

OREGON DEFEATS VANDAL FIVE, 39-26

Economist Will Open Lecture Series Tonight

Elmer Pendell To Speak On 'New Economics'

'Togetherness of Factors' Theory To Be Presented By Oregon Professor

Elmer Pendell, professor in the University of Oregon department of economics, will deliver the first of a series of lectures sponsored by the Committee on Free Intellectual Activities this evening at 7:30 in the Guild theatre.

He will discuss in his speech a "New Economics," and will examine the orthodox theory of marginal return in production, considering it from the standpoint of a theory which he terms, "the togetherness of factors."

H. G. Townsend, professor of philosophy, who is chairman of the Free Intellectual Activities committee, says that it will be interesting to see how the "togetherness of factors" theory works out in economics. He remarked that similar movements may be discovered in other fields of science. He cited the "gestalt" movement in psychology.

Other speakers, sponsored by the Intellectual Activities committee, their subjects, and the dates of delivery, follow: "The Art of the Psychological Novel," will be given by S. Stephenson Smith on January 27; "Relativity: Its Hypotheses and Conclusions" will be given by W. E. Milne on February 1; "The Ancient History of the Columbia River" will be given by Edwin Hodge on February 8; "The Co-operative Commonwealth," by J. D. Barnett on February 16; and "Form from Chaos in Biological Systems" by A. R. Moore on February 22.

Spanish Group Will Hold Session at Westminster

La Corrida de Todos, campus Spanish club, will hold its first meeting of the term Thursday night, January 21, at 7:30 at Westminster house.

Miss Anna M. Thompson, assistant professor of Romance languages, will lead a discussion of Eyal's play, "A. M. P. G.," and several musical numbers will be given.

O. K. Burrell Elected by Daly Group as Adviser

Orin K. Burrell, associate professor of business administration, has been elected as faculty advisor of the Daly school. Mr. Burrell, who formerly taught in the Lakeview high school is intimately acquainted with most of the members of the club. Plans are now under way for a dinner honoring the new advisor.

Poll Shows Strong Student Favor for Arms Reduction

A nation-wide straw vote on disarmament recently announced by the Intercollegiate Disarmament Council from their offices in New York City, reveals 92 per cent of the 24,345 students voting in 70 different colleges in favor of reducing armaments and 63 per cent for the United States setting an example by beginning to disarm without other nations.

The poll shows a very strong feeling against the compulsory feature of military training in colleges. Eighty-one per cent of the students voting on this question were opposed to compulsory drill. On the other hand, 38 per cent favored eliminating military training from all colleges. Of those voting one-seventh had had military training. Seventy-four per cent of the votes cast supported American adherence to the world court upon the basis of the Root protocols. All types of colleges participated

'Shot' by Godfrey Is One of Best Laughs of Year

If you saw, in a recent news reel, a picture of a horse with a mustache, you were seeing a "shot" taken by an Oregon faculty man and voted by Universal News as one of its two best "laugh shots" of the entire year.

George Godfrey, director of the public relations bureau, took movies of the horse when in Honolulu last summer with the University of Oregon summer cruise. He sent them in to the movie news reel office, which accepted them. As Universal produces 104 news reels a year, Godfrey feels no little pride at having his pictures win high honors.

Sherman Bennett Essay Contest To Be Offered Again

Resume Competition After Seven Years' Lapse; Open To All

After a period of seven years, the Philo Sherman Bennett contest will again be conducted on the campus. This contest with an award of $30 is based on some phase of the principles of free government and is listed under the journalistic and literary section of University awards.

It was temporarily discontinued when it was overshadowed by other contests which offered much larger prizes. However, enthusiasm has cropped up again, the fund has grown so that much more than formerly can be offered, and the contest will be continued with the recently decided subject of "The State versus Boloff."

The subject was decided by a subcommittee of the faculty committee on awards with the assistance of Dr. James D. Barnett, political science department chairman. The question deals with the

Cosmopolitans Will Elect New President Tonight

Business and pleasure will be intermingled by members of Cosmopolitan club, who meet tonight for the first time this term.

A business session is scheduled for 7:45 at the International house for the purpose of electing a president to take the place of Eleanor Jane Ballantyne, who is not in school this term, until her return spring term.

After the election a social hour of music and refreshments is planned.

Nella Roster, foreign scholar from Italy, will teach the group a song of her homeland, and Lucille Cummings has consented to sing several selections in Italian.

In the poll, but there is little difference in the returns. Among the outstanding colleges in the poll were: Yale, Dartmouth, Amherst, Williams, Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke, Radcliffe, Vassar, Barnard, Syracuse, Bucknell, Pittsburgh, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Rollins, Kansas U., Nebraska, Washburn, and many others representing all parts of the country.

Students in institutions with compulsory drill voted 62 per cent against compulsion, and schools with no drill voted 84 per cent against compulsion.

