Wayne Emmott, in charge of arrangements, said last night.

C. L. Starr, president of the state board of higher education, will speak on the topic, "Harbingers of Higher Education." Mayor H. E. Wilder of Eugene will talk on "Back to the Home Port." "Our Student Aronauts-at-Large," is the subject chosen by Brian Minnaugh, president of the associated students.

Walter E. Hempstead, Jr., faculty adviser of the tour, has as his topic, "The Three-Must-Get-There." Miller, manager, will tell about "Seeing the Pacific on Nothing Flat," while Wilson, "publicity potentate," is to describe "Peddling Pacific Propaganda," and Pfaff, speech director, will talk on the subject, "This Non-Stop-Talk-Flight, May It Never Cease."

Ann Baum, president of the Associated Women students, will conclude the program with her toast to "The Return of the Prodigal Talkers."

Tickets are available only until 10 a. m. today at the Co-op for 75 cents.

Dr. Noble Presents Details Of Summer Oriental Tour

History Professor Will Lecture And Give Classes on Liner

Dr. Harold J. Noble of the history department was in California during the Christmas vacation when he attended the annual meeting of the Pacific coast branch of the U. S. historical associations and made arrangements concerning the student Oriental tours he is conducting this summer.

Professor Noble will conduct classes and give lectures on board the palatial new S. S. President Hoover of the Dollar line.

Among the important cities to be visited are the following: Yokohama, Kyoto, Nikko, Nara, and Miayama of Japan; Seoul, in Korea; Peiping, Shanghai, Canton, Tientsin, and Hongkong in China; and Manila in the Philippines.

Painting Classes Prepare Gallery for Art Exhibition

Students in painting are working on a small exhibition gallery in front of their classroom. The gallery, when finished, will resemble that already in use by the sculpture department. The walls of the gallery will be covered with burlap and appropriately decorated. It will be used as an exhibition place for painting work of the students as well as for other art objects of the school.

ALUMNA ELECTED

Miss Christine Holt, of Portland who graduated in 1930, has recently been elected teacher of social studies at Medford. Miss Holt was active in Y. W. C. A. work while she was on the campus.

President Hall Sends Greeting To Returning Good Will Team

D. R. ARNOLD BENNETT HALL, president of the University, sent the following greeting to the Pacific Basin Debate Team:

Nothing could be more unfortunate for me than that University business requires my presence in the East at the time of your arrival.

One of the important elements in my program for the University of Oregon is the development of student activities along every line of worthwhile student interest. I want to see our students develop leadership and capacity in all phases of useful conduct. When they, out of their own imagination, evolve a far-flung program that takes their representatives around the Pacific Basin, animated by a desire to facilitate contacts and to encourage mutual understanding, and when they accomplish that in such an efficient manner that it brings to us from all the countries of the Pacific warm words of commendation and congratulation that the University of Oregon should be so felicitously represented, I feel that the student body has accomplished a most distinguished and meritorious achievement.

On behalf of the University of Oregon, therefore, permit me to extend to you our most cordial greetings and to congratulate you upon the splendid way in which you have carried out a very delicate and difficult mission. May I also congratulate the students of Oregon on having made this epoch-making program a success.

Let us use this as a starting place, and let us look forward to the future and to the time when student initiative, student enterprise, and student ability will be carrying on similarly successful exploits in other fields of activity, thus giving to our student body practical training in real leadership and helping to make of our University the distinguished institution which it is entitled to become.

Please accept every assurance of my highest personal regard and esteem.

Faithfully yours, ARNOLD BENNETT HALL, President University of Oregon.

New Hendricks Hall Head Arrives To Take up Duties

Vona Owen, a graduate of Stanford university in 1931, arrived on the campus Wednesday evening to assume the duties as head of Hendricks hall. She replaces Edna Wisner, who filled the vacancy left by Consuelo McMillan.

Miss Owen has been employed in the personnel department of the Emporium store in San Francisco since last October. At the university she majored in English and public speaking.

Two Socks Will Stop War, Says Campus Cynic

If you're wantin' to fight Let's start in tonight!

Wow! The Japs picked on the wrong guy to beat up the other day. Slugged one of Uncle Sam's consuls and now hell's popping.

Nearly four months of war (if you can call Manchurian fencing that) and Japan goes merrily on her way. Hundreds of Chinese killed and America "expresses regrets."

But an American consul takes a doubled fist behind the ear and Washington invokes the nine-power treaty, the Kellogg pact, and a "momentous declaration of policy" looms up ahead.

Well, call back the war correspondents. The fracas is ending in Manchuria.

Gleefully, WEBFOOT CHARLEY

International House Plans Second Lecture by Noble

Far Eastern Authority To Speak On Manchurian Crisis

Continuing its educational program, the International house is sponsoring another lecture and musical program to be given at the Music auditorium this coming Monday, January 11, at 8 p. m. The lecture will be given by Dr. Harold J. Noble of the history department, who is regarded as the best authority on Far Eastern questions.