The questions in the poll and the results were as follows:

(1) If all nations join in military and naval establishments intended for use against each other, how much disarmament would you favor? (Check approximate figures desired). 8005 voted for 100 per cent reduction; 13,914 for reduction.

Cremation Brings Joy to Student Hearts

A. S. U. O. officials smile as they watch the burning of $150,000 worth of retired bonds, recently paid off in full by the student body. The ceremony signifies that the Igloo, built in 1926, is now clear of debt. The Igloo itself is shown above. Below, left to right: Brian Munnaugh, A. S. U. O. president; Hugh E. Rosson, graduate manager; Slug Palmer, chairman of the finance committee; Paul Ager, controller of the University and student body treasurer; and James Dezendorf, former chairman of the finance committee.

Annual Alaskan Summer Cruise Plans Announced

Side Trip Up Yukon River Included in Itinerary For Student Party

Plans for the fourth annual University of Oregon summer cruise to Alaska were announced yesterday by Alfred Powers, dean of the extension division. Included in this announcement is the statement that a side trip into the very heart of the rugged, romantic Yukon river territory, one of the most unique ventures in Northwest educational circles, will be taken by a select group of students participating in the cruise.

Accommodations for about 30 persons will be arranged for this side trip while the regular cruise will be limited as usual to about 150.

The Yukon trip, up to Seward, thence by rail to Fairbanks, along the Tanana river and then up along the Yukon and down to Dawson and on to Skagway, has the sanction and approval of Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, who personally suggested to the University that this trip be made.

Both the regular Alaskan cruise and the extension into the Yukon will have faculty members especially selected to teach subjects related to this region, and full credit for courses carried will be granted.

The adventurous students who take the Yukon trip will leave Portland July 19 and the following day will board the S.S. Admiral Watson at Seattle, arriving at Seward on July 27. Here they will take the Mt. McKinley special July 29 for Anchorage and two days later will arrive at the famous Mt. McKinley park, where amid the majestic scenery of this great area they will spend Monday. At Fairbanks, the chief city of the interior and the home of the Alaskan Territorial college, they will wait until Thursday, August 4, when one of the most romantic stages of the trip along the Tanana river by boat will begin.

The next seven days will be spent cruising up the Yukon river

'Ducdame,' Literary Magazine Makes Campus Debut Today

New Student Publication Features Stories and Poems

Oregon's new literary magazine, "Ducdame," will appear today. This magazine, which is the work of students, will be offered in a limited edition of 400 numbered copies, of which 270 are for sale on this campus. The Co-op and the Oregon Pharmacy are to be the distributors. It will sell for 25 cents.

The editorial board of the magazine consists of the following students: John Gross, Myron Griffin, James Crissey, and Thornton Gale. The staff members are Henry Lumpee, Sterling Green, Janet

Say, Mr. Dooley Oh Who Is Hulet? Chants Charley

Body by Fisher. Hooley by Hulet.

Swing the searchlight back to the Willamette valley. Veteran Congressman Willis C. Hawley of Grundy traiff fame must face Grangemaster C. C. Hulet in a contest for his seat.

Hulet makes no mention of destitute widows and orphans, but he does weep loud and long for the "industrial needs and individual problems of my district."

Like a dyed-in-the-wool politician, he straddles prohibition, jumps on monopolies, bows down to the bonus, trumpets for the "common man" and promises log-rolling aplenty.

But give the devil his due. Hulet was unemployment and old age insurance, peace and more peace and what have you. But poor old C. C. (cubic centimeter or compound cathartic) blindly takes one on the chin by failing to call Hawley on the tariff—in fact he wants more protection. Page Dr. Mez!

Charitably, WEBFOOT CHARLEY.

Date for Senior Ball Announced As February 6

Igloo Tentatively Chosen As Dance Site

Admission Price Lowered; W. Cress Appointed Assistant Chairman

The most formal of all University dances, the Senior Ball, will be held Saturday evening, February 6, it was announced last night by Bob Allen, who was appointed general chairman of the dance last term by Hobart Wilson, president of the senior class.

This date was selected, Allen pointed out, at a time when the basketball team will be on the road, so that McArthur court can be used instead of Gerlinger hall, where the annual event has been held for several years. The floor at Gerlinger hall is not considered to be as good for dancing purposes as that of the Igloo.

Committee appointments were also made public last night, although several of the members have been at work since vacation, making plans for the one all-formal dance of the year.

Cress Named Assistant
Warren Cress has been named to act as assistant chairman, and has promised to have the floor in tip-top shape for the affair. Several other appointments will be made by Cress and other members of the committee to aid in the work of staging the affair.

Connie Baker will have charge of all arrangements for the formal reception to precede the dance. Invitations to the patrons and patronesses will be sent out in the next few days. Miss Baker will also arrange for the refreshments to be served during the dance.

Although the decoration motif is not to be announced immediately, Walt Baker, who has been appointed

'Journey's End' Will 'Go on Road' For Astoria Tour

Cast of Twelve, Directorate And Stage Settings Will Be Taken on Trip

The drama department will "go on the road" this week for the first time in two years taking the entire cast, directorate, and set for "Journey's End" to Astoria for presentation at the New Viking theatre Thursday evening.

The undertaking is being carried out through the cooperation of the drama department with George Godfrey and W. D. McDonald, owners of the Astoria theatre.

The enthusiasm with which this tremendous war drama was received in Eugene, its successful four-year run in London and two years on Broadway have given it the support of McDonald and Godfrey. Godfrey expressed the opinion that the play would be well-received in Astoria since it is the first time in five years that outside dramatic talent has been brought into the city.

An effort is being made to solicit the cooperation of the people of Astoria to insure the success of the undertaking. Mr. Godfrey stated yesterday. Promise has been made of the backing of Astoria alumni of the University and of the schools of the city.

A University truck has been engaged to transport the properties, costumes, and entire setting to Astoria for use in the performance.

The 12 members of the cast who will make the trip are Ethan Newman, Gene Love, Wilbur Walker, Warren Gram, Leonard Dart, Walden Boyle, Jack Stipe, Charles Shoemaker, Martin Geary, Bob Ferguson, Weldon Woodin. Mrs. Otilie T. Seybolt, director of the production, and George Andreini, technical director will accompany the cast.

Director

John Stark Evans, who will direct the Eugene Gleeman in their concert next Sunday at the Igloo. He waves the stick, and 75 men sing.

Student To Trace Travels At Philomelete Gathering

Helen Binford will give an account of her journeys in Europe to the Travel group of Philomelete, during their meeting this afternoon at 5 in the living room of Susan Campbell hall.

This will be the last meeting of the group before Philomelete initiation, which will take place at the end of the week.

Plans for the initiation will be discussed. All prospective initiates are cordially invited to be present.

Sunday Offering of Concert Band Gains Critic's Approval

The University concert band stepped out and knocked 'em over Sunday afternoon in the Music building auditorium. The one-hour program brought many rounds of applause from the overflowing crowd, and contributed a glowing bright spot to a dull day.

Director John H. Stehn should be awarded a large size gold medal for starting on time. He should be awarded several gold medals for the splendid work he has done with the University band. They played with unity and precision. Their attacks were firm, their accents clear. It was a program of good music well played.

The musicians of the band proved their metal in Flotow's "Stradella" overture, excerpts from Gounod's "Faust," including the "Soldiers' Chorus," and Hosmer's "Southern Rhapsody." They opened with the "Marcia Sinfonica, Ingles-

Webfoots Open Home Season In Brilliant Win

Fast Offense, Defense Work for Victory

Reinhart's Men Take Lead At Start and Keep Ahead Throughout

By BRUCE HAMBY
Displaying a snappy offense and an airtight defense, Oregon defeated the University of Idaho last night 39 to 26 in the opening game of the season at McArthur court. The Webfoots took the lead at game and were never headed.

The Vandals appeared tired after their hard two-game series with Oregon State last week and never threatened, except in the final minutes of the game against a second-string Oregon team. Oregon's offensive system of setting up plays worked well.

Oregon Takes Lead
Oregon took the lead immediately after the game started on a crippler by Captain Winder Calkins. Levoff followed with another before Herman of the Vandals sank a free throw. Led by Potter and Calkins, the Webfoots ran up a 23-to-12 lead at half-time.

Two field goals and two foul conversions by Cap Roberts, Oregon center, plus free throws by Calkins and Potter, gave the Webfoots a 32-to-14 lead about five minutes after the second half opened. At this point Bill Reinhart took out most of the regulars. In the closing minutes of the contest Idaho staged a desperate rally, but the Oregon lead was too great.

Roberts, Calkins High

Tryouts for Studio Play Uncover Campus Talent

About 60 students reported for the tryouts held Friday afternoon at Guild hall for the studio plays. "A lot of good talent was found," according to Mrs. Otilie Seybolt, head of the drama department, "but since there were only about 20 parts to be filled, I don't want those who tried out and who are not cast to feel disappointed or discouraged."

Casts for the three one-act plays, directed by members of the classes in play production, will be announced early this week. Kate Alward, who is in charge of publicity, stated last night. The plays will probably be presented late in February, though a definite date has not been set.

ina," by Delle Cese, and played four short numbers from Massenet's "Scenes Pittoresques," with the toe-tickling "March of the Wooden Soldiers" as an encore. The "Stradella" overture was introduced with a quartet scored for French horns. This year's horn section played it well. Only by the patient teaching of the director was it possible to get four French horn players, for the instrument is possibly the most difficult to play well of any used in the band.

In the "Faust" melange, solos by Trumpeters Bill Sievers, Charles Woodin, and Euphonist Siegfried von Berthelsdorf were featured. The "Southern Rhapsody" was the mainstay of the program, and the audience took to it from the start. It omitted the more obvious southern melodies, and was largely original; its variety of theme and