Professor Noble will lecture on "The International Aspect of the Present Manchurian Crisis."

Miss Agnes Petzold, of the school of music, will sing a group of numbers at the beginning of the program.

The members of the International club, the controlling body of the International house, which is composed of prominent members of the faculty and the administration office, extend an invitation to everyone. There will be a charge of 25 cents.

Mrs. Burkett Reads Paper To Grad. Education Club

At a meeting of the Graduate Education club held Tuesday evening in room 3 of the Education building, Mrs. Gladys Burkett presented a paper on "Cheating Among School Children."

Reports were made on the State Teachers association meeting by Professors H. D. Sheldon, F. S. Stetson, and C. L. Huffaker of the education department. About 30 graduate students in education were present.

Campus, City Plan Big Welcome For Miller, Pfaff, Wilson

All-Campus Dance To Climax Day for Oregon Debaters

Weber's Band Will Furnish Music; Admission To Be 75 Cents

An all-campus informal dance from 9 to 12 tonight at McArthur court, to welcome home Oregon's wandering debaters from their Pacific Basin Good Will tour, will cap the climax of a day full of informal and formal greetings for the team from their fellow students, faculty members, and friends.

To make the student body "debate-minded" is one of the purposes of the Good Will tour, according to Walter E. Hempstead, Jr., faculty adviser for the team, and the dance was planned by the student administration with this thought in mind, according to Richard Givens, chairman of the committee in charge of the dance.

George Weber's sixpiece orchestra will play, and a smooth floor is promised by John Painton. Other members of the committee are Marion Camp, patrons and patronesses, and Norman Burke, properties.

Tickets will be 75 cents a couple, to be sold and taken at the door.

Three New Books Appear On Reserve Library Shelf

Three new books have been added at the Condon library. They are "The Stars in Their Courses," "An Introduction to Chemistry," and "The Economic Geography of South America." The 1931-1932 Oregon Blue Book has also been added to the stock.

Mrs. McClain, circulation manager of the library, recommended the following books for student reading: "New Volga Falls to Caspian Sea," "The White Army," "Modern Architecture," "The Brown Decades," "Work, Wealth, and Happiness of Mankind," "Our New Ways of Thinking," "Bernard Shaw," "Mourning Becomes Electra," "Portrait of an American," and "What Dare I Think?"

Dr. R. C. Clark Writes for State Historical Review

Dr. R. C. Clark, head of the history department of the University, spent part of the Christmas vacation in Portland doing research work in the Oregon Historical library in preparation of an article he is writing for the March number of the quarterly published by the Oregon Historical society.

The article will be similar in scope to the brief he presented to the supreme court last November concerning the lakes Mud, Malheur and Harney, the ownership of which is disputed between the state of Oregon and the federal government.

Hempstead Reviews History Of International Debates

By ELINOR HENRY

"Up to twelve years ago there had never been an international debate," Walter E. Hempstead, Jr., Pacific Basin Good Will tour faculty adviser, said yesterday, "and it was five years later than that before Oregon began her program of exchange debates between nations when a team from Oxford, one member of which was a son of England's present prime minister, met an Oregon team here in Eugene."

Since then the internationalization of Oregon's debate program has had a steady and continuous growth, until the University has attained so unique a place that the first official act of the National Student Federation of America, which met in Toledo, Ohio, from December 27 to 31, was the passing

All 11 o'Clock Classes Out This Morning

Men Will Arrive at 11:25; Parade, Banquet and Dance Scheduled

PROGRAM FOR TODAY

11:35—Parade in honor of Pacific Basin Good-Will team forms at depot. 6:00—Formal banquet at men's dorm. Admission by ticket. 9:00-12:00—All-campus informal dance at McArthur court.

The 35,000-mile Pacific Basin debating and speaking trip of Robert Miller, David Wilson, and Roger Pfaff will come to a triumphant close today when the three Oregon men step from their train at 11:25 to be greeted by fellow students, faculty members, and Eugene people.

All 11 o'clock classes will be dismissed and the libraries will be closed to insure student attendance. The debaters will be met by a delegation of students and Eugene business men. T. O. Russell, president of the Eugene chamber of commerce; Brian Minnaugh, A. S. U. O. president, and several other well-known men will extend words of welcome.

Three cars chartered for the Good-Will team, the University band in full uniform, and students and faculty members in cars, will parade up Willamette street from the station to Thirteenth avenue. The parade will disperse at Thirteenth and Willamette, and the debaters will be allowed to make their own plans for lunch and the afternoon. At 6 o'clock they will be guests of honor at a formal banquet at the men's dorm, and from 9 to 12 an informal student body dance is being given at McArthur court.

Oregon's three travelers will have tomorrow and Sunday to do with as they please, but next week will be a busy one, with a student body assembly planned for Tuesday at 11 a. m., a show at the Colonial Tuesday night at which the men will give an illustrated lecture of their tour, and many downtown engagements, including a city-wide reception at the chamber of commerce and luncheons with several clubs.
